Work-release future questioned

Magistrates weighing viability, cost of continued use of prisoner labor

STAFF REPORT

When Crittenden Fiscal Court meets in regular session during July, it will begin dealing with an issue that will linger for the remainder of the year and into 2010. Magistrates will be considering whether to continue the work release program at Crittenden County Detention Center.

Judge-Executive Fred Brown braced magistrates for a scenario that might lead to the discontinuation of the popular work release program, which provides thousands of hours of labor for public works projects such as mowing, road repairs and general maintenance at places like the courthouse, park and other public buildings.

"I don't know what we would have done at the road department without inmate labor to help clean up after the ice storm," Brown said.

The $7.7 million jail opened in early 2008 and has been operated at a deficit since day one. That's nothing completely unexpected; however. Magistrates knew it would probably not break even. What they wanted was to curb increasingly rising spending for the previous 20-bed life-safety jail at which the county threw about $300,000 annually.

"Stop the bleeding," was a term used over and over by county officials as they examined the idea of building a modern 133-bed jail. Crunching the numbers a little more than one year into the big jail business, it looks like something will have to give in order to balance the budget starting in 2010.

Girls of summer

Girl Scouts from three counties braved the pre-summer heat last Friday at a day camp in Marion for troops from Crittenden, Livingston and Lyon counties. Above, Shelby Brown of Fredonia (back turned) and Ellie Smith of Hampton swing a jump-rope for Lindsey Cochran. Mary Cooksey, leader of Troop 2079 in Crittenden County, said the first-ever day camp in Marion was designed to allow the girls to make new friends from neighboring troops over crafts, games, singing and dancing at the pavilion at Marion-Crittenden County Park. Cooksey said Girl Scouts will set up a booth Aug. 10 at Sneak-A-Peak, a preview of Crittenden County Elementary School before classes begin the following day, to give new, prospective scouts more information on the 93-year-old organization.

Road department gets new foreman

Jackson taking over wheel from Kirk

STAFF REPORT

There will be a passing of the torch next week at the Crittenden County Road Department.

Foreman and longtime road department worker B.R. Kirk, 67, is retiring. His replacement is 38-year-old Tony Jackson, the youngest employee on the 11-person road department staff.

Kirk has worked on the county road crew for 21 years. When he first signed on, Kirk said there was very little equipment, other than several shovels.

"We had a bobtail dump truck, two road graders and a pickup truck," Kirk said. "I've seen a big improvement in the roads during my time here."

Judge-Executive Fred Brown said the county road department consisted of four employees when Kirk first joined the crew. Now, with almost a dozen employees and sometimes as many inmate laborers, the department is much stronger.

An inventory of the equipment shows how much more sophisticated the operation has become. There are graders, four dump trucks, backhoes, rollers, mowers, four tractors, a chipper and road patching machine. Most of the vehicles have air conditioning, a big change from when he first started, Kirk said.

The department maintains 365 miles of road in the county. Most of them are chip and seal or blacktop. About 20 percent of the county's roads are still gravel.

Jackson, who graduated from Crittenden County High School in 1988, will head up the department which has an average age of about 60. Jackson started on the road crew 10 years ago as a laborer and has worked his way up.

City asks for limited water use

STAFF REPORT

The City of Marion has issued a voluntary conservation order on water usage based on weather forecasts and trends over the past few years.

City Administrator Mark Bryant said the city has not restricted water use over the past three years and drought or near drought conditions threatened the water supplies each year.

"We just want to be more proactive this year," Bryant said. "We're okay right now. The water level at Lake George is normal to slightly above normal, but based on experience we know that can change rapidly."

Starting today (Thursday) city residents who have odd numbered addresses may use water for non-essential purposes such as washing vehicles, filling pools or watering plants or lawns. Residents living at even numbered addresses may use water for such purposes starting Friday. The procedure should continue until further notice with odd numbered addresses using water on odd numbered days and even numbered addresses using it even numbered days.

Marion draws its raw water from Lake George on the south side of the city and treats it at its water plant before distributing it. Facing a forecast of higher than normal temperatures and no chance of rain in sight, Bryant says its prudent to start cutting back now before a problem actually manifests. By alternating days of usage throughout town, Bryant says residents become aware that conservation is necessary and naturally they start using less.

"It's an awareness issue as much as anything," Bryant said. "It draws attention to the fact that we're having water issues."

God very much part of American history

For years, we've been warned and shown that the atheists, liberals, leftists and America-haters with the help of the communistic American Civil Liberties Union have been revising our American history in our school books, tearing out the truth and replacing it with trivia and lies.

This is common knowledge to the informed. Most of the following statements you will no longer find in our text books. So, it's no wonder many people who have listened to the revised history will make the false statement made (by the writer of a letter to the editor) in The Crittenden Press on June 11 denying that America was founded on Judo-Christian principals. This proves how right the true historians' warning us of this danger have been all along.

Five men of the American Revolutionary era were mentioned (by the writer) to prove their point, and, periodically, I will give many of their documented statements to show how successful Satan has been in trying to take Christ out of our lives.

In communist countries He was first taken out of the public square, then taken out of the personal lives of the people.

No, I've never lived in a communist nation, but was in shooting distance of North Korea when an American uniform jacket and cap was put on me and driven to the DMZ for proof of the tunnels, etc., the North Koreans had dug to get to South Korea to take over the country. I was told I was in constant danger of being shot by the North Koreans as they know I was a civilian. I have pictures to prove these statements.

I listened to the stories of horror the South Koreans had endured, read volumes on it and had a South Korean to say to me with a quarter in his hand: "We love America and are so thankful they saved us from the take over. On this quarter it says 'In God We Trust.' America is great because she trusts in God, but if she ever fails to trust in Him, she will no longer be great."

Columbus was guided by God in his voyages, because he was on a mission to spread the gospel of Jesus Christ to other continents.

History tells us that the Pilgrims who came to these shores in 1620 came to escape religious persecution, and by their own words, to spread the gospel of Jesus Christ to this land, of which mission my Easley ancestor in 1640 was involved.

John F. Kennedy, writing a letter to Brazil's president January 31, 1961, said: "To each of us is entrusted the heavy responsibility of guiding the affairs of a democratic nation founded on Christian ideals."

Was he wrong on his history knowledge?

Benjamin Franklin was the first name the writer mentioned. Let us hear from him instead of the revisionists.

In a letter to the French ministry, March 1778, he wrote: "Whoever shall introduce into public affairs the principles of primitive Christianity will change the face of the world."

In a letter dated April 17, 1787, he stated: "Only a virtuous people are capable of freedom. As nations become corrupt and vicious, they have more need of masters."

Now you know why the communists, along with all their patsies, want to corrupt our people, so we will beg for masters to take over and control the populous.

On June 28, 1787, the Constitutional Convention was in a bitter turmoil, different factions fighting, and Franklin, then 81 years old, stood and said, in part: "I have lived, sir, a long time, and the longer I live, the more convincing proofs I see of this truth – that God governs in the affairs of men. And if a sparrow cannot fall to the ground without His notice, is it probable that an empire can rise without His aid?"

"We have been assured, sir, in the Sacred Writings, that 'except the Lord build the House, they labor in vain that build it.' I firmly believe this, and I also believe that without his concurring aid we shall succeed in this political building no better than the Builders of Babel. ...I, therefore, beg leave to move – that, henceforth, prayers imploring the assistance of Heaven, and its blessings on our deliberations, be held in this Assembly every morning before we proceed to business, and that one or more of the clergy of this city be requested to officiate in that service."

This changed the whole atmosphere of the convention and success was enjoyed. Prayers have opened both houses of Congress ever since.

Next, we'll take up more of these historical truths of the other four men.

(Editor's note: Rev. Tedrick is a Marion minister. She shares her views weekly in this newspaper. Her opinions are her own, and are not necessarily those of the newspaper. Rev. Tedrick can also be heard on WAVJ 104.9 FM at 9 a.m., Tuesday.)

The Crittenden Press Letters to the Editor

Shooting of dog troubles resident

To the editor:

For several months, there was a homeless dog staying at our house. She was very sweet and good-natured, but also very shy and scared. It was easy to tell she had been very badly mistreated and abused. You could plainly see her ribs and tell she was very nearly starved. At first, she would only let us get so close to her before she started to back away. You could see in her eyes she wanted to be friendly, but was too scared to trust anyone.

After several months of being fed by (the neighborhood) she was fat as a little pig. She was also getting just a bit more trusting. Now, when we talked to her, she would lie down, whine and look at us with her big brown eyes but she did not run away. We had put a dog house on our porch for her, and she slept either there or at the neighbors'. We felt she now had a home and even though we could not pet her yet, she knew we would not hurt her, and she seemed happy at last.

Then, on the morning of May 6, Jay and I woke to the sound of a gunshot and the painful cry of a dog. We looked out the window and saw the dog (warden) standing in the road with a gun. He had just shot this poor defenseless dog in our front yard. We quickly got dressed, but before we could get outside, we heard another shot. I guess he wanted to finish her off.

When we got outside, he had pulled into the driveway of the house next door. We asked why he had killed her instead of sedating her. She was not in any way a danger to anyone. All he would say was that he had had complaints from two people about her.

We still do not understand why he killed her for no reason. All she wanted was someone to love her and give them love in return, this was what she got instead. If someone did not want her hanging around their house, they should not have fed her.

We went out to the dog kennel to see her, to let her know someone cared. We both gave her a kiss and told her we loved her and that God would take care of her now.

I have never cried so much and been so angry at the same time. We can still hear the gun shot and hear her cry: it is something we will not soon forget.

The reason I am writing this letter is that I want people to know what happened. So please think about this before calling the Crittenden County Animal Shelter. You may be hoping to give an animal a second chance, but instead, you may be signing their death warrant. If this letter can save even one animal's life then maybe our little dog did not die in vain.

Reta Riley
Marion, Ky.

(Editor's note: According to Animal Control Officer Rickey Winders' report on the May 6 incident, complaints on the dog originated on March 23, with a property owner along Fords Ferry Road complaining a beagle was running at large without a collar or tags, which are required for dogs in Crittenden County. Seven days later, another complaint was registered by the property owner's tenant. Several subsequent complaints were registered by the same tenant. Another was registered by the original complainant that the dog was harassing his cattle. Winders also observed the same activity.

Winders documents at least nine attempts to collar or trap the dog before shooting the animal as a nuisance. Winders claims to have had permission to shoot the animal from the property owner where the animal was located at the time. According to Kentucky Revised Statue 258.215, which states: "Peace officers or animal control officers shall seize and impound any dog which does not bear a valid rabies tag or other legible identification which is found running at large ... If, after a reasonable effort, the seizure of an unrestrained dog cannot be made, or the dog presents a hazard to public safety or property or has an injury or physical condition which causes the dog to suffer, the animal control officer or peace officer may immediately destroy the dog by the most reasonable and humane means then available."

Judge-exective Fred Brown was made aware of the incident by Winders and approves of the necessary action taken.)

Religion part of American history

To the editor:

As I was reading the letters to the editor, I came across one that was taking unfair pot-shots at Rev. Lucy Tedrick for her statement that she believed our country was founded on Christian principles.

(The letter writer) went on to state that Benjamin Franklin, Thomas Jefferson, John Adams, John Quincy Adams and Thomas Paine were "deists" – they believed in a higher power, but did not believe that Jesus Christ was the son of God, (The writer) suggested that Rev. Tedrick should study the writings of these and other founding fathers.

I'm not sure about Rev. Tedrick, but the aforementioned names among our founders who did not believe Jesus Christ was the son of God would disqualify me from reading their writings.

The writer suggested our country was founded on the principle of religious freedom for all. When I went to school in Marion some 60 year ago, I was taught our nation was founded on the principles as "One Nation Under God."

It makes me wonder if this writer was aware that our children's nursery rhyme "Humpty Dumpty" was originally written about the fallen Roman Empire and the attempts to put it back together! Or if she was aware there were some 250 framers of our constitution, but only about 50 were available to sign the document, because the remainder of them were fighting in the war.

The greatest breakthrough in women's healthcare since the epidural.

NEW WOMEN'S PAVILION

Mom Jessica Barnard glows as new baby Kenlee sleeps in her arms.

AT LAST, the new Methodist Hospital Women's Pavilion is open. It's had a longer gestation than we anticipated. But we think you're going to agree it's been worth the wait.

We've built a new obstetrics unit that will cradle mother and baby with comfort and safety. Each patient room is sunlit, with a view of the Ohio River. Each is designed with separate areas for caregivers and for families.

For those babies who arrive sick or prematurely, our new Neonatal Intensive Care Unit has an array of astonishing life-saving resources. In addition to leading-edge equipment, this special place has windows that allow indirect sunlight so that babies learn night from day right from the start. There are even two suites where parents can stay overnight with their new baby, allowing them to practice special care skills they'll need when the family goes home.

Some medical problems are specific to women. The new Women's Pavilion is a haven for these patients to receive care in compassion and privacy, with the healing atmosphere of sunny rooms and beautiful views.

It took a heroic commitment from the people we serve to make this dream come true. A state-of-the-art facility dedicated to the healthcare of women. We now invite you to take advantage of this very technological, yet very human wonder that you have helped us create.

Prep for global economy sought

What are the teaching, leading and learning expectations that will be necessary to best prepare Crittenden County graduates of the Class of 2020? This graduating class will be the students entering second grade in our schools in August. We are going to spend some time developing future goals and expectations for creating the necessary educational experiences that will prepare our students to utilize 21st century skills. We would like the community's input on the critical components that you believe should be a part of a Crittenden County student's educational experience to prepare them for the world as it will be in the year 2020. This seems like a long way off into the future but really these are the types of conversations that we must have now in Crittenden County to make sure our graduates represent a skill set that will enable them to move into the world of work with success and ease. Please think about the following questions relative to Crittenden County students being prepared for competition in a global economy.

Dr. Rachel Yarbrough

Super News

Crittenden Press guest columnist

1. What skills do you believe our students will need to compete globally?
2. What skills do you believe our teachers will need in order to prepare students for being successful in the year 2020?
3. What does instruction need to look like in the 21st Century School?
4. What types of educational experiences do you think our school system should provide to best equip the graduates of 2020?

Continuing to ask these questions of our school district will ensure that we are prepared and committed to meeting the changing expectations for students in a world of work that does not even exist today. We want Crittenden County students to be able to compete for jobs and thrive in the economy of the future; therefore, we create a shared set of expectations as to the types of educational experiences that will be critical for the future success of all students.

The answers provided to these questions will guide the teaching, learning, and leading that is required in Crittenden County for the future. This "2020 Vision" will serve as our educational compass for long term planning so that we better meet the needs of students and the community at large. We know that enlisting the partnership of students, families and our community is essential to helping the school district succeed and be a viable force in the lives of youth. Throughout the summer, various student groups, community leaders, board members, school personnel, and administration will be asked for input on the "2020 Vision for Crittenden County Schools". We will also post these questions on the website of The Crittenden Press to get input from the public at large. We truly want your opinions and input as we shape the vision for our young people's future. Thanks for your willingness to make the Crittenden County Schools "second to none".

According to a Kentucky State Police report, Chittenden overcorrected and crossed both lanes before striking an embankment. The vehicle overturned and came to a rest in the southbound lane.

The accident occurred just after 5 p.m.

Chittenden was not wearing a seat belt.

Livingston County Sheriff's Department, Livingston EMS and Smithland and Burna fire departments assisted state police on the scene.

Gaming proposal runs out of luck

FROM STAFF AND AP REPORTS

A proposal to legalize slots at horse tracks has run out of luck in a special session of the Kentucky legislature.

The Senate Appropriations and Revenue Committee rejected the measure 10-5 on Monday. The outcome was no surprise. Senate President David Williams (R-Burkesville) had vowed it would not meet approval from the GOP-controlled upper chamber of the General Assembly.

The House approved the measure 52-45 Friday, with Rep. Mike Cherry (D-Princeton) voting in opposition to the measure. It would have allowed Kentucky's tracks to install so-called "video lottery terminals" that would feature casino-style games like slots. The proposal had been touted as a means to generate a financial windfall for Kentucky's struggling horse racing industry.

"I will not support any legislation that directly expands gambling/gaming in Kentucky other than through the constitutional amendment process where the people vote on the issue," Cherry said, explaining his vote.

The Senate favors an alternative proposal that would generate money for the horse industry by placing a surcharge on lottery ticket sales.

Meantime, after more than a week in special session, legislative leaders tentatively agreed Tuesday to a plan that would resolve a projected $1 billion budget shortfall in the coming year.

Kentucky would maneuver through its tough financial times using more than $740 million in economic stimulus money from the federal government. Most state agencies would also face cuts of 2.6 percent.

Williams said he expected the Senate would okay the budget on Wednesday.

Lawrence Rustin, 81, of Crestville chips excess volume from a stone Friday that was to be placed above the archway of the new drive-thru branch of The Peoples Bank on North Main Street. Rustin, who has been working in masonry for 33 years and has helped brick many homes in the area, works for Scott Long of Marion, seen in the background behind the archway.

Peoples branch nearly done

STAFF REPORT
The Peoples Bank President Terry Bunnell said the bank's new drive-thru will be completed in a couple of weeks, with a grand opening set for the first week of July.
Bunnell has used mostly local contractors, labor and equipment in building the 720-square-foot branch, which features three lanes, walk-in service for existing account holders, a 24-hour ATM and night depository. Bunnell said the bank's expansion is aimed at better customer service, providing patrons with a more convenient place to conduct their banking business.

The bank's growth, which also includes a loan production office in Glasgow, also reflects the its strength, he said. Since last June, assets at The Peoples Bank have seen a double-digit boom.
"We are proud to keep that growth here through this new branch," Bunnell said.

Marion woman sentenced by fed

Marilyn Dameron, 52, of Marion was sentenced last week by United States District Judge Thomas Russell to 12 months and 1 day imprisonment for committing health care fraud and obstruction of a criminal investigation, Acting U.S. Attorney Candace G. Hill of the Western District of Kentucky announced.

Dameron operated two businesses, along with her daughter, which provided counseling services to patients in personal care homes. The two businesses operated by Dameron were Kentucky Psychiatric Services, Inc. ("Kentucky Psychiatric") and Nationwide Psychiatric Services ("Nationwide"). Dameron was responsible for the daily operations of the businesses.

Dameron admitted that between 2003 and 2004, she caused false billings to be submitted to Medicare on behalf of Nationwide, where she was employed as the executive director. The total amount of false billings was $67,871.50. After the criminal investigation began into the fraudulent billings, Dameron tried to create records which previously did not exist to cover up the false billings.

The case was prosecuted by Assistant United States Attorney Lettricea Jefferson-Webb with assistance from David Sparks, and it was investigated by the Health and Human Services Office of the Inspector General.

More than a year since spring flooding washed out a creek bank and a portion of South Yandell Street in Marion, work to repair the road and mitigate future erosion from flooding is under way. Wilkins Construction Co., of Paducah has begun repairs on the street by diverting water from the creek into a pipe while a footer can be poured and new retaining wall put in place to keep the creek within its bounds. Once the wall is complete, the roadway will be put back in place. Completion of the $188,000 project should come in August, said Brad Wilkins, owner of the company. Until that time, the street will remain closed to through-traffic.

Work will close Ky. 120 Tuesday

The Kentucky Transportation Cabinet plans to close Ky. 120 in Crittenden County on Tuesday while repairs are being made to a drainage tile. The closure will be near the 8 mile marker between Marion and Providence between Sugar Grove Church Road and Cave Springs Road west of the Deanwood community. The highway will be closed at the site starting at approximately 8 a.m. The work is expected to take about five hours, weather permitting.

Motorists who regularly travel Ky. 120 through eastern Crittenden County should be aware of this planned closure and make advance alternate travel plans. There will be no marked detour. Approximately 1,000 vehicles travel this section of Ky. 120 in an average day, the transportation department said. In case of rain the project will automatically advance to the next working day.

Stolen SUV found near Enon Church

Crittenden County Sheriff Wayne Agent is investigating the crash of a Chevrolet Blazer on Ky. 132 early Tuesday morning. The vehicle had been reported stolen from another county. The vehicle apparently wrecked near Enon Church, hitting a tree and burst into flames. A passerby saw the accident about 5:30 a.m., and reported it to authorities. Firefighters from Shady Grove and Blackford responded to the blaze. No driver nor passengers were at the scene when authorities arrived. Anyone with information should contact the Crittenden County Sheriff's Department at 965-3400.

Fords Ferry Road project complete

A fresh set of traffic striping marked the end Tuesday of a 20-month utilities and street project in Marion.

On Monday, Rogers Group layed down more than 3,800 feet of pavement along a new, 24-foot wide Fords Ferry Road. The striping on Tuesday morning was the final phase of the more-than-$200,000 project which added 14 homes to the City of Marion's sewer utility, improve drainage and widened the once-narrow passage.

The project was funded jointly by the city and Crittenden Fiscal Court.

Teen hurt when ATV hits vehicle

A Marion teen was injured when the ATV he was driving on the road collided with a vehicle on Adamson Lane Friday night just before 6 p.m.

According to Kentucky State Police reports, Virginia Nally, 48, was operating a 2002 Nissan pickup on Adamson Lane when an ATV being operated by Justin Pitre, 18, topped a hill in a curve.

Nally slowed her vehicle and was virtually stopped as Pitre attempted to avoid the pickup. Pitre lost control of the ATV, which overturned, throwing the driver from the four-wheeler. The ATV proceeded forward, striking the pickup on the driver's side.

Pitre was taken by ambulance to Crittenden Hospital where he was treated for a possible shoulder injury.

Pitre was charged by state police for operating an ATV on the roadway, operating it without headgear, having no insurance and having no operator's license.

Crittenden County Sheriff's Department, Crittenden County EMS and the Crittenden County Rescue Squad assisted at the scene.

Beware of lightning; use 30-30 Rule

Summer is often a peak season for one of the nation's deadliest weather phenomena - lightning. Lightning strikes year round. According to the National Weather Service, an average 62 people are killed each year by lightning in the United States. In 2008 there were 329 people struck in the USA, with 302 injured and 27 killed. Given these statistics, it's extremely important to take lightning seriously and to stay educated on lightning safety.

As part of its Teach Learn Care TLC campaign, Safe Electricity urges parents and other caregivers to make sure children also understand the importance of lightning awareness and how to stay safe.

Don't be fooled by blue skies. If you hear thunder, lightning is close enough to pose an immediate threat. That is why the National Weather Service has adopted the saying: When Thunder Roars, Go Indoors!

Lightning can strike up to 10 miles from the area in which it is raining, even if you don't see clouds. This means that if you can hear thunder, you're within striking distance. A good idea is to use the 30-30 Rule. According to this rule, if you count less than 30 seconds between a lightning flash and the thunder following it, you should seek shelter from the storm. A smart thing to do is count your 30 seconds inside away from all threatening weather. When the storm is over, wait 30 minutes after the last lightning strike you see before going back outside.

If caught outdoors during a thunderstorm and unable to take shelter in a building, take the following precautions:

- Try to take shelter in a vehicle with a solid metal roof. Close the windows and avoid contact with electrical conducting paths, such as the steering wheel, ignition, gear shifter or radio.

- Avoid water, high ground or open spaces.

- Do not seek shelter under tall, solitary trees; canopies; small picnic or rain shelters; or in any open-frame vehicles such as jeeps, convertibles, golf carts, tractors or mowers.

- Do not stand near power, light or flag poles, machinery, fences, gates, metal bleachers or even other people. If you are in a group, spread out so that you are at least 20 feet apart.

- If your skin tingles or your hair stands on end, lightning may be about to strike. Squat down low to the ground with your head between your knees making yourself the smallest target possible.

"Plan outdoor activities around the weather and be prepared to seek shelter if the weather turns threatening," says Molly Hall, Safe Electricity Executive Director. "If thunderstorms and lightning are approaching, the safest location is indoors away from doors and windows with the shades drawn. Avoid water, electric appliances and other objects that could conduct electricity, and use only cordless or cell phones to make emergency calls."

Phone use is the leading cause of indoor lightning injuries in the U.S. A direct strike is not necessary for lightning voltage to enter your home through phone lines, electrical wires, cables and plumbing. Other recommendations to avoid lightning shock and damage include turning off and unplug appliances; staying away from electrical outlets, appliances, computers, power tools and TV sets; turning off your air conditioning to protect the compressor from a power surge and avoid a costly repair job; and avoiding water and contact with piping, including sinks, baths and faucets.

Cellist in town

Fohs Hall hosts jazz, blues artist

Della Grigsby is one of a relatively small group of cellists around the country who specializes in standards, jazz and blues and is fast becoming known for her elegant sound.

She is married to John DeWitt, a graduate of Crittenden County High School and brother to E.J. DeWitt of Marion. She will perform at 2 p.m., July 5 at Fohs Hall Auditorium. Tickets are $10 for adults and $5 for students. A reception will follow the concert.

Grigsby

Grigsby began her musical studies at age five playing piano and at age nine she began to play the cello. Della studied with renowned classical teachers. She was a student of Johanna deKeyser, a Tschalkowsky Competition Winner, and Gabor Rejto, a protégé of Pablo Casals. She enhances her classical training with jazz instruction at the Berklee College of Music and Broadway pop in New York City with Pendleton Brown, original singer/songwriter.

Grigsby has played internationally in the Kings Chamber at the Great Pyramid of Giza with Interior Time (a new age quartet) and at Festival Interceltique (Lorient, France) with Astronique, an astronaut Celtic band.

Salem Garden Club

By Janet Hughes

The Salem Garden Club has been very busy this spring. We sponsored an Easter basket give-away in April to encourage children to garden. The winners were Shirley Hargrove of Burna and Charlie Deboe of Marion.

After long preparations and praying for no rain, we were able to have Salem Day in May. We were glad to see people from Nashville and Georgia come home for a visit. Thanks to the businesses, churches, vendors and musicians who contributed. Our plant sale was a success with many buying gifts for Mothers Day.

Gary Ivy at the Salem Dollar Store got many drinks donated, and we appreciate the support of Carole Guess and the gang at Salem Food Market. Salem Baptist Church always comes through allowing us to use their parking lot. Their kids zone and guitar hero contest was a hit. Farmers Bank also jumped on board wearing their Salem Day Shirts and provided kids games.

Winners of the drawings were $100, Patricia Hunter of Marion; Garden Cart Basket, Fern Jackson of Salem; and Mayor Peck's log cabin, Noah Slayden of Ledbetter.

In June we toured the home and gardens of Jean Claude and Carolyn Kieffer of the Mattoon area. We had been looking forward to this outing for over a year. Once we passed through the gates to enter the estate, we admired the beautiful sandstone boulders. Flowers are woven throughout to create a beautiful landscape. Their home overlooks a lake, gazebo and pavilion where you can sit and enjoy the fireplace. This is Carolyn's family home place. She has mixed family heirlooms with beautiful furnishing from Europe to create a home perfect for entertaining. We appreciate their hospitality and thank them for allowing us to have a quick meeting under their pavilion.

We are sad to cancel this year's summer garden tour.

Our next meeting will be at 6:30 p.m., July 13 at the home of Shannon Riley, 888 Shelby Rd., Salem. Everyone is asked to bring a lawn chair and finger food. We will be discussing Salem's Fall Jamboree set for Sept. 19.

Tabatha & Southern Fry'd

LOCM calls west Kentucky woman, band The Real Thing

BY ALLISON EVANS
PRESS ASST. EDITOR

Tabatha Rowland can add covergirl to her list of accomplishments. The Livingston County resident and former Crittenden Countian is the face of the premiere issue of Ladies of Country Music Magazine. Rowland helped launch the magazine at an industry celebration Saturday.

Rowland, the lead singer for the country/southern rock band Tabatha & Southern Fry'd, was selected from a large field of up and coming country music singers to be on the cover of LOCM Magazine, which is published by LOCM Promotions.

LOCM Promotions' Jerry Pitts, who has featured Rowland on his internet-based radio station locmradio.com, loves Rowland's style, and selected her ahead of a long list of 20-something artists to grace the magazine's premiere issue.

"To have been chosen as the cover spoke volumes for me because I am always worried about 'oh, I am too old, and 'oh, I look fat,' and what I learned is it's all attitude.

"I went in having fun at the photo shoot and think that they captured the girl that I am when I am on stage performing. So to the women who beat themselves up for what they think that they should be, forget it and the true you shines through!"

Rowland, 38, says appearing in the national magazine Country Weekly in February has created some momentum for the band. While Southern Fry'd has played regionally for a couple of years now, they have started getting calls to play more in other states. On Labor Day, Southern Fry'd will open for Marty Stuart in Saltville, Va., and for Rodney Carrington in October in Tulsa, Okla.

The official Southern Fry'd Web site explains Rowland and the band like this: "Mix a little bit of Loretta Lynn twang, a smidge of Montgomery Gentry fire, and a dab of Sheryl Crow boldness and you get Tabatha with her special recipe that will tickle your taste buds and make Tabatha & Southern Fry'd your favorite musical dish."

To Rowland, the biggest thrill of it all is hearing her songs on the radio.

"I remember the first time as I was sitting at a stop light I started screaming at the other cars and pointing to the radio, 'That's me!'"

With her single "Hank It Up" premiering on local radio station WKYQ's Outlaw Hours, Rowland was welcomed into a traditionally male artist show.

Larry Dever of Nashville noted on the Internet that "Tabatha and Southern Fry'd are as edgy and rowdy as a bar fight. Spunky vocals punctuated by solid rhythms and articulate musicianship, from a band that knows what it wants to say musically and knows how to say it."

Rowland's energy is contagious, which is what attracted Pitts to her and ultimately led to her selection on the magazine cover.

Ladies of Country Music Magazine debuted during the Country Music Awards festival two weeks ago, and Rowland attended a launch party in Mississippi Saturday. While the magazine is not available at outlets in western Kentucky, PDF versions are available online at www.locmradio.com.

"Tabatha is one of my favorite artists more so because of her southern rock style," Pitts says, noting that LOCM radio is more pop country, not a lot of traditional country.

"I'm looking for good things out of it," said Pitts. "We decided to do (the magazine) because nobody else was doing it. Everybody wants to focus on men, which I know ladies love that, but I made a decision one morning to do this."

Pitts started promoting Tabatha and Southern Fry'd after hearing "Hank It Up," one of the band's most popular songs.

"I traditionally don't waste time with an artist with one song on their Web site, and when I heard that song I said, 'these people are going places,'" Pitts said. "I take the cream of the crop and try to put them in the spotlight, and she is certainly in the forefront of those 100 or so people I promote, and she rose to the top."

The Woman's Club of Marion enjoyed a potluck salad lunch and summer outing at the home of Caroline and Jean Claude Kieffer. Mrs. Kieffer, the former Caroline Faith, pointed out the portion of the home that was the Faith homeplace. The Kieffers have extended the home to now include both American and European architecture with some furnishings from Mr. Kieffer's native home of Luxembourg. Lots of planning went into the landscaping with large rocks and blooming flora and shrubs dotting the hillside. The view from the front steps is a sparkling lake with fountains, gazebo, relaxing chairs and tables and a barbecue pit and pavilion.

Crittenden's first hospital built with donations

In an article a couple of years back, I had written about Dr. T. Atchison Fraser, his love of practicing medicine and caring for the health and welfare of all people. He also had a dream for Marion and Crittenden County, and that was for the community to have its own hospital.

He dreamed of a local medical facility that would be available for the care and treatment of our people, so they wouldn't have to travel miles to the nearest hospital.

This is the history of that first wonderful hospital for Crittenden County. My information comes from the archives of The Crittenden Press during this time in our history.

Dr.T. Atchison Frazer was president of the Kiwanis Club back in the year 1942. One day he overheard a man say: "I'd give $10,000 if Marion had a hospital."

"Give me the $10,000," Dr. Frazer replied, "and I'll see that Marion gets a hospital."

The unidentified person did indeed live up to his statement.

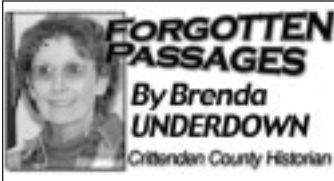

With the check in hand, Dr. Frazer quietly got $5,000 from another source, donated $1,000 from his own pocket, and kept his $16,000 a secret until the next meeting of the Kiwanis Club.

"You fellows don't know it," he said, "but I'm telling you now we are going to build a hospital in Marion."

Then he flashed his nest egg of $16,000 and laid out the job ahead. The members quickly responded to his leadership.

In December 1942, attorney John A. Moore filed in the office of County Clerk W. S. Lowry the articles of incorporation. The articles of incorporation – non-profit, recites, "the corporation hereby proposed to be organized shall be named and known as Crittenden County Hospital, the principal office and place of business shall be in Marion, the nature of the business proposed to be conducted, transacted, promoted and carried on shall be to promote, establish and conduct a non-profit hospital in Marion that all profits arising from operation of said hospital shall at all times and forever go to the improvement, building additions as may be necessary and endowing beds, rooms, and wards, the affairs shall be conducted by five directors." There were 147 incorporators who signed the document.

T.H. Cochran was named chairman of finance committee. Other members were John A. Moore, W.O. Tucker, S.D. Loyd, W.W. Runyan and C.A. Taylor. The board of directors were Neil G. Guess, President, Ted Boston, vice-president, R.C. Hopper, secretary-treasurer, Dr. L.A. Crosby and W.H. Franklin.

The first item of business to be conducted was that of Dr. Frazer making the arrangements for purchase of a suitable building for the new hospital. This building selected would be the former E.J. Hayward home, (1904-1915), then it was the Marion High School (1921-1938). Dr. Frazer made arrangements to purchase the building from the Board of Education to house the hospital.

In March of 1943, Neil Guess, president of Crittenden County Hospital, Inc., wrote a letter to the people of Crittenden County to share with them the details of the new hospital being planned.

"I would like for each of our citizens to understand that this is a community and a non-profit enterprise. All profits arising from the operation of it will remain with the hospital and no one will receive one cent in dividends and there will not be any distribution of the profits," he wrote.

"The people of each community of our county will own the same interest in it as the other. In other words, the people of Shady Grove will have the same interest in it as those of Fords Ferry, Dycusburg, Tolu or Marion or any of our communities.

"None of the members of the board of directors consisting of Ted Boston, Hobart Franklin, Dr. L.A. Crosby, R.C. Hopper or myself are receiving one penny in salary, or pay in any form, but we are doing a lot of hard work to get it started.

"We have bought our building and it is paid for in full for $8,000 and we are making every effort possible to do the necessary remodeling at the very lowest cost practicable.

"It was reported last week that Dr. Neville Gardner, a former dentist of our town, had given his X-ray machine to our hospital. I think that shows a fine spirit. We are grateful for his fine gift."

Other news items from that month of March 1943 tells that the Union Baptist Church pledged to equip a room in the new Crittenden County Hospital, the first church in the county to make such a pledge. Marion Woman's Club also pledged room equipment. Several individuals have also indicated an intention of furnishing a room according to Dr. Fraser.

Local miners employed at U.S. Coal & Coke Co., Mexico are raising funds to purchase X-ray equipment. The schools in all the communities are sending contributions with messages: This money is the proceeds from our school social.

Later that year, The Press tells that the plans for the new hospital were received from the architect and work is expected to begin shortly. Several prominent contractors are to submit estimates within the next few days. The plans call for three floors in addition to basement and elevator service from basement to top floor.

Plans of the basement show laundry, kitchens, dining room for resident help, storage rooms, boiler and fuel facilities. First floor plans include emergency and examination room, bedroom, physician's consultation room, waiting and reception room, offices for management and resident nurses' staff. Five individual bedrooms and two wards are provided for on the second floor with ample hall and stair space in addition to elevator hatch.

All technical rooms are on the third floor including operating room, X-ray and dark room, nurses work room, storage, dressing room and ample storage.

The hospital was completed in June 1944 and opened on July 23, 1944 – proud day for the citizens of Marion and Crittenden County. The hospital was paid for with the help of all, through their gifts and donations.

The new adequately equipped hospital was ready for patients to be taken in and cared for. Although several items of equipment were still in the process of being purchased, these items were bought as donations of money became available.

The staff included four doctors, Dr. L.A. Crosby, Dr. O.C. Cook, Dr. T.A. Fraser and Dr. J.O. Nall. Also any licensed physician in Crittenden or surrounding counties was able to bring patients there. Rounding out the staff were two registered nurses, a part-time laboratory technician and eight nurses' aides were on the staff.

The first hospital patient was Mrs. Marvin Dunn.

During this early time in the beginning of the hospital, Dr. Fraser was proud to tell the public that a fluorspar miner with severe injuries suffered while on his job was treated at the hospital and a mother and baby were saved because hospitalization was quickly available for the mother and an oxygen tent was in readiness for the newborn child. Without the local facilities these patients might have been lost due to having to send them to a hospital miles from here.

The eight-bassinet nursery sometimes is filled and suitcases are put into service for the overflow. The 30-bed hospital frequently is filled, too.

This hospital served the area well for 29 years.

May 16, 1972 marked the end of one era and the beginning of a new one for the Crittenden Hospital history.

In a matter of two hours, 25 patients were moved from the old hospital building to the new $700,000 building on U.S. 60. Lunch on that day served at the old hospital was the last meal in the old building.

County Judge John W. Chandler was the first patient to be moved from the old hospital, and the last patient to leave the old facility to be transferred to the new hospital building was J.E. Reynolds of Smithland.

The old hospital building has served its community well, first as a stately home to a loving family, then a notable school for educating our young people, and last a much needed hospital for the care of our citizens. Many footsteps have trod over its floors.

I'm proud to say one of my children, Steve Underdown,

Dr. T. Atchison Fraser (left) was the caring doctor with a dream for Crittenden County to have its own hospital. In July 1944 that dream came to fruition when the above building opened as a medical facility.

LABOR

$250,000 in coal severance funds helped make ends meet. During the budgetary cycle that begins next week, the county will rely on $350,000 in one-time assistance from the City of Marion to keep the jail from operating in the red.

The question is where will that kind of money come from in the 2010-11 fiscal year.

Judge Brown told magistrates last week that the work release program is a major expense in the jail's $1.9 million budget. Between salaries for extra guards, administration and equipment, Brown indicated that the cost-savings would be substantial if the program was discontinued.

However, he pointed out that the community reaps varied and great rewards because of the program. Inmates mow the grass at the courthouse, park, Dam 50

Recreation Area, Marion Ed-Tech Center, Senior Citizens Center and more. Based on hours worked at the federal minimum wage of $6.55 an hour, inmates provide about $10,000 a week in community labor. That comes to just over a half million dollars a year.

Coincidentally, that's about how much money it will take to balance the jail's budget. Sue Padgett, the county treasurer, said about $150,000 will be or will have been transferred to the jail from the county's other operating funds when the fiscal year ends June. 30.

That means the jail operated at a $400,000 deficit in its first year. The budget has been balanced with the county's $150,000 supplement and that $250,000 in coal severance funds. The city's contribution should help provide black ink in the coming fiscal year, but beyond that there's no indication from where the stop-gap money will come. That's what has county officials scrambling a year in advance for answers.

"We don't want to wait until the last minute to deal with this issue," Brown said. "We will talk about this at the July court meeting. We will have the best figures available and starting trying to decide how we're going to handle it."

Brown said of the more than 40 employees at the jail, almost half are needed to facilitate the work release program. Trimming the payroll by 18 deputies would save around $317,000.

County officials, including Jailer Rick Riley, will be poring over the numbers in the coming weeks and months, seeking an answer to the question of whether it's feasible and/or fiscally responsible to continue letting inmates out during the day for community work.

City of Marion Water System

Water Quality Report for year 2008

This report is designed to inform the public about the quality of water and services provided on a daily basis. Our commitment is to provide our customers with a safe, clean, and reliable supply of drinking water. We want to assure that we will continue to monitor, improve, and protect the water system and deliver a high quality product. Water is the most indispensable product in every home and we ask everyone to be conservative and help us in our efforts to protect the water source and the water system.

The water supply for The City of Marion's water system comes from two sources, Marion City Lake and Lake George. Both of these sources are surface water sources. A source water assessment plan has been developed for our water system by the Pennyrite Area Development District. An analysis of the overall susceptibility to contamination of Marion's water supply indicates that potential impacts range from low to high. Sources of high to medium potential impact include bridges and culverts within the critical zone, because of the potential for a chemical spill in the case of an accident. Sources of low to medium potential impact include the potential for runoff contamination due to the use of pesticides and herbicides for agricultural activity within the watershed. This is a brief summary of the susceptibility analysis. The complete report is available at the Pennyrite Area Development District office in Hopkinsville Kentucky.

Drinking water, including bottled water, may reasonably be expected to contain at least small amounts of some contaminants. The presence of contaminants does not necessarily indicate that water poses a health risk. More information about contaminants and potential health effects may be obtained by calling the Environmental Protection Agency's Safe Drinking Water Hotline (800-426-4791).

The sources of drinking water (both tap water and bottled water) include rivers, lakes, streams, ponds, reservoirs, springs, and wells. As water travels over the surface of the land or through the ground, it dissolves naturally occurring minerals and, in some cases, radioactive material, and may pick up substances resulting from the presence of animals or from human activity. Contaminants that may be present in source water include: Microbial contaminants, such as viruses and bacteria, (sewage plants, septic systems, livestock operations, or wildlife); Inorganic contaminants, such as salts and nitrates, (naturally occurring or from stormwater runoff, wastewater discharges, oil and gas production, mining, or farming); Pesticides and herbicides, (stormwater runoff, agriculture or residential uses); Organic chemical contaminants, including synthetic and volatile organic chemicals, (by-products of industrial processes and petroleum production, or from gas stations, stormwater runoff, or septic systems); Radioactive contaminants, (naturally occurring or from oil and gas production or mining activities); In order to ensure that tap water is safe to drink, EPA prescribes regulations that limit the amount of certain contaminants in water provided by public water systems. FDA regulations establish limits for contaminants in bottled water to provide the same protection for public health.

Some people may be more vulnerable to contaminants in drinking water than the general population. Immuno-compromised persons such as persons with cancer undergoing chemotherapy, persons who have undergone organ transplants, people with HIV/AIDS or other immune system disorders, some elderly, and infants can be particularly at risk from infections. These people should seek advice about drinking water from their health care providers. EPA/CDC guidelines on appropriate means to lessen the risk of infection by Cryptosporidium and other microbial contaminants are available from the Safe Drinking Water Hotline (800-426-4791).

Some or all of these disinfectants may be found in this report:

Maximum Contaminant Level (MCL) - the highest level of a contaminant that is allowed in drinking water. MCLs are set as close to the MCLGs as feasible using the best available treatment technology.

Maximum Contaminant Level Goal (MCLG) - the level of a contaminant in drinking water below which there is no known or expected risk to health. MCLGs allow for a margin of safety.

Maximum Residual Disinfectant Level (MRDL) - the highest level of a disinfectant allowed in drinking water. There is convincing evidence that addition of a disinfectant is necessary for control of microbial contaminants.

Maximum Residual Disinfectant Level Goal (MRDLG) - the level of a drinking water disinfectant below which there is no known or expected risk to health. MRDLGs do not reflect the benefits of the use of disinfectants to control microbial contaminants.

Below Detection Level (BDL) - laboratory analysis indicates that the contaminant is not present.

Not Applicable (N/A) - does not apply.

Parts per million (ppm) - or milligrams per liter, (mg/L). One part per million corresponds to one minute in two years or a single penny in $10,000.

Parts per billion (ppb) - or micrograms per liter, (µg/L). One part per billion corresponds to one minute in 2,000 years, or a single penny in $10,000,000.

Parts per trillion (ppt) - one part per trillion corresponds to one minute in 2,000,000 years, or a single penny in $10,000,000,000.

Parts per quadrillion (ppq) - one part per quadrillion corresponds to one minute in 2,000,000,000 years or one penny in $10,000,000,000,000.

PicoCuries per liter (pCi/L) - a measure of the radioactivity in water.

Millirems per year (mrem/yr) - measure of radiation absorbed by the body.

Million Fibers per Liter (MFL) - a measure of the presence of asbestos fibers that are longer than 10 micrometers.

Nephelometric Turbidity Unit (NTU) - a measure of the clarity of water. Turbidity has no health effects. However, turbidity can provide a medium for microbial growth. Turbidity is monitored because it is a good indicator of the effectiveness of the filtration system.

Variances & Exemptions (V&E) - State or EPA permission not to meet an MCL or a treatment technique under certain conditions.

Action Level (AL) - the concentration of a contaminant which, if exceeded, trigger treatment or other requirements that a water system shall follow.

Treatment Technique (TT) - a required process intended to reduce the level of a contaminant in drinking water.

Spanish (Español) Esta informe contiene información muy importante sobre la calidad de su agua beber. Tradúzcala o hable con alguien que lo entienda bien.

The data presented in this report are from the most recent testing done in accordance with administrative regulations in 401 KAR Chapter 8. As authorized and approved by EPA, the State has reduced monitoring requirements for certain contaminants to less often than once per year because the concentrations of these contaminants are not expected to vary significantly from year to year. Some of the data in this table, though representative, may be more than one year old. Unless otherwise noted, the report level is the highest level detected.

Post-spawn fishing can be difficult chore

Mid to late June is a confusing time to fish for large-mouth bass. Common sense dictates bass would inhale anything resembling food after the rigors of spawning in late May and early June. It seems a Carolina-rigged lizard or spinner bait tossed into places where the fishing was good earlier in the year would be crunched by a hungry, ornery largemouth at this time of year.

However, many anglers may fish long hours just to catch a few 12-inch bass to show for it.

"I have trouble with post-spawn fishing because it's transitional," said Jeff Ross, assistant director of fisheries for the Kentucky Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources. "The spawn takes a lot out of them. Shallow water fishing declines after the spawn. You may still catch little ones, but the big females are transitioning to their summer habitat."

That decline in shallow water fishing is the reason Ross isn't the only bass angler who struggles to catch fish after the spawn. Anglers fishing for bass from Kentucky Lake in the Purchase Region to Fishtrap Lake in Pike County find tough fishing in late June. The likely reason is they still fish the same areas in the same way they did in April.

Anglers need to intercept largemouth bass during this transition. "It all depends on the kind of lake," Ross explained. "At a shallow water lake like Lake Barkley, the post-spawn transition will be different than at a lake like Laurel River."

Creek channels, points, weedlines and other features such as roadbeds or rows of stumps along what was once a fencerow serve as arteries for fish migration. They move from the shallow spawning beds to deeper summer bass habitats such as deep points, channel drops and off-shore humps in June.

"They aren't going to randomly swim around in open water and then dive down to their summer habitat," Ross said. "They are going to follow something. On a really shallow lake, they may use a weedbed as a guide, but on most lakes, it is usually a channel. At a deep lake like Laurel or Cumberland, they may just move down the point closest to their spawning grounds."

On shallow to mid-depth lakes with defined channels — such as Kentucky Lake, Lake Barkley, Barren River Lake or Green River Lake — a soft plastic jerkbait, or a Carolina-rigged 7- to 10-inch plastic worm or lizard, is a tremendous choice to fish channels in June. Carolina rigs consist of a heavy egg-shaped sinker and a swivel. Tie the hook 1-2 feet from the swivel, with the egg sinker placed above the swivel to keep the sinker from contacting the hook.

This gets the rig down, but allows the bait to float above the bottom.

Sling the Carolina rig onto the flats adjacent to a channel, then work the bait over the channel lip and down into the channel. Channels with brush or stumps along their lips are the best places to try. Once you catch a fish, mentally note the location and depth and try and replicate those conditions along other channels in the lake. This may lead to a glory day you'll brag about to your buddies for many years.

"Flats are good post-spawn areas," Ross said, "especially if they lie near channels, stump fields or weedlines."

Carolina rigs are also good for probing weedlines. The heavy weight of the rig plows the way for the soft plastic offering to hover just above bottom. Soft plastic jerkbaits and spinner baits are two other lures to try along a weedline during the post-spawn period.

For soft plastic lures on the Carolina rig, Shakey rig or jig-and-pig combination, earth tones are the way to go in June. Combinations of green, brown, black, red or orange perform well on bass. For soft plastic jerkbaits and spinner baits, the reliable white and chartreuse combination is still tough to beat.

The June post-spawn transition period isn't that hard to figure out if you intercept bass as they move from their breeding grounds to their summer haunts. Don't fish for them in same areas as you did earlier this spring. They've left town for the summer.

Porter draws praise from Saints coach

BY CHRIS HARDESTY
PRESS SPORTS WRITER

Fresh off two consecutive Fifth District championships and a pair of appearances in the semifinal round of the Second Region Tournament, several Rocket baseball players have been honing their skills during summer league ball.

Unfortunately, pitcher Alex Wood has experienced more discomfort in his elbow and will miss the entire summer with the Evansville Razorbacks. After returning to the mound in a relief role for the Rockets in early May, Wood began to experience discomfort in his elbow late in the season.

After pitching only six innings the entire year due to breaking a bone in his hand during pre-season, the big righthander went 0-2 with one save last spring.

He will try to rehab and get ready to pitch at Rend Lake (Ill.) Junior College next season.

Meanwhile, Rocket senior center fielder Alex Porter, has been drawing rave reviews from his Louisville Saints summer coach Brian Smith.

"Overall, he's a great athlete. He's a good kid," Smith said.

Porter, who batted .349 for the Rockets and recorded a team-high 12 doubles, has already hit a home run for the Saints. Despite Louisville currently standing at 4-6, Porter is leading them in batting average and on-base percentage.

Smith also praised Porter's steady glove in center and believes the sky is the limit for him.

"He's got a lot of potential to play at a Division I school," said Smith.

Meanwhile, Jacob McMican, Ronnie Howton, Dylan Clark and J.D. Gray are all playing at American Legion Post 68 in Eddyville.

Legion coach Jason Wilson, who also serves as an assistant high school baseball coach at Trigg County, has been playing the versatile McMican at catcher, third base, pitcher and DH.

Southpaw Howton, who is going to play his college baseball at Campbellsville, has started four games on the mound for Legion 68 without a win.

"He's picked up a lot of velocity this year," the coach said about Howton.

Howton, who went 5-2 with a 2.51 ERA for Crittenden this season, has also been playing outfield.

Clark, who led Crittenden with 97 at-bats and 35 hits, has been struggling at the plate.

Nonetheless, the steady first baseman has not let it affect his defense and has been doing a great job with the glove.

"He's about the best I've got defensively," said the Legion skipper.

Gray, who led Crittenden with 23 stolen bases and was caught only two times, has played shortstop, seen time as a spot reliever and played in the outfield.

Wilson has been impressed with his athleticism and has been employing the Rocket senior as the squad's cleanup hitter.

NOTICE TO CUSTOMERS OF KENTUCKY UTILITIES COMPANY
RECOVERY BY ENVIRONMENTAL SURCHARGE OF KENTUCKY UTILITIES COMPANY'S 2009 ENVIRONMENTAL COMPLIANCE PLAN

PLEASE TAKE NOTICE that on June 26, 2009, Kentucky Utilities Company ("KUC") will file with the Kentucky Public Service Commission ("Commission") in Case No. 2009-00197, an Application pursuant to Kentucky Revised Statute 278.183 for approval of an amended compliance plan ("KUC's 2009 Environmental Compliance Plan") for the purpose of recovering the capital costs and operation and maintenance costs associated with new pollution control facilities through an environmental surcharge on customers' bills beginning February 2010, under KUC's existing rate mechanism known as the environmental cost recovery surcharge or "Electric Rate Schedule ECR."

Federal, state and local environmental regulations require KUC to continually build and upgrade equipment and facilities in order to operate in an environmentally sound manner. Specifically, KUC is seeking Commission approval of a Certificate of Public Convenience and Necessity ("CPCN") to construct a new Selective Catalytic Reduction system ("SCR") for Brown Unit 3 at the E.W. Brown Generating Station in Burgin, Kentucky to comply with federally mandated nitrogen oxides requirements, and approval for CPCNs to construct new landfill facilities at the Ghent Generating Station in Ghent, Kentucky and at the Trimble County Generating Station near Wisnes Landing in Trimble County, Kentucky. Additionally, KUC is seeking recovery of costs associated with these environmental projects, which are necessary for compliance with the Federal Clean Air Act, the Federal Clean Water Act and the Federal Resource Conservation and Recovery Act. These additional projects primarily relate to installation of an SCR system on Brown Unit 3, expansion of the coal combustion byproduct ("CCP") treatment basin at the E.W. Brown Generation Station, expansion of the CCP treatment basins at the Trimble County Generating Station, construction of new landfill facilities at the Ghent and Trimble County generating stations, and certain operating costs associated with the Air Quality Control System equipment necessary to operate Trimble County Unit 2 within the approved environmental limitations. The capital cost of the new pollution control facilities for which KUC is seeking recovery at this time is estimated to be $463 million. Additional operation and maintenance expense will be incurred for these facilities.

The estimated impact on a residential customer using 1,000 kilowatt hours per month is expected to be an initial monthly increase of $0.99 for KUC customers during 2010, with the maximum monthly increase expected to be $3.73 during 2013.

The Environmental Surcharge Application described in this Notice is proposed by KUC. However, the Public Service Commission may issue an order modifying or denying KUC's Environmental Surcharge Application. Such action may result in an environmental surcharge for consumers other than the environmental surcharge described in this Notice.

Any corporation, association, body politic or person may, by motion within thirty (30) days after publication, request leave to intervene in Case No. 2009-00197. That motion shall be submitted to the Public Service Commission, 211 Sower Blvd., P.O. Box 615, Frankfort, Kentucky, 40602, and shall set forth the grounds for the request including the status and interest of the party. Intervenor may obtain copies of the Application and testimony by contacting Kentucky Utilities Company at 220 West Main Street, Louisville, Kentucky, 40202, Attention: Lonnie E. Bellar, Vice President, State Regulation and Rates. A copy of the Application and testimony will be available for public inspection at KUC's offices where bills are paid after June 26, 2009.

Pathway to success

A ceremony this week marked the third graduation and awarding of high school diplomas in Crittenden County this year. Above, Chris Cook (far left), Crittenden County Board of Education chairman, addresses the latest graduating class from Pathway Academy, the school district's revolutionary learning center created last year in order to address an alarming drop-out rate at Crittenden County High School. Graduating Tuesday with a full high school diploma were (from left) Nicholas Alexander Robles, Carissa Lorene McDowell and Kina Renee Downs. This week's graduation was the second for the academy, following the first commencement in January. Last month, CCHS awarded diplomas to 77 traditional seniors.

Summer Reading ends with talent show Monday

STAFF REPORT

More than three dozen youth from the area have participated in Crittenden County Public Library's Summer Reading/Summer Fun program, with many prepared to showcase their newly-developed talents next week.

Program director Tabby Padgett said the annual event encourages kids and their families to read and to be creative not only at home but in the community.

Padgett

"This year, the program revolves around the arts and humanities," she said. "The kids get to learn about music, photography and dance, and they get to be creative with their scrapbooks, various crafts, and writing."

About 40 children have participated, and they seem eager to read and receive their Broadway Bucks, which gets them closer to the grand prize of a free trip to Venture River, Padgett said.

The Summer Reading/Summer Fun Grand Finale Talent Show is 2 p.m., Monday at Fohs

Hall. Youth will be able to perform their talents for their peers, and they will be recognized for participating in the Summer Reading/Summer Fun program.

Is it hearing loss or...

Could your hearing nerve be weakened?

Is earwax blocking your hearing?

Could your middle ear be the problem?

The solution may be simpler than you think.

Temporary hearing problems are often caused by something as simple as a build-up of wax in your ear canal. One way to find out is to visit Beltone for a video ear inspection. Using an amazing new tool called the Otowizard, we'll examine your ears and start you on the path towards better hearing. We'll also demonstrate real Time Speech Mapping, a visual map of what you're hearing and what you're not. Plus, our Hearing Loss Simulator will allow your spouse or children to actually hear how much you may be missing.
