Passion Play set to start April 13

Marion Baptist Church's annual Passion Play about the trial, sufferings and death of Jesus Christ begins next week. The first showing at the church begins at 7 p.m., April 13 and runs the following two nights starting at the same time. Doors open at 6 p.m., and admission is free.

Prevention focus of health seminar

An encore performance of a health seminar will take place next Monday at Marion Baptist Family Life Center. The program will be held from 6 to 8 p.m., with Jill Croft, APRN; Tracey Newcom, RD, LD; Rex C. Manayan, MD; and Dr. John Newcom, DC, the featured speakers.

The fast pace of modern life leads to high stress, ill health, fatigue and obesity, and the speakers' goal is to teach and encourage participants to make changes to their diet and lifestyle in order to reduce risk of illness and chronic disease.

'Spring holiday' sees offices shut

Several government offices will be closed Friday, officially a "spring holiday" according to Kentucky's personnel cabinet, though some local offices prefer to call it an observance of Good Friday. Marion City Hall and all courthouse offices will be closed, reopening on Monday. The senior citizens center and The Crittenden Press will also be closed.

State offices are closed a half day Friday.

Remaining open will be all federal offices, Crittenden County Public Library and the county's Extension service.

Class on damage assessment set

There will be a damage assessment class from 9 a.m., to 3 p.m., April 17 at the Ed-Tech Center in Marion, according to former Judge-Executive Fred Brown. Police, fire, rescue and any other personnel involved in disaster relief are encouraged to attend.

Meetings

■ Crittenden County Board of Education will meet at 6 p.m., Tuesday at Rocket Arena for a work session.

Web poll results

This week's poll at The Press Online asked: "Do you think Americans should be compelled by the federal government to buy health insurance?"

Four in five people, by their response to the survey, do not seem to be in favor of so-called Obamacare. The 355 poll voters said:

- Yes, 53 (14%)
- No, 292 (82%)
- Need more info, 10 (2%)

School officials try new methods to curb bullying

By JERRITT HOVEY-BROWN
PRESS REPORTER

Even before national coverage of a Livingston Central High School student's suicide reportedly linked to bullying, Crittenden County school officials had been working on ideas to address bullying issue within the school district. The plan is to involve students through more dialogue.

Crittenden County Superintendent Dr. Rachel Yarbrough said addressing the issue was moved to the front burner after inviting a handful of middle schoolers to participate in the first of four annual student walk-throughs of the district.

The middle school students took their first tour in March. Yarbrough said by having students participate, they share their school experiences and also include their own feedback on what they thought should be

STAFF REPORT

In February, Crittenden Fiscal Court introduced an occupational license and one-percent occupational and net profits tax ordinance as a possible means to raise revenue for the county's general fund. A primary reason for the need to increase revenue is a request by Crittenden Health Systems (CHS) to help subsidize its ambulance service, which lost $204,000 in 2011. The county also says it has other ongoing expenses without a sure source of revenue for meeting those needs. Crittenden County Judge-Executive Perry Newcom has held public forums in various parts of the county to discuss the county's proposed tax. However, the combined attendance has been fewer than 200 people, if you don't count those affiliated with county government or CHS who attended the meetings. The Crittenden Press has also devoted much space and time with regard to this issue.

Though the measure stands only as having been introduced, the fiscal court could give first reading of the ordinance within weeks. That must be followed by a public forum before a final vote can be made on the taxing proposal.

In an effort to further inform and answer some questions about the tax, The Press has submitted a series of questions to Newcom, who has agreed to have his answers published in their entirety. The answers appear in Newcom's own words.

Following the Q&A are key sections of the proposed tax ordinance that The Press has abstracted from the full length proposal, which is available online at www.the-press.com.

Q The fiscal court has proposed a one-percent payroll and net profits tax, which in the court's estimate would produce in excess of $425,000. What specifically would that money be used for? And as closely as possible, please estimate how much would be appropriated for each individual beneficiary or line item in your budget.

A The state has provided information based on 2010 information that indicates a one-percent occupational tax rate for Crittenden County would generate approximately $446,000.00 in revenue. A portion of this revenue is needed to provide support for the ambulance service, which continues to experience losses due to federal and state regulatory changes within the healthcare system. The revenue will also be utilized to fund health care insurance for county employees. Crittenden County is the only county in the state that has no health insurance benefits for our employees. In providing coverage we will not only comply with current federal mandates, but we will also be able to have an added benefit to help retain a qualified and productive workforce that so many times moves to other employment due to the lack of such benefits. These two entities will be the greatest beneficiaries of the revenue that will be generated from this tax. The remainder of the funds will be utilized to sustain and improve a variety of community services and programs on a year-to-year basis as well as providing a much-needed reserve for emergency uses.

As everyone is aware, our volunteer fire departments continue to experience difficulty in providing safety equipment for our firefighters and emergency response groups. The revenues generated through this ordinance will allow us to help assist in providing for some of these needs when necessary.

Senior citizens services continue to be cut at the federal and state levels, which increases the need for more assistance at the local level. Services such as Meals on Wheels and homemaking continue to experience extreme reductions in available funding and these are some of the most important services of the Senior Citizens Center, and areas that we should be able to help remain viable.

There have been several questions about the ability of the county to assist all these agencies with the limited funds that will be available as a result of this ordinance. The fact is that we will not be able to assist all services or programs every year. We must be strict stewards of the funds available and make decisions on an annual basis as to the level of support that we will be able to provide and which areas that can be provided for. The only two entities that will receive continued annual support would be the assistance needed to operate EMS and the health care insurance program for county employees.

For too long this county has been living off reserves and not planning for the increased demand that has been created by the many improvements that have been made to county facilities and programs. We have been extremely fortunate to be awarded grant monies to improve several areas within Crittenden County. Areas such as the new Emergency Operations Center/County Fire Department, and the early-warning sirens that will soon be put in place, a wonderfully beautiful and heavily used county park at the old Dam 50 site, a park that will be a great addition to the Dycusburg community when completed, and numerous other improvements. However the one thing that all these much-needed and welcomed improvements has done is to create more expense for the county due to upkeep and maintenance and insurance costs. This ordinance allows us to address these issues and continue to make improvements to the quality of life for all who reside in Crittenden County.

Q Please explain whether you anticipate a need for an increase or decrease in this proposed tax should the economic environment and/or budgetary demands change in the future.

A The fiscal court has gone to great lengths to research and show the financial position and obligations of the county. In doing so we feel that we have arrived at a level of revenue that will provide financial stability for several years without the need to seek any increases in the proposed rate given that there are no unforeseen short term changes in our economic environment. The thought of a decrease is a possibility should the economy show significant improvements and we see a return to previous years assistance from the federal and state level. The focus of this proposal is to provide sustainability without losing basic services. Should the overall health of the county's financial position improve in the future then I believe that it would be the court's obligation, as representatives of the citizens of Crittenden County, to adjust as needed.

treasurer and the applicable tax returns filed and paid to that office. As a starting point, the Kentucky Occupational Licenses Association and the Department for Local Government will provide information and assistance to implement the program. All revenues will be audited as a part of the overall county annual audit as well as quarterly reconciliation of all returns.

Q If approved, how will the county enforce the payroll tax to assure citizens that it is being uniformly collected? As we understand, some individuals liable to pay it, such as federal employees, do not have the tax automatically deducted by their employer. How will the county overcome those kinds of issues?

A All business concerns will be provided notification of the ordinance and the procedural process that will be taken to comply with the ordinance. There are exemptions that are listed within the language of the ordinance, which is based on the state model. If anyone has questions or concerns regarding whether or not an entity is exempt, they can either refer to the "exemptions" section of the ordinance or call the fiscal court office for clarification.

Q If approved, how will the county enforce the net profits tax so that every business enterprise – from sole proprietors and partnerships to corporations – pays its fair share?

A The net profits tax is computed on information that is taken from the proprietors, partnerships, or corporation tax return. When the net profits return is filed with the county treasurer, each entity will include a copy of the summary page of their tax return for record verification.

Q Will income such as farm rental, equipment sales and payments for Conservation Reserve Programs be subject to the net profits tax?
A Yes.

Q What measures will be taken by the county to ensure that out-of-state land and farm owners are accountable to their tax liabilities under this plan?

A Records will be made available to the county through a variety of resources. Initially we will rely heavily on information from the Kentucky Revenue Cabinet, Secretary of State's office, Kentucky Occupational License Association and Department for Local Government to assist us in identifying all business concerns located or performing work within Crittenden County.

Q What measures will be taken by the county to ensure that out-of-state companies that do work in Crittenden County are accountable to their tax liabilities under this plan?

A (Same as above.) Records will be made available to the county through a variety of resources. Initially we will rely heavily on information from the Kentucky Revenue Cabinet, Secretary of State's office, Kentucky Occupational License Association, and Department for Local Government to assist us in identifying all business concerns located or performing work within Crittenden County.

ALL BUT THE PLANTING

Most Crittenden County farmers have their fields ready for planting and are awaiting just the right moment to drop their seeds in the ground. Above, a tractor kicks up dust on Lonnie Lewis' Ohio River bottom land off Ky. 91 as it disks Monday on an unseasonably warm early April day. Though temperatures earlier this week have already reached almost 90 degrees, Marion Feed Mill's Keith Hart said most local farmers are awaiting any chance of a freeze to pass. "The ground's right. The fields are ready. And the weather's right," said Charlie Hunt, Hart's counterpart at the feed mill. But five years ago, Hunt said, local temperatures dipped below freezing in April. That could ruin any plant that has broken through to sunlight.

Shull, a Salem resident and owner of Salem Tire and Lube and Ironman Fighting League, discovered his son was being bullied when a nephew the same age as his son mentioned it to him in passing. The conversation that followed opened Shull's eyes to what was really going on.

"I felt helpless. My son comes to me because I'm his sole protector and when he sees that I can't protect him, what is he supposed to think?"

"We want the school system to know that we're not trying to make anyone look bad, but bullying is a problem in our schools, and we need to do something about it," Shull said. "The reason that bullying has become such an issue is because too

Following the meeting, Chittenden sent the aforementioned letter to all parents, students and staff regarding the concerns of bullying. "What we're doing and how we're responding to our students, there's not a road map for," Yarbrough said. "We're simply taking a different approach that has never been done before in hopes of creating a safer environment for our students."

Last week, before schools let out for spring break, Marion Police Department was on the scene at schools checking for seat belt usage and even issuing a few citations and warnings.

Marion Police Chief Ray O'Neal said the beefed up patrols around the school were primarily part of a seat belt awareness effort. There had also been a number of warnings issued to motorists.

The fine for not wearing a seat belt is $25 and there are no court costs associated with the violation. The fine for run-

GED classes offered free at Marion center

STAFF REPORT

Crittenden County Adult Education Center is facilitating two important education and workforce-credential tests for free to eligible Kentuckians on a first-come, first-served basis through June 30 or until funds are expended.

The GED tests and assessments to earn a National Career Readiness Certificate (NCRC) are sponsored by Kentucky Adult Education, a unit of the Council on Post-secondary Education, and the Department of Workforce Investment, an agency of the Education and Workforce Development Cabinet.

"We currently are at 26 GEDs for the year," reports Missy Myers at the Crittenden County Adult Education Center. "We are planning to send 10 students in April for their GED. We would love to get 50 again by the end of June."

The GED tests provide adults who did not finish high school with the opportunity to certify their attainment of high school-level academic knowledge and skills. Free GED classes are available through local adult education programs in all 120 Kentucky counties.

"For many Kentuckians, earning a GED is a necessary first step toward college and a career with a family-sustaining wage," said Council on Post-secondary Education President Bob King.

The NCRC is a national certification that indicates work readiness by administering three WorkKeys assessments: applied mathematics, locating information and reading for information. These specific workplace skills are needed in 77 percent of all jobs profiled for WorkKeys testing.

Kentuckians interested in taking advantage of free classes and the time-limited free GED testing should contact the adult education center at 124 E. Bellville St., in Marion to discuss how to get started. The office can be reached at 965-9435.

The center will be closed Monday, Wednesday and Friday of next week, however, while staff attend an Adult Education Conference.

Five Star may be done before June

STAFF REPORT

Despite the significant progress on the reconstruction of Five Star Food Mart, a spokesperson for the parent company of the chain said things are still on track for their originally-set re-opening date in early June.

"We're not ahead or behind," Laura Blair, public relations manager for Bardstown-based Newcom Oil Co., said Friday. "We're right where we should be at this time."

However, Marion's city administrator, Mark Bryant, said he is hearing the convenience store could open in early May. Bryant made those remarks at Tuesday's Crittenden County Chamber of Commerce meeting.

Mother Nature has certainly cooperated with construction, creating few to no delays due to extreme wintry weather or even rain. To date, the canopy for the fuel pumps has been erected and the shell of the building is in place. Much of the concrete work has been done as well, Blair said.

She said the next step of construction will be on the building, installing insulation and dry wall. Then the finish work on the inside of the 3,730 square-foot store will begin. The new facility is about 60 percent larger than the previous building.

Barring any unforeseen circumstances, Blair said, the convenience store will be back in business on June 5.

"As it stands now, that will be our opening," she said.

The only 24-hour store in Marion has been closed since early January for the expansion.

Meantime, about a half-mile down the road, the expansion of Ideal gas station into a convenience store is still planned. Barry Eveland — owner of Madisonville-based Rocket Oil Co., that operates Ideal outlets — reported no specific start date but said it would be this summer.

Blackford man remains jailed awaiting grand jury decision

STAFF REPORT

A Blackford man remains jailed on a $10,000 bond and his case is headed to the April meeting of the Crittenden County Grand Jury.

Following testimony at a preliminary hearing last week, District Judge Daniel Heady found probable cause to continue the felony charges against Donald G. Curtis, 43, of rural Crittenden County.

Curtis has been lodged in the Crittenden County Detention Center since March 16 when he wrecked his pickup truck during a high-speed chase by a state trooper.

Trooper Boston Hensley told the court last week that he was looking for Curtis near Blackford when he spotted the pickup. Hensley said that when he activated his blue lights, Curtis sped up and turned onto U.S. 60 East where speeds of the chase reached 105 mph. Hensley said Curtis was driving between 75-80 mph on Baker Hollow Road.

Curtis eventually crashed on Long Branch Road and was taken into custody without further incident. The chase lasted about 12 minutes and included about 20 miles in rural Crittenden County.

Hensley told the court last week that he found almost a case of beer in the pickup Curtis was driving. Curtis is charged with DUI second offense, first-degree fleeing or evading police, speeding 26 mph over the limit, operating on suspended license, possession of an open alcoholic beverage in a motor vehicle, failure to wear a seat belt, reckless driving, improper passing, improper or failure to signal, failure to produce an insurance card and other infractions.

Misty Roberts

Who We Are is a new feature found weekly inside The Crittenden Press. In it, we give you a chance to get to know your neighbors a little better.

For 12 years, Misty Roberts has been working at Crittenden Health Systems as a physical therapist assistant (PTA), traveling to patients' homes to provide home health therapy. Roberts, who has worked as a nurse's aid prior to getting her degree as a PTA, knew that working in the health field was something she always wanted to do, and started exploring her options.

"I wanted to be able to take classes close to home that still allowed me to spend time with my two children," Roberts said. "I was able to get my PTA degree from Paducah Community College and I've been doing this ever since."

While Roberts enjoys working with her patients, she also enjoys the fact that her job allows her to spend a great deal of time outside of the office. CHS Home Health services Crittenden, Livingston, Caldwell and Lyon counties. On any given day, Roberts can visit all four counties in an eight-hour time frame, working with patients who are recovering from hip or knee replacements.

"I love what I do," Roberts said. "It gets me outdoors and I meet patients who I work with on getting them back to being healthy again. Out of all my jobs working in the health field, this is the one I love the most. I enjoy spending time with my patients."

When she isn't at CHS in physical rehab or discussing last night's UK ball game, Roberts can often be seen piddling outside her newly constructed home on Bridwell Loop, planting vegetables or tending to yard work. A lover of most all vegetables, Roberts said she likes to grow whatever she can, including tomatoes, onions, corn and cabbage. When Robert's not in the garden tending to her bounty, she's spending time with her family or reading a good book like the series she just finished, The Hunger Games.

Married for 19 years with an 18-year-old daughter and 17-year-old son, Roberts is more than happy with where her life is right now.

"I wouldn't change anything for the world," Roberts said.

4. If a business entity makes, or is required to make, a federal income tax return, the occupational license tax shall be computed for the purposes of this Ordinance on the basis of the same calendar or fiscal year required by the federal government and shall employ the same methods of accounting required for federal income tax purposes.

A minimum occupational license fee of twenty-five and no dollars ($25.00) shall be paid by all individuals and/or businesses required to file an occupational license tax return on their net profits. The minimum occupational license fee of twenty-five and no dollars ($25.00) shall be a credit on the occupational license fee otherwise required by this Ordinance.

Section 5

Employers to Withhold

1. Every employer making payment of compensation to an employee shall deduct and withhold upon the payment of the compensation any tax imposed against the compensation by Crittenden County, Kentucky. Amounts withheld shall be paid to Crittenden County, Kentucky in accordance with Section (No. 3) of this Ordinance.

2. Every employer required to deduct and withhold tax under this section shall, for the quarter ending after January 1 and for each quarter ending thereafter, on or before the end of the month following the close of each quarter, make a return and report to Crittenden County, Kentucky and pay to Crittenden County, Kentucky the tax required to be withheld under this section, unless the employer is permitted or required to report within a reasonable time after some other period as determined by Crittenden County, Kentucky.

3. Every employer who fails to withhold or pay to Crittenden County, Kentucky any sums required by this Ordinance to be withheld and paid shall be personally and individually liable to Crittenden County, Kentucky for any sum or sums withheld or required to be withheld in accordance with the provisions of this section.

4. Crittenden County, Kentucky shall have a lien upon all the property of any employer who fails to withhold or pay over to Crittenden County, Kentucky the sums required to be withheld under this section. If the employer withholds, but fails to pay the amounts withheld to Crittenden County, Kentucky, the lien shall commence as of the date the amounts withheld were required to be paid to Crittenden County, Kentucky. If the employer fails to withhold, the lien shall commence at the time the liability of the employer is assessed by Crittenden County, Kentucky.

5. Every employer required to deduct and withhold tax under this section shall annually on or before February 28 of each year complete and file on a form furnished or approved by Crittenden County, Kentucky a reconciliation of the occupational license tax withheld where compensation is paid or payable to employees. Either copies of federal forms W-2 and W-3, transmittal of wage and tax statements, or a detailed employee listing with the required equivalent information, as determined by Crittenden County, Kentucky, shall be submitted.

6. Every employer shall furnish each employee a statement on or before January 31 of each year showing the amount of compensation and occupational license tax deducted by the employer from the compensation paid to the employee for payment to Crittenden County, Kentucky during the preceding calendar year.

7. An employer shall be liable for the payment of the tax required to be deducted and withheld under this section.

8. The president, vice president, secretary, treasurer or any other person holding an equivalent corporate office of any business entity subject to this Ordinance shall be personally and individually liable, both jointly and severally, for any tax required to be withheld from compensation paid to one or more employees of any business entity, and neither the corporate dissolution or withdrawal of the business entity from Crittenden County, Kentucky, nor the cessation of holding any corporate office, shall discharge that liability of any person; provided that the personal and individual liability shall apply to each or every person holding the corporate office at the time the tax becomes or became obligated. No person shall be personally and individually liable under this subsection who had no authority to collect, truthfully account for, or pay over any tax imposed by this Ordinance at the time that the taxes imposed by this Ordinance become or became due.

9. Every employee receiving compensation in the County subject to the tax imposed under Section (No. 3) of this Ordinance shall be personally liable for the tax notwithstanding the provisions of subsections (7) and (8) of this section. In all cases where the employer does not withhold the tax levied under this Ordinance from the employee, such employee or employees shall be responsible for filing with Crittenden County, Kentucky each quarter in the same manner as if they were the employer. If an employer fails to or is not required to withhold, report, or pay the License Fee it shall become the duty of the employee to file with Crittenden County, Kentucky. The only employer that is not required to withhold, report, and pay the occupational license tax is the Federal Government including the United States Postal Service. The payment required to be made by an employee, can be made quarterly, for the periods ending March 31st, June 30th, September 30th, and December 31st of each year, or at any time the employee wishes to make an estimated payment for the year in which wages are earned. Employers not required to withhold, report, or pay the license fee must annually during the month of January of each year, make a return to the Treasurer, in which is set forth the name and social security number of each employee of the employer during the preceding year by each such employee. This list shall include all current full time employees, part time employees, temporary employees, and terminated employees whether it be voluntary or involuntary.

Section No. 6

Blank forms for returns shall be supplied by Crittenden County, Kentucky.

3. Every business entity subject to an occupational license tax governed by the provisions of this Ordinance shall keep records, render under oath statements, make returns, and comply with rules as Crittenden County, Kentucky from time to time may prescribe. Whenever Crittenden County, Kentucky deems it necessary, Crittenden County, Kentucky may require a business entity, by notice served to the business entity, to make a return render statements under oath, or keep records, as Crittenden County, Kentucky deems sufficient to determine the tax liability of the business entity.

Section No. 11

Information to Remain Confidential

1. No present or former employee of Crittenden County, Kentucky shall intentionally and without authorization inspect or divulge any information acquired by him or her of the affairs of any person, or information regarding the tax schedules, returns, or reports required to be filed with Crittenden County, Kentucky or other proper officer, or any information produced by a hearing or investigation, insofar as the information may have to do with the affairs of the person's business. This prohibition does not extend to information required in prosecutions for making false reports or returns for taxation, or any other infraction of the tax laws, or in any way made a matter of public record, nor does it preclude furnishing any taxpayer or the taxpayer's properly authorized agent with information respecting his or her own return.

2. Crittenden County, Kentucky reserves the right to disclose to the Commissioner of Revenue of the Commonwealth of Kentucky or his or her duly authorized agent all such information and rights to inspect any of the books and records of Crittenden County, Kentucky if the Commissioner of Revenue of the Commonwealth of Kentucky grants to Crittenden County, Kentucky the reciprocal right to obtain information from the files and records of the Kentucky Department of Revenue and maintains the privileged character of the information so furnished. Provided, further, that Crittenden County, Kentucky may publish statistics based on such information in such a manner as not to reveal data respecting net profits or compensation of any person or business entity.

3. In addition, Crittenden County, Kentucky is empowered to execute similar reciprocity agreements as described in subsection (2) of this section with any other taxing entity, should there be a need for exchange of information in order to effect diligent enforcement of this Ordinance.

4. Nothing contained within this Ordinance prevents the Treasurers from discussing any issues regarding the administration of this Ordinance with the Crittenden County Judge Executive and/or Crittenden County Attorney necessary for the performance of her duties. However, all discussion shall be subject to the confidentiality requirements within this Ordinance.

Section 12

11. Any person who violates any provisions of this Ordinance and for which a specific penalty is not otherwise prescribed herein shall be guilty of a Class A Misdemeanor.

Section 13

Telecommunications personnel nation-wide recognized for dedication of public safety

STAFF REPORT
During the second week of April, Crittenden County's telecommunications personnel join more than 200,000 fellow communicators throughout the United States being recognized for their long hours and dedication to public safety. April 8-14 is National Public Safety Telecommunicators Week.

No matter the hour, no matter the day, the county's three full-time — Paula Miniard, Tina Newcom and Ginny Tinsley — and four part-time 911 telecommunicators — Bob Woodward, Dewayne Davidson, Cheryl Fox and Nicole Watson — must be ready to make the difference between life or death for the voice on the other end. Many of the dispatchers have years of service under their belts and some of the part-timers are employed as full-time telecommunicators at other emergency call centers. Generally, there is only one telecommunicator on duty inside the Marion call center, but in times of countywide disaster, supervisor and Marion Police Lt. Marty Hodge will have as many hands on deck as necessary. Last year, the Marion telecommunications center answered 3,478 911 calls and another 24,214 administrative calls.

"Across the state, our telecommunicators are just a phone call away for those seeking help in times of personal crisis or community disaster," said Kentucky State Police (KSP) Commissioner Rodney Brewer of his organization's dispatchers, as well as all those across the state. "They are on duty every day, every night, every weekend and every holiday, providing a calming voice to citizens in need and behind-the-scenes support to first responders on the street."

When violent storms and tornados ravaged 16 eastern Kentucky counties on the night of March 2, KSP telecommunicators were some of the first to respond, handling urgent requests for assistance and sending emergency personnel and equipment to the stricken communities. Often working in excess of normal 12-hour shifts, they played vital roles in alerting law enforcement, fire, rescue and medical services, coordinating communications and directing help to where it was needed.

Similar response occurred locally during the ice storms of 2008 and particularly 2009.

KSP employs 187 telecommunicators at its 16 posts throughout the state. In 2011, they handled 529,175 calls.

Post 2 in Madisonville has nine telecommunicators on staff who handle calls from Crittenden, Caldwell, Christian, Hopkins, Muhlenberg, Todd and Webster counties. Last year, they responded to 25,202 calls. No local residents are employed at the KSP call center.

Donations help Ohio River Baptist Association to buy new tools, building

BY JERRITT HOVEY-BROWN
PRESS REPORTER

For the Ohio River Baptist Association located in Salem, lending a helping hand is its biggest mission. When a person is in need after a natural disaster, the association is quick to help to the best of its abilities. Eddie Osburn, disaster relief director of the association, says that its main goal is to respond to disasters, wherever they may be, and help with cleanup. So, after months of helping Tolu residents get back into a normal pace again after a spring flooding in 2011, Osburn was disappointed to discover that a vandal had broken into the association's 18-foot trailer that housed tools used for cleanup. The trailer was parked outside the association's Salem headquarters. Osburn discovered the break-in only after attempting to get into the trailer and finding his key wouldn't fit the lock.

"I couldn't figure out what was going on. My key just wouldn't go in," Osburn said. "We finally just cut it and that's when we discovered several thousand dollars-worth of tools missing. Whoever broke into the trailer had cut the original lock and put their own back on. That's why my key wouldn't work."

Now that Ohio River Baptist Association has built a new building to house its work trailer, Eddie Osburn has new goals. The association hopes to be able to buy a larger trailer to house tools and turn its existing 18-foot trailer into a laundry trailer. Osburn said the laundry trailer would be hauled to disaster areas so that community members could wash and dry laundry.

Stolen were all of the association's chainsaws, a pressure washer, air compressor and more, resulting in the association being sidelined until the tools could be replaced.

"It completely just put us out of commission," Osburn said of the theft. "We couldn't respond to disasters because we didn't have the tools. It was disappointing that someone would do that."

Not long after a story about the theft ran in The Crittenden Press early September 2011, Osburn said donations from residents in both Livingston and Crittenden counties started pouring in, resulting in what he estimates to be $15,000.

"It meant a lot for us to see so many people want to help us out," Osburn said. "It was fantastic."

Not only were the tools replaced, but Osburn said the money was also used to build a new 40x27 building on the association's property that will permanently house the trailer and its tools.

"We all feel more comfortable with the trailer being locked up and we couldn't be more thankful for all of the help that everyone put in," Osburn said. "Volunteers have been here since the start of construction, helping. We're extremely appreciative of all the help that we've received."

Teach your teen about money

Most kids are defiant at some point. Often they will do the opposite of what they are told, despite the parent's best intentions. But experience can sometimes be the best teacher. When teaching your kids to handle money, let them practice hands-on.

Does your child earn an allowance? If so, consider allowing your son or daughter to open checking and savings accounts. Teach her to make deposits, and most importantly, to balance her checkbook. In the age of debit and credit cards, as well as ATMs, many youth never learn how to balance an account register. Also, encourage depositing a set percentage each week or month into savings. Teach your child how to track where her money goes.

If you show your older child how to budget his allowance, chances are good he will not do it perfectly at first. However, if he "blows it," resist the urge to fork over more cash. Let him learn from his mistakes. Eventually budgeting skills will improve.

As long as you are providing for the physical and emotional needs it will not hurt him to "learn the hard way" when it comes to wants. For example, if your teenager has his or her eye set on some expensive gadget or gizmo, unless it's a birthday or holiday, let them earn it. Work out a payment plan to earn the money for the purchase. Create a list of chores and how much you are willing to pay for each task. $1=taking out trash. $2=loading and emptying dishwasher. $10=mowing the yard. Rewards are always more meaningful when they are earned and not just given! Teach your child to set SMART financial goals. SMART goals are:

- Specific (to buy a new smart phone)
- Measurable (that costs $100)
- Attainable (by saving my allowance and birthday money)
- Relevant (because I will use and appreciate it)
- Timed (at the end of three months)

Setting goals with clear objectives gives a child something to work toward.

Challenge your teenager to be SMART with his or her money! Help out when you can by encouraging efforts and offering advice along the way. We live in a society that romanticizes instant gratification. Demystify this trend.

If your child really wants something "extra," test his or her desires by seeing how hard they will work for it. You are realistically promoting a work ethic that will likely lend itself to a deeper appreciation for money and good, old-fashioned hard work.

Asbridge retires from The Peoples Bank

After serving 47-plus years, Joe Ann Asbridge, Vice President of The Peoples Bank, has retired.

Starting part time as a teller, Asbridge began working at the bank in 1959. Then, after her son graduated high school in 1978, she began working full time, eventually working her way through every position at the bank before settling as the vice president. Her decision to retire came after deciding it was time to move over and give younger employees an opportunity.

"I'm getting older and I knew that I wanted to be able to have some time of my own for a while," Asbridge said. "I have a grandson who will be three in July and I have other projects that I want to participate in."

Asbridge's official day of retirement was March 30 and her goal for her new-found freedom is to stay just as busy but more involved in her own projects. As Peoples Bank Vice President, Asbridge was thoroughly involved with several community projects with her last one being the Easter egg hunt sponsored by The Peoples Bank Saturday at Marion-Crittenden County Park.

Jo Ann McClure, a co-worker at Peoples Bank, said that seeing Asbridge's empty space is strange.

"I'm going to miss her," McClure said. I started working here in 1968 and she was already working here. I just hate to see her go."

Though Asbridge says she's ready to finally have time to do as she pleases, she said that she'll miss working with the customers on a daily basis.

"They were all special in their

Automated meter readings coming to rural water customers in Crittenden

STAFF REPORT

Hundreds of rural water customers in Crittenden County should be receiving new automated meters by the end of this year in an effort to increase productivity and efficiency. That will give them a little something extra for their higher water bills should a requested rate increase be approved.

According to an order issued Friday, Kentucky's Public Service Commission (PSC) has given its approval for Crittenden-Livingston Water District to borrow as much as $300,000 from the Kentucky Infrastructure Authority to install an automated meter reading (AMR) system like the one already in use by the City of Marion. According to Ronnie Slaydon, district superintendent, the new system will replace many of Crittenden County's 1,680 meters, which are currently read manually.

Slaydon said all Crittenden County customers except those along U.S. 60

West and Ky. 297 and in the community of Tolu will be receiving new meters. United Systems and Software, Inc., of Benton is scheduled to begin replacing the old meters with the new drive-by AMR system on June 1. The work is to be completed within six months.

A battery powers the radio frequency (RF) device on the new meters. When the meter reader is in the vicinity of the RF reading device, it transmits a signal that activates the RF device to transmit the meter reading data. Drive-by radio readers are generally capable of reading several thousand meters daily.

Installation and use of the proposed drive-by AMR system, according to the PSC, will reduce the number of employees whose duties are devoted to meter reading.

The water district estimates its annual debt service payments for the proposed two-percent KIA loan to be $18,873, but installation of the AMR system will result in annual savings of $27,727.

Last month, the water district requested a five-percent across-the-board increase in its water rates from the PSC. The commission has yet to rule on the request.

The AMR system will affect approximately half of the 3,297 tap-ons served by the water district in its namesake counties. The water district also supplies Salem, Smithland, Grand Rivers, Ledbetter and Lyon County municipal systems.

Slaydon said Livingston County meters would be replaced with the AMR system in the future, with a time frame dependent upon the efficiency and effectiveness of AMR use in Crittenden County.

Marion City Administrator Mark Bryant said about 300 of the city's 1,600 meters cannot be picked up by the automated readers and still have to be checked manually.

Crittenden County Public Library will have amnesty week April 9-14 in celebration of National Library Week. There will be no fines on any item returned next week.

County's EOC moving ahead

STAFF REPORT

Construction of Crittenden County's first stand-alone emergency operations center is moving ahead after numerous delays. Judge-Executive Perry Newcom said Tuesday that the footers for the building have been poured and the metal building has been ordered, though it has yet to arrive on the construction site off Industrial Drive in Marion.

The building will be home to EOC as well as Crittenden Volunteer Fire Department.

After 60 years in business, local sawmill shuts down operations

STAFF REPORT

For 60 years, a well-known Marion sawmill produced lumber for the building and furniture industry, but it could not overcome the combined forces of the Great Recession and Mother Nature.

Bobby Martin, owner of Turner and Conyer sawmill in Marion, says the business has shut down due to a number of factors, and the ripple effects may be felt throughout the local economy, he said.

The closure of Turner and Conyer, which took its current name two years after the business started up in 1951, has left 23 unemployed and local loggers looking for other places to sell their harvests.

"We did funnel a lot of money through the community," Martin said last week. "We bought a lot of logs locally and all of our sales went through local banks."

The owner said the business had been shrinking for the last eight to 10 years, but lingering effects from the recession, primarily the poor housing market, coupled with last year's spring flood and wet summer ultimately spelled the demise of the business.

"What really got us, though, was the flood," he said. "We could not get raw materials."

Martin said the sawmill specialized in high-grade lumber for products such as furniture and flooring. Soggy conditions for an extended portion of 2011 was not conducive to harvesting such high-quality timber.

"The weather finished us off," he added.

Increasing fuel prices did not help matters, making transport of the company's products more and more expensive, eating into revenue.

"We had a lot of things working against us," Martin said.

A civil lawsuit filed in February by Town and Country Bank of Bardstown seeks to compel the sawmill to re-pay more than $2 million in principal and accrued interest from four loans. The case is filed in Crittenden Circuit Court, and liens have been filed on assets of the mill and its owners.

The decision to close the sawmill did not come easy for Martin, who had worked at the mill since 1975.

"This is one of the saddest times of my life," he said. "I've cried a lot."

Martin says he may have a potential buyer, but no terms have been reached.

The Press BRIEFS

Ledbetter bridge down to one lane

Already restricted to a three-ton weight limit and 35 mph speed limit on the approaches and crossing, the U.S. 60 Tennessee River Bridge is about to be even less friendly to the traffic flow.

Starting Friday, the bridge at Ledbetter will be restricted to one-lane traffic around the clock to allow for the replacement of a deck expansion joint, according to the Kentucky Transportation Cabinet (KyTC). During this phase of work, the bridge will be restricted to a maximum 7.5-foot load width. All other restrictions remain in place.

The alternating flow of traffic will be controlled by an automated signal, but delays should be less than five minutes, reports Keith Todd, KyTC spokesman. The one-lane traffic should remain in place through April 13.

The deteriorating 81-year-old bridge should be replaced in the middle of 2014. The strictly-enforced load limit essentially limits traffic on the current bridge to passenger vehicles and unloaded standard pick-up trucks. An enhanced police presence continues to be maintained to enforce the load limit and 35 mph speed limit on the bridge.

Friday last chance to sign up for CRP

Friday is the final day to enroll in the Conservation Reserve Program, or CRP. This includes participants with contracts expiring this fall.

Contracts awarded during this general signup period will become effective Oct. 1.

For information about general Conservation Reserve Program sign-up, contact the Salem Farm Service Agency at 965 2180 or visit www.fsa.usda.gov/crp.

Marion Methodist Church celebrates 100 years

The Marion United Methodist Church will be celebrating its 100th anniversary on April 14-15. This historical event was well-covered by The Crittenden Press. Here is part I of the history of the church. It starts with the formation of a building committee in 1908.

In May 1908, a building committee was elected and it included: H.A. Haynes, L.H. James, C.S. Nunn, C.F. Weldon, R.I. Nunn, John A. Moore, J.H. Orme, A.C. Moore, C.W. Haynes, Dr. F.W. Nunn, John B. Sedberry, Alvis Stevens and W.O. Tucker. It took a year or so to get the building program started.

New $12,000 Church

The Trustees of the M.E. church south of this city, have purchased the garden lot in the rear of the Dr. Gilliam place, which faces the graded school building on the south, on Carlisle Street 100 feet, and College Street on the West 65 feet, as the site for the new Methodist church which is to be built this summer at a cost of $12,000. We think they should not only be congratulated on the healthy condition of their organization, which justifies and encourages them to undertake so commendable an enterprise, but also on securing so fortunate a location, so near the center of the town, which was especially desirable as the membership is widely scattered from a residential standpoint. The lot is one block from the courthouse, and equal distant from Depot and Bellville Streets, the two main east and west thoroughfares of the city, and compared with lots on adjacent corners the price was about $500.00 less and is in almost the exact center of the city.

Contract let for grand church structure

Forest Heath was awarded the contract Monday night by the building committee, in conference with the architect, to build the new Methodist Episcopal church south, at $16,000. The bid does not include the stained glass windows, the pews, heating plant, chandeliers, candelabra and other lighting fixtures nor the carpet, which will add $3,500 to the cost and with the site which cost $500 to make the completed structure furnished represent more than $20,000.

June 8, 1911
Work started on new Methodist church

Work of the new Methodist church began in good earnest last week, when the contractor, Forest B. Heath, accompanied by a number of able workmen commenced excavating for the foundations. The corner stone of the new building is to be laid on Saturday, June 24, under the auspices of the grand Lodge of Kentucky, F. & A. M., by Rev. C. C. Woods, D. D. Editor of the St. Louis Christian Advocate and a past Grand Master of the Grand Master of Masons of Missouri, assisted by a number of distinguished brethren from various places.

After the ceremony is concluded there will be a special programme gone through in the Main Street Presbyterian Church, which building has been kindly placed at the disposal of Mr. Mather and his congregation for the occasion.

Corner stone laid, dignified and impressive consummation of corner stone laying

Saturday last witnessed one of the largest crowds that ever assembled within our city, the occasion being the laying of the corner stone of the new Methodist church which is now in process of erection at the corner of College and Carlisle streets.

In accordance with our announcements of last week the ceremony was under the auspices of the Grand Lodge of Kentucky, F. & A. M., the Grand Master of which had deputized Rev. Charles C. Woods, D. D. of St. Louis, Mo., to preside, and lay the corner stone, assisted by Dr. R. C. Blackmer, and Mr. John B. Thompson of St. Louis, and Mr. Jesse Whitworth of Hardinsburg, Ky., in the capacity of Deputy Grand Master and Wardens respectively.

An added feature of importance on the procession was the inclusion of the ladies of the Eastern Star Chapter which lent a distinct attraction to the occasion as did also the large and representative body of influential citizens, both public and private which participated in the march.

Promptly at 3 p.m., the procession filed out from the Masonic Temple under the direction of Grand Marshal W. D. Cannan, and his most efficient Deputy Chastin W. Haynes, the latter of whom was mounted on a dappled gray charger. Dr. F. W. Nunn led as Grand Tiler, with his sword drawn, being immediately followed by the Brethren of Sturgis Lodge as a guard of honor. Then came Grand Secretary J. Bell Kevil and Grand Treasurer H. A. Haynes, they being followed by Forest B. Heath, who as Master of the Bigham Lodge carried the Holy Bible, square and compasses, supported by Claude W. Lamb and James L. Travis as Grand Stewards. These were succeeded by Rev. Arthur Mather; D. D., who as Grand Chaplain walked arm in arm with Hon. John L. Wheat of Louisville, for long years the vice president of the Masonic Widows and Orphans' home, and one of the Grand Orators of the day. At this point came the ladies of the Eastern Star Chapter, making a beautiful contrast in their white dresses and black parasols.

Following the civic part of the procession which marched next, and which included the mayor of the city, T.H. Cochran, Esq., Judge Jas. A. Moore, Judge J.W. Blue, John A. Moore, W.B. Yandell and Judge A.C. Moore, all of whom represented different phases of our city and county officialdom, came the ministers of the city and Judge J. G. Rochester, H.D. Pollard and J.N. Boston representing the Official Board and membership of the Methodist Church. Next came the Deputy Grand Officers, followed by Past Master R.I. Nunn carrying the Book of Constitutions and then followed the Grand Master, Dr. Woods, supported by Grand Deacons T.A. Frazier and George M. Crider.

O.E. Weldon acted as Grand Pursuivant, and C.S. Nunn brought up the rear as Grand Sword Bearer, making an appropriate figure as such with his drawn sword gleaming in the sunlight.

The procession proceeded along Main Street to Depot Street then east to College, then north to the new church site, where it opened to receive the Grand Master and his assistants. As the Grand Master arrived at the platform, a reception committee, consisting of J.H. Orme, T.J. Yandell, S.J. Jenkins, and Ernest Carnahan representing the City of Marion received them and in appropriate language welcomed them to the city.

Silence having been requested Dr. Arthur Mather, as Host of the Occasion said "Most Worshipful Grand Master, Deputy Grand Master, and Grand Wardens of this Grand Lodge assembled: It now becomes my privilege to present to each of you aprons with which to clothe yourselves, the better to enable you to perform that labor which is expected from you at this hour. I hope that you will wear them with pleasure to yourselves today, and here after keep them as a memorial that you have this day well and truly laid the corner stone of this stately building now to be erected for the worship of Almighty God and His Son, Jesus Christ Our Lord.

The Grand Master, after making suitable acknowledgment for himself and his officers, proceeded with the ceremony and laid the stone

Celebration marks Civil War history

STAFF REPORT

Crittenden County is taking part in statewide commemoration of the 150th anniversary of the American Civil War (1861-65) at the history museum in Marion. A special display, courtesy of Crittenden County Historical Society in partnership with Marion Tourism Commission, will pay homage to Kentucky's role in what is the most significant conflict in American history.

"It is scarcely an exaggeration to say that the Confederacy would have won the war if it could have gained Kentucky," wrote Pulitzer-Prize winning historian Dr. James M. McPherson, "and, conversely, that the Union's success in retaining Kentucky as a base for invasions of the Confederate heartland brought eventual Union victory."

A brief history and images from the divisive five-year war will be on display all month at Crittenden County Historical Museum. "Civil War Kentucky," a new Kentucky Historical Society Museums-to-Go exhibit, is a stand-alone, six-panel display that will provide visitors with a general overview of the Civil War in the Bluegrass State. Each panel is dedicated to a different theme:

- Kentucky's Turning Point: The Civil War

- 1861: Should Kentucky Stay or Go?
- 1862: The Confederate Invasion of Kentucky
- 1863: Struggling with Slavery
- 1864: The Slow End of Slavery
- 1865: Rubble and Racism

The museum is located at 124. W. Bellville St., and is open 10 a.m., to 3 p.m., Wednesday through Saturday. Admission is free.

ers Cultural Arts Display in Princeton. Anna Hillyard's Christmas decoration was selected class champion. Hillyard is a member-at-large of the county association. BASEBALL

Crittenden drops 2 at Beach
Crittenden County's baseball team is enjoying spring break week with some beach mixed with baseball at Fort Walton Beach, Fla.
In early action, the baseball part of the trip hasn't been too favorable. The Rockets were defeated 13-5 Sunday by Campbellsville, Ky., and they were shut out 15-0 Monday by Somerset, Ky.
Tuesday's game was rained out, but the team was scheduled to play more this week.
Crittenden committed several errors behind starting pitcher Devin Belt in the Campbellsville game. Belt gave up a dozen runs, but only half were earned. Wes Evers had two RBIs on two doubles against Campbellsville, and Noah Dickerson was 2-for-3 with a double and an RBI. Travis Gilbert and Bryce Willis each singled.
Evers was the starting pitcher against Somerset and did well until he ran out of gas in the fifth. Crittenden trailed 4-0 after four innings before Somerset went on a tear. Crittenden's Aaron Owen was 2-for-3 at the plate with a double and Brenden Phillips was 1-for-3 with a double. Willis was 1-for-3.

Rockets lose by 1 to Union
Union County scored the winning run with one out in the bottom of the seventh inning last Thursday to beat the Rockets in a hard-fought game.
Wes Evers went the distance for Crittenden, allowing four earned runs. He struck out three, walked one and allowed 11 hits.
Evers and Bryce Willis had a pair of hits and an RBIs apiece. Travis Gilbert had the Rockets' only other hit and Landon Young drove in a run. The Rockets drew seven walks and moved runners around the bases thanks to several Union errors.

Middle School Rockets CCMS falls in two straight

The Rockets' middle school baseball team lost its first two games of the season. The club fell 2-1 to Lyon County and 9-5 to Murray.
The Rockets left six runners on base against Lyon County in the March 15 game. Nick Castiller scored the only run.
Against Murray on March 17, Crittenden led 5-2 before a rain delay, but ended up losing. Nick Castiller, Maeson Myers, Paxton Riley and Shelby Robinson scored the Rockets' five runs. Castiller scored twice.

SOFTBALL

Girls off to rough start
The Lady Rocket softball team is off this week for spring break. The girls started the season 0-6 after losses last week to Livingston Central and Lyon County – two district opponents – and Caldwell County.
Livingston beat Crittenden 11-0 in five innings last Tuesday and Lyon beat the lady Rockets 3-1 last Thursday at Marion. Caldwell County defeated Crittenden 4-1 with senior catcher Shanah Williams driving in the Lady Rockets' only run.

Hunters have a new area in western Kentucky to pursue wild turkeys this spring.
The 2,500-acre Big Rivers Wildlife Management Area and State Forest in Union County opened to the public today. This unique wildlife management area (WMA) and state forest is located at the Tradewater River's confluence with the Ohio River near Sturgis and formerly known as the Union County portion of the Alcoa or Kimball property.
The Kentucky Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources jointly manages this new area with the Kentucky Division of Forestry.
"Hunters, anglers and people who appreciate unique areas with a diversity of wildlife will make this a destination location," said Kentucky Fish and Wildlife Commissioner Jon Gassett. "People will enjoy visiting Big Rivers for generations to come."
Kentucky's youth-only turkey season is Saturday and Sunday. The statewide wild turkey season runs from April 14 through May

Hunters and visitors to the area will find upland hardwoods, bottomlands and an uncommon forest type in Kentucky: post oak flatwoods. Big Rivers, which was previously managed as a sustainable forest, is primarily wooded with a good number of mast-producing trees. Approximately 600 acres of the open fields will be planted with corn and soybean crops; several wildlife habitat improvement projects will also begin this year on the property.
Big Rivers is an important area for federally-endangered bats and mussels. Migrating waterfowl use the area when coming through the state. Hunters should note the area includes excellent numbers of deer, squirrels and turkey.
"The turkey numbers are great; the toms are out in the fields strutting now," said Wildlife Regional Coordinator Scott Harp. "It should be an awesome experience for the kids during youth-only season."
Deer hunting on the property will include the statewide archery and crossbow seasons, youth firearms seasons and a quota firearms hunt on the weekend of Nov.10-11. Furbearer trapping will be by permit only. Big Rivers will be open under statewide seasons for all other species.

Access to the area is available off Ky. 1508 in the northern section of the WMA. Locust Lick Road and Lover's Lane Road branch off of Ky. 1508 and lead to the interior of the area. Access beyond gated areas on these roads is by foot only.
Visitors also have the option to access southern portions of the WMA via boat on the Tradewater and Ohio rivers. The WMA has a boat ramp located in the northeast corner of the property off Tradewater Road. A second Voluntary Public Access ramp is located approximately 200 yards east of the first ramp.

This week-end is the annual Youth Turkey Hunt for youngsters age 15 or younger. Statewide bag limits apply.

Visitors can also use another ramp located at the end of Ky. 1508. This provides access to the Ohio River just upstream of the property.
Some areas of the property are steep. No area on the property is more than a mile away from an access point, either along a road or by the river. A map of the area is available online at fw.ky.gov.
In addition to hunting, Big Rivers will provide public recreational opportunities for fishing, hiking, canoeing and wildlife viewing.
The entire property was purchased in early 2009 by an investment fund managed by The Forestland Group LLC with cooperation from The Conservation Fund and Kentucky Fish and Wildlife. The Forestland Group's investment fund purchase enabled Kentucky Fish and Wildlife and the Kentucky Division of Forestry to acquire the property a few months ago.
State Forestry and Kentucky Fish and Wildlife assembled nearly $6.7 million to purchase the property. Kentucky's congressional delegation helped secure $3.25 million in federal money through the U.S. Forest Service's Forest Legacy Program, the most significant share of the project.
Another 4,000 or so acres in Crittenden County is expected to be added to the WMA in the next year or two.
