

Be prepared when winter weather comes

By TOM LATEK
Kentucky Today
FRANKFORT, Ky. — With holiday travel and winter weather approaching, the Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA) has launched their Winter Ready campaign, encouraging people to identify and reduce the risks they face during cold weather.

"Harsh winters are not only a concern for northern states, as blizzards, extreme cold and the damage to our critical infrastructure that these conditions can cause threaten every community, everywhere across our nation," said Secretary of Homeland Security Alejandro N. Mayorkas. "An ounce of prevention today is worth a pound of cure tomorrow."

According to the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, more temperature-related deaths are attributable to cold exposure than heat, and Americans in rural communities are most likely to be impacted. An important risk to mitigate is fires caused by home portable heaters, which remain the second leading cause of home fires in the United States, according to the U.S. Fire Administration (USFA).

Kentucky has experienced ice storms and tornado outbreaks in recent years during cold weather months, and FEMA Administrator Deanne Criswell says, "No matter where you are in the nation, it is important to know how to handle cold temperatures, power outages, and home heating technology in ways that keep you and your family safe. I want everyone to be Winter Ready and then encourage your friends, family and neighbors to make a plan, too. The steps we take now to prepare and educate people ahead of the winter season can end up saving lives."

USFA Administrator Dr. Lori Moore-Morrell points out, "Fires and fire-related injuries increase during the winter season. These increases are largely due to heating insecurity, inattentive cooking and holiday decoration fires. Cold temperatures lead to the use of fireplaces or space heaters. These heat sources can keep us warm and can also be dangerous if not used safely. Please keep blankets and anything that can burn at least 3 feet away from heat sources."

She adds, "Holidays bring celebrating and cooking for family and friends, which can distract you from food on the stove. Decorations are beautiful, but please check the cords of your holiday lights for cracks or frays and never leave a burning candle unattended. If using a live tree, keep it watered. A dry tree burns faster in event of fire."

At ready.gov/winter-ready, you can find other tips to keep you safe, and reduce the risks of home fires.

Inauguration plans coming together

By TOM LATEK
Kentucky Today
FRANKFORT, Ky. — Gov. Andy Beshear and first lady Britainy Beshear announced Thursday that Kentucky health care workers and public school educators will serve as grand marshals of the inauguration parade, which will take place Dec. 12 in Frankfort, and eastern Kentucky native and country music star Tyler Childers will be performing. Childers’ performance will be accompanied by a reading from Kentucky Poet Laureate Silas House. Gov. Beshear named House the state’s poet laureate earlier this year.

The groups selected as grand marshals were worthy choices, Britainy Beshear said. “Healthcare workers guided Kentuckians through the global pandemic and natural disasters,” she said. “Public school educators continue to lead Kentucky’s children into the future.” She said the parade will tell the story of her husband’s first term in office. “Governing through a time of unprecedented adversity, capitalizing on game-changing economic opportunities and moving Kentuckians forward, together. The parade features individuals and groups who played a major role in the story of the last four years, looking back both at our struggles and our successes, before giving way to the young people who will bring Kentucky into the bright future we have ahead of us.” Britainy Beshear noted those who cannot make it for the parade and other inaugural activities can watch on Kentucky Education Television and streamed on the KET website. Gov. Beshear named Kentucky Transportation Cabinet Secretary Jim Gray of Lexington as chair of his inauguration, while Mitchell Denham and Nicole Yates, both of Louisville, will be co-chairs. The honorary co-chairs include Rocky and Leah Adkins of Sandy Hook; J. Michael and Joan Brown of Louisville; the late Tommy Elliott (who was a close friend of the governor and one of the victims of the Old National Bank shooting in Louisville earlier this year) and Maryanne Elliott of Louisville; John and Heather McConnell of Murray; and Jonathan and Kelly Rabinowitz of Versailles. Gov. Beshear and Lt. Gov. Jacqueline Coleman will be sworn into office during a full day of festivities on Dec. 12. For updates and additional information on the festivities, go to kentucky.gov/inauguration.

Theme set for agriculture poster and essay contest

By TOM LATEK
Kentucky Today
FRANKFORT, Ky. — Kentucky students are invited to enter the Kentucky Department of Agriculture’s (KDA) annual Poster and Essay Contest, Commissioner of Agriculture Ryan Quarles announced on Monday, Nov. 27. The theme of the 2024 contest is “Agriculture for a Better Kentucky,” and encourages contestants to illustrate in words, original artwork, or photographs, just how agriculture enhances life throughout the state. “Going back to its earliest days, Kentucky was dependent on agriculture,” Quarles said. “Today, though things may look a little different, agriculture is still at the heart of Kentucky’s roots and economy. Emphasizing the importance agriculture plays for Kentucky and its people, reveals its importance in all we do and have. This year’s contest allows students to give that knowledge greater thought.” Students in grades K-12 may submit a poster, an essay of 500 words or less, or a digital entry, which may be photos or original digital artwork. Each entry must include the actual written theme and be postmarked by Friday, March 8, 2024. Winners will be notified by Friday, April 19, 2024. Winners in the poster and essay competitions will be selected in each grade. One statewide winner will be selected for digital artwork. Each winner will receive a $100 award from Kentucky Agriculture and Environment in the Classroom and will be recognized at the 2024 Poster and Essay Contest Awards Ceremony next year. Winning entries will be displayed in Commissioner Quarles’ Frankfort office and at the 2024 Kentucky State Fair in Louisville next August. Go to <https://www.kyagr.com/marketing/poster-essay-contest.html> For more information, including complete contest rules and an entry form; or contact Elizabeth Gordon, director of the KDA’s Education and Outreach Division, at Elizabeth.Gordon@ky.gov or by calling her at (502) 782-4125.

Gov. gives update on new licensing system

By TOM LATEK
Kentucky Today
FRANKFORT, Ky. — Gov. Andy Beshear gave an update Thursday, Nov. 30 on the rollout of the new Kentucky Automated Vehicle Information System (KAVIS), which will be go online in early January to replace the current outdated system known as AVIS, for car and boat licensing services. “The change of systems means many common vehicle services will be temporarily unavailable as they switch systems,” Beshear said. “This will mainly affect anyone who plans to sell, buy, or renew a vehicle in Kentucky.” On Jan. 1, 2024, county clerk offices will not be able to process vehicle and boat registrations, transfer titles or issue license plates and disabled placards. Online vehicle registration will also be unavailable. “The good news is, the following week, batches of county clerks will resume services each day,” Beshear said. “The Kentucky Transportation Cabinet expects the entire state to be back up and running by the end of that week. In January, you can check with your county clerk to see when they plan to resume services, since it will vary by county.” The change will not impact driver license issuance, as they will continue at Driver Licensing Regional Offices across the state, he said. “Users of the system will enjoy several efficiency improvements once it is put into place,” Beshear said, “and we are thankful for the input of the clerks on how we modernize this system.” The governor said parts of the new system have already been implemented over the past eight years, a little at a time. “Previous phases have included a standardized point of sale system, a new flat place license system, and disabled placard improvements. The upcoming rollout is to try to finalize what has been going on for eight years, and we don’t want to go on another four to six years.” He added, “One benefit Kentuckians can look forward to as a result of the change, is that they can choose from more than 20 new specialty license plate designs that promote some of their favorite nonprofits.” More information on the change is at drive.ky.gov/Vehicles/Pages/Vehicle-Registration-Renewals.aspx.
