88 Dip thief pleads guilty in circuit court last week

STAFF REPORT

The woman who stole almost $2,000 from the 88 Dip restaurant in February pleaded guilty last week in Crittenden Circuit Court and will spend 30 days in jail and five years on felony probation.

Laura Jean Wallhead, 29, of Marion pleaded guilty to two felonies—third-degree burglary and theft by unlawful taking—and a misdemeanor, third-degree criminal mischief.

Circuit Judge Rene Williams sentenced Wallhead to five years on each of the felony counts and 30 days on the misdemeanor. All of the time was to run concurrent.

Wallhead was ordered to serve 30 days in jail before being released on probation for the term of the sentence. She will also be required to pay court costs and to make complete restitution to the victim.

A co-defendant in the case,

Eric Scoles, was indicted last week by the grand jury for his alleged role in the incident.

Wallhead told the judge that she accepted full responsibility for the crime and asked for Scoles to not be held liable for any restitution.

torney Zac Greenwell said Wallhead's plea nor liability for restitution will affect the release of the money taken by police during the investigation.

According to the original warrant charging Wallhead with the burglary, there was $1,700 in cash and checks missing from the restaurant. Wallhead had been employed at the 88 Dip for about two weeks when the burglary took place. Police think that after the Dip closed for the night on Feb. 9, she crawled through a window and took a money bag from a hiding place inside the restaurant.

Police questioned her the day after the burglary and found items believed taken from the restaurant at her residence, including the money bag and checks written to the Dip.

CRITTENDEN NATIVE RECEIVES GENERAL'S STAR

Col. Scott Campbell is promoted to the rank of brigadier general with the help of his wife, Linda, and Kentucky's adjutant general, Maj. Gen. Edward W. Tonini, during a pinning ceremony Friday in Frankfort. The native of Crittenden County has served in the National Guard for 32 years.

There was perhaps no more fitting day for Scott A. Campbell to receive his promotion to brigadier general.

It was the U.S. Army's 238th birthday and Flag Day Friday when the Crittenden County native was pinned with a general's star in a general officer promotion ceremony held at the Boone National Guard Center in Frankfort.

Campbell was surrounded by friends, family, associates and military personnel as his wife, Linda, and Kentucky's adjutant general, Maj. Gen. Edward W. Tonini, each pinned a star to the shoulders of his uniform.

"I know that our organization, and most importantly, the men and women of the Kentucky National Guard are in good hands with his wisdom and guidance," Tonini said during the ceremony. "He is one of the best people I've known since I've been adjutant general."

Grand jury indicts six on variety of charges

STAFF REPORT

The Crittenden County Grand Jury indicted six individuals last Thursday on a variety of charges.

A grand jury does not determine guilt or innocence. It decides whether enough evidence exists to continue a case in the court system. An indictment means a case moves to Circuit Court.

Indicted last week were:

- David M. Eberle, 24, of Marion was indicted on a charge of trafficking in marijuana. According to court records, Eberle was charged by State Trooper Darron Holliman with having in his possession on April 9 approximately 9.5 ounces of marijuana with the intent to sell, transfer or distribute it.

- Charles Brent Beard, 50, of Marion was indicted on two felony charges: possession of anhydrous ammonia in an unapproved container with the intent to manufacture methamphetamine and first-degree trafficking in a controlled substance (meth). He was also indicted for the following misdemeanors: possession of marijuana; possession of drug paraphernalia; and two counts of third-degree possession of a controlled substance (Clonazepam and Alprazolam). According to court records, police obtained a search warrant for a residence at 602 Deer Creek Church Road on April 17. After executing the warrant, Beard was charged with the crimes.

- Robert C. Hackney, 20, of Marion was indicted on a single count of first-degree possession of a controlled substance (Oxycodone). The charges were brought by Marion Police Officer Bobby West after he went to an address in Marion to investigate a trash ordinance violation. West allegedly found one white pill in the suspect's duffle bag following a consent to search.

- Ambie C. Cotton, 30, of Princeton was indicted on a charge of trafficking in a controlled substance. Court records and testimony indicate that police believe Cotton sold 10 hydrocodone tablets to a cooperating witness on Sept. 27 at a location south of Dycusburg in rural Crittenden County. The charge was brought by Pennyrile Area Narcotics Task Force officer Mike Lantrip of Eddyville.

- Donald G. Curtis, 45, of Sturgis was indicted

Several new Kentucky laws go into effect next week

STAFF AND WIRE REPORTS

New laws approved during the Kentucky General Assembly's 2013 regular session go into effect Tuesday.

That means laws against human trafficking will soon be strengthened. More DNA testing will be allowed as evidence in post-conviction felony cases. And school districts can start deciding whether they want to raise their compulsory attendance age to 18, though the 2015-16 school year would be the first year any changes could actually impact students.

The state constitution specifies that new laws take effect 90 days after the ad-

Board of Education not prepared to alter dropout age until clear plan established

STAFF REPORT

One of the new laws to take effect Tuesday will let school districts make attendance compulsory until age 18. Senate Bill 97 will allow districts to increase the dropout age from 16 to 18 beginning in the 2015-16 academic year.

It appears as if Crittenden County Board of Education will not yet alter its current dropout journalment of the legislature, except for general appropriation measures and those containing emergency or delayed age policy despite some financial incentive from the Kentucky Department of Education. At a board work session Tuesday, Superintendent Dr. Rachel Yarbrough said the district is not prepared to change its dropout policy until it has a clear plan to move forward.

effective date provisions.

The laws taking effect Tuesday include measures on the following topics:

- Child protection: House Bill 290 will establish by statute an independent review panel to investigate cases of child deaths and near-fatal injuries. The panel will be given access to complete records of the Cabinet for Health and Family Services, as well as information from law enforcement and other agencies involved in the cases.

- Crime. Senate Bill 15: Named the Bryan Durman Act in honor of a Lexington police officer who was killed by a hit-and-run driver in 2010, SB 15 will ensure that a person convicted of criminal homicide in the killing of a police or firefighter on duty doesn't become eligible for probation or parole until 85 percent of a sentence is served.

- DNA testing: HB 41 will allow some felony offenders in prison or under state supervision to request testing and analysis of their DNA as case evidence.

- Hemp: SB 50 creates an administrative framework for the growing of hemp in Kentucky if the crop is legalized by the federal government.

- Human trafficking: HB 3 will strengthen human trafficking laws while protecting

Kentuckians have an addiction to an expensive, deadly habit in cigarettes. Yet as personal freedoms go, government should not be the one to tell the private sector to clean up its act.

Last week, Dr. Stephanie Mayfield told members of a state legislative committee that the average Kentucky smoker spends more than $2,200 a year on cigarettes—equal to about 470 packs at current prices. That's a lot of cigarettes and a wad of money better spent by individuals for the benefit of Kentucky families and their health.

About a quarter of the state's population has a smoking habit, including the same percentage of minors and pregnant women, Mayfield told lawmakers. Almost 8,000 deaths annually are attributed to smoking she added.

We could not agree more that smoking—particularly by minors, pregnant women and adults in the presence of minors—is a terrible habit. It costs lives. It costs Kentucky families money that could be spent more wisely, easing a burden that filters down to taxpayers. And it costs millions in health-related problems in the Commonwealth.

If today were the last day a cigarette or tobacco product was ever lit up in Kentucky, we would applaud the decision by individuals to quit smoking.

But we do not favor such forced behavior on citizens.

In Kentucky, more than 30 municipalities—cities and counties—have instituted some type of ban on smoking in the private sector. Mayfield is one of the latest cities to attempt such a prohibition, with the measure already passing a preliminary vote.

The arguments for such a ban are many. Most are logical. However, none promote personal liberties.

Though Congress has never taken up putting in place a nationwide smoking ban, Kentucky lawmakers in this year's legislative session introduced House Bill 190 with that aim across the Commonwealth. The measure never made it to a floor vote.

While government has every right to instill bans in its own public facilities, its reach should stop there.

Yes, secondhand smoke can be as deadly as it is to those clutching the cigarette. Yet Kentuckians deserve the right for themselves to decide where to shop, where to eat or where to hoist a drink based on smoking rules dictated by each privately-owned establishment.

Locally, our own city and county governments have never seen the need to meddle in such private matters. We would argue that it should remain that way.

Veterans deserve our appreciation

McGee's Musings

Week five is in the books and I'm halfway through my internship.

I've really enjoyed my stay here and meeting people around town and those involved with city government.

I got the opportunity to take photos of my first basketball game on June 11 at the Webster Shootout at Webster County High School in Dixon. I enjoyed the experience, although my editor may now regret telling me not to be afraid of taking too many photos because I wound up taking 500!

I enjoyed the ride to Dixon because it gave me a chance to take in some beautiful landscape. I have never been to this part of the state, so it was a new experience for me. I hope I get to see some more during my stay.

It shook my mind how some people can deny there is a God with all of the beautiful landscape our state, and especially Marion, has to offer.

I also finally made it out to the ferry. Looking out on the vast expanse of the Ohio River is absolutely breathtaking. As I've said before, I hope to actually take a ride on the ferry during my time here.

I also had the pleasure of meeting Charlie Peters last week. Peters, from Michigan, is a former member of the U.S. Navy and a Vietnam vet who is traveling to Oklahoma to visit his father's grave. His father served in World War II.

Along the way, Peters is shaking the hand of every vet he meets and thanking them for their service. I enjoyed talking to him and believe all of us should take a cue from Peters and thank our vets.

I believe the people who say mothers don't get enough credit for the things they do have it wrong. Veterans are really the ones who don't get enough credit and thanks for everything they have done.

It may sound trivial, but the next time you're at a sporting event and cheering for your team and booing the opposing team, think about all the veterans who have fought and died so that you are freely able to exercise your right to cheer and boo.

County clerk installs new deed table, shelves

Crittenden County Clerk Carolyn Byford put an $18,624 grant to work last week with the installation of a new table and walls of shelving for county deed examination. Above, Byford directs trusty labor from Crittenden County Detention Center on assembling the new storage units. "We had some real old shelving for several decades," Byford said. "The racks were worn out and the table was messed up." The grant money came from the Kentucky Department of Libraries and Archives. Though the bulk of the grant was for shelving and storage of deeds, almost $4,000 was for microfilming records kept in the clerk's courthouse office.

NEWS BRIEFS

Victory Gardens regain inmate labor

The community Victory Gardens have scored a victory of their own after facing a depleted workforce.

After losing two Crittenden County Detention Center female trustees assigned to work the gardens—one to release and the other to home incarceration—the gardens have built their inmate workforce back up to four women.

The supervised inmates tend the 28 gardens eight hours a day, five days a week. The gardens, a series of plots organized by area churches to help feed the hungry, will produce a variety of crops such as red onions, lima beans, corn and tomatoes.

Supervisor Dusty Baker said the crops are coming along, but are still a few weeks behind schedule for vegetable distribution this summer.

"We do the best we can," she said.

The vegetables will be given away each day this year as harvesting allows. The gardens can be accessed off the parking lot of Shopko on Sturgis Road.

Local couple busted on drug charges

A local couple was arrested in a meth bust made last week by the Pennyriile Narcotics Task Force and Crittenden County Sheriff's Department.

Mark D. and Rosana M. Menser were both arrested after a search warrant of their residence was executed by the two agencies on June 11. Once arriving at the home on Ky. 120 near Webster County, law enforcement discovered components for manufacturing methampheta- mine, along with five one-step meth labs, five marijuana plants, drug paraphernalia and processed marijuana.

The Mensers were charged with manufacturing methamphetamine, possession of drug paraphernalia, possession of marijuana (less than 8 ounces) and cultivating marijuana (five or more plants). Both were lodged in Crittenden County Detention Center.

Mantle Rock Center hosts open house

A community appreciation day and open house is being held Saturday at the Mantle Rock Center at 318 Sturgis Road in Marion. Entry is free.

During the event to introduce new management at the facility, teachers at the center will be offering a free day of education in Native American culture. Activities start at 10 a.m. and continue until 4 p.m.

Free demonstrations in drumming, flint-knapping, hide tanning, stick weaving, basket weaving, herb production and dream catcher-making will be offered. Free food will also be served throughout the day.

For more information, call Stella Brown at 988-2605.

Meeting to discuss future of area bridge

Kentucky Transportation Cabinet (KyTC) has scheduled a public information meeting for discussion of a replacement scoping study of the U.S. 60 Cumberland River Bridge at Smithland in Livingston County. The meeting is 4-7 p.m. today (Thursday) at the University of Kentucky Agriculture Extension Office at 803 U.S. 60 East in Smithland.

According to KYTC District 1 Spokesman Keith Todd, the agency has initiated a planning study to examine the need for and feasibility of various repair and/or replacement options for the bridge.

"Our engineers plan to introduce the study and to seek input from the public on the issues that need to be considered by the long-term study," Todd said. "The public meeting will feature exhibits that will outline the proposed study area, existing conditions, and provide an opportunity for public to make comments."

KFVS, Mediacom fail to reach agreement

Since 1954, KFVS12 has been a staple of television viewing in area households, serving watchers with local news and weather and CBS programming. However, for Mediacom customers, KFVS may not be available much longer.

In order to be delivered into the homes of viewers, agreements are needed with the cable and satellite companies that serve the market. Agreements are in place with nearly every distributor in the area, reports KFVS, but to date, an agreement with Mediacom Cable has not been reached. For several months, Raycom Media, the parent company of KFVS12, has been working with Mediacom Cable to resolve this issue, so that Mediacom may continue to lawfully provide that signal to their viewers.

As a result of not having an agreement in place, KFVS12 and The Heartland's CW may not be available to Mediacom customers after June 30.

"We understand this is frustrating for Mediacom customers," said KFVS12 General Manager Tim Ingram, "and we are committed to doing everything we can to resolve this issue."

Mother, daughter tea to assist Relay

Young girls in the area are invited to join the Royal Princess Court for tea from 9:30 a.m. to 11:30 a.m. on June 29 at Marion Baptist Family Life Center on East Depot Street.

Money raised will benefit the American Cancer Society's Relay for Life. Tickets will be $15 per mother and child.

Caitlin Dunbar, one of the organizers of the event, said the idea came from the American Cancer Society office in Paducah. She said they have already sold about 30 tickets.

Dunbar said she believes the event will not be a one-time affair. "We're hoping to continue doing it," she said.

For more information, contact Dunbar at 704-6375.

Community college tuition to increase

The Kentucky Community and Technical College System Board of Regents has voted to raise tuition by 2.86 percent and give faculty and staff pay raises of 2 percent.

President Michael B. McCall recommended the increases that were approved on Friday.

Full-time employees at the state's 16 community and technical colleges who received favorable performance evaluations will get the 2 percent raises or $1,000, whichever is larger. Tuition for in-state students will rise from $140 to $144 per credit hour.

Madisonville, Henderson and Hopkinsville community colleges and West Kentucky Community and Technical College will be affected by the tuition increase.

Board Chairman P.G. Peebles said the colleges continue to be "the best postsecondary education value in the state."

High court hears local case argument

The Supreme Court of Kentucky heard oral arguments Friday on a case that originated in Crittenden County.

Phillip Sitar is appealing denial of his Kentucky Rules of Civil Procedure motion. His attorney, Kathleen Kallaher Schmidt, argues that Crittenden Family Court had neither jurisdiction nor sufficient evidence to grant an emergency protective or domestic violence order filed by his former live-in girlfriend, Loretta Glover, on behalf of her daughter.

Mary E. Rohrer was the attorney for the Commonwealth, serving as a special assistant attorney general. She serves as assistant Crittenden County Attorney.

Justice Bill Cunningham said there is no timetable for when the court might rule on the case.

in the commonwealth's National Guard. He will serve as land component commander, having full command responsibility for all Kentucky Army National Guard forces to ensure operational readiness upon activation and mobilization.

"He has always been willing to hold his hand up when the job needs to be done," Maj. Gen. Tonini said in introducing Campbell.

Kenny Fitzgerald, a childhood friend of Gen. Campbell growing up together in Frances, said he is proud of his friend and knew he would go far in life...just not how far.

"We grew up playing ball together," said Fitzgerald, who made the trip for the afternoon ceremony from Crittenden County along with several other friends and acquaintances of Campbell. "He was always disciplined."

Campbell joined the National Guard in 1981 and was commissioned as an officer in 1984 after completing officer candidate school. Prior to commissioning, he served as an enlisted member of Company A, 1st Battalion, 123rd Armor based at the Marion armory.

He has commanded at the company, battalion and brigade levels and served in senior staff officer positions with the 149th Brigade and at the state headquarters level of the National Guard.

In 2003, he commanded a battalion in Bosnia in his first deployment. In 2006-07, Campbell served as an officer in charge of a division rear operations center at Camp Liberty, Iraq. His last deployment in 2011 would see him command the 149th Maneuver Enhancement Kenny Fitzgerald shakes hands with Brig. Gen. Scott A. Campbell Friday in Frankfort following a promotion ceremony for Campbell. The two have remained friends since their childhood together in Frances. Looking on is David Sizemore of Crittenden County, who served in the National Guard with Campbell, and the general's wife, Linda, also a native of Crittenden County.

Brigade as a part of Operation New Dawn. During this mission, the task force was assigned to assist with the withdrawal of U.S. forces from Iraq.

"You've had to say good-bye way too often," Campbell said, choked with emotion, thanking his family for their support during his 32-year military career. "But by the grace of God, you were always there to say, 'Welcome. Welcome home.'"

Campbell said he's tried to emulate and incorporate the traits of former soldiers and commanders whose actions have influenced his career.

Recalling the exact day his mother, "who got this whole thing started," dropped him off at a Greyhound bus station in Marion as he headed off to boot camp in 1981 at Fort Knox, he remembered asking himself on the trip. "What am I getting myself into?"

Three decades later, however, the answer to that question is quite clear.

"Anyway, 32 years ago, I couldn't ever have envisioned this day," he said. "It has been a life-changing experience. And in hindsight, I would still get on that bus."

Campbell reflected on his career last month following a visit to his hometown. He shared his thoughts with The Crittenden Press in an e-mail.

"When I started in 1981, I really had no expectation that my career would get to this point," Campbell wrote. "I was looking for something to belong to; something to give my life some direction and purpose. The National Guard provided that opportunity, and I just ran with it."

His awards include Legion of Merit, Bronze Star Medal, Meritorious Service Medal, Army Commendation Medal, Army Achievement Medal, Armed Forces Expeditionary Medal, Army Service Medal, NATO Medal, Iraq Campaign Medal, Army Superior Unit Award and numerous other commendations.

Campbell lives near Elizabethtown with his wife, Linda, and youngest son, Jace. His oldest son, Joe, is stationed in South Korea as a member of the U.S. Air Force.

Bobcat player home after auto accident

By CHRIS MCGEE
STAFF WRITER

Since June 11, the Marion Bobcats have had more than baseball on their mind.

Just before 1 p.m. that day, utility player Luke Pearce was involved in a serious automobile accident on Interstate 24 near Exit 1 in Tennessee.

According to The Tennessean, Pearce was returning from a trip to the Nashville area on I-24 in his 2010 Jeep Patriot when he rear-ended a tractor-trailer in the westbound lanes that was stopped because of slow traffic. He suffered serious injuries and was life-flighted to Vanderbilt University Medical Center.

Bobcats Coach Jake Long said he spoke with Pearce's mother Friday and received an update on his condition.

"He is at home now," Long said. "He suffered a broken elbow, broken teeth, scars, burns and short-term amnesia, which is common with traumatic events."

Long added there were no life-threatening injuries.

The rest of the team was informed of Pearce's accident before the home game against Hopkinsville the same day of the crash. Long said news of the accident was a shock to the rest of the team.

"They had no idea that it had happened," Long said, adding that the team handled the news pretty well.

"It's tough to shake something like that," he said.

Long said Pearce's coach at the University of Alabama at Huntsville was the one who called and told him about the accident. Long said he gave the team an update on Pearce's condition on the way to the Owensboro game on Friday night.

The Bobcats coach said he believes the good news about Pearce affected the team in a positive way. "It was like a weight was lifted off (our shoulders)," he said.

He added that Brandon Lawing, one of Pearce's college teammates at Huntsville, was especially glad to hear the positive update.

Long said it will be a slow recovery for Pearce.

Arflack first to make general from Crittenden

STAFF REPORT

The Crittenden Press has reported that Brig. Gen. Scott A. Campbell was the first known general from Crittenden County. However, retired Brig. Gen. Norman Arflack was the first to be promoted to the position of general.

A native of Crittenden County, Arflack left the county with his family as a child. He currently serves in the Lexington area as the executive director of the Interstate Commission on Educational Opportunity for Military Children.

Campbell is, however, believed to be the first person to graduate high school from Crittenden County and achieve the rank of general.

VFW Post 12022 celebrates Flag Day

By JASON TRAVIS
STAFF WRITER

It was a ceremony designed to show respect to an honored symbol of America. On Flag Day, members of the Marion VFW Post 12022 held a flag retirement ceremony to demonstrate the correct way to dispose of an American flag when it is no longer a fitting emblem for display. Community members dropped off worn or soiled flags at the VFW Post in order for the VFW to properly dispose of them.

"We soak them in lighter fluid and then we build a really hot fire and burn them," said Joe Lanham, District Quartermaster. Lanham said Flag Day is important to VFW members because it provides the opportunity to educate the public on how to both properly display an American flag and dispose of worn flags.

During flag disposal, Lanham said the flag should be folded in its customary manner. To dispose of the flag, the fire should be fairly large and intense enough to ensure complete burning of the flag.

As the nation celebrates Independence Day on July 4, VFW members encourage more people to display the American flag.

"It's very important that we put up flags to let our soldiers know that we are backing them and it shows patriotism when we put up flags to honor them," said William Clarke, VFW Post Quartermaster and a veteran of World War II.

Joe Hunt, VFW District and Post Commander, said local businesses can call the VFW to receive a flag to display.

"We've given flags to the courthouse and to the jail. We've taken care of the Veteran's Park flag. The businesses around here if they need a flag, let us know. We will take care of it," Hunt said.

VFW also promotes educational activities each year in the county's schools, such as the Patriot's Pen and Voice of Democracy. Members of Post 12022 work to support and recruit local veterans in the area. They assist veterans with regular visits to VA Clinics in Paducah and Marion, Ill. Post members also visit veterans that are admitted to hospitals. They encourage member recruitment of veterans from the first Gulf War, the Iraq War and the war in Afghanistan.

Their regular post meeting is held on the second Thursday of each month at VFW Post headquarters at 412 N. College St. in Marion. Other activities include times for fellowship, such as the weekly Veteran's Breakfast held from 7 a.m. to 11 a.m., every Tuesday morning at post headquarters. Veterans do not have to be a member of the post to attend the breakfast. Bingo is also held at 6:30 p.m. every Monday night at post headquarters. For more information about becoming a member of the VFW contact their headquarters at 965-4100.

The correct way to respectfully retire an American flag when it is no longer a fitting emblem for display is to ceremoniously burn it. On Flag Day, last Friday, members and friends of VFW Post 12022 gathered to demonstrate how to properly dispose of worn flags that were dropped off at post headquarters. # Signal installation shows signs of bridge progress

Work continues to progress on the new U.S. 60 Tennessee River Bridge at Ledbetter. Work to install a new traffic signal at the McCracken County end and signs are the newest pieces of the puzzle to start moving into place.

Motorists are reminded to use caution while traveling U.S. 62 at McCracken County mile-point 13.588 near what will eventually be the new intersection of U.S. 60 and U.S. 62 at a former crossover for Ashland Road.

While the new bridge is still on track to open in mid-summer, Kentucky Transportation Cabinet District 1 Chief Engineer Jim LeFevre emphasized there is still a lot of work to complete.

"We can't project an opening date until we get several weeks out from adding traffic to the new bridge, and even then there will be a long checklist to work through," LeFevre said. "We should be able to assess the remaining work in late-July which will then allow us to reasonably estimate an opening date."

In November 2012, transportation officials negotiated a $3.8 million incentive package with the contractor, Kay & Kay/Haydon Brothers, to get the new bridge open to two-way traffic ahead of the scheduled July 2014 opening date. Starting May 1, the state has deducted $19,000 per day from the incentive fund. If two-lane traffic is not running on the new bridge by Sept. 1, the contractor will not receive any of the incentive package.

LeFevre emphasized the need for patience as work continues.

"We are committed to construct this new bridge so it can last 100 years," LeFevre said. "We will not take any short cuts that might create safety issues for the public. As soon as we can calculate a date for moving traffic to the new bridge we'll share it. Meanwhile, we're asking everyone to remain patient in the knowledge that we are making progress each and every day."

Before traffic can be allowed on the bridge, the remainder of the bridge deck and the concrete barrier walls must be poured.

The contractor still has about 626 feet of bridge deck to pour. Once deck installation is complete the contractor will have to finish pouring concrete barrier walls along the deck before traffic can be allowed on the bridge.

Some of the time saved on the project comes from placing two-lane traffic on the new bridge while half of the truss is being painted, then shifting traffic to allow painting of the rest of the steel superstructure. Painters have already completed some areas of the steel truss with a three coat paint system, with the final coat being a light green.

Accelerating completion of the new bridge was considered the best option after the load limit on the existing 82-year-old bridge had to be reduced to three tons in January 2012. The load limit restricts the aging structure to passenger vehicles and unloaded standard pickup trucks.

Updated information about the Ledbetter Bridge, will be posted for the public at www.facebook.com/kytcdistrict1. This site is your source for timely and reliable information about the Ledbetter Bridge.

USDA reduces its corn crop forecast to reflect wet spring

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Corn farmers are feeling the impact of a cool, wet spring but are still expected to bring in a record crop this year.

The U.S. Department of Agriculture said in its monthly report released last week that farmers are expected to bring in 14 billion bushels of corn this year. That's 135 million bushels less than last month's estimate, reflecting the impact of the cooler spring.

But that would still beat the 13.1 billion bushel record, set in 2009. Last year, farmers harvested only about 11 billion bushels because of the drought. An estimated 910,000 bushels were produced in Crittenden County last year.

The changes are not expected to significantly affect food prices for consumers.

The USDA said the amount of corn expected to be harvested per acre will be reduced to 156.5 bushels per acre down from 158 bushels estimated a month ago. Last year's drought-withered corn yielded 123 bushels per acre.

Farmers in the Midwest received a short break from rain between May 13 and 19 and in that period corn planting advanced from 28 percent to 71 percent complete. That matched the weekly record of 43 percentage points sent in May 1992, the USDA said. However, rain and cool temperatures later in May further delayed progress.

Farm report deadlines nearing

Laura Kessler

Executive Director
Salem USDA FSA

Around the Farm

If you have soybeans that were unable to be planted due to weather-related circumstance, you will need to call the office and make your crop report by July 1. Again, you have 15 days after this final plant date to certify.

Please remember it is very important that you file a preventive-planted acreage report if you carry insurance and have been unable to plant due to the large amounts of rain and flooding.

Acreage reports

We are strongly encouraging everyone to file their crop report as soon as possible. With all the late planting because of rain, the last few weeks to certify will be extremely busy.

As soon as you get your crops planted, please call for an appointment. We understand that this is an extremely busy time of the year, but please make time to get your acreages turned in.

We would be happy for you to drop off insurance maps or mark maps for us and then have you stop in when complete so your "off ice time" will be at a minimum.

Upcoming

- July 1: Final day to file prevented-planted soybean acreage report.
- July 15 is the last day to file a crop report.
- Aug. 1 is the last day to submit nominations for Local Administrative Area 1 County Committee.
- Through Aug 2: Direct and Counter-Cyclical Payment Program (DCP) sign-up.

(Laura Kessler is the U.S. Department of Agriculture Farm Service Agency county executive director at the Salem service center, which serves both Crittenden and Livingston counties. She can be reached at 988-2180.)

Crittenden County Sheriff Wayne Agent and deputies Ray Agent and Greg Rushing receive training Monday with new weaponry soon to be in the sheriff's department's possession after receiving a grant for the guns and ammunition.

Sheriff's department takes aim with AR-15s

By CHRIS MCGEE
STAFF WRITER

The Crittenden County Sheriff's Department began training Sunday with some loaner AR-15s similar to the ones the department will purchase, along with ammunition, with a $5,700 grant it received from the Kentucky Law Enforcement Protection Program earlier this month.

Crittenden County Sheriff Wayne Agent, Deputy Ray Agent and Deputy Greg Rushing are taking part in the training with the new weapon.

The three members of the department are being trained by some highly-qualified instructors at one of Whitetails and Longbeard's hunting lodge. The three instructors have a combined 50-plus years experience with the Chicago SWAT Team.

Dale Willingham, owner and instructor of Jackson Knob Firearms Training Center, is preparing to retire after 24 years with the Chicago SWAT Team. Willingham is a NRA-certified pistol and rifle instructor. Officer Rick Coyle is still active on the SWAT team and came down to help with the training. Lastly, Petros Milonis is a retired SWAT officer with 22 years service. He was an instructor for the Chicago SWAT team and was the primary rifle instructor. Milonis now owns his own firearms training center, Hollow Training Center in Mt. Carroll, Ill.

Willingham presently works only with law enforcement and law enforcement-related organizations, but plans to open a civilian training center.

victims from prosecution for crimes they were forced to commit. The legislation will offer assistance to agencies responsible for helping human trafficking victims by creating a "human trafficking victims fund" supported by service fees paid by convicted human traffickers, proceeds from seized and forfeited assets of traffickers, and any grants, contributions, or other funds that may become available.

- Proof of insurance: HB 164 will allow people to use electronic insurance cards on their smart phones or other electronic devices as proof of motor vehicle insurance. Drivers will still be required to keep paper insurance cards in their vehicles.
- Religious freedom: HB 279 specifies that government shall not burden a person's freedom of religion. The legislation states that an action motivated by a sincerely held religious belief can not be infringed upon without a compelling governmental interest. (HB 279 was vetoed by the governor; the veto was overridden by the House and Senate.)
- Scholarships: SB 64 will ensure that students earning Kentucky Educational Excellence Scholarships aren't penalized in the amount of scholarship money they receive if they graduate from high school in three years rather than four.
- School dropouts: SB 97 will allow school districts to increase the compulsory attendance age to 18 beginning in the 2015-16 school year. Districts that do so must have programs and resources in place for students at-risk of not graduating. The increased compulsory attendance age will become mandatory statewide four years after 55 percent of Kentucky school districts adopt it.
- Student health: HB 172 will encourage schools to possess at least two epinephrine auto-injectors in case one is needed for a student having a life-threatening allergic or anaphylactic reaction.
- Suicide prevention: SB 72 will require attendance at suicide prevention training programs at least once every six years for social workers, marriage and family therapists, professional counselors, fee-based pastoral counselors, al cohol and drug counselors, psychologists and occupational therapists.

- Teacher evaluations: HB 180 will require the Kentucky Board of Education to establish a statewide evaluation system for all certified personnel. The Department of Education, in consultation with teacher and principal steering committees, will develop the system prior to the 2014-2015 school year.
- Tuition waivers: SB 95 will extend the five-year tuition waiver eligibility period for adopted children who serve in the military.
- Victim protection: HB 222 will establish a crime victim protection program in the Secretary of State's office to allow domestic violence victims to have personal information, such as addresses, redacted from public voter registration roles. The legislation will also allow victims in the program to vote by mail-in absentee ballot.

Bigger wheat crop forecast in state

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Kentucky's winter wheat farmers are expected to harvest a larger crop this year over last.

Winter wheat production in the state is forecast at 39.2 million bushels, up 35 percent from 2012's harvest. Last year, an estimated 320,000 bushels of winter wheat was harvested in Crittenden County.

The forecast comes from the National Agricultural Statistics Service's field office in Kentucky.

The latest prediction released last week is based on crop conditions as of June 1 and is up 6 percent from the May estimate.

Wheat yield is forecast at 70 bushels per acre, up eight bushels an acre from last year's output.

God’s laws can’t be ignored

(Editor's note: The following is a column written by Rev. Franklin Graham on May 14, 2003. It is reprinted here in its entirety with permission from the Billy Graham Evangelistic Association. The Crittenden Press chose to allow regular columnist Rev. Lucy Tedrick to use Graham's words for this week's edition. Graham's column was originally entitled "Looking for a Nation Guided by the Bible.")

By FRANKLIN GRAHAM
As Soviet troops advanced from the East on Berlin in the spring of 1945 and Allied forces surged relentlessly from the West, one of Germany's leading minds faced a momentous decision.
Wernher Von Braun had been the architect of Germany's rocket program, which was far ahead of the Allies in terms of technology. With the imminent collapse of the Third Reich, Von Braun prepared to surrender. But to which side?
"We know that we had created a new means of warfare," Dr. Von Bran said, "and the question as to what nation, what victorious nation, we were willing to entrust this brainchild of ours was a moral decision more than anything else. We wanted to see the world spared another conflict such as the one Germany had just been through and we felt that only by surrendering such a weapon to people who are guided by the Bible could such an assurance to the world be best secured."

Dr. Von Braun maneuvered his team of rocket scientists toward the American lines and surrendered just six days before Germany fell. His faith in America was rewarded, as he was given the opportunity to develop rockets for peaceful purposes. He eventually relocated to Huntsville, Ala., where he guided the American space program that won the race to the moon in 1969.
That was the America of my father's generation where even our enemies knew that the truths of the Bible shaped our moral code. Presidents and congressmen prayed. The Bible was read in schools. Churches and God-fearing families formed the backbone of communities. The judicial system was still undergirded by the authoritative truth of Scripture. Americans were people of the Book—the Bible, God's Word.
Not any longer.
Our schools, governments, workplaces and media have systematically excluded God. No wonder church attendance has dropped. Today, 25 percent of adults under 30 claim no religious affiliation at all.

The exclusive claims of Scripture are directly at odds with the new religious and cultural pluralism that dominates public life and discourse. Our society doesn't want to listen to what Jesus says in John 14:6: "I am the way, and the truth, and the life. No one comes to the Father except through me." We are now a nation where the belief of any group carries equal weight.
So we have reached a point that the U.S. Supreme Court is debating the definition of marriage—totally disregarding the way God spelled it out in the Bible. We have grown numb to the fact that 41 percent of America's babies are born to unmarried women.
We must again, by God's great grace and mercy, endeavor to be a people of the Bible. That first and foremost means that Christians live and walk obediently to the precepts of Scripture, applying God's truth to every aspect of our lives. "But be doers of the word, and not hearers only, deceiving yourselves" (James 1:22).
It also means we must be bold in our witness, even if that means we are labeled as intolerant. In the Book of Acts, the early church met fierce opposition and persecution as it worked to spread the Gospel. Rather than shrink back, followers of the way prayed for even more boldness and zeal to proclaim the Truth.

I don't know if our nation can recover its spiritual footing. It may be too late. But then again, Christians are commanded to be godly salt and light in whatever culture we live in.
Don't be fearful. Let the light of biblical truth shine brightly through your life. God will be glorified, and you will be the Bible letter that is read by a sin-sick culture in desperate need of revival."
How heartbreaking to see the once great and respected nation fall to such sewer depths because the leaders of our government and institutions have let Satan take control of their minds and actions, and ways and laws they have placed on us, and the ungodly lifestyles they have put before the nation as examples for the rest.
They all will pay in hell for all eternity, but that will be too late for all those following them to see how wicked they truly are.

Every human must acknowledge Christ as the only pathway towards salvation

By JOEY DURHAM
GUEST COLUMNIST
I want to call your attention to Acts 4:10-12 in the Word of God, where we read, "Be it known unto you all, and to all the people of Israel, that by the name of Jesus Christ of Nazareth, whom ye crucified, whom God raised from the dead, even by him doth this man stand here before you whole. This is the stone which was set at nought of you builders, which is become the head of the corner. Neither is there salvation in any other: for there is none other name under heaven given among men, whereby we must be saved." I want to bring a devotion to your heart today on this subject "No Other Name."

We live in a day in which many people try to pave their own path to God. Men and women from all walks of life try to invent their own beliefs concerning God, salvation, and the human condition, and they proclaim their beliefs to be just as true and valid as every other religious belief that exists. These unbelievers fail to agree even among themselves concerning the path to truth, or even the existence of truth, yet they frown upon anyone who declares that truth does exist and that it can be known only through one person, Jesus Christ. To the unsaved culture of our day, anything goes and our "tolerant" society does not tolerate ab-solutes concerning God, salvation, or the sinful condition of mankind. Yet this sad situation is not new.

The Christians in the early church experienced much of the same. How did they respond? As our text shows us, they boldly and unashamedly declared that truth does indeed exist and that Jesus Christ is the only path to God the Father, or in other words, the only way to be saved and see Heaven when this life is over. Peter and John, who from the world's perspective were "unlearned and ignorant men," boldly proclaimed that salvation comes only through the person and work of Jesus Christ. I know what the pop-culture preachers of our day are saying. I know what the hierarchy of powerful religion is saying and promoting in this world today. But, I believe I'll listen to what Almighty God has declared and as a preacher of God's Word, I'll be guilty of declaring the same. In John 14:6, the darling Son of God, my Savior declared of Himself, "Jesus saith unto him, I am the way, the truth, and the life: no man cometh unto the Father, but by me." Did you hear and see that? Salvation is only by faith in Jesus Christ alone.

Longtime Sun sports writer Fosko dies

THE PADUCAH SUN

Longtime western Kentucky sports writer Joey Fosko died early Monday on his 46th birthday after suffering an apparent heart attack Sunday evening, reports The Paducah Sun.

Fosko had worked at The Sun since 1986, starting as a part-time employee and spending a stint in the news department before landing his dream job in sports.

Publisher of The Crittenden Press, Chris Evans, met Fosko in 1988 and counted him as one of his dearest friends.

"He loved the kids, he loved

the participants, the athletes," Evans told The Sun. "He would do anything for the readers. Anything. He put them ahead of his private life, his social life. He did everything he could to make sure the readers got what they needed."

Sun Editor and Publisher Jim Paxton, who watched Fosko from the perspective of a newspaper manager and as a father with two children who played sports at Heath High School, said it was a dark day Monday at The Sun.

"Joey Fosko is irreplaceable to us, as a journalist and more so as a friend," Paxton said. "No one in western Kentucky sports reporting was better liked or more respected, by the athletes, the coaches, professional colleagues and fans than Joey."

Steve Millizer, former Sun sports editor, said Fosko's love for local sports was so great, it was sometimes a struggle to hold him back.

Funeral services are set for 1 p.m. today (Thursday) at Milner & Orr's Lone Oak funeral home. Burial will follow in Mt. Carmel Cemetery.

Mosquitoes are uninvited summer guests

Mosquitoes can quickly turn an enjoyable outdoor event miserable. Their irritating bites can be a nuisance and in rare instances a health threat.

There are steps you can take to reduce the number of mosquitoes around your home and yard. Mosquitoes breed in standing water.

In only a matter of days, hundreds of new mosquitoes can result from a neglected kiddie pool or bird bath. The most effective way to control mosquitoes is to do away with their breeding sites. The following tips can help you reduce the number of mosquito breeding sites around your home and yard.

Throw away or recycle items such as old tires and aluminum cans that hold water.

Check items such as trash cans, buckets, boats, wheel barrows and flower pots for standing water. Empty any water that has accumulated and, if possible, turn these items over when not in use.

Check gutters and downspouts to make sure they are not clogged with debris.

Repair leaky faucets and air conditioners that produce standing water for several days.

Replace water in bird baths and kiddie pools at least once a week.

Check other areas in your yard such as drain ditches, soil depressions and tree stumps for standing water. If possible fill in these areas to prevent water from accumulating.

For mosquito bites: Do not scratch. It is often itchy when one is bit by a mosquito but scratching can increase the chance for infection.

Fundraiser reaches congregation’s goal

By JASON TRAVIS
STAFF WRITER

It was an ambitious task that symbolized faith in building toward the future for the congregation of The House of Freedom Worship Center, formerly known as the Levee Pond Church. Members of the Cave In Rock, Ill., congregation decided to take money collected from fundraising for their new church building and cash it all into $1 bills. The goal was to tape the $1 bills end-to-end and roll them on a spool exactly one mile west of the current church site to the property where the new church will eventually be constructed. The project is known as the mile-long dollar. Church officials said the amount of $1 bills taped together to reach one mile is $10,560.

Pastor Greg DeGrave said the idea came from Eva Winters, a member of the congregation who heard about a church in another part of the country that organized a similar event.

“We decided we wanted to do it. It’s been a lot of work taping the dollar bills together,” DeGrave said, recalling taping the rolls of dollars on tables in the church basement. “It was a pretty unique adventure. It’s exciting. There are a lot of people excited about it.”

Officials said the goal for the mile-long dollar is to use the money and install electricity and water on the 55 acres of property where the new church will be built. They hope to have the utilities installed by the Fourth of July holiday.

“Every July at our church we have Freedom Fest and we put on fireworks, have food and water slides for the kids. Everybody plays volleyball and washers. Our goal this year was to have Freedom Fest on the (new church) property. We’re going to get a huge tent,” said DeGrave’s wife, Diane.

Church officials said it took a few years of fundraising to collect the money. Most of their fundraising came from the Frontier Day festival where church members sold Boston butt barbecue.

Other fundraising activities included selling such menu items as grilled pork loin and chicken breast sandwiches.

Marion resident Frankie Moore has attended the church for three years. Moore said church members began unrolling the money at 6 p.m. and reached the site of the new church property at 8:30 p.m., on June 13.

“This was very exciting. Just for the pole and water it costs $10,000. It’s very expensive,” Moore said about installing the utilities. “This was a huge step for us. Everybody was so excited.”

The next goal the church wants to accomplish is to raise funds that will go toward pouring a concrete pad on the site where a new and larger church will be built.

The DeGrave’s said the current church can hold 140 individuals. They would like to have a sanctuary to hold at least 250 people. In addition to office space, officials also need rooms for Sunday school, a prayer room and the praise team.

Once the new church is constructed, officials plan to make the original church building a Christian school. Not only do they feel the close proximity between the two locations would be ideal, the original church has the facilities that can be used for that purpose.

“It’s set up wonderfully for us to start a school because we have kitchen facilities in the basement and classroom space,” Diane DeGrave said. “It’s all in the vision. We have a big vision.”

Food assistance available during summer months

BY JASON TRAVIS
STAFF WRITER

The numbers are alarming. According to the Food Research and Action Center, Kentucky ranked 19th among the 50 states for food hardship in 2012 and at least 20 percent of the population didn’t have enough money to buy food. The study found that Mississippi ranked number one in food hardship with about 25 percent of that state’s population not having sufficient funds for food.

Even in a strong economy, many individuals struggle to eat healthy and nutritious meals. Hunger doesn’t discriminate by age, race or gender. During the summer months, hunger affects students who lose access to free or reduced school meals. In Crittenden County, community food pantries and other programs are available to help assist and educate eligible families in preparing meals.

Nutrition Education

The Expanded Food and Nutrition Education Program, or EFNEP, is a University of Kentucky program administered through the Cooperative Extension Service. Sue Parrent is the EFNEP assistant for Crittenden County. EFNEP targets low income families and individuals with nutrition education. The program’s goal is to educate limited resource families with young children to plan nutritious meals on a limited budget, acquire safe food handling practices, improve food preparation skills and change behavior necessary to have a healthy lifestyle.

Parrent works with homemakers by instructing them how to be more efficient by making the most of what they have and getting the most out of their trip to the grocery. Clients can learn to develop cooking skills or learn new projects like canning food.

The program is free to homemakers. They must have children in the home that are 17 years of age and younger and meet the financial guidelines. Clients can either be male or female, depending on who is in charge of preparing the meals in the home.

“I have cooking classes and coupon classes. Anything the community needs that I can help them with, that’s what I’m here for,” Parrent said. “I encourage making out a grocery list and couponing. Check out the fliers that are in the newspapers and see what’s on sale. Plan your meals for a whole week. For instance if you buy a roast, plan on using that roast a couple of times. You may cook it the first day and the next day what’s left over can be made into sandwiches. You work with what you’ve got to stretch your budget. The couponing will certainly help. I use coupons myself.”

Coupon Exchange

Individuals are also encouraged to take advantage of the free coupon exchange program provided by the Extension Office. Parrent said the Extension Office developed the program last summer and it is available to anyone wishing to participate. Individuals are encouraged to visit the office during normal business hours and bring coupons they do not use and exchange them for coupons for items they regularly use. Coupons are organized in bins and labeled according to categories such as canned food, beverages, breakfast and other selections.

If clients have particular needs, Parrent said she can also refer them to the appropriate service agencies.

SNAP benefits

Formerly known as food stamps, The Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program, or SNAP, helps individuals with little or no money buy food for meals at participating stores. SNAP benefits increase a household’s food purchases.

Angie Curnel is the field services supervisor for Crittenden and Livingston counties at the Department of Community Based Services. Curnel said individuals who would like to fill out an application can visit their office located at 815 S. Main St. in Marion or call the office at 965-2254 from 8 a.m., to 4:30 p.m., Monday –Friday.

Curnel said eligibility for SNAP assistance is based on income and the number of members in a household. The income base is at 130 percent of the poverty level.

Many factors determine when an individual can begin receiving benefits. If they are destitute and have zero income, individuals can receive their SNAP benefit card within days. Individuals who receive some type of income may be eligible but the filing process may take longer, depending upon when the application is filled out and returned to the office.

Food Pantries

According to the Kentucky Association of Food Banks, demand for emergency food assistance in the state has increased 84 percent since 2006. Local food pantries work hard to keep food on pantry shelves. Hunger continues to be a major concern for senior citizens who are on a limited budget and often must choose between purchasing medication and food.

The Commodity Food Supplemental Program is for Crittenden County residents who are 60 years of age or older. Kathy Penn Belt oversees the program and said there are several slots still available for qualifying seniors. Belt said all income must be counted by all members living in a household. That includes Social Security, SSI, any type of pension, or child support received for a grandchild that is living in the household. Food is distributed from 1 p.m., to 2:30 p.m., on the Friday following the second Wednesday of the month at the rescue squad building located beside the Crittenden County Detention Center on Carlisle Street in Marion. For more information, call the Crittenden County Assistance Center PACS office at 965-4763 or visit the offices located at 402 N. Walker St. in Marion.

The county food bank distributes food from 8 a.m., to noon on the fourth Friday of each month behind the former health department building on North Walker Street in Marion.

Donations for the food bank can be made at the Judge-Executive’s office, the PACS office or by sending a check to the Crittenden County Food Bank at 351 Briarwood Drive in Marion.

“We serve 200 to 260 families a month,” said Minnie Brown of the Crittenden County Food Bank. “That’s anywhere between 400 and 600 people. We can always use donations of food and monies that will help us buy food.”

Brown said any donation would be appreciated, especially canned goods, cereals or crackers.

Marion Baptist Church distributes food at their location on East Depot Street from 9 a.m., to 3 p.m., each Wednesday. Income eligibility is determined at the PACS office, where those who qualify receive a food voucher. The food pantry provides noodles, spaghetti sauce, vegetables, cans of fruit, soup, cereal, shelf milk and juice to income eligible individuals of all ages.

Life in Christ Church provides a food program for senior citizens and disabled individuals.

The church is located at 2925 U.S. 641 in Marion. Individuals can call the church at 965-9200 to learn about eligibility and distribution dates.

Fondly remembering picnics and fishing trips

Let's go back many years ago to a time when picnics and fishing trips caused as much anticipation as people of today look forward to far away vacations in exciting places with man-made amusements to entertain the whole family. The Ohio River, Barnett Lake at Tolu and Winslow Park are a few of the sites that were popular. These happy days adventures were found in the archives of The Crittenden Press.

Aug. 14, 1913
A Delightful Fishing Trip
On the last day of July, quite a number of us went on a fishing tour at Barnett's lake near Tolu. The party consisted of Grover White and wife, John Boyd and family, Charlie Boyd and family, Miss Denzil Beard, of near Hebron, A. B. Griffin and family and several others joined our band before we reached the lake.

About 7:30 a.m., most of the crowd had gathered at the home of A.B. Griffin, and we started from there. Then the fun began. There was one wagonload of men and quite a number of us in buggies.

There was one apple orchard visited and some of the crowd enjoyed a watermelon which some of us missed.

We drove over a long beautiful road, then came to a fine well of water, where we watered our teams and ourselves, then quickly ended our journey at the lake.

There the men prepared for seining the lake. After dragging the lake, they drew out many large fish and the women began to prepare them for frying and making coffee. After this was done, the men were called for dinner and the large baskets that had been prepared for that day were brought down to the edge of the water and the nice things were spread on the ground and were enjoyed by everyone present.

After dinner was cleared away, the little children napped awhile and the women were laughing and talking. The little people wading in the lake was the grandest thing. We believe they were the prettiest children we've ever seen. They were little Annie Mae Boyd, Garland Griffin, Charline Boyd, Wilson Boyd and Bennett Hamilton. They waded in the water for quite awhile, then they were redressed and we started for home.

We reached Mr. Griffin's home and the fish were divided and each one started for their respective homes. So this ended our fishing trip and what a wonderful trip it was.

Aug. 12, 1915
A Picnic On The Ohio
Wednesday morning, July 28, about 7:20 a.m. Mr. J.R. Vaughan and wife, B.B. Stout, wife and baby, H. D. Vaughan, wife and children, Messrs Doyle Vaughan, Roscoe Stout, of St. Louis, Richard Rushing, of Erie, Tenn., Misses Dezzie Ford, Ruth Driver, and Christine Rushing, of Erie, Tenn., all started for a picnic on the Ohio.

We arrived at Weston about 9:15 where we found a fine place to stay on the river bank under some big sycamore trees. The breeze off the river was fine and kept the heat from being oppressive.

We had plenty of ice, lemons and cider, so we had ice lemonade and ice-cold cider all day. We all visited the city of Weston before dinner where we got plenty of candy and peanuts. We then returned to the river, rested awhile and spread dinner, which was plentiful and enjoyed by all.

The excursion steamer, John S. Hopkins, came up the river just after dinner and two towboats went up the river and a dredge boat came down.

After dinner, Mrs. T.A. Enoch and Miss Dollie joined us. The young people took a stroll on the bluff and the men went in to shower. The rest of the afternoon was spent in chatting, eating fruit and taking pictures.

About 6 p.m., we all started for home, but stopped on the road at a cool shady place and ate our supper. An automobile came along and caused some excitement among the teams and some of the women.

We then had a nice cool drive the rest of the way home where we arrived tired and exhausted, but not sorry we had gone.

Fishing Party
A recent event of interest in society was a fishing party at Walker Pond. It was composed of a party of young people of Hebron and several visitors.

Those in the party were Misses Lettie and Grace Conditt, Gladys and Evelyn Graves, Thelma Duvall

While the people and location are unidentified, the setting recalls picnics of yesteryear when people looked forward to the simple pleasures of life.

and Minnie Cleghorn and Messrs John and Eugene Graves, Barney and Morrison Cleghorn.

The visitors were Miss Ada Duvall of Ada, Okla., who is visiting her parents Mrs. and Mrs. William Duvall. Mr. Walker Cleghorn, also of Ada, who is visiting his people, the family of Mr. J.G. Cleghorn, Mr. Marion Conditt of Lexington who is spending the summer with his people and Mr. V.P. Henry of Marion.

The trip was fine, with four mules and a road wagon also present for the convenience of the crowd and horse and buggy driven by Mr. Walter Cleghorn assisted by Miss Wanda Duvall.

Fishing was fine, bites were plentiful and catches were many. Miss Thelma Duvall boasts that she caught one good one, but it could not be eaten because his collar was so still.

But as for real fish, we caught about 125 little fellows. Miss Wanda Duvall caught 15 which was the largest number caught by anyone. Mr. Henry caught 14. He says he had never caught but one fish before and it weighed 14 pounds, and the second time he caught 14 and all together they would only weigh 1 pound.

Sunday School Picnic
On Tuesday evening, Bob Elkins' big truck, together with several automobiles got busy and gathered under the Cumberland Presbyterians of the town and took them to Uncle Iva Hughes' spring near Harrison trestle for a picnic given under the auspices of the Marion Cumberland Presbyterian Sunday School.

They began gathering on the ground about 5 p.m., and kept coming until close to 7 p.m., and it seemed as though everybody brought a paper sack or some other form of package with something good to eat in it.

The little folks and Walter McConnell kicked all the mud out of the swimming hole, the big girls put in much time horseback (muleback) riding. W. Lamb and Jeff Travis erected a horizontal bar and passed an ordinance that everybody had to chin the pole before he got his or her supper.

Daniel Jasper Travis, "Uncle Dan," was the champion. He chinned the pole 14 times. It was good as any picture show to watch Jeff Asher's face while he was making it over twice.

In due time and just at the right time of day, the good women called us to supper and what a supper! There is not enough space to list the variety of good eats, but suffice it to say there was plenty to satisfy any appetite or taste.

After the repast, the young people assembled and made the woods ring with such songs as 'My Old Kentucky Home,' 'Star Spangled Banner' and other songs. I never saw a more enjoyable occasion.

The ages of the children ranged from six months to 79 years. Uncle Eli Nunn, 79, being the oldest. I am sure it can safely be said everyone there really enjoyed the whole affair.

A Sunday School Picnic. Did it do any good? Was there any religion in it? Yes. The favorable communicative side of the human life is sociality. If we are to win the world for Christ, the world must know there is joy, peace and happiness in the Christian religion.

Knox tackles seven in all-star showcase

STAFF REPORT

If Bobby Knox decides to hang up his helmet for good, he will have no regrets.

The 2013 Crittenden County High School graduate shined during Friday night's West Kentucky - Southern Illinois All Star Football Game at Saluki Stadium in Carbondale, Ill.

Knox had seven tackles, including one for loss on a two-point conversion attempt. The Kentucky stars dominated the game 42-20.

Playing linebacker behind starters Jonathan Jackson and Dondre Jackson, both of Mayfield, Knox was able to see plenty of game time.

"Our second defense caused the most turnovers," Knox said.

A 4.0 student, Knox has plans to study exercise science in the pre-physicians assistant program at Murray State, where he has already received a full academic scholarship.

The Racer coaching staff has invited Knox to tryout in August as a walk-on.

"Having played and coached at Murray myself, I know Bobby can play there," said Rocket football coach Al Starnes. "He has a big frame and can put on some weight. That's what you look for."

Knox led the Rockets in tackles with 95 as a senior. He also was a record-setting tight end during his career at Crittenden County.

Knox says he's not certain whether his collegiate plans will include football.

"I will just have to weigh everything and see when the times comes," he said. "It's still up in the air."

Knox says his line of study will put a great deal of demand on his time. He isn't sure whether the additional demands of playing on a college football team will mix well with his academic and career goals.

"I am going to have put a lot of time into school," he said.

Knox was the only player from Crittenden County invited to play in the annual all-star showcase for high school graduates.

At right is Rocket guard Landon Young working for room in the paint. Crittenden lost both its games last week to Madisonville and Webster County. Coach Denis Hodge said the offense struggled a bit to score, but he's pleased with the improvement and effort. The Rockets play five games in Missouri this week to wrap up their summer schedule. Hodge has trimmed the varsity team down to seven players: Dylan Hicks, Zack Tinsley, Maeson Myers, Landon Young, Dakota Watson, Noah Dickerson and Devin Belt. Seniors-to-be Travis Gilbert and Aaron Owen are playing baseball and golf, respectively, and will also be varsity players. The Lady Rockets won three of four games at Campbellsville last week but lost to St. Mary Tuesday at Marion.

Special family rings call to worship

A tradition was on display last Thursday at Hurricane Camp Meeting when a family with a long history of attendance at the old-fashioned revival rang the bell as a call to worship. Jeremy Belt and his son Jaxon rang the bell as Jeremy's wife Jessica, aunt Sue Brown and father Kenneth Belt look on. At 38, Jeremy has never missed a camp meeting. His father, 77, has missed only a couple of years and his great-aunt, Susie Hardin, attended all 95 years of her life before she died. The 125th Hurricane Camp Meeting ended Sunday.

the dropout age must have programs and resources in place for students at-risk of not graduating. As of next Wednesday, the first 57 school districts to make attendance mandatory until the age of 18 will receive $10,000 from the Department of Education to get such programs started.

Many districts across the Commonwealth have scheduled votes on the matter in the hope of receiving the financial boost. Dr. Yarbrough, however, said other area districts are also choosing to forego the policy change for now despite the grants.

She said it's not the policy change that is the problem, but the local district does not want to rush into raising the dropout age without a solid plan for creating programs for at-risk students.

The new dropout age will become mandatory statewide four years after 55 percent of Kentucky's 174 school districts adopt it.
