GREG MADDUX SET TO RETIRE FROM MEDICINE

Dr. Greg Maddux, a physician in Marion for 40 years, has announced his retirement from full-time medical practice, effective late next month. A native of Salem, Maddux graduated from Murray State University in1972 and re-

WORK TO TEMPORARILY CLOSE COUNTY ROADS

County Road Department work that has kept Mt. Zion Church Road closed should be completed by the end of this week, said Crittenden County Judge-Executive Perry Newcom.

But following that, two days of work on Fords Ferry Road is slated to begin Tuesday. That will create temporary closures on the road between the intersections with Valley View Road and Ky. 91 North.

Then, work at Axel Creek Road should begin next Thursday and run through June 4, creating temporary closures from the Livingston County line toward Ky. 70 for about a 1-mile stretch of affected roadway.

Next year's Super Bowl gatherings around Crittenden County could be stocked with the first beer bought legally in the community since 1936.

In fact, just about any form of alcohol may available for purchase in Marion as early as this year's holiday season following Tuesday's resounding 3-to-2 vote to end prohibition of liquor sales. Three years after city voters rejected the idea of allowing liquor by the drink in Marion, they bellied up to the idea of package sales and buying a drink in local restaurants.

three vocal proponents on Marion City Council of allowing alcohol sales as a means to collect additional tax revenue and make the city competitive with surrounding communities that have legalized liquor sales in recent years. "I totally agree with them. It was time for change."

Sykes and fellow council member Darrin Tabor, as well as Mayor Jared Byford, have publicly backed the idea of legalizing alcohol sales in the city of 3,000 residents.

But as with any election, there is another side whose hopes were dashed.

ELECTION Continued from Page 1 opponent of changing the will of county voters in the post-Prohibition election 83 years ago to turn Critten-GOVERNOR den County dry. "I feel this LT. GOV will impact our community in a negative way for a long time to come." Girten, who does not live in the incorporated city limits of Marion, was one of several religious-based opponents who took part in a coalition of like-minded people to keep Crittenden County one of the 15 remaining dry territories among Kentucky's 120 counties.

Supporters of the measure to legalize alcohol sales remained virtually silent through the entire process. There was little uttered from the proponents of alcohol after a petition was submitted in January to send the question to voters inside the City of Marion. There was no organized campaign or even loose alliance of public advocates drumming up support as with failed referendums in 2000 and 2016.

Backers are now hoping for a better tomorrow for Marion.

'Thanks to all who took the time to realize a new path for our great community,' said Russell Edwards, the rural Crittenden County man who submitted the petition for a vote in mid-winter. "It is now in the hands of our city leaders to embrace this opportunity and use it for the good of all citizens." The city's top elected official is already looking in that direction.

"Today's vote expressed the will of the majority of city voters to proceed forward with alcohol sales in Marion," Mayor Byford said Tuesday evening after the votes were tallied. "The city will begin the process of drafting the necessary codes and take the necessary steps to move forward. This decision will assist in making Marion competitive

State political offices

Kentucky voters have spoken and the race for the governor's seat is going to be a battle between two familiar political rivals.

Republican Gov. Matt in November. While most of the attention in the primary election has been on the governor's race and who will be facing off in November for the state's highest office, several other constitutional offices were on the ballot too.

- Attorney General: Former Speaker of the House Greg Stumbo was uncontested in the primary and will meet Republican Daniel Cameron, a political newcomer and former aide to U.S. Sen. Mitch Mc-Connell, in November.

- Secretary of State: Four Republicans and four Democrats battled in their party's primary. Facing off in November will be former Miss America Heather French Henry, who won the Democratic nomination, and former State Board of Elections member Michael Adams, who defeated three other GOP candidates in the primary.

Treasurer: Republican incumbent Allison Ball ran unopposed and will meet graphic designer Michael Bowman.

- Auditor: Republican incumbent Mike Harmon was unopposed and will face Democrat Sheri Donahue.

Agriculture Commissioner: Incumbent Ryan Quarles won the Republican primary and will face Scott County farmer Robert Haley Conway in November.

Voter turnout in Crittenden County was higher than average across Kentucky, where fewer than 1 in 5 eligible voters came out. Local turnout was 26.95 versus 19.26 statewide. Not surprisingly, the heaviest local voting as inside Marion's five cit precincts, where alcohol was also on the ballot. The 680 who voted on the referendum comprised 31.27 percent of eligible voters. In the March 2016 special election, only a quarter of eligible city voters cast a ballot when the measure failed 298-245.

The mayor has estimated as much as $80,000 in annual revenue from regulatory licensing fees related to alcohol sales could be made available to city coffers. While that money must be spent on policing and administration of alcohol control, it could free up monies in the city's general fund to be spend elsewhere Administrator City Adam Ledford said there is a long process ahead for elected city leaders before the first drop of alcohol can be sold.

"There is a lot of work the council has to do," he said includes ordi-That nances to set the hours and days for selling alcohol, setting the number and types of licenses to be sold and their respective costs, as well as considerations for what kind of signage will be allowed to advertise the sale of alcohol. There is also required training by city officials to begin administratalcoholic beverage ing control

Ledford expects that it will be sometime between December and February before the first license can be issued.

Despite his pleasure with the outcome as a means to help "maintain or make Marion better and keep it competitive," Ledford was surprised at the wide margin of support at the ballot box.

"I honestly didn't expect it the way it turned out," he said.

Rev. Lucy Tedrick, a city voter and local minister, was also shocked at the vote

"Disappointed," she said after the lights at the courthouse were turned out on a third alcohol vote she has bitterly opposed. "It's unbelievable, heartbreaking. I Bevin received 51 percent of the party's vote in Tuesday's Republican primary during his bid for reelection and Kentucky Attorney General Andy Beshear, who won a hard-fought race with longtime state Rep. Marion water OK despite taste, color

City leaders acknowledge something has been a little off with Marion's drinking water in the last few days, but reiterated it is safe to use and corrective measures are being taken.

"There is nothing wrong about the (safety) of the water; it's all about the taste," City Administrator Adam Ledford told elected officials at Monday's meeting of Marion City Council. Ledford said he and water department workers believe it is the change in weather that led to some and discoloration а "muddy" taste to water from the city's taps over the weekend. It's not uncommon at this time of year. As temperatures rise, treating the water from Lake George, the city's main reservoir, requires a different combination of chemicals and processes.

Time to remember WWII's brave heros

Memorial Day is a special day when we remember and honor the brave men and women that fought for our country and the freedom we have today.

From the archives of The Crittenden Press during the year 1944, we can recall the history of

of our some heroes. local Through these articles past may the memory of these men and their days in combat remain with us and remind us to be thankful for their bravery.

May 12, 1944 Seaman First Class Stanley (Black Hawk) Oliver, formerly signalman third class has participated in two major engagements. naval Oliver is wearing a service bar denoting Ameri-Defense can and European and African Theatres of War. Two gold stars denoting the major engagements are on the service bar.

Oliver said the major battles in which he participated were off the coast of Italy and at Kieve, Sicily. His ship, Siren, was undamaged and no men aboard were hurt or injured.

While on duty in the South Atlantic, the Siren sank a German sub and picked up survivors.

Another venture "Hawk" was in was the sinking of three Blockade runners about 100 miles off the Brazilian coast. Laden with supplies, it was first thought after challenge that the ships were English and known as Limeys. The three were allowed to proceed until reaching the horizon when it was finally determined that they were of German origin and probably contained goods made in Japan. The Siren overtook the merchantmen and sank all three.

(Stanley "Hawk" Oliver died Oct. 19, 2007 and is buried at Mapleview Cemetery.)

August 1944

Staff Sgt. Maurie Houston Kirk, wearer of the Purple Heart, and sewounded verely in France, is at home on furlough. He has been a patient at General Hospital, Nashville, for some time. He is the son of Allie and Vera Kirk. Sgt. Kirk and his group of young men in H Company of the 330th Infantry Division began an assault on the Germans near St. Lo. The bitter July battle gave Allied forces the push they needed to break through from the beachheads at Normandy and begin their assault toward Hitler's motherland that would eventually end the war. The fighting around St. Lo was among the most intense of the entire campaign as Americans and their allies battled the the Germans in hedgerows of France. Kirk's company was a heavy weapons squad with two .30-caliber machine guns and a .50-calanti-air-craft iber weapon. Kirk said the Germans were throwing everything they had at us. We attacked them on the Fourth of July and there were 175 men in the outfit. After fighting all day there were 39 left that night. Kirk was hit by shrapnel from a mortar attack on July 6 and knocked unconscious for most of the day. A couple of days later on July 9, a bomb exploded next to Kirk and mangled his leg. The blast knocked him cold. (Maurie Houston Kirk died July 19, 2012 and is buried at Mapleview Cemetery)

Sept. 1, 1944 Harvey Paris Is Reported Missing In Action

In France. The telegram from Adj. Gen. J. A. Ulio advising his mother, received Saturday morning, said "Mrs. Mary E. Paris, Box Italy. As a litter-bearer 254, Marion, Ky.: The Secretary of War desire me to express his deep regret that your Private son. Harvey Paris, has been reported missing in action since four August in France. If further details or other information are repromptly be notified.'

Harvey Paris entered the Army Dec. 18, 1943, and was trained at Camp Croft, N. C. He landed in England June 30, and a letter to his parents dated July 19, advised that he was in France.

There was a small article in the April 2, 1948 edition of The Crittenden Press stating that several hundred more war dead from overseas cemeteries are on their way home. I am thinking that Pvt. Paris's was one of these for his obituary appeared in the Nov. 12, 1948 Press. It reads:

Private Harvey Paris, son of Harvey and Emma Paris, was born at Ridgeway, Illinois, on August 9, 1925, departed this life in action on August 4, 1944, near Vire, France, at the age of 18 years, 11 months and 26 days.

Private Paris was inducted in the U.S. Army December, 1943, and was a member of Co. I, 116 Infantry. He received military training at Camp Croft, South Carolina and sent overseas in June 1944. At the time called in service he was a Senior in Marion High School. At the age of 13 he moved to Kentucky with his parents. He leaves the parents, relatives and a host of friends. Burial was in Mapleview Cemetery. Harvey's great hope was that the war would soon be over and he would be home soon. He is gone but never forgotten.

Dec. 15, 1944 Pfc. Allen J. Stone, from Dycusburg, Ky., is fighting with the 338th Infantry Regiment in the Dycusburg soldier goes into the front lines, into the very mouths of the enemy's big guns and all this without arms.

He and his companion litter-bearers are hunting for wounded soldiers and when found lift these men onto the litters and bear them to the nearceived you will Pvt. Harvey Paris est aid station. Often the distance covered by the litter bearers with casualties is five to 10 miles.

The 338th is credited with killing and wounding many hundreds of Germans and taking nearly 700 prisoners in four weeks of cold, bitter fighting in the Gorhic line.

They are called "old timers," these men and officers of the 338th, part of the 85th Custer Division in Lt. Gen. Mark W. Clark's army. They are veterans of bloody Solacciano Ridge and the Gustav Line, Formla, and the Gaeta Peninsula and Rome. They are now standing at the approaches to the Po Valley, a long haul from Minturo where the regiment entered the lines April 21. They have won three distinguished service crosses, 35 silver stars and more than 200 bronze stars.

Activated at Camp Shelby, Miss. May 1942, the regiment arrived at Casablanca, French Moroco, Jan. 7, 1944, and after intensive training in North Africa, came to Italy with the 85th Division in March.

The regiment jumped off at Solacciano May 11th at the start of the historic Fifth Army offensive in Italy.

After helping to breach the Gustav Line, they captured Formia, May 20. The amphibious at Sperlonga followed, then the second and third battalions took Mount Nero.

The entire regiment advanced northward to capture Sezze and later relieved elements of the 3rd Marine Division at Cori.

Dec. 15, 1944 Repton soldier Fights In Florence-Bologna. With the Fifth Army, Italy, December 21, Pfc. Clifford Davis, Repton, Ky., automatic rifleman, is fighting with the 363rd Infantry Regiment in the current Florence-Bologna offensive in Italy. The regiment is part of the 91st fantry's regiments fought "Powder River" Division with Gen. Clark's Fifth Army.

The 363rd entered combat in Italy last July 4th north of Cecina River on the right flank of the 34th "Red Bull" Division, to which it was then attached.

The regiment rejoined the 91st Infantry Division south of Chiannl, where it experienced one of its roughest battles. A battalion of the 363rd captured Hill 364, four miles southwest of Chianni, repelled a number of savage enemy counterattacks in handto-hand fighting. The rockiness of the hill made it impossible for the doughboys to dig in sufficiently to withstand a high concentrated artillery and mortar assault that followed, but, after withdrawing slightly, the outfit returned and retook the hill.

During the night of July 17, the 363rd, as the infantry element of a task force attached to the Division, 34th moved into position southeast of leghorn. The next morning the 363rd shifted its strength to the northeast corner of the seaport maneuvering with support of tanks and tank destrov-SSgt. M. H. Kirk That night ers.

one of the inits way through northern districts of the city itself to be the first American troops to enter the city.

The 363rd next broke across the canal north of Leghorn and occupied the coastal sector from the port city to Pisa, one of its battalions entering the city before dawn July 24 and another one reaching the city of the Leaning Tower that night. The American troops held this section of the battle four days.

These young men gave their all, let us remember them, not just on Memorial Day, but everyday of our lives.

Big Day at the Races! At least 15 Rockets earn berth in Kentucky's finals

STAFF REPORT

Right now Crittenden County has at least 15 qualifiers for next week's Kentucky State Track and Field Meet at Lexington. But, there could be more depending on the outcome of another regional meet elsewhere in Kentucky on Thursday.

CCHS track and field coach Sandra Martinez said a handful of Rocket athletes are on the cusp of qualifying based on their performances. The top two finishers in each event at Saturday's First Region Class A Meet at Murray are already in, but others can earn a state berth based on how they compare across the commonwealth, once all regional results are tabulated.

In addition to five individual qualifiers - Kate Keller, Gavin Davidson, Branen Lamey, Eli Moss and Preston Morgeson and five CCHS relay teams headed to state, coach Martinez said Natalie Hutchings, a junior, appears to have qualified in the high jump. She tied the school record on Saturday - which she'd already done once before - at 4-foot-10 and was third in the region. She's on the unofficial list of qualifiers and will know later this week if she's in.

Senior Parker Johnson, a first-year shot putter, is hopeful that his distance of 39-05.5 will earn a late bid. Grace Driskill was just a half-second off the 400 meters school record with a fourth-place finish at the regional event. The coach said Driskill could also earn a late qualifying spot, and

The Lady Rocket two-mile relay team set a new school record. The previous mark was established in 2017 at 11:58.38. This year's group ran it in 11:47 flat.

"We owned the relays," coach Sandra Martinez said. "We were a lean away from winning the boys' 4x100, too."

In addition to the qualifiers, there are several alternates going to state with the relay teams. Doug Conger is in for the 4x100 and 4x200 and he may earn a late bid in the triple jump. Noah Perkins and Jamie Burt are relay team alternates, and sophomore Lilli Hayes is 4x800 alternate.

BASKETBALL Coaching changes

Lyon County boys' basketball coach Jeff Embrey has resigned after a dozen years with the Lyons. Embrey is the all-time wins leader for boys' basketball at Lyon County. He recently had hip surgery and has said he needed time off to recouperate and spend time with his family. Embrey was 181-167 as Lyon's coach. He had coached one season at Trigg County before going to Lyon in 2007.

Henderson County boys' basketball assistant coach Brock Stone was recently named the new head coach of the Webster County Lady Trojans.

KHSAA POLICY Fan ejection rule

The KHSAA has adopted new policy that states any adult spectator removed from a KHSAA sports contest by a school administrator or law enforcement for unsportsmanlike conduct shall be suspended from attending, at minimum, the next contest at that level of competition and all other contests at any level in the interim. ROCKET BASEBALL CCHS is 5th runnerup

STAFF REPORT

For the fourth straight season, the Rockets are headed to the Second Region tournament as the Fifth District runnerup.

The Rockets couldn't solve Lyon County pitcher Travis Yancy and lost 7-0 in the district tournament championship Tuesday at Smithland.

Lyon County (24-10) has the best record in entire region, and CCHS is just one of three teams in the entire Second Region that has bested the Lyons this year, but not this time.

In the tournament title matchup, the Rockets were outhit 9-5 as Yancy shutout CCHS, striking out seven and walking four. Lyon won the district tournament for the first time 22 years.

"We had our chances, but just couldn't come up with a timely hit or two," said Rocket coach Denis Hodge.

The Lyons scored five times in the first two innings. LCHS senior Gabe Board opened the scoring with a solo homer in Lyon's second at bat of the game against Rocket starter Briley Brown. Brown lasted until one out in the fourth and Logan Bailey and Erik O'Leary closed it out.

Payton Riley, Caden McCalister, Jayden Carlson, Braxton Winders and Bailey each single for Crittenden.

The Rockets have won the second most games in school history. They're 18-16 overall this spring.

Both the Rockets and Lyons will play Monday in the Second Region Tournament at Union County. The tournament pairings will be announced on Friday.

Rockets beat Cards in 5th opener

A senior and a couple of freshmen came up big for the Rockets Monday as CCHS beat Livingston Central 5-3 in the Fifth District opener at Smithland.

Senior Payton Riley started the game and pitched well into the fourth inning before he was lifted for freshman Maddox Carlson. Carlson was the pitcher of record and got the win when Crittenden County scored three runs in the sixth inning on a two-RBI single from freshman Logan Bailey and Riley's single that scored Bailey from second.

It was the second straight year that Crittenden (18-15) has knocked off Livingston (10-14) in the first round of the district tournament despite being a lower seed. This finished sixth.

time as a third seed. Last year, Crittenden was the last seed and did it. Livingston was the only team in the district to sweep the Rockets during the regular season.

Senior Cameron Head pitched incredibly well for Livingston, but the Rockets got equally good work from its two hurlers. Riley struck out 10 Cardinals in 41/3 innings. Livingston loaded the bases with no outs in the third before Riley struck out the next three Cardinal batters. Carlson fanned three in 2% innings of relief. Head, who hobbled the Rockets with a pitching gem two weeks ago, went the distance in this one, too. He allowed eight hits, walked one and struck out five. Four of CCHS's runs were earned as Livingston committed two errors Crittenden got great defense in the game, playing virtually errorless. Right fielder Braxton Winders made a stunning two-out catch in the sixth inning to prevent a run and the Rockets turned a 4-3 double play in the final inning to knock out Livingston's hopes of a comeback.

Riley and Bailey had two hits and drove in two runs apiece for the Rockets. Junior Jayden Carlson had two hits and freshman Ben Evans had Crittenden's only other RBI. For Livingston, Issac Payne drove in two runs with a double, Tate Quertermous had

Lady Rockets eliminated in extra innings

STAFF REPORT

It took eight innings and a walk-off single to deny Crittenden County a chance to defend its Fifth District title on Monday at Smithland.

The Lady Rockets lost 4-3 to Trigg County in the district tournament opener. It was a nail-biter the whole way.

The Lady Rockets got a stellar pitching performance from junior Jenna Potter. Potter went the distance, allowing just one earned run as CCHS committed five errors.

Potter, who has pitched 150% of the Lady Rockets' 178 innings this season, was all but worn to a frazzle, said thirdyear CCHS coach Stephen Smith.

"She's been going to physical therapy just to get through the season," he explained. "She's pitched through a lot of shoulder pain, and I still think she out-pitched (Trigg's Hannah Colbert, who got the win Monday)."

Potter was the projected No. 2 starter for CCHS this year, but when sophomore Chandler Moss was injured during basketball season, it put almost the full burden on Potter.

Crittenden County finished its season 16-14 while Trigg County improved to 17-15 and is headed to the regional tournament. Trigg County played Lyon County in Tuesday's Fifth District championship game at Smithland. Lyon knocked of Livingston 6-2 in Monday's other openinground matchup. The top two teams in the league tournament advance to the regional event.

CCHS led Trigg 2-1 after getting its offense going a bit in the top of the third when Jessie Potter walked and scored on Jenna Potter's single. Jenna Potter later scored on a Trigg error.

The Wildcat girls tied the game in the bottom of the sixth and it stayed that way until the Lady Rockets took an eighthinning lead when Ashlyn Hicks singled and later scored on an error. Trigg Crittenden lost 4-2 at Hopkins Central Saturday. The contest was started a couple of weeks ago, but rained out in the fourth inning. When play resumed on Saturday, CCHS trailed 2-1, but Central quickly made it a 4-1 game on a couple of Rocket errors. Carlson hit a solo home run in the sixth..

In the second game of a doubleheader, Crittenden unloaded on The Storm. Rocket starting pitcher Ben Evans yielded five runs in the first inning before Erik O'Leary came on in relief in the second and allowed just one run over the next three frames. The Rockets went on to win the game 17-9. Logan Bailey and Caden McCalister also pitched.

Jayden Carlson had three hits in the game, including a home run and a double. He drove in two runs. McCalister drove in five runs on two hits, including a double. Trace Adams had three hits, scored twice and drove in a run. Payton Riley, Gabe Mott and Logan Bailey had two hits apiece. made four fielding miscues in the contest.

In the last of the eighth, however, Trigg posted two runs although Crittenden had a couple of chances to end the inning, but couldn't make plays. Jenna Potter and Hicks had two hits apiece. Those were the only Lady Rocket hits off Trigg's pitcher. Smith said the middle of his lineup didn't produce much against Trigg, which slowed the offense. LOCAL 5TH DISTRICT SOFTBALL SELECTIONS

MPD finds deal on two Dodge Chargers

Marion Police Department was in the market for a couple of new police cruisers, but a dose of "sticker shock" sent Police Chief Ray O'Neal into a search for something more reasonable.

"A new cruiser once we get it completely fitted will run about $38,000," the Marion police chief said. "We just couldn't afford that.

Some internet searches located a couple of low mileage Dodge Chargers in Oklahoma. O'Neal said the cars had originally been part of the Cedar Park. Texas, fleet. but had been purchased by someone in Oklahoma. The 2011 rigs were just what Marion needed, O'Neal said.

"We got them both for less than $28,000," the chief said.

One has 45,000 miles on it and the other 55,000 miles.

"They will last us a long time," the chief added.

Officer James Duncan, who was assigned one of the vehicles, said he puts about 25 to 40 miles on a squad car every time he works an eight-hour shift. O'Neal said his officers travel about 10,000 miles a year patrolling the streets of Marion. The Marion Police Department consists of five officers. Right now, MPD has two Ford F-150 pickups, the two Chargers and one Ford Crown Victoria in its fleet. There is another Crown Victoria the department has on standby in case it's needed, but that car is not normally in service.

O'Neal said it will be three or four more years before the department needs to upgrade its fleet.

"None of our vehicles has more than 60,000 miles on them now," O'Neal said.

The department usually looks to upgrade after about 100,000 miles.

Henderson man found sleeping inside WMA office faces charges

Crittenden County authorities arrested a wanted man early Monday morning at the Big Rivers Wildlife Management Area, charging him with three felony counts of burglary.

Marcus S. Lichtefeld, 31, of Henderson was wanted in Union County for questioning in two automobile thefts Sunday afternoon. The suspect was also free on bond in two April drug cases pending in Union County.

Crittenden County Deputy Ray Agent received a call at 6:30 a.m., Monday from Kentucky Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources employees at the WMA who noticed damage to a window and door at near Ky. 365. When Deputy Agent arrived, he used an employee's key to make entry into the WMA office where he found Lichtefeld asleep with a weapon nearby.

Deputies from Union and Crittenden counties, Kentucky State Police and the local game warden Randy Conway had been searching for a suspect on the WMA Sunday evening about dark. The search was for a male who was believed to have stolen a vehicle from Hayes Oil Co., in Sturgis then broke into a home on the south side of Sturgis. When those homeowners arrived, they confronted the intruder who allegedly stole their pickup and sped away into Crittenden County. The suspect turned into a field on the wildlife area and then fled on foot. Investigators couldn't find him Sunday night.

Deputy Agent said Lichtefeld is a suspect in those vehicle thefts and expects charges to be forthcoming. Lichtefeld was also served an unrelated bench warrant out of Union County for failing to report to a court-ordered substance abuse rehabilitation center, Agent said.

Lichtefeld was lodged in the Crittenden County Detention Center, where he remained at press time.

Marion man among those indicted in Fulton County

STAFF REPORT

A Marion man is among those indicted in connection with an investigation into the death of a Fulton County inmate in October 2016.

A Fulton County Grand Jury issued the indictments earlier this month. A grand jury does not determine guilt or innomerely cence. It whether determines enough evidence exists to continue prosecution of a case in felony court.

Former Fulton County deputy jailer Daniel J. Thomas, 35, of Fulton is also among the four indicted. He faces one count of felony first-degree wanton endangerment.

Danny B. Wilder, Jr., 35, of Marion who was allegedly a former inmate at the Fulton County Jail was indicted for first-degree trafficking in a controlled substance, second offense; first-degree promoting contraband; tampering with physical evidence; first-degree possession of controlled substance, first offense, methamphetamine; and for being a persistent felony offender.

Steven Juniper, 28, of Sandy Hook, Ky., and Ronnie C.J. Littlejohn, 29, of Cincinnati, Ohio, were also allegedly inmates who are now facing similar charges as those facing Wilder.

According to Kentucky State Police, the four men were indicted in the death of Kyle Combs, 28, who overdosed on Oct. 26, 2016.

Signee Juzang gives UK a great shooter

It's really easy for Rivals.com recruiting writer signee Johnny Juzang cause of his personality. "Johnny is a pretty laid Krysten Peek to point out back kid who gets along what recent Kentucky with everyone, so I don't see him having any issues fitting in with the other guys in the class," Peek said. "In terms of how he'll fit on the court, I think his minutes will be limited and he might be used as a reserve player who can knock down the 3 and give the starters a little breather." Not only does Kentucky have Maxey, a top 10 point guard, joining the team but guards Ashton Hagans and Immanuel Quickley both return. Hagans started most of last season and Quickley got extensive playing time. That year of experience and maturity would figure to give both an edge over Juzang. "Johnny will definitely need to get stronger but he has a good frame and has always been so disciplined playing under the tough coaches within the southern California Compton Magic AAU program, I think he'll adjust well," Peek said. "His jump shot is the key and if he's knocking it down early and consistently, he will see some good minutes. "Looking at Kentucky's guard-heavy class I thought he was a lock for Virginia but there's something about coach Cal and these kids wanting to play and learn from him that seals the deal in the last minute. Maybe he'll redshirt or be more of an emergency player similar to how Duke used Joey Baker California but it's going Juzang will need work on his defense and speed.

"Johnny is a great shooter. He was the best 3-point shooter on the adidas Gauntlet circuit last summer," said Peek.

The 6-7 Juzang averaged 23 points Larry 6.9 re- Vaught and per UK Spo bounds game for Har- Vaught's vard-Westlake (Calif.) in what was his junior season before he decided to reclassify to the 2019 class and picked UK over Virginia and Oregon. His commitment gave coach John Calipari a needed deep shooting threat.

"I asked him once how many 3's he puts up a day and he told me he tries to shoot anywhere from 300 to 500 3's when he's in the gym," Peek said. "Between him and (signee) Tyrese Maxey, I think this will be a very good outside shooting team next year at Kentucky."

Since Juzang reclassified to this year's recruiting class, he's not had a chance to interact that with much with UK signees Maxey, Kahlil Whitney, Dontaie Allen or Keion Brooks. However, Peek doesn't think that will be a big issue bethis past year.

"Or is this the year Kentucky and coach Cal play some small ball? The way the class is shaping up, next year will be interesting with all the guards coming in."

Like most incoming Peek players, says to be on a whole new level once he faces the experienced guards in the SEC," Peek said. "Luckily he'll be going head to head with some of the quickest guards in the country in practice and that will really help him.

Motorcycle crash kills woman; ambulance damaged en route

A motorcycle crash last Thursday afternoon in rural northern Crittenden County left a Chicago-area woman dead and the driver with non-life-threatening injuries. An ambulance responding to the accident was involved in a traffic accident en route, but was able to eventually reach the crash site

According to Crittenden County Sheriff's Deputy George Foster, Barbi K. Belt, 62, of Palo Hills, Ill., a passenger on the Harley Davidson motorcycle, was pronounced dead at the scene by Coroner Brad Gilbert. Belt, who was not wearing a helmet, suffered severe head trauma.

Her husband, David Belt, 65, also of Palo Hills, a suburb west of Chicago, was operating the motorcycle southbound on Ky. 91 North. When he turned west toward Tolu on Ky. 135, he appeared to have slipped off the right shoulder of the road, losing control of the motorcycle in the grass. The bike came to a rest on its side on the westbound lane, throwing both riders.

The accident occured around 3:30 p.m.

Foster said David Belt, who was also not wearing a helmet, appeared to have hurt his shoulder, but the deputy was unsure of the extent of his injuries. The man stayed at the scene while EMTs and paramedics tried unsuccessfully to keep his wife alive with CPR. He was eventually transported to Baptist Health Paducah.

According to local family members, the couple owned property in the Lola area of Livingston County. A second Crittenden Crittenden EMS crews and area first responders depart from the scene of a fatal motorcycle crash last Thursday afternoon on Ky. 135 just off Ky. 91 North in northern Crittenden County. Chicago-area woman Barbi K. Belt, 62, was pronounced dead at the scene. The driver, who was her husband, David Belt, 65, suffered minor injuries.

what became the first fatality of the year in the county, was hit by a passenger vehicle under the stoplight at the intersection of Gum and South Main streets in Marion.

According to Marion Police Chief Ray O'Neal, the ambulance was heading north on South Main Street with its emergency lights and sirens on as it neared the intersection. Passing under the light to continue on South Main Street, the rear of the ambulance was struck by a passenger vehicle driven by Vanessa Shewcraft, 59, of Marion. O'Neal said Shewcraft was attempting to turn north onto South Main Street from West Gum Street.

No one was injured, but the collision caused severe damage to Shewcraft's car and extensive damage to the ambulance.

"It ripped basically the whole front end off her car,"

O'Neal said.

After stopping to see if the EMS crew and Shewcraft, who was alone in her car, were uninjured, the ambulance crew continued in emergency mode to the site of the motorcycle crash. A first ambulance was already on the scene providing medical treatment to both motorcycle wreck victims.

O'Neal said Shewcraft told him she heard sirens, but did know from what direction they were coming. Her view, the chief said, was partially blocked by a dump truck in front of her vehicle turning from West Gum Street onto the southbound lane of South Main Street.

Crittenden EMS ambulances belong to Crittenden Fiscal Court, but are operated by employees of Com-Care Inc., the company that contracts with the fiscal court to provide the emergency medical service.
