Sturgis rally is this weekend

The bike rally formerly known as Little Sturgis will be held this weekend in Union County. The event has changed its name to the Kentucky Bike Rally and copyrighted it after a legal dispute with another town named Sturgis in South Dakota that has a longer running biker rally. The Kentucky Bike Rally will be the same format as before. Costs have gone up a bit. A weekend pass is $30, but you can get a Saturday pass only.

Former sheriff, Orr, dead at 90

Former county judge and sheriff J.D. Orr, 90, of Marion died last week. See obituary on page 5.

The flag at the courthouse flew at half staff all weekend out of respect for Orr's community service.

Death investigation: Woman in custody

Hutchinson

STAFF REPORT

Neighbors were suspicious of a 50-year-old woman with a criminal history who moved in with an elderly man at the corner of East Depot and South Walker streets less than two weeks ago.

Now, the woman is in custody, and the man is dead.

Kentucky State Police say the body of Leonard E. "Jim" Roberts, 89, of Marion was found inside his home at 229 East Depot Street Monday night. He was the apparent victim of an assault, police say.

A news release issued by Kentucky State Police Tuesday morning said Roberts also "appeared" to have been stabbed.

Roberts was pronounced dead at the scene by Crittenden County Coroner Brad Gilbert Monday night. His body was taken from the home about 2 a.m., neighbors said. Neighbors also say officers took other evidence, including a vacuum cleaner.

Cindy L. Hutchinson, 50, of Marion was arrested in another state Tuesday night on a warrant charging her with receiving stolen property (vehicle). Hutchinson was allegedly seen driving a car belonging to the victim in Marion Monday.

State Police Det. Scott Smith would not disclose what state Hutchinson was in when she was arrested.

Next door neighbor Nicole Bell said she called police Monday evening at 6:44 p.m., after noticing Roberts' car missing.

"That car hadn't moved as long

Hidden Highway

Most construction work on U.S. 641 four-lane highway hidden from view

BY CHRIS EVANS
PRESS EDITOR

To the casual observer, construction on the new four-lane U.S. 641 is out of sight, and out of mind.

However, for those living along the new highway corridor, the road building process is very prevalent in their lives. From the roar of loud vehicles to strangling dust plumes, folks along the road's path say they're bearing it the best they can.

Construction started this spring. Most of the property has now been acquired from start to finish of Phase 1, which goes from just south of Marion to just north of Fredonia. Cost of this first 5.5-mile section will be somewhere around $39 million.

Construction has already taken part of Chad and Stephanie Mott's driveway. Large excavating equipment stirs up the dust almost daily, but the Motts say they're dealing with the issues.

"It is what it is," said Stephanie, who explains the family built their home on a dead end road in order to have peace and quiet and to be able to let the children and pets roam freely.

Now, she says that will have to change. The new highway will run within a few hundred feet of her garage door. So far, construction crews have been courteous and helpful she said. They keep plenty of rock on the dustiest parts, which helps.

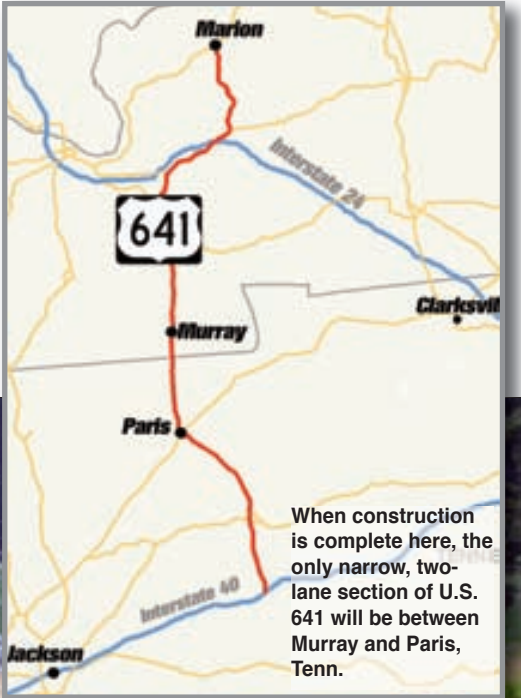

"We're keeping Beavers Bros. Car Wash busy in town," she said. "We can't keep the cars clean. You can look out when that big piece of equipment (excavator) comes by and

A state highway department pickup moves slowly away from the Fredonia end of construction toward the Livingston Creek crossing. The access road leading out to U.S. 641 on the southern end is not part of the final road construction, according to engineers. The connectors on either end will be constructed last. Some utility relocation is already beginning on the northern end near Marion.

When construction is complete here, the only narrow, two-lane section of U.S. 641 will be between Murray and Paris, Tenn.

it looks like a dust tornado."

Prevailing winds carry most of the plume away from her house. For that she's thankful.

"Maybe in the future when it's done, I will be able to see the big picture," she says.

Archie Stowe lives on the opposite end of the highway construction. He and wife Rene purchased their house on Campbell Lane about a year ago, knowing construction was coming.

"If you want to look for negatives, there are tons of them," Stowe said.

"But I don't have a problem with it. The construction crew has been nothing but respectful. They've been absolutely wonderful. I have even given them access to my water hose."

Stowe's front door is about 500 feet from where the highway will run. He knows traffic noise will be an issue, but he figures they will get used to it in a hurry. Construction work begins about 6 a.m., weekdays so there's no sleeping in for now. That's not a problem most of the year, but right now his wife, a school teacher, is on summer break.

"I think this is a positive as far as the economy goes," Stowe added. "It will be great for us. We will be able to go out of our driveway and onto a parkway. Where ever the road takes us, it will be faster when the road is done."

Like others, Stowe doesn't think he'll be driving on the new highway any time soon.

"I bet it will be five years or more

Both David Drennan and Little Caesar Rodney want to get books in the hands of kids throughout the area. Their "Double the Trouble" tour includes events in Providence, the McDonald's "Back to School" bash in August and the Flashlight Reading Night scheduled for July 28.

Clowning 'round gives Drennan edge Future teacher promotes community-wide reading

BY JASON TRAVIS
PRESS REPORTER

David Drennan is committed to getting young people excited about reading.

As a way to help spread awareness and support ministries and activities that benefit children, Drennan plays the part of Little Caesar Rodney the clown. He first debuted as Little Caesar Rodney six years ago at Emmanuel Baptist Church where he attends services.

The character's popularity with children continues to grow as Drennan has performed at local churches, schools and community functions in surrounding counties. Now, the Little Caesar Rodney Foundation has been formed. A faith-based effort, Drennan has teamed with Emmanuel Baptist Church for ministry, including sending food to eastern Kentucky in 2008. The food drive was the foundation's first big project.

The Little Caesar Rodney Foundation has a Facebook page that lists upcoming events.

One week from Saturday, on July 28, a Flashlight Reading Night is scheduled at 8 p.m., at Marion-Crittenden County Park. Children and parents are encouraged to join Little Caesar Rodney at the event. It is scheduled to last 45 minutes.

Lawn chairs, a flashlight and a good book will be needed.

"We'll have some good books on hand just in case you need one. At 8:30 p.m., our guest reader, Mrs. Kerby Parish will read her favorite book, The Ghost Eye Tree, in hopes to give everyone a shiver and a giggle before we wrap it up," Drennan said. "Flashlight Reading Night is another idea like reading hubs that will hopefully encourage kids to enjoy and take an interest in reading and become life-long readers. Because where students have interest, education happens." Employed at Crittenden County Elementary School as the Kids Club Morning Supervisor, Drennan has his own unique style that seems to attract children's attention.

Three big guns in the Lord’s mighty arsenal

We would better understand the three unusual natural harbingers taking place in America today if we really understood and believed the classic warnings of God in Amos 4:6, and knew the Bible well enough to recognize his mighty arsenal.

As we look at the map of America, we see that the East Coast, which was the first to receive the Gospel of Jesus Christ in 1620, and the West Coast, which in its settling and becoming a great area of a great nation cost thousands of lives, are both very liberal and anti-God in much of their citizens.

So is it little wonder that much of the west is being destroyed by fire after fire, and the east is drowning in rain water while we watch the so-called bread basket of the world, the middle of America, having a heat stroke. These regions elected some of the worst men and women to office this nation has ever had to struggle through.

So God is again pulling out his big guns in his afore used arsenal, water, fire and drought, and his eternal promise of their work in warning, and if that doesn't work, then his destruction.

Remember the flood, the fire in burning alive of hundreds that disobeyed God in Moses' time, and the promise of this earth being destroyed by fire, and the horrible droughts in the time of Amos, and even in our time in Africa and other places?

If the warnings are heeded, help instead of judgment will come to us. If we do not respond and turn from our unmitigated, ever conceivable, ungodly evil, God's wrath will be more violent as the punishment always equals the crime in His Book.

Who ever dreamed Americans would elect people to the highest offices of the land that support killing over 56 million unborn, innocent, helpless human beings and the sins of same sex that has been supported for the military by this administration, and a president that has us paying for one of his czars, Cass Sunstein, who supports the right of animals to sue people, and if he could figure it out he would work to get medication into our water supply to sterilize all women. He is quite a brilliant elite. He must be more educated than the rest of us. He wants his generation of elitists to be the last people to live in America.

What in the world has become of the America that my generation fought, suffered, died and struggled for, as well as the thousands before and after us?

Go ahead America and play the part of a fool, but know this, God keeps his word and we know it by seeing how he warned Israel by Amos and they would not listen or turn from their wicked ways.

How stupid can we get thinking God will be more lenient with us heathen Gentiles, when He destroyed Israel, which were His chosen people, and even though there are Jews in Palestine, there is no physical ancient Israel of God and there never will be again, only the spiritual Israel through Jesus Christ.

So let us see if we are any wiser than they were. "I have taken away your food supply, I have withheld the rain in some places three months until the harvest, and sent floods in others, I have sent pestsilents to destroy your crops, have sent diseases as the manner of Egypt (AIDS came from Africa where Egypt resides in its northern tip), your young men have I slain in wars (haven't we seen this enough to make us turn?), I have overthrown some of you, as God overthrew Sodom and Gomorrah, (because of same sex sins) and you have not returned to me, saith the Lord. Therefore thus will I do unto you, O Israel: and because I will do this unto you, prepare to meet your God. For lo, he that forms the mountains, and creates the wind, and declares unto man what is his thought, that makes the morning darkness, and treads upon the high places of the earth, the Lord, the God of hosts is his name." Amos 4:13.

70 A.D. saw Jerusalem laid to the ground, 1,150,000 Jews were killed and Israel was told that its house was left unto it desolate, by Jesus Himself. God has never blessed the Jews as a whole since and has promised his only blessing for them is to come to him through his only begotten Son in confessing their sins, and accepting his Son Jesus Christ as their Savior. He offered hope to his people again, along with the Gentiles and the Hamites, the three races of people of Noah's three sons; Shem (Jewish), Ham (Hamites), and Japheth (Gentiles), as told in Genesis 10. God is talking not only loudly but in screams for us to wake up and return to Him, but too many have turned off their hearing aides, and so the fires spread and the floods keep rising, and the drought got hotter, the crops failed, and God's worst judgment is pending.

Warning and love to all.

Rev. Tedrick is a Marion minister. Her opinions are her own, and are not necessarily those of the newspaper.

Do not let big government take away our liberties

America has been described as the last great hope for mankind and a shining city on a hill. For those who do not understand the meaning of these two descriptions or do not see America as a great land of opportunity those two opinions are worthless words spoken by politicians. For those of us who understand and appreciate the meaning of those statements nothing is more important than maintaining liberty.

Yet, I believe there are many in our nation and here in western Kentucky who see hope fading and the light of personal freedom growing dim. I understand the frustration many feel with the direction our nation is taking.

I wasn't thrilled with the spending during the second term of George W. Bush, so you can imagine how I feel about the first three plus years of the Obama administration, but let's not forget how we arrived at this point. Remember what Mr. Obama said in 2008 in an interview with The San Francisco Chronicle, "Under my plan of cap and trade electricity rates would necessarily skyrocket."

He also said "if somebody wants to build a coal-fired power plant, they can. It's that it will bankrupt them." If you think because cap and trade failed to become law his words had no power you would be wrong. The EPA has moved forward to destroy the coal industry, and coal-fired power plants are powering down nationwide. And do not forget Energy Secretary Steven Chu trying to "figure out how to boost the price of gasoline to the levels of Europe." Evidently one of the items on Obama's agenda is to destroy the coal industry.

In my mind the President has made congress irrelevant by pursuing his policies through executive orders and federal agencies when Congress fails to agree with his agenda. Speaking of Congress, bills for job creation and other items of public interest introduced and passed in the republic-can controlled House of Representatives lay dormant in the democrat controlled Senate so when President Obama calls our lawmakers "a do nothing Congress," just who is he calling "do nothing"? At this point it's important to remember the term Congress refers to the legislative branch, both the House and Senate.

Even in the recent United States Supreme Court decision on the legality of The Patient Protection and Affordable Health Care Act, known by some as ObamaCare, he disagrees with the grounds on which the court found the law constitutional. The court rejected the individual mandate to purchase health insurance under the commerce clause, but found it to be constitutional as a tax. We should also remember how this law was passed.

The House vote was 224 yeas, all democrats to 206 nays all the republicans and 25 democrats. The Senate vote was 60 yeas, all democrats plus two independents to 39 nays all republicans. I have given some thought to the Court's decision, and in my humble opinion it comes down to a simple fact; The Affordable Health Care Act at this moment is the law of the land, which will lead us farther down the transformation path Barack Obama promised. That transformation is from liberty to state control of every aspect of our lives. The end results of ObamaCare will not have an impact on "the rich man" and the poor, who believe they will get free healthcare but see little benefit while becoming more dependent on government with less service and less opportunity for improving their chances to escape dependency and poverty. However, I believe it will destroy the middle class and prevent small businesses and large companies from hiring; the economy will continue to suffer with high unemployment and higher prices for most goods.

I believe businesses will drop the coverage they once provided, opting instead to pay a penalty at a lower cost than providing healthcare benefits, forcing more people into the government program and the domino affect will continue. But, don't worry about Obama, Pelosi or Reid; they don't depend on social security and they will have a different healthcare plan paid for by us.

In Kentucky and other coal producing states the industry will continue to be destroyed while farmers and other businesses will be burdened with more stringent EPA mandates resulting in higher consumer prices for all.

We, here in Kentucky, have very good representatives in Senators Mitch McConnell and Rand Paul along with first district Representative Ed Whitfield, conservative all.

These gentlemen need more like-minded conservatives in state and federal governments to overcome the last three years of increasing debt and decreasing home values and employment. Kentucky and the nation need more lawmakers who will defend the United States Constitution and you can help.

Consider statistics from the Heritage Foundation: Government dependency jumped 8.1 percent in the past year; 70 percent of the federal government's budget goes toward individual assistance programs and most of that assistance goes toward housing, health and welfare and retirement.

Moreover 49.5 percent of the population does not pay any federal income tax.

With those statistics can anyone really believe the government can give them something free? We are supposedly going to cover more people with the same number of doctors and services will not suffer, I don't believe that is possible.

Every penny the government has comes from the 50 percent of Americans who pay federal taxes and or money borrowed from the Federal Reserve or overseas.

For the first 150 years or so of our independence we seemed to have faired pretty well depending on capitalism and the free market. Now many feel defeated and helpless.

So if you are happy with what appears to be approaching total government control of our lives vote for Obama in November, but if these prospects leave you in fear of losing what freedom we still have in America you must go to the polls in November and vote for the only option left and that is Mitt Romney. "There are two ways to conquer and enslave a nation. One is by the sword. The other is by debt." John Adams, 1826.

Letters to the Editor

Moving graves was a mistake

Dear Editor:

Your article on the proposed quarry development at Paddy's Bluff titled "Corp permit delayed for Paddy's Bluff river landing" in the July 12 edition of The Crittenden Press only partially describes the reasons for why the Corp of Engineers is taking a hard look at the developer's application. The desecration of the historic Bunton Family cemetery was done in a cynically calculated manner in order to remove an obstacle to the developer's financial gain. Making a quick buck overrode any concerns for the family or the historic legacy of the site that was slated for entry on the National Register of Historic Places.

In order to try to obtain a permit the developer lied to the Corps of Engineers, the state Office of Historic Preservation and the Kentucky Division of Mines. The developer said in its sworn application that it would preserve the site and provide public access to it. Then, without a permit, he promptly destroyed the graves. The prevarications continue with the statement in The Press article that the cemetery was destroyed out of concern for worker safety due to a potential failure on the slope of the cemetery. This newly found solicitude for worker safety is a transparent effort to justify the desecration retroactively after the outrageous removal of the dead caused a televised public outcry. No such concern was mentioned in the original application.

The cynical disregard and disdain for the public is shown in a more dramatically clear way by the quarry's attempt to pay the state $185,000 to purchase the right to destroy Claylick Creek and its associated wetlands. Claylick Creek, which arises near Marion, is a major part of the watershed of southwest Crittenden County and its mouth is within one mile of the intake valves for the Crittenden-Livingston Water District on the Cumberland River.

Paddy's Bluff is a pearl of nature and a time honored monument in Kentucky's pioneer and archaeological history of the lower Cumberland. It should not be pilaged and obliterated for one man's pursuit of the almighty dollar.

School district considers CCES security

eMeetings aim to cut board’s printing costs

BY JASON TRAVIS
PRESS REPORTER

At a special July 10 meeting of the Crittenden County Board of Education, members discussed a Crittenden County Elementary School facilities project with Craig Thomas, architect with RBS.

No action was taken during the discussion. Instead board members wanted to prioritize needs at the facility before making a decision. Board members discussed security updates such as additional cameras and a door access control system. Board members stated that updating security and the installation of new doors are a priority. Additional facility renovations will be discussed at next month’s meeting.

In other matters, the board approved an out-of-state trip request to Washington, D.C. on March 15 through March 19, 2013, for the freshman and junior classes. The purpose of the trip is to expose students to the nation’s government and capital city.

Board members also began the first phase of transitioning to eMeetings. Each board member received an iPad for eMeeting participation.

“The board agenda and the documents attached to those agenda items will be archived on a Kentucky School Board Association website,” said Superintendent Dr. Rachel Yarbrough.

Archived items will be catalogued by date and type of meeting. The school district will have its own location, unique ID and access to Crittenden County school documents on the site. Yarbrough said board members will be able to access documents that are based on a meeting’s upcoming agenda.

“While we’re actually in the meeting, the board members using their new iPads can access the agenda. They can open those documents as we’re going through the meeting. There will be a process using eMeeting so we can document votes that are taken, or if there are any action items that need to be tabled,” Yarbrough said. “We are going to be able to log and also archive our actual board meetings and the minutes from those meetings in this process as well. It documents the meeting itself and the actions that the board will be taking as well as allowing our board members to access documents electronically.”

Yarbrough said eMeetings allow for more efficiency for board members because there won’t be as much paper documents to sort through. One hard copy of meeting materials will always be kept on file at the central office.

“While we’re starting this process, we will continue for a couple of months to give everybody a hard copy while they’re learning to use the technology. But then we’ll definitely fade that out over time,” Yarbrough said.

A state school board association trainer will attend the July 31 board meeting to guide members as they use eMeeting for the first time.

Area coal producer says regs, economy to blame for woes

BY JOHN WALKER
PRESS REPORTER

Patriot Coal Corporation, the third largest coal producer in the eastern United States, filed for Chapter 11 bankruptcy last week due to a low demand for coal and rising markets in natural gas, according to reports. Patriot has three coal operations in Henderson and Union counties.

The company, which is based in St. Louis, says it will continue mining operations, and it has received a commitment for $802 million in debt financing from Citigroup Global Markets, Merrill Lynch and Barclays Bank.

Crittenden County Judge-Executive Perry Newcom was saddened to hear of the coal company’s plight. He hopes the company can emerge from its financial troubles.

“I know we have some people from our county who work in those mines,” Newcom said. “It will be a bad thing if those mines close. We love those jobs in this economy.”

Newcom believes this is part of what happens when the coal industry has to deal with increasing government regulations.

“The coal industry is undergoing a major transformation and Pa-triot’s existing capital structure prevents it from making the necessary adjustments to achieve long-term success,” said Patriot Chairman and Chief Executive Officer Irl F. Engelhardt. “Our objective is to use the reorganization process to address important issues in an orderly way and make the company stronger and more competitive.”

Coal-mining companies have struggled recently because U.S. demand and prices for coal are down. Natural gas prices have fallen sharply because of a production boom and weak demand during the mild winter; therefore, U.S. utilities and other companies are switching to natural gas to generate electricity. More than 112 coal-fired power plants are set to retire, as electricity producers switch to cheaper natural gas.

Patriot says weak economic conditions in the U.S. and overseas also hurt its business, and environmental regulations have driven its costs higher. The company has already shut down several mines and eliminated about 1,000 jobs across the country.

On its website, the company has added a new section titled “restructuring,” which states, “Patriot expects its mining operations and customer shipments to continue in the ordinary course throughout the reorganization process. Patriot remains committed to serving its customers and maintaining safe, productive operations as it undertakes this process. The company has received a commitment for approximately $800 million in new financing and intends to move through this process as quickly as possible.”

Although construction is projected to be done in two or three years, many locals are skeptical. A website poll conducted by The Press Online last week found that 60 percent of more than 400 respondents believe the road will not be finished for another eight or more years. Sixteen percent thought it would never be complete.

Indeed, phase two of the project faces a good bit of opposition in Caldwell and Lyon counties. For the highway to connect Marion to I-24 or the I-69 (West Kentucky Parkway) it would have to traverse the fertile Fredonia Valley, paving over some valuable farmland. So far, there have been few favorable reviews from residents along the projected corridor south of Fredonia.

Still, Kentucky Transportation Cabinet (KYTC) engineers are actively developing alternate alignments for reconstruction of U.S. 641 around Fredonia and to Eddyville.

Crews have completed most of their survey work along a wide swath between the two communities, apparently prompting speculation that the new highway will run through Fredonia, displacing a number of businesses.

“We have not selected a route,” Chief District Engineer Jim LeFevre said. “However, we are required by law to look at all options, to weigh them based on the information we’ve gathered, and develop alternatives that best provide for traffic flow while minimizing the impact on the community.”

Project engineers and designers will develop alternate alignments for the Fredonia-Eddyville section for review by area citizens in a public meeting, likely scheduled sometime in early next year.

“This section has a number of challenges, including several historic cemeteries that will have to be avoided, and an environmentally sensitive underground water feature that somewhat restricts where the highway can go,” LeFevre said. “Surveyors have been checking property lines along a wide swath near Fredonia to aid in the development of alternate routes. Our goal is to construct a highway that improves safety for the public while being sensitive to the environment and the people who live along the proposed route.”

Grade and drain construction work in Crittenden County is the first real sign that the highway will eventually be completed. The work is almost 40 percent complete. The concept of a four-lane route from Marion to the interstate surfaced in the early 1990s, but it gained steam in 1999 after the Pennyryle Area Development District published a corridor needs study. Crittenden County leaders got behind the plan and eventually won the favor of Rep. Mike Cherry, who has helped usher the project along over the past decade or so. Cherry is retiring from the state legislature this year, leaving either Democrat Raymond Giannini of Princeton or Republican Lynn Bechler of Marion to fill the void.

Meantime, the $18 million grade and drain work between Marion and Fredonia is the first step in widening U.S. 641 from Marion to Eddyville. The new right-of-way will be about 300 feet, the width of a football field. The new road will include a 60-foot depressed grass medium and wide shoulders. The new four-lane is aimed at helping attract new investment and jobs, and providing an improved transportation route for existing industries and the public.

Phase one is expected to be ready for paving in late 2014 or early 2015, according to the Kentucky Department of Highways. Keith Todd, a spokesman for the Transportation Cabinet, said construction has not begun, however, on the connectors at either end of the phase one work. Those connectors will be built last, he said, in order to avoid any disruption in existing traffic on U.S. 641. Utility relocation has already begun, however, on the northern end near the intersection of Coleman Road. Water and gas lines have been marked and will be moved soon.

Most of the grade and drain work to date has been on the southern portion of the first phase. A few weeks ago, excavation began north of Crayne Cemetery Road.

Engineers say the current tie-in road just north of Fredonia is not part of the highway. Instead, it’s just an access road for construction workers. Plans call for the new four-lane highway to cross the existing two-lane U.S. 641 between the Fredonia city limits and the Caldwell-Crittenden county line, near where the access road comes out now on the Boone family farm.

From there, the highway will route west of Fredonia, then roughly follow the existing highway to within a few miles of Eddyville, the state said in a recent news release.

The estimated cost of the entire 16-mile project is about $109 million – $39 million for the Marion to Fredonia section and $70 million for the section from Fredonia to Eddyville.

Area News and Information

Dakota McDaniel (black shirt) and other volunteers help remove debris from the scene of a fatal two-vehicle accident on U.S. 641 near Crayne Friday afternoon. This year, 406 people have lost their lives on Kentucky roadways. That is 45 more than over the same period in 2011.

Local man dies in 641 accident

Robert O. Waters died in a two-vehicle accident on U.S. 641 Friday afternoon. Crittenden County Sheriff Wayne Agent’s report says the driver of the vehicle that hit Waters’ pickup head-on was attempting to pass another vehicle.

Waters, 77, his wife, Josephine, 62, and their two-year-old grandchild, Ashlyn Kennedy, were southbound on U.S. 641 about 3:37 p.m., when the wreck occurred. The sheriff said Waters had pulled onto the highway from his driveway less than a half mile down the road. Waters was driving a 1996 F-150 pickup.

Phillip E. Cale, 27, of Marion was driving a 2009 Ford Focus northbound. The sheriff’s report says Cale had topped the hill near Marion Recycling when he pulled out to overtake a car in front of him, hitting Waters’ oncoming vehicle.

Brandon Beverly, 18, of Marion was a passenger in Cale’s automobile.

Beverly, Mrs. Waters and her granddaughter were taken to Crittenden Hospital where they were treated and released. Mr. Waters was pronounced dead at the scene after being put into an ambulance.

Sheriff Agent said early this week that the investigation is under way.

Several emergency agencies assisted at the scene of the accident, including Crittenden EMS, Crittenden County Rescue Squad, volunteer firemen from Crittenden and Caldwell Springs departments and county constables.

New statute affects 41 in Crittenden for violating law

Forty-one Crittenden County residents have seen their vehicle registrations cancelled as part of the state’s new law aimed at making sure motorists abide by automobile insurance laws.

Crittenden County Clerk Carolyn Byford received notice late last week concerning the Mandatory Insurance Registration Cancellation program. The correspondence was to inform the clerk that on June 7, there were 30,828 uninsured notices mailed statewide to individuals whose motor vehicle insurance could not be verified. Of that 30,828, Crittenden County had 77 residents who were mailed notices.

On July 10, the state canceled 17,430 motor vehicle registrations, including almost four dozen in Crittenden County. The state and insurance companies are working on a monthly report that will detail the names of individuals whose registration has been cancelled.

Area linemen help in Ohio

Kenergy Electric sent local linemen recently to Rio Grande, Ohio, after a violent storm left the area without electricity for almost 10 days. Ten Kenergy linemen went to Ohio June 30 to help restore power. They returned home July 9. Local lineman Kevin Board of Fredonia said tree branches snapped power lines and strong winds knocked down electric poles.

Crews worked 18-19-hour days in triple-digit temperatures to restore power.

“As far as conditions to work in, this was the worst,” Board said, referring to the intense heat and the terrain. “I went to Ohio thinking it was flat. We were in the mountain areas and I didn’t realize Ohio had such hilly areas. We were right on the border of West Virginia and Ohio.”

Crews worked in small, rural communities where some residents did have generators. Others did not and had to endure the dangerously high temperatures.

“We know how it is whenever a major storm hits,” Board said, referring to the ice storm that affected our region. “The work was really hard this time but it was still worth going. People were really appreciative of it.”

Board

New surface prevents skids

Motorists on U.S. 641 just south of town have probably noticed a dark colored new surface near the Crooked Creek Bridge and the intersection of Coleman Road.

Keith Todd, spokesman for the Kentucky Department of Highways, said the non-skid surface is designed for areas with a high frequency of accidents. This is the only section of highway in Crittenden County targeted for the new surface, but Todd said many other places in Kentucky have been resurfaced with the innovative material.

Paduach man is charged in Birdsville case

An arrest has been made in connection with a July 7 burglary of a residence on Dessert Storm Road in Birdsville.

Livingston County authorities say Matthew Eggleston, 24, of 1100 South 3rd Street, Paduach, has been charged.

Livingston County deputies received an anonymous tip and were able to locate guns at a local pawn shop, which had allegedly been stolen from the residence in northern Livingston County. The recovery ultimately led a search warrant for the suspect’s residence. The search warrant was served by McCracken County Sheriff’s Department, Livingston County Sheriff’s Department and ATF Agents. The execution of the warrant led to the recovery of a great deal of the stolen property including some of the firearms that were believed taken.

Eggleston was lodged in the McCracken County Jail by McCracken County Sheriff’s Detectives for multiple counts of receiving stolen firearms as well as receiving stolen property over $500 and possession of a handgun by a convicted felon.

The case is still under intense investigation by the Livingston and McCracken sheriffs’ departments. The ATF will be assisting in the investigation should there prove to be a violation of federal statutes.

Anyone with information regarding this investigation is encouraged to call Crime Stoppers at 443-TELL or the Livingston County Sheriff’s Department at 928-2122. You may remain anonymous.

Also taken in the Birdsville burglary were numerous electronic items, tools, several valuable keepsakes and a Yamaha Rhino ATV. The value of the property taken was in excess of $25,000.

Hargis replies to dismissal

Former Crittenden County School Superintendent Fredericka Hargis has asked Judge Jeff Hines to vacate his order entered June 29 dismissing a defamation lawsuit Hargis has filed in 2004 against local individuals.

Hargis’ attorney Jennifer Sacharnoski Nelson of Princeton filed the motion July 6 asking the court to set aside the judge’s order and judgment because the plaintiff did not know it was being considered for dismissal.

Hargis’ attorney said in the motion that her last contact with the court was in January 2011. At that time, she believed Special Judge Stephen Hayden was taking the defamation case under advisement until Hargis’ other lawsuit against the school board could be adjudicated.

AG warns of utility scam

Attorney General Jack Conway warns Kentucky consumers not to fall victim to a new identity theft scam involving the payment of utility bills. In this latest scam, fraudsters claim that President Obama will pay consumers’ utility bills for one month through a new federal program.

“Although there are government programs that provide home energy assistance, this is not one of them,” General Conway said. “This is a scam designed to gain access to a consumer’s personal and financial information and to steal their identity.”

Scam artists are using in-person solicitation, flyers, social media, phone and text messages as part of this multi-state scheme.

CLOWN

Continued from page 1 early shifts," Drennan said. "Together, we perform plays, read books and play computer games. It is an interesting way to start the day." This is his third year in that position. He began working at Crittenden County Elementary his senior year in high school. He served as a volunteer aide for reading activities for kindergarten and first-grade students. Now a senior at Murray State University's Madisonville Campus, Drennan expects to graduate with honors next May with a degree in elementary education. He will be fully certified to teach in 2013. "Madisonville's program has allowed me the chance to continue my work helping kids in this area, as well as working in various other schools in Hopkins County," he said. Drennan says education shouldn't stop during the summer and wants to promote reading during this period. "One of my professors sparked an idea that some children had no access to books in the summer being far away from the major town where the public library was located. I found this to be true in Crittenden County as well, prompting me to begin mailbox libraries, or 'Community

Reading Hubs.' My intent is not to replace the Bookmobile here, but to make books even more accessible to the kids of our area," he said. Books in the community reading hubs are geared toward elementary age students. They are free to check out and return in a timely manner. Drennan said Tolu became the pilot community for the reading hubs, thanks to Ann Deboe, a supporter of the Tolu Community Center. "According to Ann, it was an instant success, with books being picked up the first day," Drennan said. Fredonia was then selected as the next community to install a reading hub since a Bookmobile no longer visits the area. "I then called a friend in Fredonia, Linda Bennett, who is the owner of Fredonia Valley Antiques," Drennan said. "I was able to put a hub at her antique store as well."

A third mailbox library is located at an Amish school in the Fords Ferry area. Plans are to create another mailbox location in Frances, at the Presbyterian Church. "It is my desire that I can combine my educational background and the popularity of the clown to make projects like the community reading hubs successful and be of interest to students," he said.

Archives and historical marker tell the Harpe story

When I read articles such as this one that appeared in The Crittenden Press over 100 years ago, I am very grateful that the people of those days took the time to write down their thoughts and adventures, for without them, we would not have these glimpses of our history.

I also wonder what has happened to these little treasure hunters that meant so much to the families of long ago. Were they passed on down through the generations until no one remembered the meaning of them? Perhaps even today they lay in someone's dresser drawer, the long ago history forgotten, or sadder still, thrown away as a piece of unwanted 'stuff'.

From the archives of The Crittenden Press, dated Sept. 13, 1894, comes this fascinating horror story of "A Heirloom, A Valuable Button and A Bit Of Its History," shared by long ago citizen, Mr. William H. Asher.

But first I will tell a little history about the Harpe brothers to set the stage for the story. The pioneers who settled the Kentucky frontier were no strangers to death. Yet throughout the spring and summer of 1799 many who calmly braved the terrors of the wilderness were gripped with fear. The dreaded Indian war cry had long symbolized the danger that lay beyond the cabin door. However, the discovery of a growing number of mangled bodies marked a more chilling threat – a danger from within. Two outlaws haunted the dark forests and lonely wilderness trails. They posed as ragged pilgrims, pious circuit riders; their names were Micajah and Wiley, most usually just known as the Harpe brothers.

No sum of money would buy that button, said Mr. William H. Asher, the well known farmer of the Weston neighborhood, as he produced a large button made of a silver quarter, bearing upon one side the English coat of arms and on the other the letters "W. L."

That button, continued Mr. Asher, was one of a set that adorned a suit of clothes worn by my grandfather, Col. William Love, when he was murdered by the notorious Harpe brothers, Aug. 27, 1799. The button was recently sent to me by Rev. Thomas Love, who now lives in Missouri, and who spent some weeks in this county this summer.

The buttons have been handed down as family heirlooms. Four of the set had fallen to Rev. Love, who is an uncle of mine, and when here on his visit, he agreed to send my branch of the family one of the four; a few days ago it arrived by express, and I place a very high value upon it.

When "Big Harpe" was killed, said Mr. Asher, he had on my grandfather's boots, whom he had murdered at the house of a Mr. Stigall, in what is now Webster County.

My grandfather was surveying in that section of the county, and put up at Moses Stigall's for the night. During the night he and the family were murdered. Collins' history of Kentucky gives the following account of the murder. The stranger referred to was Col. Wm. Love, upon whose clothes was the bright silver button now in the possession of Mr. Asher, and could it speak, it could unfold the details of one of the foulest crimes committed in the pioneer days of the state.

Assuming the guise of Methodist preachers, the Harpe brothers obtained lodging one night at a solitary house on the road. Mr. Moses Stigall, the master of the house, was absent but they found his wife and children and a stranger (Col. Love) who, like themselves, had stopped for the night. Here they conversed and made inquiries about the noted Harpes, who were represented as prowling around the country. When they retired to rest they contrived to secure an ax, which they carried with them into their chamber. In the dead of night they crept softly downstairs and assassinated the whole family, together with the stranger, in their sleep, and then setting fire to the house, made their escape.

When Stigall returned he found no wife to welcome him, no home to receive him. Distracted with grief and rage he turned his horse's head from the smoldering ruins and travelled to the house of Captain John Leeper. Leeper was one of the most powerful men of the day and as fearless as powerful. Collecting four or five other men well armed, they started in pursuit of vengeance. It was agreed that Leeper should attack "Big Harpe" leaving "Little Harpe" to be disposed of by Stigall. The others were to hold themselves in readiness to assist Leeper and Stigall, as circumstances might require.

This party found the women belonging to the Harpes attending to their little camp by the roadside, the men having gone aside in the woods to shoot an unfortunate traveler of the name of Smith, who had fallen into their hands and whom the women begged might not be dispatched before their eyes.

It was this halt that enabled the pursuers to overtake them. The women immediately gave the agreed alarm and the miscreants mounting their horses, which were large, fleet and powerful, fled in separate directions.

Leeper singled out the Big Harpe, and being better mounted than his companions, he soon left them far behind. Little Harpe succeeded in escaping from Stigall, and he and the rest of his companions turned and followed on the track of Leeper and the Big Harpe. After a chase of nine miles Leeper came within gunshot of the latter and fired.

The ball entering his thigh passed through it and penetrated his horse, and both fell. Harpe's gun escaped from his hand and rolled some eight or ten feet down the bank. Reloading his rifle Leeper ran up to where the wounded outlaw lay and found him with one thigh broken and the other crushed beneath his horse.

Leeper rolled the horse away and set Harpe in a easier position. The robber begged that he might not be killed. Leeper told him that he had nothing to fear from him, but that Stigall was coming up and could not probably be restrained. Harpe appeared very much frightened at hearing this and implored Leeper to protect him.

In a few moments Stigall appeared and without uttering a word, raised his rifle and shot Harpe through the head, then severed the head from the body and stuck it upon a pole where the road crosses the creek, from which the place was then named and is yet called Harpe's Head.

There are many articles written about Harpe's Head, and the events that lead up to the killing of Big Harpe, they all seem to have variations of the story, but the ending is the same, with Big Harpe's head being severed and hung from a tree or on a pole.

One article tells that a tall, young tree growing beside the trail or road was selected and trimmed of its lateral branches to its top and then made sharp.

On this point the head was fastened. The skull and jawbone remained there many years after all else had decomposed and mingled with the dust.

The place where this tree grew is in Webster County and is known upon the map of Kentucky as Harpe's Head even to this day.

This gruesome spot is on U. S. 41A North of Dixon, the Webster County seat, and is designated with a Kentucky Historical Society marker.

Mr. William H. Asher, the owner of the silver button, died April 5, 1910 and is buried in the Repton Cemetery. His mother, Ester Love Asher, was the daughter of Col. William Love and Ester Calhoun Love.

Ester and William R. Asher are buried at Piney Fork Cemetery and, as most everyone knows, the grandmother, Ester Calhoun Love, is also buried in the Piney Fork Cemetery, but her stone tells the story of how her husband died, engraved on her stone, 'My Husband Wm. Love, was Killed by the Harpes. Aug. 1799."

Ester Love's historical stone has been much abused by time and weather, and the bottom of the stone has been broken off over the years. But her stone has been there since she died March 2, 1844, 168 years ago telling the world how her husband died.

Ester Calhoun Love will soon have a new stone to continue her story for many more years. Thanks to Henry and Henry Monuments, who are once again helping our community history by creating and donating a new engraved stone for Ester Love.

It will have the same engraving as the 168-year-old stone, and will be placed in the same spot. The old stone will also be left at the same location. This generous donation is very much appreciated by the Piney Fork Cemetery Committee and all who love our history and want to preserve our old cemeteries.

Although the Harpes' reign of terror is a terrible thing to think of as part of our early history, it was a part of the dark and bloody ground era of Kentucky's history.

Benjamin-Hart

Dan and Janie Benjamin of Louisville announce the upcoming marriage of their daughter, Elizabeth Grace Benjamin, to Bradley Louis Hart, son of Keith and Valerie Hart of Marion.

Benjamin is a 2004 graduate of Dupont Manual High School and a 2008 graduate of the University of Kentucky where she was a member of the Chi Omega Fraternity and the ladies lacrosse team.

She earned a JD degree in 2011 from the UK College of Law, and was sworn in to the Tennessee Bar in October 2011. She is employed by the Gordon Law Group in Nashville.

Hart is a 2005 graduate of Crittenden County High School and a 2009 graduate of the University of Kentucky where he was a member of Farm House social fraternity and a two-year starter for the UK football team. He also earned a JD degree in 2012 from the UK College of Law. He will sit for the bar in July and begin employment in September for the law firm of Bass, Berry and Sims of Nashville.

Wedding vows will be exchanged Aug. 11 in Louisville. Invitations have been sent.

MARION BOBCATS

UPCOMING GAMES

Thursday at Fulton

Friday host Owensboro

Saturday host Hopkinsville

Playoffs begin Tuesday

RECENT MARION BOBCATS' RESULTS

Bobcats 4, Pirates 2 (Game 1)

Pirates 3, Bobcats 0 (Game 2)

Tyler Bonaventure went 2-for-4 for Marion with two RBI in a 4-2 win in the front end of a double header Friday that was the continuation of a game with the Pirates interrupted by rain several days ago. Tyler Bernard also went 3-for-4 with a run scored for the Bobcats in Game 1, but that would be as many hits as the entire team could muster in a shutout thrown by the Pirates in the seven-inning nightcap. In the first game, Sean Fitzgerald picked up a win in his first start. Fitzgerald went six scoreless innings before Tyler Browning came in to throw the final frame and allowed two runs.

Night time golf tourney

There will be a twilight golf tournament at Marion Country Club Saturday. Tee time is 4 p.m., and cost is $50 per team. Players must be 18 to enter.

■ Bobcat Profile: Williams considering FBI career

Kyle Williams is a native west Kentucky boy and one of several homegrown talents playing for the Marion Bobcats this summer.

The Bobcats will complete their regular season play this weekend and move into the playoffs starting Tuesday.

Williams, 22, is originally from Paducah, but now calls Eddyville his home.

The 6-foot-2, 190-pound pitcher, makes a regular commute from Lyon County to play for the Bobcats.

Williams played in the outfield for Heath High School. Williams made the conversion to pitcher while playing collegiate baseball at Union College in Barbourville, Ky.

At Union College, Williams studies sociology and criminology. He wants to be a homicide detective or a detective for the FBI. But first, he'd like to be drafted and play professional baseball.

Williams' favorite part about Marion the welcoming culture of the small community.

Playing baseball since he was six years old, Williams enjoys sports, and finds the grind of daily practice as much fun as games.

Williams is the son of Mike and Patricia Williams. He also works part-time at Kentucky Dam Marina. When not at the lake or on the baseball diamond, Williams enjoys hunting or fishing.

The Bobcats are currently in fourth place and 8½ games out of first with just three games to play.

as I've lived here," Bell said. "The plate was expired and there was no insurance on it."

Bell couldn't get Roberts to come to the door after knocking several times. She said Hutchinson had been staying with Roberts for just over a week and she was suspicious of Hutchinson, who she knew had been in court on a marijuana charge last week.

"I knew she was up to no good," the neighbor said about Hutchinson. "He was letting her stay because he kept saying he was lonely."

Hutchinson has a rather lengthy criminal record. Just last week she was arraigned in Crittenden District Court on charges of possession of marijuana and possession of drug paraphernalia. Hutchinson had been summoned to court after a complaint was filed by Marion resident Eddie Knight, who told police the woman would not leave his residence. When Police Chief Ray O'Neal answered the complaint on June 15 he found the woman in possession of marijuana pipes and a pill container. Hutchinson is scheduled to appear in court on the drug charge again on Aug. 1.

Hutchinson also has previously been in trouble with the law here and in California. In early 2010, she served 22 days in jail after pleading guilty in Crittenden District Court to possession of marijuana and public intoxication. Police say she was drunk on Listerine mouth wash when they arrested her walking down the center of Travis Street pulling a small air tank on the ground by its rubber hose. The court deferred prosecution later that year after Hutchinson was charged with taking a new power generator from a Marion man and returning it to the store for a cash refund.

She was also picked up in Marion in 2010 for being a fugitive from justice in California. She had absconded from felony probation, court records said. Hutchinson is also known to have used the name Cindy Marshall.

State police described Hutchinson as a white woman about 5-foot-7 and weighing 180 pounds. Police think she was driving the victim's 2001 Chevrolet Cavalier when she left Marion, and perhaps the state, on Monday evening.

Det. Smith said due to the sensitivity of the ongoing investigation, he could not publically discuss where Hutchinson had gotten to before she was caught. He said police are still gathering information in the case.

Roberts' body was sent to the state medical examiner's office in Louisville for an autopsy. Results have not been released.

Bell, who has lived next door to Roberts for about two months, said they were good friends. Her husband and their three children often visited with him.

"He worked in his garden every day," she said.

She and her family last saw Roberts alive on Sunday evening about 7 p.m. Hutchinson was at Roberts' house at that time, she said.

"He brought my husband some tools and helped him work on his van," Bell said.

Bell
Neighbor

This is the house at the corner of East Depot and South Walker streets where Jim Roberts lived. He had moved there a few years ago after selling his farm in the Cave Springs community.

Early the next morning, Roberts' car was still in the driveway at 5 a.m., but it was gone later Monday morning, Bell said. She thought that was odd and became even more concerned when he didn't answer the door. She said he never closed his blinds or shades, but all of them were drawn on Monday. By early evening, Bell said she was so concerned that she called police and asked them to conduct a welfare check at Roberts' home.

Marion Police Officer George Foster was at the residence waiting on Roberts' nephew to come with a key when Bell said Hutchinson came down the street driving Roberts' car.

"She acted like she was going to turn in, then she saw the police car and sped away," Bell said.

Shortly thereafter, police gained entry to the home and found Roberts' body.

Bell and other neighbors say they were concerned about Roberts' well-being.

"I told him he shouldn't let people in his house," Bell said. "The woman (Hutchinson) had knocked on his door about a week and half ago and told him she knew him because she'd mowed his yard before."

A few days later, Bell said Hutchinson sold her a matching ring, ear ring and necklace set for $20.

"I knew it belonged to Mr. Roberts so I gave it back to him," Bell said.

Roni Asbridge, a former county jailer and judge-executive, said he knew Roberts well. They'd been active in politics together for many years.

"He was a good man," Asbridge said. "He never made any trouble."

Asbridge said Roberts often called him and they'd talk on the phone. However, he hadn't heard from him in a two or three weeks. He said Roberts once worked at Whirlpool in Evansville and owned a farm in the Cave Springs area. He'd lost his first wife, Mary, to cancer, Asbridge said, and later remarried. Bell said Roberts' second wife had died more than a year ago.

Denise Chambliss, who lives behind Roberts' house, kept his lawn mowed for him. She said Hutchinson showed up several days ago and mowed the yard, then charged Roberts. Chambliss doesn't think he asked her to do it, but he allowed Hutchinson to stay around because he kept saying he was lonely, Chambliss said.

"I was suspicious the minute I saw her (Hutchinson). I started locking my car and put stuff from the garage inside the house because I was afraid. I work hard for my stuff," she said. "I thought she might steal him blind, but I never thought this would happen."

Crittenden County Delinquent Tax List

Carolyn Byford, Crittenden County Clerk, pursuant to KRS 424.130, has ordered the publication of the following 2011 Delinquent Real Property Tax bills (Certificates of Delinquency). The list of Certificates of Delinquency is also available for public inspection during the hours of 8 a.m., to 4:30 p.m., Monday-Friday at the Crittenden County Clerk's office located at 107 S Main St., Suite 203, Marion, Ky. This list may also be inspected on the County Clerk's website. The Uniform Resource Locator (URL) of the website is crittenden.clerkinfo.net. The tax sale will be held on Aug. 20, 2012, beginning at 9 a.m. All interested participants must register with the County Clerk's office by the close of business on Aug. 10, 2012. Please contact the County Clerk's office if you need additional information about the tax sale registration process, the required registration fee or the deposit amounts that will be needed. Taxpayers can continue to pay their delinquent tax bills to the County Clerk's office any time prior to the tax sale. PLEASE NOTE: ALL PAYMENTS MUST BE RECEIVED IN THE COUNTY CLERK'S OFFICE PRIOR TO THE TAX SALE DATE LISTED IN THIS ADVERTISEMENT. PAYMENTS RECEIVED AFTER THE TAX SALE HAS BEEN CONDUCTED WILL BE RETURNED WITHOUT EXCEPTION. Some delinquencies, although they have been advertised, will be excluded from the tax sale in accordance with the provisions of KRS 134.504(10)(b). If you have any questions, please do not hesitate to contact the County Clerk's office at (270) 965-3403.

Crittenden
among aid
counties

USDA's Farm Service Agency has announced that Crittenden and 31 other counties in Kentucky have received a Secretarial Disaster Designation due to the ongoing drought. These counties are eligible for FSA loans and programs to assist with recovery (see related article on this page about disaster rules and benefits).

The primary Kentucky counties are Ballard, Butler, Caldwell, Calloway, Carlisle, Christian, Crittenden, Daviess, Fulton, Graves, Hancock, Henderson, Hickman, Hopkins, Livingston, Logan, Lyon, McCracken, McLean, Marshall, Muhlenberg, Ohio, Todd, Trigg, Union, and Webster.

The following Kentucky counties are eligible because they are contiguous: Breckinridge, Edmonson, Grayson, Meade Simpson, and Warren.

All counties listed above were designated natural disaster areas on July 12, making all qualified farm operators in the designated areas eligible for low interest emergency (EM) loans at 2.99 percent from USDA's Farm Service Agency (FSA), provided eligibility requirements are met. Farmers in eligible counties have eight months from the date of the declaration to apply for loans to help cover part of their actual losses. FSA will consider each loan application on its own merits, taking into account the extent of losses, security available and repayment ability. FSA has a variety of programs, in addition to the EM loan program, to help eligible farmers recover from adversity.

■ Drought's effects

Farmers should be mindful of nitrate levels in feed stalks

BY JASON TRAVIS
PRESS REPORTER

Like many local farmers, Travis Sosh is worried about his crops. Through July 4, his farm received less than a half-inch of rain from the previous three months. Sosh said recent rainfall was helpful, but more rain is needed for both crops and ponds at the farm on Main Lake Road in southern Crittenden County.

"Last year we had excess rain and we were praying for it to stop. This year we couldn't get any," Sosh said.

Sosh planted 250 acres of corn this year. The lack of rain and extreme heat has taken its toll on the corn. He said corn planted in some areas should be at least ten feet tall by now. But some stalks are just waist high.

"We planted some corn in April that lay in the ground for six weeks before it got enough moisture to germinate and come up," Sosh said. "The seed didn't rot. It just laid there dormant until it got enough moisture to sprout."

He's optimistic that his bean crop will benefit from a fall rainy season. But he says it's too late for pastureland. With about 30 cows, Sosh is relying on hay for feeding.

"The pastures – there aren't any. They're all burned up. Luckily we've got enough acreage and we're not overloaded on the number of heads that we've managed," he said. "We've been feeding them a little hay. They've just now really started to eat it. But the big problem everybody's worried about for the cattle is water. Ponds are drying up."

Because of the extreme drought and intense heat, farmers have been encouraged to have corn crops evaluated for high nitrate levels. Lack of rain, record-breaking triple-digit temperatures and high fertility levels in the soil can cause an increase in nitrate levels making corn toxic if fed to farm animals.

Sosh says he hasn't heard of anyone reporting high nitrate levels in their corn crops in Crittenden County.

Shane Bogle is the Caldwell County Extension Agent for Agriculture and Natural Resources. He says samples that have been tested from Crittenden County have been safe for feeding. But he warns that can change.

"Of all the samples that we have received through Crittenden County, we have not had any that were at unsafe levels to feed to our ruminants, which are our beef cattle. That is good news right now. All that could change after we get an inch of rain," Bogle said. "That's

New rules for disasters

USDA has announced a package of program improvements that will deliver faster and more flexible assistance to farmers and ranchers devastated by natural disasters.

Agriculture Secretary Tom Vilsack announced three significant improvements to decades-old USDA programs and processes related to Secretarial disaster designations. It will result in a 40 percent reduction in processing time for most counties affected by disasters; a reduced interest rate for emergency loans that effectively lowers the rate from 3.75 percent to 2.25 percent; and a payment reduction on Conservation Reserve Program (CRP) lands qualified for emergency haying and grazing in 2012, from 25 to 10 percent.

A natural disaster designation makes all qualified farm operators in the designated areas eligible for low interest emergency loans. The secretary is authorized to designate disaster counties to make disaster assistance programs available to farmers and ranchers. Previous to these changes, the process had been in place for more than two decades and regulations had not been substantively revised since 1988.

The final rule for secretarial disaster designations is amended as follows:

Nearly automatically qualifies a disaster county once it is categorized by the U.S. Drought Monitor as a severe drought for eight consecutive weeks during the growing season. Effective July 12, 1,016 primary counties in 26 states will be designated as natural disaster areas, making all qualified farm operators in the designated areas eligible for low interest emergency loans from USDA's Farm Service Agency (FSA), provided eligibility requirements are met.

Streamlines the USDA Secretarial designation process, which is expected to provide better service to farmers and ranchers by reducing by approximately 40

Collecting Stalk Samples

Plant samples should be collected within a three-week period beginning at black layer formation. Nitrate nitrogen levels in the stalk will remain consistent over this three-week period. Later sampling may result in unreliable readings.

1. Randomly select 15 stalks per sample from the field.

2. Sample the fields in a manner similar to taking a soil sample. Take stalks that represent the area being sampled.

3. Avoid stalks affected by insects or diseases and stalks with small ears or no ears at all.

4. Remove sheaths.

5. Cut an 8-inch sample of stalk beginning 6 inches above the ground and terminating at 14 inches above the ground.

6. Place the samples in a paper sack, rather than plastic, to avoid mold growth or deterioration.

7. Immediately send samples to the laboratory for nitrate analysis.

one thing we do worry about. If we do get some rain showers that could change."

The Crittenden County Extension office accepts corn stalk samples for testing on Monday and Tuesday mornings from 8 a.m. to 10 a.m. Cost of the nitrate level test is $12. Samples are sent to the lab on the day they are received. It is important to collect the sample the morning it is brought to the Extension office to avoid deteriorating the nitrate level in the sample for a more accurate reading.

Sosh has been preparing to have corn samples tested for high nitrate levels. If the corn turns out to be suitable for feeding, he will likely sell it at the granary and use the rest for feeding calves.

"We're cutting samples today to send off and have tested," he said last week. "If you kill your cows, you've cost yourself that much more money."

Travis Sosh selects corn stalks to test for high nitrate levels. Many farmers are already concerned about how the drought will affect their crops. Now they must test samples to see if corn is safe to feed to livestock.

District ready for new year

Push imbeds more technology in student learning process

Crittenden County Students, Guardians/Parents, Staff and Community:

We are excited to begin the 2012-13 learning journey for students in Crittenden County. Our summer has been full of preparation, planning and polishing so that the first day of school sets a positive tone for the whole school year. On behalf of the Board of Education and our district leadership team, let me reiterate that we want Crittenden County Schools to always be your school district of choice!! Improving student learning for all will continue to guide our decisions each and every day.

Dr. Rachel Yarbrough
Superintendent of schools
rachel.yarbrough@crittenden.kyschools.us

In an attempt to continue on a path where the students' learning environment matches their digital learning needs, we are researching the best way to implement a "1 to 1" student computer plan. Technology in the Crittenden County Schools is not viewed as a separate tool or initiative, but rather as an essential instructional strategy that is fundamental to continued student learning growth and lesson planning development. We are embedding technological resources into all classrooms in our school district every day.

Take note
Bus routes with information regarding drivers and bus numbers can be found in next week's Press.

Innovative Practices
The Crittenden County Board of Education will begin a new electronic meeting process known as "eMeeting" in July. Approximately 65 school boards across the Commonwealth are utilizing this electronic meeting process in an attempt to become more efficient and cost effective. Board members will access all board agendas and documents through a secure archived site hosted by the Kentucky School Boards Association. We believe that as our district moves to a more digital learning environment, our board should also move in this direction and help lead the way. In the future, it will also be possible for SBDM meetings and other committee meetings in our district to move in this direction – Stay Tuned!

Teaching and Learning
We welcome the new staff members who have joined our Rocket team this school year. It is my hope that Crittenden County Schools will be a place where they learn and grow professionally. Please make it a priority to attend our CCMS/HS "Back to School Bash" held on Monday, July 30 in the multi-purpose room and CCES "Sneak-A-Peek" night scheduled for Thursday, Aug. 2 to personally meet the new staff and welcome them as well.

All staff members participate in updated training and learning opportunities prior to the beginning of school. Our two day "Instructional Institute" provides our teachers with updated curriculum, instruction, assessment and legal information required to keep them on the cutting edge of current trends and information. We are moving to more of a "Teachers Training Other Teachers" model for this Institute. Crittenden County is fortunate to have a high level of expertise and talent amongst its teaching ranks. We are creating a professional culture where teachers share and collaborate with each other to make our entire district stronger and higher performing.

Reducing Barriers to Learning
Not only are we focused on college/career readiness for students, we also take very seriously our responsibility to reduce barriers to student learning to the extent possible. Our Americorps staff members along with Family Resource staff participate each summer in a "Build a Bed" project. This summer they provided 25 beds for families in our school district. We are also continuing our "Back Pack" program to help kids who need nutritious food/snacks over the weekends. The Family Resource Center staff and community partners make this important opportunity possible for students.

The Crittenden County School District is a special place for learning and caring. We look forward to another successful school year on behalf of student learning.

Teachers back in action, prepare for first day of school Aug. 7

Summer vacation is almost over and while students are out enjoying their last two weeks of freedom, teachers like Mandy Perez are putting the finishing touches on their rooms at Crittenden County Elementary School for preparation of Sneak-a-Peek and the first day of school. "It's exciting and I'm looking forward to Sneak-a-Peek," Perez, a third-grade teacher, said. "I can't wait to see the students."

From the principal...

Dear CCES Families,
Welcome back to an exciting new school year. I hope you are having a wonderful summer break filled with opportunities to learn, grow and have fun. As always, we have much news to share.

We are fortunate to have our returning students and staff; and we are happy to have wonderful new additions and changes to the CCES faculty for 2012-13:

- Ashley Roberts- kindergarten teacher
- Jennifer Bell- third grade teacher
- Tara Kirk- SDI teacher

We also look forward to meeting the nearly 110 kindergarten students that will be joining Crittenden County Elementary. We are proud to start each and every student on their six-year learning journey at CCES. It gives us great pride to watch these young people grow and develop.

There is a lot of excitement ahead of us, including new

Melissa Tabor
CCES Principal
melissa.tabor@crittenden.kyschools.us

teachers to meet, new books to read, new friends to make and new skills to master... and I look forward to you sharing in those exciting times.

Our first event of the new school year will be Sneak-A-Peek on Thursday, Aug. 2. In an effort to accommodate everyone and ensure all questions are answered, students whose last name begins with A-L will visit between 5:30-6:30 p.m., and students whose last name begins with M-Z will visit between 7-8 p.m. The purpose of this night is to allow students and parents to find their classroom, briefly meet the teacher, drop off school supplies, pay for meals, and meet with transportation personnel if needed.

As we begin this year, please remember that this is your school and we welcome your involvement. We hope you will visit us often and be actively involved in your child's education through volunteering, attending SBDM Council meetings, and becoming an active member of our outstanding PTO. We sincerely hope to get to know each of you this year. All teachers can be reached by utilizing the school web site, www.crittenden.kyschools.us through e-mail- firstname.lastname@crittenden.kyschools.us or by calling the school office at 965-2243.

To help increase communication between home and school, we will again be utilizing Student Assignment Books for grades 3-5. The school will be providing the books to all students again this year free of charge; however, if the book is lost, additional books can be purchased for $6.

Thank you for your commitment to your child's education. Please do not hesitate to call if you have questions. We look forward to an exciting 2012-13 school year.

Three new teachers hired at Crittenden County Elementary

Tara Kirk, Special Education

Tara Kirk, native to Crittenden County, will be teaching special education for fourth and fifth grade students. Having never taught at the elementary level before, Kirk welcomes the challenge with open arms.

"I am excited about teaching students at this age and grade level," Kirk said. "I always strive to do my best to help my students succeed academically and excel with the general curriculum. Additionally, I will strive to help my fifth grade students have a successful transition to the middle school."

In 2003, Kirk received her master's in education for guidance and counseling from Murray State University.

In 1997 she received her bachelor of arts degree from Murray State University in learning and behavioral disorders along with middle school education in English, communications and Spanish. She has received certification for kindergarten through 12th grades for learning and behavioral Disorders and fifth through eighth grades for English and Spanish.

Her professional experience includes student teaching at South Marshall Middle School; special education teacher at Union County Middle School; seventh and eighth grade language arts teacher at Caldwell County Middle School and most recently she was a teacher at Christian County Middle School.

Kirk has lived in Crittenden County for most of her life.

"My family moved here from southern California when I was a toddler. My parents are James and Pam Arnold," Kirk said. "I have been married to Brady Kirk for almost 18 years. We have one daughter, Aria, who will be in the first grade at Crittenden County Elementary. Last year, I was the kindergarten Daisy Scout leader and I will be the first grade Daisy Scout leader this year."

Ashley Roberts, Kindergarten

Ashley Roberts will be teaching kindergarten at Crittenden County Elementary School this year.

She is a 2012 graduate of Murray State University. Her professional experience includes student teaching at Crittenden County Elementary in the spring of 2012.

She has also worked at two local nursing homes as a certified nurse's assistant and Kentucky medication aide since 2006.

"I am excited about this upcoming school year, not only because it is my first year to teach but also because of the wonderful people that surround CCES," Roberts said. "I look forward to creating a positive learning environment for my students and a comfortable, encouraging relationship with their parents."

She and her husband Derek have two children, Walker and Brilee.

Jennifer Bell, Third grade

Another Crittenden County native, Jennifer Bell, will be teaching third grade. Bell served in the U.S. Air Force for six years. Having lived in Oklahoma and Ohio, Bell moved back to Kentucky seven years ago. She graduated cum laude from Murray State University in 2010 with a degree in elementary education.

Her professional experience includes student teaching at Lyon County and has served as a substitute teacher at Crittenden County Elementary for almost two years.

Her husband Nick is an airline pilot. Their daughter, Hannah, is 10 years old.

"I am very excited about having this opportunity to teach at Crittenden County Elementary. I feel very fortunate to work for such an outstanding school and with such an excellent team of teachers," Bell said. "I am very excited to start my first year as a full-time teacher and hope to make this the best year possible for my students."

CCMS General Information

From the principal...

Dear Parents,

On behalf of the staff at Crittenden County Middle School, I would like to extend a warm welcome and invitation to you. We are gearing up for an exciting year at CCMS and look forward to starting the school year and working with each of you as the year progresses. Please know that you are always a welcome guest in our school. Please feel free to call or stop by in the upcoming weeks before school starts if you have any questions or concerns.

At CCMS, developing strong parent-school relationships is one of our top priorities and is vital to our school. We want to encourage you to participate in school events, volunteer, or serve on one of our committees during the 2012-2013 school year. With your support and assistance, we know we can do great things at CCMS.

Changes for the 2012-2013 school year include new grade level locations in the building. sixth-grade classrooms will be located in the far end of the build-near the science lab, and 8th grade classrooms will be located near the inside entrance to the high school. We have some new staff assignments as well. Please refer to the list below to find the names of your child's teachers for the upcoming school year.

6TH GRADE TEAM

Tiffany Blazina, language arts; Freda Roberts, math; Dena Duncan, science; and Ben Thompson, social studies.

7TH GRADE TEAM

Kara Hatfield, language arts; Laura Poindexter, math; Vicky Collins, science; and Matt McMain, social studies.

8TH GRADE TEAM

Mattea Meadows, language arts; Scotty Hopkins, math; Carol Davis, science; and Todd Merrick, social studies.

Rotation classes

Jennifer Potter, librarian; Steven Baker, art; Jonathan Nash, band; Heidi Hicks, computer lab; Bryce Winders, physical education; and Holly Qualls, instructional assistant.

Office administration

Teresea Marshall, principal; Carolyn Sholar, curriculum coach; Robyn Taylor, guidance counselor; Anne Laughlin, secretary; and Patty Guess, attendance.

From 6-8 p.m., July 30 CCMS and CCHS will host a "Back to School Bash" in the CCMS gym and multipurpose room. We plan to have several vendors available for parents and students. Incoming sixth-grade students still needing immunizations will be able to do so in the Rocket Clinic. Students will also be able to pick up their schedules, sign up for various clubs, prepay lunch accounts and gain valuable information to prepare them for their return to school in August. We hope you will come out and join us for this fabulous event.

It's going to be a great year, and we look forward to sharing it with you.

Jennifer Potter, library media specialist

Jennifer Potter will be the Library Media Specialist for the middle and high schools.

"My daily responsibilities will be to teach classes in library and research skills at the middle school each morning, then in the afternoon, I will collaborate with teachers and provide library services in the high school. I will also be reviving the chorus as an after-school club for both middle and high school students," Potter said.

Potter is a 2002 graduate of Union County High School. In 2006, she graduated from Queens University of Charlotte, with a bachelor of arts in history and minors in music and religion. Potter is also a 2010 graduate of Clarion University of Pennsylvania with a master of science in library science, focusing on specialized information centers.

Potter

Her professional experience includes a position as library media specialist for Uniontown Elementary School in Union County.

Her interests include genealogy, musical theatre, jigsaw puzzles and collecting old books.

Mattea Meadows, eighth grade language arts

Mattea Meadows will teach eighth grade language arts at the Crittenden County Middle School. She and her husband Tristan live in Clay. In May she graduated summa cum laude from Western Kentucky University. She has student teaching experience at James Madison Middle School in Madisonville and worked as an instructional assistant at Dixon Elementary during her

This past spring, she was the second assistant softball coach and freshman coach for Webster County High School.

"As a first generation college student, I am passionate about helping students from all backgrounds reach their educational goals," Meadows said. "I am grateful for the opportunity to start my teaching career at Crittenden County Middle School as the eighth grade language arts teacher, and I cannot wait for the school year to begin."

School district offers helpful services, programs

STAFF REPORT

With the start of a new school year just around the corner, there are several programs available through the Crittenden County School District that parents and students may find beneficial.

•Preschool Pals, a childcare service offered near Crittenden County Elementary School, available half days Monday through Thursday and full days on Fridays.

The cost for the program is $10 Monday-Thursday and $20 on Friday. The cost includes breakfast and lunch. With space limited, the program operates on a first come, first served basis.

•Kids Club is a before- and after-school childcare program available Monday-Friday for children ages five-12 years old.

Cost for the program is $30 and includes a snack. Kids Club is available from 6-7:30 a.m., and 3-5:30 p.m., after school. To enroll children in either Preschool Pals or Kids Club call 965-2243.

•Crosswalk Learning Cen- ter is an after-school program facilitated by the district through Crittenden County High School, offering tutoring services, and other instructional classes including some hands-on activities like creative writing, archery and photography.

•Family Resource and Youth Services Center, located next to Crittenden County Middle School, helps to remove non-academic barriers to learning as a means to enhance student academic success. FRYSC director and community educator Holly White says that some of the things FRSYC does is help with career exploration and development, preschool/after school child care, families in training, family literacy, educational support, substance abuse education and counseling and family crisis/mental health counseling.

Information about these and other programs can be found at CCES' Sneak-A-Peek Aug. 2 and CCMS' and CCHS' Back to School Bash, July 30.

Prescription Drug Abuse And Your Community: What You Can Do to Help

Prescription and Over-the-Counter drug abuse has reached a crisis point in our communities and is having a devastating impact on our families. Kids are using stimulants to "help" them study, as appetite suppressants, to stay up late, and to get high.

CCHS General Information

From the principal...

Greetings from Crittenden County High School! Some people get tired of hearing me say this but; I have the best job in the district! There is nothing more rewarding than getting to work with teenagers and watch them grow into young adults. The staff and I look forward to August when the students return because they are the reason we do what we do. Our Back to School Bash will be very beneficial to students and parents, so please plan to attend on July 30 from 6-8 p.m. At this time students will get their schedule, parking tags will be issued, payment can be made toward elective course fees and parents will be able to complete paperwork. We have worked hard to cut down on the paperwork for you. Current information sheets have been printed for you to check, and updated information is all we will need as far as registration/demographics. I would like to share some information that we feel is necessary for you to know before school begins. Research shows that high performing high schools have strong freshmen transition programs. We plan to improve our Freshman Academy with more emphasis on note taking strategies and study skills to help our ninth-graders adjust to the high school setting. With the state's accountability for high schools

Rhonda Callaway
CCHS Principal
rhonda.callaway@crittenden.kyschools.us in Kentucky focused on college and career readiness for all students, we feel this is an area our students need more assistance. The Crosswalk Learning Center (CLC) objectives for last year were absolutely surpassed and we are excited for next year as it will even be better. Director Cheryl Burks went above and beyond the expectations that were set for her in leading this program. I strongly encourage students to utilize the services of CLC during the school year. Our teachers tutor through this program before and after school. There are also enrichment programs as well as ACT, COMPASS, EXPLORE and PLAN Prep. The CLC provides unlimited opportunities for our students. Ms. Burks will be at the Back to School Bash to provide information on activities and academic information that she will provide. Every year our staff evaluates the student handbook to see if there are changes to be made. We get feedback and then vote on any changes that are necessary. Below are a few changes that our staff voted on at the end of the school year to be in place for the 2012-13 year:

- Athletic bags that will not fit in lockers will be stored during the day in the room right across from the office and will remain locked until 3:00 PM.
- All bags and purses will be kept in lockers during the day.
- Hats need to stay at home as they are not acceptable to wear during the school day.
- No holes in pants above the knee.

I also want to remind everyone of the change to the substance abuse detection that our district will be using which is the company K-9 Resources. Please remember our goal is to keep drugs, alcohol and tobacco out of our schools and off of our campus. K-9 Resources focuses on prevention and education. Lastly, I want to introduce you to the new staff at Crittenden County High School: Cheyanne Warriner – Math Teacher/Head Softball Coach Jennifer Potter – CCMS/CCHS Library-Media Specialist Tara Smith – Special Education Teacher I truly hope our students have had a wonderful summer and again, I look forward to August as we start the 2012-13 school year.

Tara Smith, Special Education

Tara Smith will teach special education at Crittenden County High School.

Smith

She taught special education at Union County High School for nearly three years before coming to Crittenden County High School. She and her husband, Shane, reside in Sturgis. He teaches Health/PE and is the girls head basketball coach for Union County High School. They have a five-year-old daughter, Delaney. "I am very excited to be a part of the Crittenden County School System. In advertising they say word of mouth is the best advertisement and that is definitely true with Crittenden County Schools; their teachers have nothing but great things to say about their schools, fellow teachers and administrators. The reputation in this school district precedes itself and I am very proud to be a part of a school system like that," Smith said.

High School. She went back to school and received a second degree, graduating in February with a B.A. in mathematics education (5-12) from Western Governors University. Her professional experience includes student teaching at Paducah Tilghman High School where she taught math concepts, algebra I plus, geometry and honors geometry. "What I like most about teaching is being able to watch the students connect with math," Warriner said. Warriner is looking forward to the new school year and meeting her students. "I am very excited about the upcoming school year. Everyone has been so nice and supportive. I can't wait to meet the other teachers and students." She resides in Paducah.

SCHOOL SAFETY

The best way to have a successful school year is to be safe in and outside of school. Start by following these important safety tips:

- Never go anywhere with a stranger.
- Don't walk anywhere alone. Always go with a buddy.
- Know your home address and phone number.
- Let your parents know if you go somewhere after school.
- Tell your parents or teachers if someone is bothering you.
- Learn fire drill procedures at school and at home.

Plan after school activities for your kids

STAFF REPORT

Fun and learning can extend beyond the classroom. From music and the arts to organized sports, after-school activities can help kids stay active and make lifelong friends.

Here are some great tips to keep kids active and engaged during the afternoon:

Listen to your kids: As much as you would like your child to participate in certain activities, don't push too hard. Let them explore all their options to find activities they actually enjoy doing.

Go informal: When the weather is nice, consider organizing an impromptu neighborhood bike ride or soccer game. If your child is artistically inclined, invite his or her friends over for craft time.

Don't overschedule: As with everything great in life, moderation is key. With rich, full school days, homework and after-school activities, don't forget to give your kids time to unwind.

With the right after-school programming, you'll be sure to keep your kids safe, active and happy, long after the bell rings.

Have A Great School Year!

Major work has just begun north of Crayne Cemetery Road.

Department of Highways spokesman Keith Todd examines some concrete forms near the Livingston Creek crossing.

Neal Robertson, highway engineer, and Joe Quermous, engineer assistant, stake out a portion of the highway behind some material that is used as a base for the roadway and its right-of-way.

Highway workers examine the location of pillars that will support the new highway's bridge across Livingston Creek near Fredonia.

Two large dump trucks pass in a cloud of dust.

A large excavator smooths the highway base between Crayne and Lloyd Road.
