Storytellers return to Fohs Hall Oct. 11

Fohs Hall Community Arts Foundation will once again host its fall tradition, Storytellers. The 12th annual storytelling will be held Oct. 11 at Fohs Hall with E.J. DeWitt, a CAF board member, as master of ceremonies. He will be spinning a few yarns himself, and the public is invited to bring their own tales.

Prior to the storytelling, there will be a catered chuckwagon and bean supper. The dinner will start at 7 p.m., with the storytelling to follow. The dinner is $7 for adults and $4 for students.

DeWitt will also be conducting a school residency at the middle school this month. The workshop is meant to energize students to learn more about folk history and the arts. Students are invited to tell their stories at the annual storytelling.

For more information, call Susan Alexander at 965-5983.

Story Hour starts Oct. 10 at library

Registration for Story Hour at Crittenden County Public Library will be from 9 a.m., to 5 p.m., Oct. 3 and 6. The first Story Hour will be at 10 a.m., Oct. 10 for children ages three to five. It will last about 45 minutes. For more information, contact Tabby Padgett, children's librarian, at 965-3354.

Ike could affect on insurance rates

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) – The Kentucky Office of Insurance says it's too early to tell if the severe winds caused by the remnants of Hurricane Ike will result in insurance rate hikes.

The Courier-Journal reported insurers have received tens of thousands of claims related to last weekend's windstorm.

Kentucky Farm Bureau spokesman Greg Kosse estimated the firm's customers sustained about $40 million in damage with more than 22,000 claims turned in.

Ronda Sloan of the Office of Insurance said the projected increase in homeowners' rates this year was 1.4 percent – the smallest rise since at least 2002.

Sloan said if the windstorm does bring on higher premiums, they won't be reflected on bills until well into next year.

Health department flu clinics remain

Pennyrile District Health Departments will be offering off-site flu vaccination clinics in area communities in coming weeks. Shots will be $20 and can be obtained at the following locations and times:

- Livingston County Senior Citizens Center, Smithland: 8:30 a.m., to 4 p.m., today (Thursday).
- Grand Rivers Senior Community Center: 8:30 to 11 a.m., today (Thursday).
- Salem Baptist Family Life Center: 1 to 4 p.m., today (Thursday).
- Eddyville First Baptist Church, 8:30 a.m., to 4 p.m., Tuesday.
- Senior Citizens Center, Princeton: 8:30 a.m., to 4 p.m., Oct. 8.
- Fredonia First Baptist Church: 8:30 a.m., to noon, Oct. 8.

OFFICIALS OUTLAW ALL FIRES UNTIL RELIEF ARRIVES

Burn ban

“It's just too hot and dry to burn anything right now.”

– Orman Hunt
Crittenden Volunteer Fire Department

Billy Arflack douses a brush fire Monday afternoon on Baker Lane in rural Crittenden County as his fellow fireman with Crittenden Volunteer Fire Department, Leroy Stone, drives him to the hot spots. Arflack and Stone had to leave the fire to help battle another nearby brush fire on Ky. 506, but returned to ensure that the fire was completely out. The dry conditions that led both controlled burns to get out of hand have prompted county officials to outlaw all outdoor burning.

County prohibits all outdoor fires; fines, jail time possible

STAFF REPORT

Extended dry conditions, continued summertime temperatures and a busy day of firefighting have prompted local officials to enact a ban on all outdoor burning in Crittenden County until further notice.

Judge-Executive Fred Brown made the proclamation Tuesday morning, just one day after volunteer firefighters responded to three brush fires in the county. The ban was issued out of concern for safety.

“When it's this dry, you don't have much of a choice,” said Ronald “Red” Howton, Marion's fire chief.

The ban became effective Monday. Ignoring the order could result in fines, even jail time for violators, said Sheriff's Deputy Greg Rushing.

“It's just too hot and dry to burn anything right now,” Orman Hunt, a volunteer with Crittenden Fire Department, said Monday.

A similar ban was put in place last year after a prolonged drought, but the last two months have been even

Let it rain, let it rain

September and August rainfall in Crittenden County has been significantly lower in 2008 than the year before, which was one of the driest summers in recent memory.

drier than the same period in 2008, said weather watcher Brenda Underdown.

Monday's brush fires were initially controlled burns that got out of hand in the dry conditions, Hunt said. No injuries or structural damage were reported from any of the blazes.

But a fire Monday afternoon at the intersection of Lone Star Road and Baker Lane in rural Crittenden County was the second time firefighters responded to the spot since Friday. Chairs, a gas can and water hose were seen at a debris site Monday when firefighters arrived once again. Deputy Don Perry said the vacant lot belonged to Kevin Little, and the officer said he is investigating why a second fire was started after Friday's incident.

Another brush fire Monday at the home of James Duncan on Ky. 506 burned some old logs and underbrush, Hunt said, but was gotten under control relatively easily by firefighters. Some of those firemen had to leave the Baker Lane fire to assist on Ky. 506 before heading back to fully extinguish the fire on Little's property.

Howton said a brush fire in Marion Monday spread to city-owned property off Old Piney Road from a nearby garbage burn. The leaves and brush smoldered most of the night.

Officials advise anyone disposing of foliage debris left by last week's wind storm do so at either the city or

Deer hunt runs afoul of officers

STAFF REPORT

A couple of non-resident deer hunters tried to get more than a month's jump start on the rifle season Saturday night and ended up spending a few nights in the Crittenden County Detention Center.

County Deputy Greg Rushing and Conservation Officer Randy Conway were on routine patrol late Saturday night when they witnessed a red and silver Chevrolet pickup cross over from Livingston into Crittenden County and turn onto Phin Croft Road. Rays of light were being cast from the passenger window of the truck so the officers stopped the vehicle just before 10 p.m., on the rural county road.

Inside the pickup, the officers found a spotlight, two loaded .30-30 rifles, Jack Daniels whiskey, marijuana and Xanax.

The driver, Christopher John Cleveland, 29, of Birmingham, Ala., and passenger Marion Lewis Culberson, Deer hunt dates set

Rifle season for deer hunting in Crittenden County does not begin until Nov. 8, though a special youth weekend for hunters ages 15 and below is Oct. 11-12. Archery season continues through Jan. 19, while crossbows are allowed Oct. 1-19 and black powder Oct. 18-19.

World War II airman's remains interred at Arlington

MANAGING EDITOR

Howard Enoch III's father is finally at rest with his fellow American heroes.

The remains of 2nd Lt. Howard “Cliff” Enoch Jr., were laid to rest

Monday at Arlington National Cemetery outside of Washington, D.C. The World War II airman shot down in 1945 over Germany, was interred with full military honors, closing a 63-year chapter in the life of his son.

“It was remarkable,” Enoch said Tuesday over the phone from his Framingham, Mass., home. “It was something I've dreamed of all my life.”

Lt. Enoch, a Marion native who left college to become a fighter pilot with the U.S. Army Corps, was killed March 19, 1945, in a battle with Luftwaffe planes east of Leipzig, Germany. The 20-year-old was killed three months before his son was born, and his remains were left locked behind the Iron Curtain of Soviet-controlled Germany.

It was not until April of this year that the P-51D Mustang pilot's remains were identified and arrangements made for their return to the United States. It was finally cause for rejoicing by a son who neither got to meet his father nor mourn beside his final resting place.

“You could have knocked me over with a feather,” said Enoch of the forensic discovery.

On Monday, he proudly took possession of the American flag draped over his father's casket. He was joined at the Arlington service by 35 or so others – some family, some former members of his father's 359th Fighter Squadron and even Jim Estes, commander of Marion's American Legion Post 111.

“It was truly an amazing ceremony,” Enoch said.

Why care about the supreme court?

Please take a few minutes and find out why every American should care about the Supreme Court and its rulings.

These nine judges are appointed for life. They control our lives on what we can do, say, go and primarily be.

If they follow the U.S. Constitution and the Founding Father's intentions, we can be the freest, most decent and God-loving country we have always been, and it will be fair to all.

If they rule from the bench, according to their own political philosophy, or consider the Constitution a living document, then they can determine our rights according to what they want of us, or according to European Laws.

The living document concept is based on the premise that the Constitution changes with the whims of the judges or popular consensus, or to the particular popular culture of the day. That is not fair to all.

The American Constitution

has given us freedom, prosperity, affluence, medical breakthroughs and rights that all other nations of the world envy. That is why we have to have border guards and laws against illegal immigration. We don't have to fight to keep our people here, we have to fight to keep unwanted people out.

Let me explain about some of the recent decisions the liberal majority on the U.S. Supreme Court has made that affects us all. If you have a piece of property that is all yours, and the local government decides that it put take your property to a use that would bring in more taxes for the government to spend as it sees fit, then the government can indeed can take it from you, whether you want them to or not. And, the government can give you what it wants to give you for the property. That ought to make every red-blooded American fighting mad.

Another law the justices made lately was that the terrorists that were caught on the battle field killing and trying to kill our precious young military personnel, are to be given the same rights under the Constitution that you and I are given and they are to be tried by American laws instead of the military tribunal as has been the case for years.

Both decisions were made by five judges that care more about their own personal desires, for what ever reason, than they care for the Constitution that has served this nation supremely for over 200 years.

They are the ones who decide about our freedoms in what we preach and live by.

They decide if marriage is to be between one man and one woman or same sex partners. They determine if the sacred trust God has given to women to bear children can be construed to allow a mother to kill her unborn or half born child.

They determine if a minister can preach the truth and the whole truth of God's word or go to a federal prison for doing so. Almost all important decisions for all of us eventually end up before the U.S. Supreme Court.

Those appointments to the high court are far more important than who is president or serving in congress. But the catch is, the president nominates who he considers to fit his particular mindset and philosophy, and the legislative body appoints the ones it has a liking for if it, too, is not strict Constitutionalist.

That is why we have a liberal majority now. Even though some of them were nominated and appointed thinking they were true to the Constitution, we see that the liberal judges judge always on the side of their whims, and the others judge according to the Constitution.

That is why I cry out that the most important consideration on picking a president is how they will nominate for the highest court of this land.

Do you want a president who will nominate a liberal judge who will continue to take us down the road that no good or thinking person wants to go? Or do you want one who will nominate judges that rule only according to the United States Constitution?

You will have a clear choice come November. So please find out what type each presidential contender has said they may nominate. Because in the next four years there will be from two to four vacancies on the Supreme Court, and God forbid maybe even more as none of us have the guarantee of another day.

God willing, there will be a comparison of what both contenders are espousing made available for all to see before the election, and will be put before the county and most of the nation in printed form. All who really follow the speeches, as I and millions of others, already know.

The sad and tragic truth is, so many just don't care or want the liberal rule-making judges deciding in their favor as they want their sins justified and legitimized.

But at the end of the day, we all will suffer if the Supreme Court stays liberal. Anyone voting for a president and congress that puts them there will face God and suffer for all eternity.

"It's a fearful thing to fall into the hands of the living God." Heb.10:31.

The Crittenden County Chamber of Commerce would like to thank the participants and contributors to the silent auction and raffle tickets that benefited the Heritage Days Festival. A special thanks goes out to the event's major contributors – Farmers Bank and Trust, Peoples Bank, Crittenden County Fiscal Court and the City of Marion.

The weather conditions didn't allow the children's bounce games to be set up and the horse and wagon ride was canceled due to storm damage from the previous weekend. But all the other activities were unaffected and Heritage Days was a success.

October. Each day employees will be wearing pink to promote awareness of National Breast Cancer month.

"(We have) lots of Crittenden Countians on our routes who would maybe want to come in and help out and have a chance to win some stamps," Myers said.

According to statistics, nearly 185,000 women and 1,400 men are diagnosed with breast cancer each year and nearly 46,000 of those will die from the disease. The postal service has a special Breast Cancer Awareness stamp which raises funds for Breast Cancer Research which sells for 55 cents each or $11 per sheet of 20. They can be used as postage for a first class letter and help to increase awareness. It is also a charitable tax deduction. To date the Postal Service has raised $63 million for Breast Cancer Research through the sale of its special stamp.

"We will have an informational table set up with breast cancer information provided by Crittenden Health Systems," Postmaster Myers said.

The Fredonia Post Office employees invite everyone to join in their efforts to help fund the fight and find the cure.

Police bust party, underage drinking

Kentucky State Police busted a party in rural Crittenden County Saturday night and charged three adults, one for unlawful transaction with a minor.

David Reed Hackney, 48, of 979 Zion Cemetery Road was charged with providing alcohol for a juvenile at the party.

State Trooper Darron Hollamon's report says that he responded to a complaint at the above residence regarding under-aged drinking. When he arrived, the trooper reported that about six teenagers fled into a nearby field.

Two other men, Russell Max Bradford, 58, of Marion and Joshua Glen Fralix, 19, of Ed-dyville were cited for alcohol intoxication.

Car, tractor collide south of Marion

A car and tractor collided on U.S. 641 about four miles south of Marion Sunday afternoon about 4:20 p.m. No one was injured, but the vehicles sustained serious damage.

According to Crittenden County Sheriff's Department reports, the tractor was being driven by Charles Gilland, 62, of Fredonia. It was moving at a slow rate of speed southbound and was being followed by another non-farm vehicle with its caution lights flashing.

Another car, driven by Nicholas Morris, 24, of Grand Rivers overtook the tractor and tried to pass at the same time the farm vehicle attempted to turn left onto Loyd Road. The car rammed the tractor, causing damage and spilling oil onto the highway. Sand was dumped onto the highway to help clean up the spilled fluids.

Voter registration ends in two weeks

Kentuckians have just more than a week to register for this fall's general election.

Registration books in Kentucky close at the end of business Oct. 6, preventing anyone not registered to vote by that time from casting a ballot in the Nov. 4 election. Changes of address must also be finalized by that time to switch polling locations.

But Election Day will be something of an after-thought for tens of millions of Americans. In fact, six weeks out from Election Day, some voters in Kentucky, South Carolina and Virginia already are done.

Nationwide, about a third of the electorate is expected to vote early this year, thanks to expanded early voting provisions and fewer restrictions on absentee voting, researchers project. Though absentee voting has already begun in some mostly urban Kentucky areas, Crittenden County Clerk Carolyn Byford said voting by absentee ballot will be available no later than Oct. 17, but could be sooner once machines get certified.

SBA offering relief from 2008 flooding

The U.S. Small Business Administration announced Monday that federal economic injury disaster loans are available to small businesses and most private, non-profit organizations in Crittenden, Livingston, Union and two other counties in western Kentucky as a result of excessive rain and flooding that occurred in January.

A disaster declaration to help farmers recover from damages and losses to crops was issued by the U.S. Secretary of Agriculture, allowing SBA to issue its own declaration to assist small businesses affected by the same disaster, said Frank Skaggs, Director of SBA Field Operations Center East.

Under the declaration, SBA's Economic Injury Disaster Loan program is available to farm-related and nonfarm-related small business concerns, small agricultural cooperatives and private, non-profit organizations that suffered financial losses as a direct result of the flooding. Farmers and ranchers are not eligible to apply to SBA.

Eligible small businesses and non-profit organizations may qualify for loans up to $2 million. These loans are available at a 4 percent interest rate with loan terms up to 30 years.

Disaster victims should contact the SBA's Customer Service Center by calling 1-800-659-2955.

Tax bills may be paid with plastic

Crittenden County Sheriff's Department will for the first time accept credit and debit cards by taxpayers remitting payment for property taxes.

County property tax bills will be mailed next week. Taxpayers can take advantage of a two-percent discount by paying before Nov. 1.

Tax bills paid between Nov. 1 and Dec. 31 will be for the face amount. Anything paid after that, during January, is subject to a five-percent penalty.

Sheriff Wayne Agent said his office is in the process of acquiring a credit card machine so that it can begin processing electronic payments. He said the credit and debit card payment option may not be available for a couple of weeks, but anticipates having it at some point before the discount period is over.

"I believe this will add some convenience for taxpayers and it should help the county eliminate some delinquent taxes," Agent said.

Gift shop relocates up street

Bowtanicals under new ownership, but few changes planned

STAFF REPORT
After years of growing and expanding her business, Florist and Gift Shop. And starting next week, the shop will move a few doors north to the historic former Marion Café building. Bowtanicals will open at its new location, 202 S. Main St., on Monday.

Meantime, it will be business as usual at the current location through Friday, as Simpson shows the ropes to the new local owners Elliot West, Caryn Steele and Keith Steele. The new owners bought the business earlier this month, but Simpson, who opened her flower and gift shop on East Carlisle Street in November 1995, has retained ownership of the building near the corner of Main and Depot streets which Bowtanicals has called home since November 2004.

West, a native of Marion, will run the day-to-day operation of the floral and gift shop with assistance from the Steeles. Interestingly, both Caryn and Elliot have close family ties to the former Byford's store - originally the Marion Dollar Store - that was owned by the late Arthur and Virginia Byford. Byford's was a landmark of downtown Marion from 1963 to 1987. Caryn is the granddaughter and Elliot is the great-granddaughter of the Byfords. "Bowtanicals has always been a great place to purchase quality gifts and floral arrangements, and we want to build on that reputation as we introduce exciting new product lines in addition to the current favorites," Caryn said. "I'm proud of what Tanya has created, and we will diligently strive to maintain a standard of excellence." The new owners said the name of the shop will remain the same, and the current staff of Helen Head and Brodi Sutton will continue to be an integral part of Bowtanicals. The shop will be adding some new lines, including premium coffees and teas and gift books, West said. "We believe the people in our area want to be able to purchase fine gifts locally without having to drive two hours or more round-trip in order to do so. Our goal is to offer some of the highest quality gift items available," Keith Steele said. "We are encouraged by the positive improvements that have been made in the downtown area such as the new sidewalks, street lights, the new city hall and the restoration of many of the downtown buildings in recent years. We feel Marion and the surrounding community can continue to improve and that has given us the confidence to move forward on this exciting opportunity." Keith Steele is also president of Acclaim Press, a national publishing firm specializing in hardbound top-quality books. Bowtanicals will be closed Saturday for the relocation, but will open on Monday and maintain its same business hours under the new ownership.

Better-fathering program begins

STAFF REPORT
Crittenden County high school teacher and coach Denis Hodge is starting a local chapter of the All Pro Dad program and Saturday is its first event.

All Pro Dad is Family First's innovative program helping men to become better fathers. Although no age group is excluded, the program aims to help fathers broaden their relationship with their children of elementary age and younger.

All Pro Dad has 54 NFL spokesmen, multiple events with NFL teams, 1,000 All Pro Dad's Day chapters and Play of the Day daily emails that reach 40,000 fathers each day. Hodge wants to bring some of that to Crittenden County.

Hodge said he was inspired to start some type of outreach program after the sudden death of his 12-year-old son Jake earlier this summer. In addition to creating the All Pro Dad program in Crittenden County, Hodge and other family and friends are working on a variety of other outreach projects, including a scholarship fund, Web site and paperback book. So far, the scholarship fund has collected more than $23,000. The All Pro Dad Breakfast is open to anyone, Hodge said, it doesn't have to be dads. "If you're a mother and want to come, we want you to be there," Hodge said. All Pro Dad's Breakfast is a one-hour, free event where a wide range of topics will be discussed. Donations will be accepted. It will be held Saturday starting at 8 a.m., at the Crittenden County High School multi-purpose room. There will be a short video featuring NFL coach Tony Dungy, who also lost a teenage son three years ago, and dads will be provided a free packet of material that will help them learn more about the All Pro Dad program. For more information, contact Hodge at 704-0643.

Highway 60 Yard Sale approaches

Over the weekend of Oct. 3-5, seven western Kentucky counties will team up to present the Highway 60 Yard Sale. This year's sale will stretch for 175 miles along U.S. 60 from Crittenden to Meade County. Cities lying along the route include Marion, Sturgis, Morganfield, Waverly, Corydon, Henderson and Owensboro, as well as communities in between. Hundreds of local individuals, businesses and groups are expected to participate this year, setting up yard sales and craft booths on their properties along the highway. This unique event allows visitors from Kentucky and surrounding states to enjoy an exciting shopping experience, while taking in the flavor of the Ohio Valley's unique restaurants, shops and hospitality. To participate locally, call Michele Edwards at 965-5015.

den County native included a horse-drawn caisson, a full Army band unit, an escort platoon, a flyover by two propeller-driven aircraft, a traditional 21-gun salute by a seven-man firing party and a lone bugler playing taps.

"It was the end of one phase, not knowing exactly where he was," Enoch explained, describing his feelings after the funeral. "But the beginning of something else. I can now go anytime I want to visit his grave."

Tired and weary from emotion, Enoch regrets only that his mother, Margarite, was unable to see her first husband laid to rest.

Floyd "Rip" Wheeler, one of Lt. Enoch's running mates around Marion as a youth, recalled Monday that his buddy never backed down from a fight, even when overmatched. He also recalls discussing their plans as teens to join the military effort as World War II dragged on.

"He said he didn't want to walk, he wanted to fly," Wheeler said with a chuckle. "I didn't want to fly, I wanted to walk."

Enoch will get to meet Wheeler and others who remembered his father when a service honoring the airman is held next month at Marion United Methodist Church.

37, of Piedmont, Ala., were both arrested and lodged in the county jail where they remained early Monday.

Culberson was charged with drinking in a public place and possession of marijuana. Cleveland was charged with possession of marijuana and having prescription medication not in its original container. Both were also charged with various hunting violations, including spotlighting.

Deputy Rushing's report says that the men told the officers that they were in Crittenden County for the archery deer season, hunting on leased property near the area where they were arrested.

The men's rifles, spotlight and pickup truck were seized and impounded.

A visit to the river town of Weston

As time goes on, old folks pass away and the world moves ahead, it becomes more difficult for us to be able to learn how it was many years ago.

The once prosperous and very busy river port town of Weston is today a quiet, peaceful little village of just a few families.

It becomes difficult to see her as a bustling town with several businesses lining its streets, hotels for travelers to spend the night and a very busy river dock for boats large and small. The river traffic was for both commerce and travel. Years ago, the Ohio River was the main route for transporting and receiving necessary supplies and livestock.

The articles recorded in the old Crittenden Presses are indeed a treasure for us to be able to look back into the past through the pages of the newspaper and see what life was like.

From the archives of The Crittenden Press issue dated Dec. 21, 1893 let's take a visit to Weston.

Messrs Hill and Heath handle general merchandise; they carry a good stock, and have hosts of friends. Both are polite obliging gentlemen and will treat you royally when you call.

George L. Rankin, in addition to being a popular postmaster, has a large stock of general merchandise. His business card reads this way: Geo. L. Rankin, dealer in dry good, notions, boats, shoes, hats, caps, groceries, hardware, stoves, tin ware, glassware, queenware, plows, cultivators, wagons, buggies; forwarding, receiving and commission merchant Adams Express Company, and steam boat agent.

Hence, it will be seen that George is not without business. He was the oldest merchant here and his honesty, industry, politeness and good qualities generally make him a mighty fine man to have in town.

Dr. Walter Asher has a pretty drug store and does business according to the rules and regulations of all well regulated pill makers. Pleasant and polite he is punctual and regular.

Dr. Wiley F. Truitt is our flourishing young doctor; he has a large practice and is rightfully accounted a safe and successful physician.

J.L. Hughes has for years run the hotel here and he knows how to please the public. You may find bigger hotels than his house, but you will find none better.

Our school is manned by Robert Wheeler, and he is succeeding admirably well with his 40 pupils. We like him.

We have one nice church building; it belongs to the C.P. and Rev. W.C.M. Travis administers to the spiritual needs of the congregation. It is a progressive little church. The Methodists have an organization here and will build a church next year.

Our little town is gaining grounds and there is a good business being carried on by the old reliable merchants; and while speaking of those who are prospering in the mercantile business we remember our genial friend and pleasant milliner, Mrs. John S. Heath (Annie Bristow Heath), who is well equipped for the trimming of hats.

She carries a large and elegant line of millinery, and is at all times ready to serve her customers with the courtesy that she ever practices, and those wanting latest styles and lowest prices should call and given her a trial.

One last evening, a week ago, the people gathered at the river and in a short time boats were secured and a large number of people were soon making their way down the waters, and soon found themselves at old Clementsburg, where they witnessed the rite of baptism which was performed by Rev. James F. Price, Mrs. J.L. Rankin, being the candidate.

After the ceremony, we were shown to the hospitable home of Mr. Rankin where music was performed by our choir of which H.E. Nesbitt is leader and Miss Flossie Farmer, organist. Our crowd returned to their respective homes with a feeling of gladness in their hearts.

On Sunday last, a party of our young people consisting of Misses Byrdie Hughes, Catherine Hill, A.A. Avitts and Mickie Hughes, after taking dinner at the hospitable home of Mr. John S. Heath, took a boat row upon the beautiful waters of the Ohio River.

They visited caves and the scenes of the freaks of nature, and after rowing for miles upon the broad lowlands of overflowing waters, they strolled for a time over the beautiful bluffs and then climbed to the highest peak and watched the sun take his last fond look of day. After which they plied their way though the rippling waves, in the gloaming not lessened in beauty by a full silvery moon.

Then on to their respective homes each bearing a memento of the ever to be remembered jaunt on the river and among the beautiful hills.

Captain Dink Sturgeon made a flying trip to Cave In Rock, Ill., this past week. Mr. Sturgeon is sole proprietor of the famous gas boat, Sprague, and anticipates a large trade the coming season.

Capt. Dick McConnell, of Fords Ferry was here; he also harbored his famous gas boat, Wynona, at our port.

In September of 1913, Mrs. George Ann Travis gave a bit of history of the Cumberland Presbyterian Church at Weston.

The Cumberland Presbyterian Church was organized at old Mt. Zion,

Sept. 15, 1880, under the supervision of Revs. William Winn and C.R. Cain, with a membership of 27.

The organization remained at Mt. Zion until 1890, the old church being blown away by a cyclone. The congregation was reorganized and rented a home at Weston in which we held service until 1892. We then bought an old store building in which we served our Heavenly Father until October 1912.

The first service was held in the new building by Rev. O.D. Spence. In the fall of 1892, the church being without a pastor, the State Evangelist, Rev. B. Watson, held a meeting with good results.

On Oct. 7, 1893, the Presbrytery convened with Weston, a congregation which gave great encouragement and a general uplift to the church. After this we organized both a missionary society and Sunday school.

The Missionary Society has long since been extinct, but we have ever kept up the Sunday school missing but few Sundays.

The following brethren have served as pastors of the C.P. church at Weston; Revs. W.C.M. Travis, W.W. Winn, R.P. Mitcher, B.H. Crowell, J.B. Lowery, G.L. Woodruff, W.T. Oakley and O.D. Spence. The above named brethren served the congregation as pastors during the time from the beginning of the organization to the building the new house.

During this time God has placed His hand upon five young men and called them from this congregation to the ministry, namely: Ben McMican, J.R. Lamb, J.N. Russell, Albert Newcom and Nathan Whitmer.

The new building was started on Sept. 10. 1912. The good people of Weston with their many friends began the new structure. By everyone using both hands and means and on Oct. 5th, 1912, they surprised their pastor, Rev. O.D. Spence, by having the new building ready for use but not completed.

He continued to serve until the close of the Presbyterial year 1912. He resigning the work, the session than called Rev. F.L. McDowell as pastor.

In gratitude to Almighty God, for the literal and spiritual blessings he has bestowed upon us, we dedicate the church to Him, Sunday, Sept. 7, 1913.

CRIT LUALLEN
AUDITOR OF PUBLIC ACCOUNTS

The Honorable Fred Brown, Crittenden County Judge/Executive
The Honorable Carolyn Byford, Crittenden County Clerk
Members of the Crittenden County Fiscal Court

Independent Auditor's Report
We have audited the accompanying statement of revenues, expenditures, and excess fees - regulatory basis of the County Clerk of Crittenden County, Kentucky, for the year ended December 31, 2007. This financial statement is the responsibility of the County Clerk. Our responsibility is to express an opinion on this financial statement based on our audit.
We conducted our audit in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States of America, the standards applicable to financial audits contained in Government Auditing Standards issued by the Comptroller General of the United States, and the Audit Guide for County Fee Officials issued by the Auditor of Public Accounts, Commonwealth of Kentucky. Those standards require that we plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statement is free of material misstatement. An audit includes examining, on a test basis, evidence supporting the amounts and disclosures in the financial statement. An audit also includes assessing the accounting principles used and significant estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall financial presentation. We believe that our audit provides a reasonable basis for our opinion.
As described in Note 1, the County Clerk's office prepares the financial statement on a regulatory basis of accounting that demonstrates compliance with the laws of Kentucky, which is a comprehensive basis of accounting other than accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America.
In our opinion, the financial statement referred to above presents fairly, in all material respects, the revenues, expenditures, and excess fees of the County Clerk for the year ended December 31, 2007, in conformity with the regulatory basis of accounting described in Note 1.
In accordance with Government Auditing Standards, we have also issued our report dated July 30, 2008 on our consideration of the County Clerk's internal control over financial reporting and on our tests of its compliance with certain provisions of laws, regulations, contracts, and grant agreements and other matters. The purpose of that report is to describe the scope of our testing of internal control over financial reporting and compliance and the results of that testing, and not to provide an opinion on the internal control over financial reporting or on compliance. That report is an integral part of an audit performed in accordance with Government Auditing Standards and should be considered in assessing the results of our audit.
This report is intended solely for the information and use of the County Clerk and Fiscal Court of Crittenden County, Kentucky, and the Commonwealth of Kentucky and is not intended to be and should not be used by anyone other than these specified parties.
Respectfully submitted,

Crit Luallen
Auditor of Public Accounts

Our greatest need is sometimes overlooked

Several years ago, I knew a young lady who became pregnant at 14. She couldn't bear the thought of telling her mom and dad, so she ran away from home. The family was devastated, so they engaged in a nationwide search to locate their daughter. The authorities questioned her friends and family members as far away as California, but she didn't turn up.

When she had been gone for about a week, her exhausted mother looked out of the back window of their home and saw her weak and worried daughter peeking out through a bush in the back yard. While the authorities had questioned family friends in California, the young mother was in the back yard.

So often, the things we search for the hardest are the closest. Our search for treasure sends us around the globe at the neglect of our loved ones, who have our treasures tucked in their heart. We seek fame from kings while our neighbors don't even know who we are. We spend hard-earned money on possessions that will fade away instead of laying up treasures that will last forever.

Over the last four years, I've walked, driven and Googled over Crittenden County. I can't count the number of people who have historic relationships with churches in our county, including the one I pastor. It is normal for me to meet local folks of all ages and backgrounds who are quick to point out that they know without doubt they need to be back in church. I often hear the statement, "I know we need to be in church, but..."

Like that devastated family, who searched for their daughter through friends and authorities in distant places, most of us overlook the One, the God, who longs for us

“...How often I have longed to gather your children together, as a hen gathers her chicks under her wings, but you were not willing!”

— Luke 13:14
New International Version

most and lives closest to us. While we say, "I should be in church," I know I should do better" and "I know my family needs the church programs," we fail to recognize we don't need church, good intentions or programs. What we need is Jesus.

Maybe you've been living in search of a better life. You've tried to find happiness, contentment and fulfillment through friends, jobs, vacations and maybe even churches. Yet, the object of your search has gone undiscovered because you were looking to achieve, to gain reward and to earn value when the greatest value of all is gained through submission rather than accomplishment.

The Lord of heaven and earth, who died on a cross He didn't deserve, is closer than your clothes and more interested in you than your best friend. Yet He comes by invitation and longs to hear you speak out to Him.

Don't misunderstand my opinion of the church. We need to surround ourselves with people who acknowledge Jesus as their boss. But what we need most is God and the good news is that He is more accessible than we could ever imagine.

New hope is available to those who discover what's most important. Don't delay in getting your priorities right.

Rankin estate donates to Methodist Children

The late Irene Rankin's estate has recently been settled and as part of that process more than $124,000 has been bequeathed to the Mary Kendall United Methodist Children's Home in Owensboro. Rankin was a member of Marion United Methodist Church, another benefactor of her estate. Although Rankin passed away many years ago, her trust funds had been active until only recently when the last surviving heir died. At that point, the balance of her estate was specified for the children's home. Pictured making the presentation of the charitable funds are Bob Guess of Marion, who was executor of the Rankin estate, and Dean Weber, chaplain of the Mary Kendall United Methodist Children's Home. The presentation was made recently prior to the morning worship service at Marion United Methodist Church.

Livingston participates in program

Livingston County students ages 8-13 will be involved in a pilot program designed by the National Center on Addiction and Substance Abuse at Columbia University. The goal of the program is to address delinquency, violence, substance abuse and improvements in school achievement, attendance and attitude for at-risk pre-teen children. Last school year, Livingston County schools received a federal grant through the Department of Juvenile Justice to fund the program. It began as a truancy prevention program, but the original application had requested funds for a CASASTART model program. CASASTART says that compared to the randomly assigned control group, youth in the program were: •Significantly less likely to use gateway and stronger drugs; •Significantly less likely to report involvement in drug selling; •Significantly more likely to be promoted to the next grade. Youth also reported: •Lower levels of violent offenses; •Higher levels of positive peer influence; •Lower levels of association with delinquent peers; •Less susceptibility to negative peer pressure.

Information sought on Crittenden creeks

The Energy and Environment Cabinet is seeking public comment until Oct. 17 on a draft report on water quality problems in the Lower Cumberland River Basin in Caldwell, Crittenden, Livingston and Lyon counties. The Clean Water Act requires each state to periodically identify specific waters where water quality problems exist. The state is also required to prioritize the list of impaired waters, calculate a Total Maximum Daily Load (TMDL) of pollutants for those waters and devise plans to improve them. The report, prepared by the Division of Water, addresses pathogen impairments of 11 stream segments, including eight direct tributaries to the Lower Cumberland River, at levels that make them impaired for swimming. The eight tributaries are Claylick, Eddy, Ferguson, Hickory, Livingston, Richland, Sandy and Sugar creeks. The report may be viewed at the department’s Web site: www.water.ky.gov/sw/tmdl/TMDLs+Under+Development.htm. Comments should be sent to Andrea Fredenburg, Division of Water, 14 Reilly Road, Frankfort, KY 40601; andrea.fredenburg@ky.gov; or call 502-564-3410.

He was preceded in death by his parents, Carlos Polk and Hallie Louise Foreman Lynch; and one sister. Funeral services are 1 p.m., Thursday, Sept. 25 at Gilbert Funeral Home in Marion. Visitation was from 5-9 p.m., Wednesday. Burial will be at Deer Creek Cemetery.

Norman

Keith William Norman, 81, of Kiowa, Okla., formerly of Marion, died Friday, Sept. 19, 2008 at McAlester Regional Health Center. He was born Sept. 10, 1927 in the Mexico community in Crittenden County to Clay and Stella Leah Williams Norman. He graduated from Marion High School in 1946. Norman moved to Oklahoma in 1964 and married Juanita Parkerson on June 2, 1965. Norman worked for several nursing homes, the City of McAlester, Okla., Meeco Marines, Oklahoma State Penitentiary and at Kiowa schools. Survivors include three sons, Ronald Eugene Norman of Thousand Oaks, Calif., Gregory Norman of Munster, Ind., and Jeffrey Norman of Dawson Springs; two step-sons, Larry Norman of Fort Gibson, Okla., and Danny Oliver of Vian, Okla.; seven grandchildren; one brother, Marcus Norman of Evansville, Ind.; and special friend, Mildred Thompson of Kiowa. He was preceded in death by his parents; wife, Juanita; sister, Ina Mae Little and brother, James Norman. Services were Sept. 24 at Brumley-Mills Chapel in McAlester, Okla., with Pastor Cecil Day officiating. Burial was at Memory Gardens Cemetery.

Wiggins

Corbett “C.C.” Wiggins, 78, of Burna, died Friday Sept. 19, 2008 at Livingston Hospital. He was employed by U.S. Steel for 36 years and then retired and farmed for 20 years. Heaven’s Gain

Your birthdays have come and gone, but by Gods time it won’t be long.

We will see you both in a little while, you both will be laughing and singing with those beautiful smiles.

We know now that you are not in any pain. With this old world behind you, Heaven is your gain.

We love you both and will hold you forever in our hearts.

When God’s golden trumpets sound, we will never again have to part.

Why preplan with Boyd?

If you like the peace of mind you get from insurance, you’ll understand why it makes sense to preplan with us. We know of no other funeral home’s policies that work as hard to do all this:

- Spares your family from making detailed decisions at an emotional time
- Ensures that wishes are expressed
- Prevents overspending and can lock in costs

We’re experts at preplanning, and know all of the issues that may arise. Call us, you’ll be glad you did.

When nothing less than the very best in service will do...

What would Mom say...

Quiet time
All moms need a quick hide-out

I have a friend to whom I have granted anonymity in exchange for publicly sharing some pretty funny stuff.

First and foremost, think no worse of any mom when you hear these stories, and be assured the children are always well cared for, are old enough to keep themselves out of harm's way and are in safe environments when the mom runs and hides for a little peace and quiet.

Who hasn't wanted to sneak off and hide from their children every once and a while? Dads do it all the time, they just do so under the disguise of work or volunteerism.

You understand if you are a mother – or perhaps Mr. Mom – that every now and then you just need a little quiet. Have you ever been in a church congregation when a preacher gets to preaching rather loudly and continues to speak without taking many breaths or giving pause between thoughts, and you just crave a moment's quiet? Same thing with kids. We don't love them any less or disrespect the preacher by craving a little peace and quiet.

My friend's hiding places have been numerous – under the dining room table, in the pantry, in the bathroom, even under a blanket on the bed. All of those places are within earshot of the kids, who are innocently going about their business – safe, as I said – and mom's receiving a little quiet between storms. Oddly enough, she said she finds comfort in sneaking away to eat candy, which she'd rather her kids not know exists in the house. Now that's looking out for her best interest, as well as the kids', because we all know what excessive doses of sugar can do to kids prone to dabble in hyperactivity.

For me, that hiding place of choice is smack in the middle of the house – but to enjoy it, I've found I must rise early, before the sun shines or the rooster crows.

As a mother of three, I've found there's little more peace to be obtained than by sitting on the couch with the sun rising outside my back window, sipping on a cup of coffee while watching Morning Joe.

Between the solitude and the caffeine most of us mothers are ready to start the day when the first set of feet hits the floor. But not until we've enjoyed our bit of hiding.

BIRTHS
Rogier

Jill and Steve Rogier of Clearwater, Fla., announce the birth of a son, Owen Eric Rogier. Owen was born at 8:53 a.m., July 12, 2008. He weighed 10 pounds and was 23 inches long.

Maternal grandparents are John and Jerilyn May of Marion and Al and Jean Logston of Santa Claus, Ind.

Paternal grandparents are Larry and Carol Rogier of Jeffersonville, Ind.

Owen has a big brother, Brady.

Tinsley-Williams

Larry and Tina Tinsley of Salem announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Sarah LeAnn, to Trae Williams, son of Thomas and Barbara Williams of Wickliffe.

The bride-elect is the granddaughter of George and Linda Harris of Salem and Reba Kersey of Crayne.

She is a 2003 graduate of Livingston Central High School and a 2008 graduate of Murray State University with a degree in journalism. She is a Kappa Delta Sorority Alumna with the Alpha Xi Chapter at the University of Louisville.

The groom-elect is the grandson of Lorene DeJarnett of Paducah and the late Roy DeJarnett and the late Robert M. Williams and Lorena Thompson of Cairo, Ill.

He is a 2005 graduate of Ballard Memorial High School and is in his senior year at the University of Kentucky where he is pre-physical therapy. He is a Delta Sigma Pi with the Theta Mu Chapter at UK.

The wedding will be held at 5 p.m., Oct. 18 at Patti's Gazebo in Grand Rivers. A reception will follow immediately after the ceremony at Green Turtle Bay. All friends and family are invited to attend. Only out-of-town invitations are being sent.

Dress to impress for job interviews

Use home camera for test, critique

Interviews can be stressful for interviewees but determining the appropriate attire to wear should not be. Appearance speaks volumes for a friend, long before he or she ever says a word. The way you look and project yourself through clothing selection, proper grooming and body language can help a prospective employer determine if you are the right candidate for a job. While proper interview attire does not make up for lack of education or job qualifications, it can make or break your chances of getting a job offer.

You should plan interview attire in advance, at least by the night before. The most important thing to remember when selecting clothing for an interview is simplicity. Clothes should be neat, clean and properly fit your body. Solid colors are best, but simple patterns such as stripes and checks may be appropriate for women.

Sometimes, the job you are applying for can determine the appropriate attire for an interview. A good tip to remember is to dress for the job position above the job you are applying for. If you are nervous about hair longer than shoulder length with a band that closely matches your hair color. Women's makeup should flatter the outfit without drawing attention away from it. You should choose soft eye shadows and lipsticks. Sparingly apply cologne or perfume.

During the interview, sit and stand tall with shoulders square. If extended a handshake, always firmly shake hands. Look prospective employers in the eye when speaking or listening. You should place your hands neatly in your lap. Avoid fidgeting with your clothing. Women should avoid crossing their legs except at the ankles. Always be courteous to any additional employees you may have contact with because they could potentially be your coworkers.

Lots of universities offer programs to their graduates where they videotape a practice interview and go over it afterwards with the student offering helpful advice. You can do the same thing with your home video camera and let someone whose opinion you respect critique it.

Projecting yourself as a confident, capable person in an interview can help you land the job of your dreams. To learn more about proper interview attire and behavior, contact the Crittenden County Cooperative Extension Service at 965-5236.

Dycusburg Day
Saturday, Oct. 11
Giveaways
Silent Auction
Parade at Noon

Life seems to be getting back to normal after the storm that hit in the wake of Hurricane Ike. Many in this area banded together to help one another. Smashed cars and homes, peeled roofs and broken fences were a sobering aftereffect of the strong winds. Losing a luxury like electricity sometimes jolts us back into a realization that, in times of need, a sense of community is that much more important.

In the past week, area residents have enjoyed gorgeous weather. This has meant many have enjoyed cookouts and camping.

Paul Rushing is out of the hospital.

Our sympathies are extended to the family of Jimmie Manley.

Birthday wishes are extended to Sandra Peek Tabor (Sept. 22), and to Juanita Green and Linda Sutton. Anniversary congratulations to Byron and Sue Powell; Josh and Star Mahns (4 years on Sept. 25); and Rick and Debbie Holsapple (33 years on Sept. 27).

Thank you to everyone who has complimented our column lately. We admit that we enjoy the praise and faithful readers. We are enjoying writing this column every week. The best comment that hit our inbox this week hit the nail on the head, stating that Dycusburg always had a bad reputation but it was never as bad as people made it out to be. Amen to that!

Barbara Ethridge recently enjoyed visiting on the phone with Virginia Lee Jewel and talking about local history.

Homecoming at the Dycusburg Baptist Church was well attended. Bro. Cliff Paddock spoke and The Hamptons gave a concert.

The new marker has been erected at the entrance of the Dycusburg Cemetery.

Dycusburg Day is quickly approaching. Dear readers, here's what we need: volunteers to run children's games in the morning (our biggest need); antique and unique cars for our parade at noon; and craft and food vendors. Contact Michelle Henderson at 988-2758 or Matthew T. Patton at (215) 285-0920 if you would like to help.

The Dycusburg Community Group will meet at 3 p.m., Sunday at the home of Michelle Henderson. All interested in the advancement of the town are invited.

The Dycusburg Community Group urges residents of the town to spruce up their yards in advance of Dycusburg Day. The teamwork before our last event in July was apparent, and we hope to see a similar effort this time.

The silent auction at Dycusburg Day has some fabulous items worth checking out, including a movie lover's package, gift certificates to local restaurants, a baby clothes set, autographed books, magazine subscriptions, bed and breakfast stays, CDs and more. We will publish the full list of silent auction items at www.dycusburg.com/dcg soon. Bring plenty of cash or a checkbook on Oct. 11 as you won't want to miss out on the opportunity to bid on these amazing items. Additionally, a $100 Visa gift card, Avon basket and a loaded Nashville getaway package will be given away. Proceeds will benefit the nonprofit Dycusburg Community Group. Enter to win door prizes, including a food basket and a $50 certificate to Patti's Restaurant.

Representatives from WAVJ were in Dycusburg testing signal strength last week. They will be broadcasting from Dycusburg Day.

In conjunction with Dycusburg Day, the Crittenden County Genealogical Society will hold its Oct. 11 meeting at the Dycusburg Methodist Church (after a short business meeting at the Crittenden County Library at 10). Matthew T. Patton, author of "Dycusburg, Kentucky: A Glance at Her Past" will provide an overview of the town's history, followed by a visit to the Dycusburg Area Veteran's Memorial and then a walking tour of Dycusburg Cemetery. Attendees of this function will be entered into a raffle to receive a free copy of Patton's book, free subscriptions to Kentucky Monthly and Kentucky Explorer magazines, as well as a complimentary membership to the Crittenden County Genealogical Society.

The annual L.B. and Sarah (Parsley) Patton family reunion will be held Sunday, October 12 at the Fredonia Lion's Club Building, starting at noon. A potluck lunch will be served at 12:45. All descendants and friends of the family are welcome.

Attendance at Seven Springs for Sunday School was 47 with many more arriving for preaching.

Club hears from local prayer author

The Woman's Club of Marion welcomed Jennifer Kennedy Dean as their guest speaker for their 88th anniversary meeting in September. Lunch was served by the hostess committee with several guests in attendance including Jennifer's mother.

Dean's inspirational talk discouraged club women from getting caught up in the whirlwind of today's fast-paced life.

Her address touched on why we should be focused not frazzled. The same life does not fit us all. God has designed a life fit just for you. Be careful of what you choose. The challenge of living a true life of a Christian is not always easy. The reality that Christ has housed himself in you is not easy to understand. He has come to live in us to transform us from the inside out.

Dean will have a new radio show starting Oct. 1 and an internet TV show (Women of Faith) on Oct. 25.

Fall conference

October meeting

The Woman's Club of Marion will welcome Carl "Jim" Christensen, CEO of Crittenden Health Systems, as its speaker for the October meeting, scheduled for 6:30 p.m., Oct. 2. He joined Crittenden Health Systems in July 2007 with 28 years of leadership experience. His open-door participative leadership style is largely the result of early healthcare positions as director of para-rescue/paramedics, cardiopulmonary, human resources, purchasing, engineering, rehab, safety, long term care, business office, home health/DME, and quality teams departments.

Christensen has multiple degrees (A.A., A.S., B.A., M.A., M.S.) and has completed all but his dissertation for a Ph.D from Nova Southeastern University. He and his wife of 37 years, Susan, have four grown daughters. He has held prior positions in Iowa and Illinois and comes to Marion from Montana.

He will be speaking on the future of the hospital.

DYCUSBURG & BEYOND

By Tina Cochrum

First Tee, a golfing experience for children, is hosted by Dycusburg Baptist Church to teach children (adults are welcome also) the basics of golfing. Changes have been made since the announcement of First Tee, the location has been changed to the grassy area next to the Baptist church and meetings will be every other Tuesday at 6 p.m. The next meeting will be Sept. 30. Rockets one up in district

Crittenden turns back Fulton's lethal offense

STAFF REPORT

MARION, Ky. - Gaige Courtney rushed for 153 yards and three touchdowns as Crittenden County won a pivotal early First District showdown against Fulton City Friday night.

The Rockets opened the offensive gates in their first contest against a Kentucky Class A opponent, scoring on six of their first eight possessions. On defense, Crittenden got stellar play up front and closed the door on Fulton City's potentially lethal rushing attack. The Bulldogs managed just 24 yards on the ground during the first half while the Rockets were piling up a 30-0 lead at the break.

Crittenden's junior quarterback J.D. Gray was perfect through the air, completing all five of his passes for one touchdown and 78 yards. Gray also rushed for 81 yards in the surprisingly easy win over Class A's No. 15 team. The Rockets came into the game ranked 13th.

The victory was especially important to Crittenden's post-season aspirations as it gives the Rockets an early advantage in the district race. Crittenden plays a key district matchup next week at eighth-ranked and league favorite Mayfield. With Ballard Memorial much improved this season, getting the win over Fulton was a big first step toward securing home-field advantage for the first round of the playoffs.

Rocket coach Al Starnes said his team's play was the most complete effort this season and pointed to less experienced players stepping up and filling important roles as the key factor. He singled out Brian Berry, Dyllan Thornton, Dustin McConnell, J.R. Adams and Andrew Freeman for their improved play.

"We simply got after Fulton and they have a very potent offense," Starnes said. "Across the board, it was the best game we've played this year. Our younger kids are getting better and with their maturity as football players, we're seeing positive results."

The coach also pointed to a tough early season schedule for preparing the Rockets for their district opener. Crittenden's two losses were at the hands of ranked Class 4A teams.

"Gaige Courtney showed he can run the ball effectively and J.D. Grey threw the ball very well," Starnes said. "It was a solid game all around."

The Rockets had a shutout going until late in the game when the reserves allowed the Bulldogs to score on a long pass play. Fulton got another touchdown after picking up

This week's game

ROCKETS vs. Cardinals

Kickoff
7:30 p.m.
FRIDAY
at Mayfield's War Memorial Stadium

CRITTENDEN COUNTY (2-2)

Offense: Multiple

Defense: 50

Player Report: Rodney Robertson (broken left hand) is out; Tanner Nix (infection) missed last week's game, but should be back this week.

MAYFIELD (1-2)

Offense: Multiple, basic I Formation

Defense: 5-3

Results this season:

Lost 50-7 to Fort Campbell

Won 42-38 over Ballard Memorial

Lost 29-12 to Graves County

The series: The Rockets are 0-10 all-time against Mayfield. Crittenden has played three teams five or more times and never won. Those teams are Davies County (0-6), Henderson County (0-7) and Mayfield. The Rockets are 0-8 against Mayfield in playoff games. The series started in 1972 when Mayfield beat Crittenden 28-6. The teams didn't play again until the 1995 playoffs when Mayfield won 35-14. The closest game between the two schools was last year in the playoffs when Mayfield won 24-21.

Game Notes: Gaige Courtney's 82-yard TD run last week was the seventh longest in team history. Courtney needs just 52 tackles to become the all-time leader. Wompie Stewart is currently No. 1 with 297. Mayfield is 36-6 in home games since 2002. Crittenden is 4-4 in Week 5 after starting the season 2-2.

Scouting Report: Mayfield is ranked 8th in BluegrassPreps.com Class A and is one of the best teams in western Kentucky. However, some believe the Cardinals are not quite as powerful as they've been in years past. Tyresse Murrell is a running back with great speed and an ability to catch passes for long plays. QB Luke Guhy is just a sophomore, but proved his worth last season against Crittenden County when he pinch-hit for the Cardinals' starting signal caller in a 34-14 win at Marion. He passed for 217 yards in that game.

CCMS Rockets are undefeated at 5-0

Crittenden County Middle School came from behind to win a big showdown between two undefeated teams Tuesday night at Rocket Stadium.

After trailing 12-0 at halftime, the Rockets (5-0) bounced back for an impressive 22-20 victory over South Hopkins.

Quarterback Travis Gilbert scored on a one-yard keeper late in the game to tie the contest, then Brenden Phillips punched in the winning conversion run.

Gilbert threw a third-period TD pass to Grant Gardner, and Phillips rushed for the other score. Phillips finished with 161 yards rushing and Gardner had 81, plus kick returns of 20 and 37 yards. Gilbert was 4-for-4 passing. Gardner caught 2 for 27 yards and Bowe Wallace had 2 clutch receptions for 17.

Defensively, Crittenden was led by Wallace's 7 solo tackles. Other defensive stats were as follows: Gilbert 4 solos, assist; Phillips 2 solos, 2 assists; Cozart solo, assist; Price solo, 2 assists, caused fumble, fumble recovery; Bebout solo, 3 assists; Collins solo; Gardner 3 solos; Clark 2 solos, assist; Owen 2 solos, assist; and Knox 2 solos.

In the B-game, Aaron Owen rushed for 104 yards and scored 2 touchdowns as the Rockets beat South Hopkins 30-0. Clint Asbridge also scored twice for Crittenden and Gilbert threw a TD pass to Zac Tinsley.

The middle schoolers play their last game at home Tuesday against Union County.

Rockets fall to Gold

Crittenden County Junior Pro Football teams lost two games Saturday at home against Caldwell County's Gold team.

The fifth- and sixth-grade game was scoreless until Caldwell scored with about two minutes to go in the game thanks largely to a long punt return that put them in good field position. The Gold team scored again late on an interception. Caldwell won it 16-0.

Here are game stats:

Rushing

Cole Easley 10-26, Dakota Stone 12-39, Matthew Hassett 2-1.

Passing

Matthew Hassett 6-for-12, 41 yards; Dakota Stone 2-for-2, 35 yards.

Receiving

Colby Watson 3-36, Noah Dickerson 1-8, Michael Hassett 3-27, Gary McConnell 1-15.

Tackles

Dylan Hollis 8, Cole Easley 7, Noah Dickerson 6, Ryan Wallace 6, Colby Watson 4, 1 interception, Michael Hassett 3, fumble recovery, Dakota Stone 2, Gary McConnell 1, Travis Fitzgerald 1, Chase Young 1 and Jesse Belt 1.

The junior pro teams host Sturgis Saturday at 2 and 4 p.m. Team and individual pictures will be taken one and half hours before each contest.

3rd & 4th in 7 overtimes

A familiar scenario played out for the third- and fourth-grade Rockets.

For the second straight week the Rockets found themselves in an overtime battle. Throughout the game, Crittenden failed to gain any momentum on offense and was held to negative total yards. However, the defense stepped up and kept the Tigers in check by only allowing them just two first downs and creating eight turnovers. Shelby Robinson and Noah Sallin each recorded two fumble recoveries and Cody Garrison, Cody Belt, Maeson Myers and Dakota Koerner each pitched in with one apiece.

Since the game was scoreless at the end of regulation, the ball was placed on the 10-yard line and each team was given four downs to score. With neither team producing any points after five overtimes, the ball was then placed on the five-yard line and it took two more possessions before the Tigers found the end zone to defeat the Rockets 6-0.

The junior pro teams return to Rocket Stadium Saturday as they host the Sturgis Chiefs with kickoff scheduled at 2 and 4 p.m., respectively.

GOLF

Darkness hits golf

Shorter days mean fewer holes for the Crittenden County High School golf team. The Rockets lost 142-131 to University Heights in a seven-hole match Tuesday at Novadell Golf Course in Hopkinsville.

Crittenden's scoring was as follows: Justin DeFreitas 35, Alec Pierce 35, Janson James 36, Cody McDonald 36, Jordan Croft 41 and Lonna Starnes 43.

VOLLEYBALL

Girls clinch No. 2

The Lady Rockets (16-4, 4-2) clinched a No. 2 seed for the district tournament with a straight-set road win Tuesday over Livingston 25-12, 25-23.

The Lady Cardinals jumped out to an 11-5 lead in the second set, forcing Crittenden coach Larry Duvall to call a timeout.

The strategy worked as the Lady Rockets changed the momentum and came back to tie it at 16-all. They later took a 22-20 lead before hanging on for the victory.

"The girls knew their own mistakes. They focused and came back and played," Duvall said.

Juniors Erica Leet and Olivia Adams had strong serving performances to help their team sweep the season series.

The JV Lady Rockets won two matches against Livingston.

The Lady Rockets continued their steady play last week at home, improving to 3-2 in Fourth District play with a 26-24, 25-18 win over visiting Trigg County. After having to stave off a serious Lady Wildcat challenge in the opening set, they won the ensuing set more comfortably.

It was also a productive night for the JV Lady Rockets as they defeated Trigg in three sets 21-18, 8-21, 21-16.

Girls break streak

The Lady Rockets turned in their most complete performance of the season Tuesday night, ending an eight-game losing skid by battling visiting Fort Campbell to a 2-2 tie.

Crittenden (0-8-1) had two great chances for an early lead, but shots from Mary Hollamon and Misty Wallace missed by only inches. The Lady Falcons took a 1-0 lead at the 31:19 mark of the first half.

Wallace knotted the score 10 minutes later for CCHS, but within two minutes, Fort Campbell was back ahead.

It was Wallace who later tacked on her second goal to tie the contest for good.

Crittenden goalie Hannah Brantley had 16 saves in the stalemate.

Both squads had an abundance of scoring chances as the Lady Falcons recorded 23 shots on goal compared to 19 for Crittenden.

"That was a really good team. I feel like we did our best," Crittenden coach Michael Gibson said. Fort Campbell came into the game 7-5, the third best record in the region.

The Lady Rocket soccer team was in the midst of the longest losing streak in the program's short history after last week's loss at Trigg County.

Trigg's Kelci Winn tied a school-record, netting four goals as her team went on to a 7-1 league win.

punch continued at Cadiz as Misty Wallace's goal in the 58th minute was the only thing that prevented a shutout.

Leading 1-0, it did not take the hosts very long to extend that advantage as they tallied a pair of goals in only 90 seconds during the first half and were never threatened after that.

Trigg outshout the Lady Rockets 30-4 in the blowout.

Middle school boys lose 1-0 at Slaughters

The middle school boys' soccer team suffered a narrow 1-0 loss to Slaughters Friday. Crittenden County had several opportunities to score late in the contest off of corner kicks and a penalty kick, but failed to capitalize. Overall the team played well against a very skilled Slaughters team.

Daniel Patton had several saves at goalie, allowing only one goal.

Team members include Nathan Burnett, Ian Cartwright, Austin Dunkerson, Cole Foster, Noah Hadfield, Micah Hollamon, Marcus Hughes, Hayden McConnell, Tyler McKinney, Cameron McDaniel, Daniel Patton, Dustin Roberts, Hunter Stone, Jonathon Suggs, Austin Travis, Daniel Waggoner, and Adam Watson.

The team is now 1-1-1 and plays Dixon Friday night at Clay.

Linemen keeping power on

By DARYL K. TABOR
MANAGING EDITOR

When Larry Mattingly comes to town, he and his crew are often treated as heroes.

And it's no surprise, for these are the guys who turn the lights back on after Mother Nature has her way with an area. For nearly three decades, Mattingly has been following destructive weather patterns, helping to restore power as an electric power lineman.

"I've been called a storm chaser a few times over the last 28 years," he said Monday, at his home in Marion for rare break after spending the entire month of September on the road restoring power across the weather-battered South.

Mattingly, Michael Woods, Jared Champion and John Hayes, all Crittenden Countians who work as linemen for Hendrix Electric, left on the first day of September for Mississippi to repair damages from Hurricane Gustav, which made landfall in Houma, La., earlier that day. They spent most of the first two weeks of the month in the Magnolia State and Louisiana, but were destined to return to Kentucky only to undo what the winds from Hurricane Ike accomplished.

"I haven't been home very much," Mattingly said of his September.

Mattingly and the rest of the crew for the Clay-based electric company have been working their way across western Kentucky since the Sept. 14 wind storms from Ike. They even got to spend some time at home working in Marion, but by early this week had moved on to the Owensboro area repairing downed lines and poles. Whether on the Gulf Coast or close to home, though, they have endured dangerous work with deadly electricity amid long days.

"We work like 16, 18 hour days," he said.

After hopping from city to city in southern Mississippi, the worst of the recent work was in the marshes and bayous of coastal Louisiana where the Gustav blew ashore. Downed and even missing power lines, utility poles snapped like toothpicks and blown transformers were only part of the challenge. When the local crew wasn't floating on an airboat to change out poles and attach new lines above alligator-infested marshes, they ate and slept under a large tent set up for utility workers. They spent virtually the entire time in Houma outdoors in the muggy, humid heat of the swamp-lands.

But Mattingly and the others had their share of rewards.

Restoring power to hospitals and care facilities with people on breathing machines and other life-support systems are a priority for linemen rebuilding power grids after storms. In Houma, the same was true, and it often led to a lending hand from the very public the linemen were helping.

"There were people packing us food and money," Mattingly said. "We didn't take the money, of course, but a lot of times you didn't get to eat like you wanted, so the food was welcomed."

As Ike approached prior to landfall on Sept. 13, the crew was bused out of Houma to New Orleans for safety, and a couple of days in the Crescent City was a bit of a needed break for the men. However, the Hendrix crew had little to look forward to upon their return to Kentucky. The same day they left New Orleans for home, Sept. 14, Ike's lashing winds crossed western Kentucky, leaving the damage the crew continues to repair.

It's been a busy year for Hendrix lineman. Besides recent travels courtesy of Gustav and Ike, Mattingly spent a portion of December in Kansas City following an ice storm and another couple of weeks in Indiana.

"I've been all over the country," Mattingly said of his career as a lineman.

Until the next storm, he can only guess where his job will take him next.

Winds could end up more costly than ice

STAFF REPORT
Several Crittenden Countians went days without power last week due to remnants of Hurricane Ike that passed through the county on Sept. 14.

Donnie Phillips, manager of the Kenergy headquarters in Marion, said power outages were more widespread last week than they were during the ice storm in February.

"The ice storm caused $1.6 million in damage" to the power company's lines and grid, Phillips explained.

"I think this one may end up being more than that," he added.

More than 600 Crittenden County homes and businesses were without power early last week. Kentucky Utilities and Kenergy crews worked round the clock and by week's end there were only about two dozen Kenergy customers still in the dark.

While Crittenden County's power was 100 percent restored by Saturday, many across the region remained without electricity early this week.

Kenergy reported more than 22,000 customers without power immediately after the storm ripped through the area.

Local insurance agencies reported hundreds of claims for home and property damage.

‘Magnolia Springs’ comedy heads to Fohs Hall Oct. 2

STAFF REPORT

"All the Way from Magnolia Springs," a stage comedy adapted from a book by Fannie Flagg, author of "Fried Green Tomatoes," comes to Marion Oct. 2 with 7 p.m., performance at Fohs Hall. Tickets are $10 for students 12 and under and $15 for adults.

The story of "All the Way from Magnolia Springs" opens in the summer of 1958 as snaggle-toothed Daisy Fay Harper, played by Birmingham actress Amber Quick, is packing for her trip to the Miss Mississippi Pageant in Tupelo. Despite being a motherless, dirt-poor country girl, Daisy Fay is sassy, resourceful and determined to make something of her life. She lives with her down-and-out daddy in the basement of a bar, along with a half-crazy crop duster named Jimmy Snow.

In the comedy, Daisy Fay goes on an astonishing journey through her formative years in rural Mississippi where she rises from awkward tomboy to a star at the local community theatre and an aspiring Miss America. Along the way, Daisy Fay does a lot of growing up, emerging as one of the most hilarious, appealing and prized characters in modern fiction.

The show is produced on tour by the Springer Theatre, the official State Theatre of Georgia, located in Columbus. The Springer is a 135-year-old National Historic Landmark theatre with a year-round schedule of plays, musicals and a top ranked Academy of Theatre Arts. The theatre also has one of the nation's busiest touring schedules, performing in over 80 Southeastern cities each year.

county's brush dump, which both allow free disposal of limbs, logs and other brush. Other trash should be left for garbage pick-up or taken to the convenience center.

Meantime, the ban on burning will remain in effect until the county experiences a minimum rainfall of two inches countywide within a 24-hour period, Brown's order states. He may also choose to lift the ban at any time.

There is no rain forecast for the area in the coming week, according to the University of Kentucky Agricultural Weather Center.

Structure fires claim homes

Two structure fires were reported in rural Crittenden County and another inside the City of Marion over the past week. At least one of the fires is under investigation by the Kentucky State Police.

Firefighters from Caldwell Springs and Fredonia responded to a fire at the home of Jason and Jessica Rushing on Seven Springs Road in the southern part of the county at 1:46 a.m., last Thursday. Their home was in flames by the time firemen arrived. A Kentucky State Police investigator was on the scene Friday, but at press time there had been no report on how the blaze started.

The same night, a rental home on Brook Street was gutted by a fire that started around dusk. Marion firefighters extinguished the blaze, but the fire appeared to have destroyed most of the contents. Mary Pigg was the renter of the house, but was not home at the time the fire was first reported by a neighbor. Frederick Geno is the home's owner.

Howton said the fire appears to have started near an electrical outlet at the front of the home.

On Monday, a parts trailer caught fire at the site of Crittenden Coal Company on Baker Church Road (Ky. 365) just before noon. Firemen from Mattoon and Sturgis were able to control the fire, but were called back later that afternoon as the fire began to smolder once again smolder.

Ordway elected to KPA Board

STAFF REPORT

Marion native Chris Ordway has been elected to serve out an unexpired term on the Kentucky Press Association's Board of Directors.

Ordway, 41, is publisher of the Elizabethtown News Enterprise in Hardin County, a position he has held the last four years.

Ordway will serve out the rest of a KPA Board term originally held by former Kentucky Standard publisher Ron Filkins, who died June in Bardstown. His term on the 18-member board ends in 2011.

The Kentucky Press Association, of which The Crittenden Press is an active member, is the nation's 10th oldest press association. Its purpose is to promote the interests of the newspaper industry and maintain a spirit of fraternal regard among its members. The association provides a variety of legal, advertising, lobbying and promotional programs for daily and weekly newspapers in Kentucky.

A 1985 graduate of Crittenden County High School, Ordway received his bachelor's degree from Murray State University then went right to work for Landmark Community Newspapers Inc., a national newspaper chain. He previously was advertising and circulation director of a daily newspaper in Crystal River, Fla.

Ordway

In Elizabethtown, Ordway is an active member of the Rotary Club, CORE Committee at Fort Knox and serves on the board of advisors for the Challenger Learning Center. Additionally, he is a Sunday school teacher and youth ministry volunteer at Severns Valley Baptist Church.

Ordway is the son of Ronnie and Karen Ordway of Marion. He and his wife, Christine, have two children – Ashley, a freshman at Campbellsville (Ky.) University, and Jeremy, a high school freshman.
