Hayes

10 at top of Crittenden Class of '21

Crittenden County High School has 10 students completing their education top of their class. They will represent the Class of 2021 as valedictorians Friday night.

Valedictorians are:

Kalli MaRay Champion, James Harrison Crider, Jada Michelle Hayes, Katharine Havana Grainger Keller, Kenlee Faye McDaniel, Lilianne Grace Newcom, Jessie Faith Potter, Simon Gabriel Shepard, Steven Cole Swinford and Seth Harrison Taylor.

See page 1 for graduation details, and watch for complete coverage of graduation festivities in the June 3 issue of The Crittenden Press.

Hayes MCC grad

CCHS valedictorian Jada Hayes had an early college graduation three weeks before her high school graduation.

Due to CCHS' partnership with Madisonville Community College, Hayes was able to take enough dual credit classes to earn an associate's of arts degree from the Madisonville College.

She received her diploma at MCC earlier this month.

Rocket recognition

Crittenden County's Rocket Way students and employees of the month for May were recognized by the board of education May 18. Diana Lusby presented Brayden Poindexter (top photo) with the middle school award. His teachers describe him as an intelligent, confident seventh grader. Second grader Cooper Rich was recognized for his eagerness to learn, giving 110% and being a friend to all. Not pictured was Aliza Maraman, who teachers say has a go-get it attitude, and CCHS junior Daley Deboe, teachers say is ready for workforce but very curious and engaging in class. CCHS teachers Kim Vince and Deona McCord were honored for their leadership in organizing Prom. "They took on the responsibility of giving students memories for years to come," administrators said. Not pictured was Carla Tinsley, classified employee of the month, who is described as a team player who goes above and beyond to make sure the district's youngest Rockets succeed.

Appreciation lunch at the park
County Judge Executive Perry Newcom chose a beautiful day to give back to the emergency responders and front line workers of Crittenden County. Judge Newcom organized the event last week at City-County Park to express gratitude for front line workers' dedication throughout the year and especially during the COVID-19 pandemic.

Ag Hall of Fame organized

STAFF REPORT
A new agricultural hall of fame will honor the legacies of Crittenden County farmers and individuals with lasting impacts on the farming industry. Nominees should have a long tenure in agriculture, preferably over 20 years and have a solid connection to the county. Dee Heimengartner, Crittenden County Extension Agent for Agriculture & Natural Resources, said the Crittenden County Agriculture Leadership Hall of Fame was developed by Crittenden County Extension agents, Lions Club members and volunteers. Area counties have similar programs, such as Farmer of the Year, which Crittenden's Hall of Fame models. The 2021 recipient will be named during the Crittenden County Fair Breakfast Aug. 6. Applications can be obtained from and submitted to the Crittenden County Extension Office on or before July 1. Recognition may be given to current or retired members of the agriculture community or posthumously. Selection will be made by the Crittenden County Agriculture Leadership Hall of Fame committee.

Moss on Brescia dean's list

Brescia University graduate Cassidy Moss was named to the Spring 2021 Dean's List for completing at least 12 credit hours with a 3.5-4.0 GPA. Moss was a biology major and participated on the women's softball and basketball teams all four years at the Owensboro college.

Show Thursday

Marion's first Show & Shine car show will be Thursday, May 27 at the Crittenden County Courthouse. There is no cost to participate. Cars, trucks, motorcycles welcome. Event is held the fourth Thursday each month.

Board of ed offers stipends, buys cameras

STAFF REPORT
Hopes are that the start of the next school year will look a little more normal. After a year and a half of COVID protocol and learning disruptions, school officials are closing a trying year and looking forward to summer school and the new school year in August. Crittenden County Board of Education voted May 18 to return to full in-person learning at Crittenden County elementary and middle schools. Virtual and in-person learning will be offered at the high school. K-8 students can attend virtually through home hospital requests considered upon presentation of a doctor's order. To recognize the resiliency and dedication to learning amid a pandemic, the board of education approved a COVID-19 stipend of $350 for all full-time employees, contract and support staff employed during the 2020-2021 school year. "Everyone has gone above and beyond, cleaning and taking care of kids, checking up on kids and each other," Superintendent Vince Clark told the board. "It's been a hard year even though we can see the finish line at this point, but our Rocket resilience really did shine through this year, and this is a way to reward and give back to folks a little bit." The board also approved $175 stipends for part-time or full-time employees that served less than half of the 2020-2021 school year.

In other action, the board: •Approved purchase of a security system at a cost of $106,934.20 for the middle and high school campus that has a vaping sensor to help combat the use of vape pens, similar to e-cigarettes, among students. CCHS Principal Amanda Irvan said there was a point in the school year that teachers or administrators confiscated two or three vape pens a day. Technology coordinator Ben Grainger said three different security systems have been pieced together over the past 15 years, and the new system will be more effective and can connect interior and exterior views of the high school and middle school campus and can be moved or cameras added when the new high school is complete. •Approved revision of its formal construction application with the Kentucky Department of Education for the proposed new high school. The revision addressed the source of funding for construction. Once approved by the state, the board can advertise for bids and get a better idea of anticipated construction cost.

TIPLINE OFFERING REWARD FOR INFO ON BURGLARIES

Crittenden County Sheriff's Department and TipLine are seeking help from the public to solve a series of break-ins at a home near Mattoon.

Over the past four or five weeks, a home on Nunn Switch Road has been burglarized at least three times. Taken have been coins, power tools, hand tools and other items.

The owner of the home is in a long-term care facility and his family is now watching over the place.

Deputy Ray Agent said intruders have broken through doors and knocked out windows to gain entrance to the home. Value of the items taken is more than $1,000.

TipLine is offering a reward to leads to the conviction of the person or persons responsible. Citizens may call 270-965-3500 with tips and remain anonymous.

EMS professionals and the work they do in communities across the country.

WATCH FOR CHOPPER

Over the coming months you may notice a low-flying chopper with an odd payload flying along area waterways. The helicopter will be towing a 30-foot long cylinder that will be electromagnetically mapping the area for the U.S. Geological Survey. The work being done is to map aquifers, which are underground areas from which water can be drawn, reports the Associated Press.

The helicopter will generally fly along rivers in Missouri, Tennessee, Arkansas, Mississippi, Louisiana, Kentucky and Illinois. According to the USGS website, the helicopter began last week in Sikeston and will continue to map southward through the summer.

It's mapping what's called the Mississippi Alluvial Plain, which the agency says is the nation's third-largest area of irrigated cropland.

The flights are a continuation of a project begun in 2016 to provide data needed by state and local decisionmakers to evaluate and manage groundwater resources in the region.

Over 9 billion gallons per day of groundwater are withdrawn for irrigation, supporting agricultural production.

The goal of the MAP water use and availability project is to improve estimates of water availability for the next 50-100 years.

Woman faces 2nd exposure charge

STAFF REPORT

A Marion woman is facing a second charge of indecent exposure for being naked on public streets. And now, she's also charged with felony first-degree fleeing or evading police.

The fleeing charge was enhanced to a felony because Marion Police Sgt. Heath Martin was injured while pursuing Kari Rose, 29, on foot last Thursday on Brookcliff Street in Marion.

Rose was also charged with public intoxication. Rose pleaded guilty to a similar set of offenses from a December incident where she was found walking naked along South Main Street.

It was the third time Officer Martin has charged Rose with resisting arrest. In 2017, the woman tried to disarm the officer in a scuffle. Rose has a lengthy criminal record, including multiple felony charges dating back to 2013.

During last week's incident, Martin was running to catch the woman when he stepped in a hole and injured his knee. He has not returned to work.

Rose was later found in a pickup truck of an acquaintance.

Crittenden County Rescue Squad members have asked the county for financial assistance to make some repairs to its building at the corner of West Carlisle and South Weldon streets. Jason Hurley and Donnie Arflack were at the fiscal court meeting and detailed problems with the building's roof and the lack of running water inside it. A recent storm damaged the roof and it's now leaking. A water line leak underneath concrete at the next door jail has created issues for the squad because it has to keep its water valve turned off while not in use. Rescue Squad Chief Donnie Arflack said the building needs a new water line run to the building because repairing the existing line is not a realistic option due to the problem being underneath concrete.

Judge Newcom said the county is willing to address the problems if the squad will provide more details about the work that's required.

The rescue squad also formally requested its annual operating stipend of $3,000 from the fiscal court.

Magistrates have decided to leave an investment with Woodmen of the World that has earned about $60,000 in interest over the past five years. The county is currently earning 1.1 percent on the balance of its cash investment of $509,000. Originally a five-year term, the investment matures on May 26, but can remain invested with Woodmen. It can now be withdrawn at any point without penalty.

Crittenden County Airport Board Chairman Jim Johnson gave a report on the financial condition of the airport, which was largely positive. Although hangar rentals are down a bit, Johnson said the airport will continue to operate in the black. He did ask for the county to meet its prior obligation of $3,500 toward a multi-year cost-share plan agreed to a number of years ago when the airport expanded with more hangar space.

Magistrates approved a bid to repair the Piney Creek Bridge on Blackburn Church Road that has begun to fail due to infrastructure issues. The weight limit on the bridge has been reduced until repairs can be made.

Crown Paving of Princeton was awarded a contract to encase wooden pilings that support the bridge in concrete and to rebuild a footer. Cost will be $78,500. The county will receive 80 percent of the cost from state funds.

Work likely will be done in July and will not require closure of the road, which is in rural eastern Crittenden County.

The county will commission a full survey of Industrial Park South where it plans to soon occupy the Marion Ed-Tech Center for office space. Some discrepancies about boundaries and title to properties in the industrial park have prompted county leaders to request a comprehensive land survey.

Judge Newcom does not anticipate that the matter will delay the county offices' move to the Ed-Tech Center, which could take about a year.

The court declared a 2001 Ford ambulance as surplus property and will advertise for sealed bids to sell it.

Magistrates approved a plan that will lead to automated online reservations and payments for camping spots at Riverview Park (formerly Dam 50 area). The system will go online perhaps as early as July. County leaders believe the online system will be more user-friendly for campers who would like to book stays at the park well in advance. Currently, the seven-unit camping area is available on a first-come basis.

Roger Simpson was re-appointed to a new term on the Pennyryle Area Development District Board of Directors.

A portion of Maple Lake Road near Maple Sink in rural Crittenden County was closed.

LOCAL EMS RECEIVE RECOGNITION DURING NATIONAL WEEK

Ralph Miller, a paramedic at Ohio County EMS in Hartford, has been named the 2021 Rural Kentucky EMS Provider of the Year.

The award, sponsored by the Kentucky Office of Rural Health (KORH) and the Kentucky Board of Emergency Medical Services (KBEMS), recognizes someone who works or volunteers at a rural Kentucky EMS service and who demonstrates exemplary pre-hospital patient care and a dedication to their community. Nominations were accepted from EMS professionals as well as the general public.

Com Care, which operates the Crittenden County Ambulance Service, also recognized some local first responders, including Ruth Ann Farmer and Kevin Hurley for their contributions to EMS.

Pictured above are Jim Duke, president of Com Care Inc., and regional supervisor Mark Harrison, who were in Fredonia last week to present the local recognition.

The announcement of the rural Kentucky EMS honors coincided with National EMS Week, the one week set aside each year since 1974 to honor and celebrate

Team effort brings schools through pandemic

Rocket Families: As we end what has proven to be a unique and challenging school year, I first want to express our sincere gratitude for the role you have played in the success our district has experienced, despite the obstacles COVID-19 presented. The resilience shown among our staff, students, and families in the face of adversity has been both remarkable and inspiring. Thanks to everyone's vigilance in keeping our students and staff safe, we were able to have more in-person learning occurring here than in most any other district. Parents monitored their children's health and kept them home when sick. Our bus drivers went to extraordinary lengths to clean and sanitize buses, both before and after routes. Our custodial staff ensured our buildings were clean and disinfected. Our food service employees made certain both our in-person and virtual learners were fed daily. Our teachers and staff learned new modes, methods, and strategies of teaching to make sure our students continued to learn and grow. And our students reminded us daily of what "Rocket Resilience" really means. They did all that was asked of them and more to continue their learning experiences. Pieces coming together in such congruity does not happen by accident. Rather, it's the result of countless hours of planning and the embodiment of teamwork that leads to the ultimate goal of keeping our students healthy, safe, and learning. As you know, due to the very fluid nature of the virus when we started the year and throughout the course of it, we offered two learning options for all of our Rockets: in-person and online. Next year, however, virtual learning only will be offered for our high school students and will be approved only after some specific criteria have been met. We know that students learn best when connected directly with our dedicated teachers. Physically being in school is important for our younger Rockets in many more ways than just academically. We believe nurturing the whole student – from social emotional development to academic growth – is critical to becoming lifelong learners and productive citizens. We look toward the 2021-22 school year with a sense of hope for normalcy. As the COVID-19 situation continues to improve, we ask each of you to continue to be vigilant so that our students can experience a school year filled with traditional practices and activities. We encourage our Rocket parents and guardians, as well as students 12 and older, to consider vaccination. The Centers for Disease Control and Prevention has shared that the COVID-19 vaccine helps protect people from getting the virus, as well as helps keep them from getting seriously ill even if they do get COVID-19. Additionally, the COVID-19 vaccines have been used under the most intensive safety monitoring in U.S. history. In closing, thank you again for living our #WhateverItTakes motto alongside us this year. We look forward to welcoming back our Rockets on Aug. 24.

Vince Clark is a long-time local educator. He has been a teacher, principal and now superintendent of schools.

Responder meal just a small token

Dear Editor,

Thank you! I want to take this opportunity to thank all those who helped Crittenden County Fiscal Court with a highly-successful event last weekend. We were able to provide an appreciation lunch for all county first responders and frontline workers.

We had approximately 60 to 70 meals served to those who serve us every day and keep us safe and healthy.

I thank the fiscal court members for their willingness to sponsor this event along with Par 4 Plastics, Crittenden Community Hospital and Crittenden County Clerk Daryl Tabor. A special thank you to Mike Byford for doing an excellent job cooking, Crittenden County Lions Club for the use of its grill and gas, Marion Tourism and Michele Edwards for the banner, Yvette and Maeson Martin and Mary Ann Campbell for food prep and serving meals, and those who took time to come out for the meal and fellowship.

A meal seems little in comparison for everything our first responders and front-line workers do for us daily, and I hope everyone enjoyed the day as much as I did. Keep up the great work!

Staff, teachers rally to make prom a reality

Dear Editor,

Hosting a prom in the midst of a pandemic wasn't something anyone thought possible at the beginning of the school year or even as 2020 became 2021. It was one of the many opportunities we all wanted to be able to give to our students, but in reality thought it would never happen.

As we got closer to prom season though, pieces started to fall into place that allowed us to consider hosting a safe event outdoors. From that day in March, the junior class officers worked diligently to plan and carry out a memorable and safe experience for our juniors and seniors.

We needed help to make that happen, and boy, did Crittenden County come through. Students and parents took a chance on an event that they knew had the possibility of being cancelled despite all our efforts. School teachers and staff rallied to find resources and solutions. Local businesses showed their support without hesitation. Neighbors to the school welcomed the noise of music and excitement because it meant the students were making memories and enjoying a normal evening with their friends and peers.

There are a few individuals and businesses we would like specifically thank for their contributions to prom including Farmers Bank & Trust Company, Whitetail Properties, The Garden Junk-ie, Kentucky National Guard, Dreamland Fireworks, Barkley Hughes and Tim Binkley.

We would like to extend a very sincere thank you to anyone that made prom possible. This one event has renewed our students' hope that tomorrow's outlook is brighter than yesterday's, and they can step towards the future with optimism.

World War II heroes of the 83rd Division hail from Crittenden

After the attack on Pearl Harbor on Dec. 7, 1941, a call to arms by our country was made, our own Crittenden County young men and women, from all walks of life, responded to that call. If they were lucky enough to return home, many times when their uniform was folded away and civilian clothes took its place, memories of their love and loyalty to their county were buried with that uniform.

Let us not forget these brave unselfish heros that fought for their county so we can have the freedom that we do today.

From the files of The Crittenden Press come many historic and terrifying events in these young people's lives, but always they were willing to sacrifice what it took to keep America free. Have you every heard of the 83rd Division in World War II? Many of our Crittenden County young men were in this Division and several lost their lives.

Crittenden Press – Sept. 15, 1944

The 83rd Division has been removed from the secret list and full activities have been released. Many Crittenden men are members of the division and several have been killed in action shortly after landing in France. The outfit was one of the first to touch French shores during the invasion.

Donald “Little Joe” Clark, member of the division, sends the story from The Stars and Stripes. The letter containing the history was received Wednesday (Sept. 13, 1944) morning.

Many parents having sons in the outfit, especially those Crittenden parents whose sons have been killed, are unaware of the activities, which are “the capture of St. Malo and its fortress “Citadel.” Arriving on the continent from the rocky, rainy mountains of Wales, the 83rd tasted fire near Carentan and later assisted in the drive east of Perier.

Transferred to the Brittany peninsula, the 83rd launched the hard punching drive on St. Malo and Dinard, bottling up 12,000 Germans in one of the most heavily fortified areas of France. During the 83rd's operations in Brittany and Normandy it has been credited with 12,366 prisoners, of which 984 cleared through medical channels.

Formed Aug. 15, 1942, at Camp Atterbury, Ind., the division's men hail from 47 states and Alaska and Hawaii. Most of the 83rd “Thundering Herd,” as it calls itself, are from Minnesota, Michigan, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Tennessee and Kentucky.

The division began its training at Camp Atterbury, Ind., in 1942 where it was the first division to open this camp. In July and August 1943 it participated in Second Army maneuvers in Tennessee, and in spite of being the “youngest” division taking part in the maneuvers, proved itself a tough, aggressive outfit. In September 1943 the division moved to Camp Breckenridge, Ky., and trained there for the remainder of the year and for the first two months in 1944.

The 83rd departed the United States for foreign duty on April 6, 1944. They arrived in England on April 16, 1944. After intensive training in England and in the northern part of Wales, the Division landed at Omaha Beach, June 18, 1944, and entered the hedgerow struggle south of Carenta on June 27.

Here are a few articles about some of the men in the 83rd Division. These are all I was able to find that told what division they were in.

August 18, 1944 – Washington, August 15 – Pfc. Willis Glindel Belt, Marion, Ky., was killed in action on July 5 of wounds received the day previous in France, according to information released by the War Department. Son of Rev. and Mrs. J. O. Belt. He was drafted into the Army Oct. 1942. He was attached to the 83rd Division and was stationed at Camp Atterbury, Ind., and Camp Breckenridge, Ky., until leaving for overseas. Then he went to England and from there to France. Pfc. Belt has a military stone at Maplevue.

August 18, 1944 – Sgt. Marion L. Brown received a serious chest wound in France July 6 and is now convalescing at an army base hospital in England, according to information received late last week. A member of famed 83rd Division, Brown was awarded the Purple Heart. Son of Jay T. and Mrs. Brown he entered service Oct. 24, 1942, and received training at Camps Atterbury and Breckenridge and has been in foreign service since April. Sgt. Brown died March 4, 1992 and is buried in Maplevue Cemetery.

August 18, 1944 – Pfc. Victor Hershel Orr, was killed in action in France July 10, according to War Department telegram last Saturday to his father, Albert Orr. Pfc. Orr was a member of the 83rd Division, he arrived in England three months ago. After entering service Oct. 24, 1942, he received training at camps in Indiana and Tennessee before assignment to Camp Breckenridge. He graduated from Marion High School in 1942. He was the son of Albert and Myrtle Edwards Orr. PFC Orr was buried in Normandy France, in the St. Laurent Cemetery.

Feb. 8, 1945 – Information has been received that Pfc. Forrest Eugene Brantley, 32, of Repton was killed in action on Jan. 13. He was serving with the 83rd Division in Belgium. Sgt. Brantley had been wounded on July 11 in the invasion of Normandy and had been back on duty only three weeks when killed. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Eula Brantley. His wife, the former Miss Ruth Hubbard of Shady Grove, lives in Washington, D. C. His body was returned to U.S. under the WWII dead program from Belgium. Sgt. Brantley is buried is the Arlington National Cemetery, Arlington, VA.

July 16, 1948 – Memorial services were held at Seven Springs Baptist Church for Pfc. Degarth Hall, July 8. Degarth was the son of Mrs. Jennie Hall of Dycusburg. He was captured in France July 4, 1944 and died in prison camp July 6, 1944. He was brought to his home July 7, 1948, and was buried in Dycusburg Cemetery beside his father, Mr. Ed Hall. The memorial address was given by an Army Chaplin from Camp Campbell, Ky. Pfc. Hall was in Co F 83rd Inf.

PFC Guy Edward Hodge, son Guy and Stella Thomas Hodge ,was born July 16, 1922 and was killed in action in France on July 4, 1944. He was a member of the 331 Infantry 83rd Division. Pfc. Hodge is buried in the Normandy American Cemetery in Colleville-sur-Mer, Department du Calvados, Basse-Normandie, France.

Crittenden Press, March 9, 1945. Staff Sgt. Joseph Earl Butler of Marion, member of the 330th Mine Platoon, 83rd Division, Belgium, has played a big part in Ardennes offensive.

Sgt. Butler's platoon under fire removed 77 mines without a casualty. The platoon paved the way for advancing tanks and dough-boys during the recent drive thru the Ardennes to cut the St. Vith-Houffalize highway.

In an attempt to stem the advance of American armor and infantry, the Germans erected a road block and then planted 77 Riegel mines in front of it. Working under observed fire from the 83rd's and captured American 57's, the mine platoon hacked its way through snow-covered and frozen ground to remove the mines in record time of 45 minutes and enable the infantry-mounted tanks to rumble forward.

The platoon also cleared mines and approaches to to the villages of Bihain and Mont-de-Ban which fell to the doughboys of the 83rd Division during the Ardennes offensive. During operations along the Moselle River this same platoon took 3,000 mines, totaling 24,000 pounds in a single operation.

Sgt. Butler, the son of B. E. Butler, entered military service from Crittenden October 24, 1943, and was trained at Camp Atterbury, Ind., Tennessee Maneuver Ground and Camp Breckenridge. He arrived overseas April, 1944, in England. Sgt. Butler was wounded August 8, 1944, at St. Milo, France, and hospitalized in England returning to the 83rd in November of that year. He was awarded a Purple Heart for wounds received in battle. Sgt. Butler died in Evansville on June 15, 2001 in Evansville, Ind., and is buried in Roselawn Memorial Gardens, Henderson.

Everyday memories of World War II, its sights and sounds, its terrors and triumphs, are quickly disappearing from our history. Let us never forget these brave soldiers who fought willingly and unselfishly for our freedoms of today.

MAKING SENSE OF INVESTING

There are no words

Church Events & News

“I am oppressed with a sense of the impropriety of uttering words on this occasion. If silence is ever golden, it must be here beside the graves of 15,000 men, whose lives were more significant than speech, and whose death was a poem, the music of which can never be sung. With words we make promises, plight faith, praise virtue. Promises may not be kept; plighted faith may be broken; and vaunted virtue be only the cunning mask of vice. We do not know one promise these

I found myself standing side by side with someone I either did not know or did not like very much. But there we were working together, suffering together, or celebrating together. The events that brought each of us to that time and place were forgotten. There are many things that matter in life (and in death), but on Memorial Day what matters is that we are remembering that a person who woke up one day young, vibrant, and alive finished that day by having that life taken in service to others. The circumstances are, for this day, immaterial. The willingness of their attitude irrelevant. What matters is that a nation called on them, conscripted or volunteer, and there they were at that time and that place.

There is nothing that can be said or done to fully heal. What is left for us is to remember, with gratefulness, the sacrifice made by all those who died in service to all of us. And it is in the remembering that we tell our story. It is tragic indeed that the story of our nation (and most others) can be told by rehearsing conflicts that cost the lives of millions of people. We also know that we owe to them our continuing efforts to preserve what so many have died for. We owe more than words of condolence to families. We owe them more than a day of remembering. We owe them love and care for each other. We owe to them vigorous debate and devotion to freedom and opportunity. We owe them setting aside our cynicism and being led by headlines and news producers. We owe them the effort to educate ourselves concerning civics, faith, law, and economics. We owe to them treating each other as fellow citizens of one of the freest nations the world has known. We owe them our best efforts. Go – stand in a veteran’s or battlefield cemetery and then tell me differently.

What Jesus said of himself concerning the opportunity he gives us is true of anyone, “Greater love has no one than this, that a person lay down their life for their friends.” (see John 15:13). This is love in action. It is gritty love that endures violence for the good of others. It is love that knows there is more to this world than one’s next breath.

We have songs. We have poetry. We have paintings, statues, and sculptures. We have all seen war movies or seen a play. We have read books and blogs. But there is nothing that hits the same as those moments of silent reflection in the midst of those who died violently to give us a chance, a chance, to live in peace. Ultimately, there are no words.

Confession helps us live a better life

Question: I don't consider myself a big sinner. I'm not a bad person. So, why should confession be an important part of my life?

Answer: Every sin we commit is a heavy weight upon our hearts. Sin builds up and weighs heavy like a "a sink full of dirty dishes" fog. So, as soon as you realize you committed a sin, don't make excuses for it; confess it to God. Confession is always the right thing to do.

The Scripture tells, "If we confess our sins, He is faithful to achieve "confession zero." That is, we need to empty out all the sins in our lives through confession.

As we receive forgiveness, we will have the stability and peace that comes from closeness to God. Confession will cleanse our conscience of the heavy weight of sin and relieve the burden of guilt. As we achieve "confession zero" level of sin in our lives, we can experience higher productivity and lower stress levels.

ers. The circumstances are, for this day, immaterial. The willingness of their attitude irrelevant. What matters is that a nation called on them, conscripted or volunteer, and there they were at that time and that place.

There is nothing that can be said or done to fully heal. What is left for us is to remember, with gratefulness, the sacrifice made by all those who died in service to all of us. And it is in the remembering that we tell our story. It is tragic indeed that the story of our nation (and most others) can be told by rehearsing conflicts that cost the lives of millions of people. We also know that we owe to them our continuing efforts to preserve what so many have died for. We owe more than words of condolence to families. We owe

In the median of Interstate 24 in Trigg County, this repurposing facility is crushing previously used sections of the interstate and making aggregate for new work.

CRUSHING IT

Interstate recycling will save a million

Kentucky Transportation Cabinet (KYTC) District 1 has started a recycling project that is expected to save taxpayers $1 million over the course of six to eight years by repurposing concrete waste material.

A 100,000 ton stockpile of waste concrete stored in the median of Interstate 24 near mile marker 58 in Trigg County represents about half the concrete removed from a 13-mile eastbound concrete rehab project in 2020. Over the next several months, the material will be recycled to produce three of the most common types of rock highway crews use to repair and maintain roadways in the 12-county district. One month into the recycling project, crews have converted more than 30,000 tons of concrete waste into useful aggregate.

Crittenden County’s state highway maintenance crew has been hauling some of the recycled rock to finish out the yard at its new maintenance facility in Industrial Park North in Marion.

“When the new shop was constructed, they did not have enough funding to rock and pave the entire yard,” said Keith Todd, spokesman for the transportation cabinet.

“During the winter months, our new salt dome was constructed, but because there was no rock base our Crittenden crew had to use the salt storage shed at the old location. They are finishing up placement of rock in the next few weeks to provide access to the new salt storage facility in time for salt deliveries in August and September.”

“It’s exciting to be a part of taking what would be useless waste material and giving it new life by turning it into something practical that could save money,” said District 1 Chief District Engineer Kyle Poat. “Now that we’ve got the ball rolling, we’re finding that it is saving far more taxpayer dollars than we expected.”

District one leased a crusher and screening equipment. Maintenance personnel primarily from Lyon County will operate the machinery to produce the useful rock for short and long-term use.

The idea was sparked by KYTC Smithland Section Engineer Austin Hart, who supervised the I-24 rehabilitation project in 2020. The island in the I-24 median provided an excellent storage and processing area. The pile is expected to produce about a six to eight year supply of aggregate for the District 1 counties.

Hart estimates about 4,600 truckloads of material will have to be hauled from the recycling site this summer.

“After about a month of operation, we have produced about 12,000 tons of aggregate #23 that we use for base material and slope protection,” said Hart. “We’ve produced 17,000 tons of dense grade aggregate. We have produced another 1,000 tons of rip rap that we commonly use for erosion control, but we’re just getting our processing equipment adjusted to start producing some serious quantities of that material. We think we can complete processing of the material by about Labor Day.”

The recycling project will cost an estimated $200,000, about what the district spends on rock purchases in an average year, to produce a 6 to 8 year rock supply. The operation is also producing additional savings by recycling steel rebar embedded in the waste concrete.

“On average, we fill up a roll-off bin with recycled steel every three to four days. At that rate, we estimate we’ll recover about $70,000 or more in scrap steel to further offset the cost of leasing the crushing and screening equipment,” Hart said.

No “Do-Over” year for local students

STAFF REPORT

Kentucky’s offer for a so-called Do-Over Year failed in Crittenden County last week.

The offer for students to repeat a school year as a result of barriers created by COVID 19 failed unanimously during a vote by the local board of education.

Supt. Vince Clark said six high school students – two seniors, three juniors and one sophomore – applied and were interviewed about their desire to take advantage of SB 128, or the Supplemental School Year Program.

Clark told board members that in his opinion, there are too many unanswered questions and “unintended consequences” to SB 128.

Each Kentucky school district was required to accept all students, or none, applying for the Supplemental School Year Program.

The Do-Over year allows a fifth year of high school athletic eligibility; however, Clark said there remain questions about college eligibility for students should they choose to play in college.

Clark said that without SB128, mechanisms are in place in Crittenden County to retain students for academic reasons. Clark told the board that there have been opportunities for students to receive after-school and summer school remediation.

Pandemic Update

Federal health officials are now saying that fully vaccinated Americans can largely skip getting tested for the coronavirus, in addition to putting down the masks.

The Centers for Disease Control and Prevention said last week that most people who have received the full course of shots and have no COVID-19 symptoms don’t need to be screened for the virus even if exposed to someone infected.

The change represents a new phase in the epidemic after nearly a year in which testing was the primary weapon against the spread of COVID. Vaccines are now the main factor in the state and country’s response and are driving down cases and hospitalizations.

In Crittenden County, as of Tuesday, there had been no newly reported cases of COVID-19 in more than a week. The last reported case was on May 17.

New coronavirus cases across the United States have tumbled to rates not seen in more than 11 months, raising optimism that vaccination campaigns are working.

Experts say that nearly half of Americans have received at least one shot and close to 40 percent are fully vaccinated.

In Crittenden County, only 23 percent have been fully vaccinated. The county remains one of the lowest in the state when it comes to inoculations. Nearby, only Union County has been slower to embrace vaccine. There, 22 percent have had their shots. Lyon County leads the immediate area with 42 percent being fully vaccinated. Caldwell’s rate is 33 percent, Livingston 31 and Webster 26.

Crittenden County Judge-Executive Perry Newcom cannot explain the low inoculation figure for the county.

“It’s certainly not the availability of the vaccine. The problem now is whether the vaccine goes bad before they can give it to someone,” he said.

Anyone age 12 and up wanting the vaccine can contact the local health department or their healthcare provider for options.

While vaccinated people can still catch the virus, they face little risk of serious illness from it. And positive test results can lead to what many experts now say are unnecessary worry and interruptions at work, home and school, such as quarantines and shutdowns.

New playground equipment in commission’s fiscal year plan

THE CRITTENDEN PRESS

A new swing set, large jungle gym and a new fence at one of the youth ball fields at Marion City-County Park are included in the Marion Tourism, Recreation and Convention Bureau’s 2021-2022 budget.

The group approved its budget last Thursday during a meeting at the Welcome Center.

Tourism Director Michele Edwards has obtained estimates for new playground equipment and the commission budgeted $20,000 for the project later this year.

Exactly where the playground set and jungle gym will be located has yet to be determined. Commissioner Jason Hatfield suggests placing it beside the existing playground between the high school softball and T-ball fields. Another option is across the creek where a smaller playground set exists, adjacent to the skate park.

Expenses of $68,000 for park improvements will amount to nearly 80 percent of next year’s tourism appropriations. The commission contributes to a dozen annual events and entities aside from the park.

Another $130,000 of general fund expenses include line items for payroll, website maintenance and office rental.

Edwards anticipates revenue collected from the three-percent tax on meals and lodging in Marion to remain about the same as the last fiscal year, about $218,225.

The Tourism Commission lacked a quorum at its May 20 special meeting, but reviewed the budget and discussed other business including a new digital map of Marion that will be unveiled later this year. In addition to promotional videos being produced to highlight area attractions, restaurants and lodging, the digital map will be available online and serve as a tool to attract and inform visitors.

BASEBALL 20th win for Rockets comes against Trigg

The Rockets set a new school baseball record with their 20th win of the season Tuesday at home against Trigg County.

Crittenden won the game 9-3 behind 10 hits and three pitchers. Senior Tyler Boone started and went five innings before yielding to relievers junior Logan Bailey and eighth-grader Brady Belt, who closed it out.

It was tied at two after three innings before CCHS plated three runs in the fourth and two runs in each of their last two at bats.

Senior Gabe Mott had two hits, two RBIs and scored twice and Boone had two hits, scored a run and drove in one. Senior Braxton Winders also knocked in a pair of runs.

The district tournament begins Monday at Eddyville with Crittenden playing Trigg County again in the opener.

Rockets pop Webster

Crittenden County beat Webster County 14-2 in a five-inning game on Monday at Dixon. Crittenden used an eight-run fourth to blow it open.

Maddox Carlson drove in three runs and Ben Evans and Trace Adams knocked in two as CCHS touched Trojan pitching for a dozen hits. Carlson had three hits and Tyler Boone and Braxton Winders had a pair each.

Freshman righthander Jeremiah Foster (5-0) went the distance, striking out three and walking one.

The victory gave Crittenden its 19th win of the season, tying a school baseball record for the most in a regular season. The 2007 team also had 19 wins before the playoffs.

CCHS bests Cards

Crittenden clinched second place in the district standings on Saturday, beating Livingston Central 14-2.

Trace Adams doubled off the wall, scoring two runs to get the party started in the first inning. The Rockets scored seven runs in the fifth inning. Tanner Beverly, Tyler Boone and Braxton Winders all had singles in that frame and CCHS finished the day with 15 hits. Maddox Carlson, Crittenden senior Gabe Mott has won both of his starts on the mound this year. He went the distance Saturday at Livingston Saturday to wrap up second place in the district standings.

Tyler Boone, Braxton Winders, Logan Bailey and Trace Adams all had multiple hits. Winders, Boone and Carlson each had three hits.

Senior Gabe Mott was the winning pitcher. He went the full five innings, allowing four hits and two runs while striking out six.

Struggles at Calloway

Crittenden scored in the top of the first and that was it at Calloway County Friday.

Tyler Boone, who was 2-for-2 in the game, drove in the team's only run as the Rockets lost 11-1 in a game that got out of hand early.

On the mound, Boone was the losing pitcher. He lasted four innings, allowing eight hits and eight runs. Ben Evans came on in relief and had similar issues with the Lakers, who ripped CCHS for 14 hits in the five-inning game.

Rockets beat Union

The Rockets struggled a bit offensively last Thursday in a 3-0 win over Union County.

Senior Tyler Boone hit a sacrifice fly in the first, plating one run.

CCHS had five hits, a little unusual for the boys, who have hit over .350 as a team. Hunter Smith, Seth Guess, Ben Evans, Logan Bailey and Maddox Carlson each had hits. Bailey, Smith and Tyler Belt, who was pinch running for Evans, all scored runs.

Junior Maddox Carlson was winning pitcher, going the distance and allowing just two hits. He struck out 10 and walked three.

SOFTBALL

CCHS downs Tilghman

Chandler Moss got the win and collected three hits en route to a 7-1 victory over Paducah Tilghman at Marion.

Ashlyn Hicks had a pair of hits and Jada Hayes drove in two runs as CCHS scored four in the last two innings for their 16th win.

The girls play in the district tournament Monday at Lyon County.

Girls top HopCentral

Senior Ashlyn Hicks hit her eighth home run of the season as Crittenden beat Hopkins Central 7-1 at Marion on Monday. Hicks, who scored three runs on two hits and drove in two, is hitting .542 on the season and needs one more homer to tie the single-season record.

The Lady Rockets got three hits from Chandler Moss and Jessie Potter and two apiece from Hicks, Jada Hayes and Hadlee Rich.

Moss pitched the whole game, striking out 11.

Another win over LCCHS

The Lady Rockets started off strong last Thursday, scoring three runs in the first against Livingston Central and going on to win 6-3. It was CCHS's second win over Livingston in three days.

Senior Matthia Long drove in two with a first-inning single. Crittenden had another three-run inning in the fourth when Jada Hayes and Ashlyn Hicks had RBIs.

The Lady Rockets had an eight-hit day powered by Hayes, who stroked a home run in the fourth. Chandler Moss led the way, going 2-for-3 at the plate.

Seventh-grader Anna Boone got the win in the circle. She lasted seven innings, allowing nine hits and three runs while striking out six.

DeBurgo selected as CCHS soccer coach

Jessica DeBurgo was handed a soccer ball at a very young age, laying the foundation of a deeply-rooted passion for all aspects of the sport. Earlier this month, she was handed the head coaching position at Crittenden County High School, bringing to it a rich experience ranging from playing to coaching to officiating.

A native Rhode Islander, DeBurgo moved to Nashville after completing college. There, she played and coached in an adult league. Her soccer experience, however, began with play in youth leagues, middle school, high school and travel. DeBurgo's father was a significant influence on her soccer career.

"He is from the Cape Verde Islands and played semi-professional soccer there before immigrating to the U.S.," she said. "He taught me everything I know about the sport."

DeBurgo and her dad began officiating together when she was 12 and traveled all over Rhode Island calling games. She is eager to share her experience with Crittenden County's Lady Rockets and looks forward to getting to know the players and building relationships.

"I'm excited to work with the girls and keep the passion for soccer alive and well in Crittenden."

Whatever it takes for TyTy to win, he will do it

Explaining what makes Kentucky signee TyTy Washington a special player/point guard is not hard for Pete Kaffey, basketball program director at Arizona Compass Prep.

“He is a winner. Whatever it takes for him to win, especially in big games, he will do it,” said Kaffey. “He will always show who he is. We were so good team-wise that there was not any need for him to do anything crazy when we were blowing a team out. But the bigger the stage, the better he always is.”

Kaffey said most games Arizona Compass Prep had that Washington would usually be the best player on the court. However, that never influenced Washington’s work ethic.

“TyTy is a worker,” Kaffey said. “We told him if we wanted to be noticed, he had to get his body right. There would be days he would be outside at 5 a.m. pushing the sled. He got with our weight trainer and really improved his body.”

Kaffey said those who doubted Washington’s potential inspired him to show he was better than many believed.

“He’s been through a lot. There were some honors he should have been part of and wasn’t but that did not keep him from playing and working at a high level,” Kaffey

Larry Vaught
UK Sports Columnist

said. “His parents did a tremendous job raising him. You are not going to outwork him.

“He had the mindset to show he was not the 115th ranked player in the nation and was not a low major player. For him to showcase what he could do, he needed to win. Part of winning is getting stops. He’s always had great defense in him but this year he was on a mission.”

Kaffey noted there was no “magical” transformation for Washington. Instead, he used the resources Arizona Prep provided to get his body right and hone his skills.

He led Arizona Compass to a 28-2 record and a spot in the Grind Session national championship game where it lost 51-49 to Monteverde Academy.

“The Grind Session was a great platform that helped him become the best player he could be. It’s a very competitive platform and he’s a very competitive kid, so he embraced the process,” Kaffey said. “He had a lot of plays that were just tremendous. He is flat addicted to winning. He found ways to be part of winning for us regularly. That’s why you can just describe him as a winner.”

Kaffey worked with both Rashad Vaughn and PJ Washington at Findlay Prep. Both were McDonald’s All-American before Vaughn went on to UNLV and PJ Washington to Kentucky.

“I have been doing this 14 years and know what guys are special. TyTy is a born killer,” Kaffey said. “He’s not going to smile. He’s going about his business. No stage is too big for him, either. He was born to be a professional basketball player and Kentucky will help his platform.

“They are used to excellence at point guard and TyTy is no different. I think he will come in and help the team get back to where Kentucky is used to being. He wants to be great and will be great. He’s built for that.”

Former UK star Julius Randle has had a MVP-like season for the New York Knicks who went from 21-45 last season to 41-31 this year to earn the team’s first playoff berth since 2013 as the No. 4 seed in the Eastern Conference playoffs.

Randle likely is a lock for the NBA’s Most Improved Player after averaging career-bests in points (24.1), rebounds (10.2), assists (6.0), steals (1.0), minutes (37.6), 3-point percentage (41.1) and free throw percentage (81.1) during the regular season. He ranked in the top 10 in double-doubles with 41 and seventh in triple-doubles with six.

Tom Thibodeau is in his first season as New York’s head coach but this is also the first season for assistant coach Kenny Payne who coached Randle at UK along with Nerlens Noel, Kevin Knox and Immanuel Quickley — other former Cats playing for the Knicks.

New Indiana coach Mike Woodson, an assistant coach with the Knicks this season until he got the college job, told SNY TV’s Ian Begley that Payne deserves credit for Randle’s performance.

Payne was at Kentucky for 10 seasons when UK had 295 wins and won the 2012 national championship. Kentucky also made four Final Four appearances and won five SEC regular season championships and five SEC Tournament titles.

Harley stolen from lawn in Frances area

STAFF REPORT

A spate of criminal activity in the Frances area of southern Crittenden County is drawing the attention of local law enforcement.

Over the past few days, Crittenden County deputies have recovered a stolen Triumph motorcycle, opened an investigation into the theft of a Harley Davidson and been involved in the pursuit of a couple of ATV road riders that ended in charges against one individual. All of it has happened around the Frances area.

Deputy Rick Mills said a 2005 Ultra Classic Harley was stolen from the front lawn of a home on Marion Road in Frances overnight Friday.

The bike’s locking mechanism was in place, prompting the deputy to surmise that it must have been lifted onto a trailer. The bike weighs more than 800 pounds, Mills said.

“It is a very distinctive color, black cherry, which is unique to that model,” the deputy added.

The motorcycle is worth almost $10,000.

Anyone with information about the theft can call 270-965-3500. You could qualify for a TipLine reward and remain anonymous.

The motorcycle that was recovered in Frances was reported stolen from Owensboro. A local man is charged in that case.

them, but if they were willing to put up to $100,000 on the CCEDC’s debt, then we can sell it to them for $100,000 and keep that money.”

Arflack says he does believe the city is receiving sufficient return for the building. He thinks cash proceeds would help solve some city maintenance issues around town.

“We have enough around here to get done in this city – streets, fire hydrants and everything else that we are responsible for. We don’t need to be giving away the taxpayers’ money. I just don’t feel like we are getting anything in return.”

City Administrator Adam Ledford reminded the council that when economic development corporation Chairman Chris Cook came to a city council meeting in September of last year, Cook described a situation that included the CCEDC needing to vacate the Ed-Tech Center, largely for financial reasons. Ledford also said during last week’s council meeting that prior to Cook’s testimony about the building, there had been a series of meetings between city and county officials to negotiate a price for the Ed-Tech Center.

“It was costing the EDC somewhere around $31,000 a year to take care of the building and they could no longer financially support it,” Ledford said.

The city administrator added that during the September meeting, the council approved a plan to transfer the Ed-Tech building to the county in exchange for the former hospital laundry building near the nursing home in addition to paying off a large portion of the CCEDC’s debt.

Councilwoman Phyllis Sykes said an agreement is in place and the city’s integrity would be in jeopardy if it backed out now.

“It has already been told that’s where (the county offices) are going to be, and I stand by this. We came to an agreement and we should stick with that agreement.”

County Judge-Executive Perry Newcom presented a real estate assessment of the former hospital laundry facility that indicates it’s worth several hundred thousand dollars.

“With respect to the comment made that the city is getting nothing, I don’t know what the city’s anticipated use for that property is, but value-wise you’re looking at a $600,000 property,” said Newcom.

Judge Newcom said the county, operating under the assumption it had a legitimate agreement to acquire the Ed-Tech Center, has already invested about $20,000 for engineering and architectural work at the site.

Putting an end to the conversation, Councilwoman Sykes called for a vote on the matter. Arflack’s argument supporting rescinding the previous property deal failed by a 4-1 margin. Councilman Darin Tabor was not at last Thursday’s special meeting when the vote took place.

the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration’s (NHTSA) high-visibility seat belt enforcement effort running May 24 – June 6.

“Kentuckians came together this past year to help save lives during the COVID-19 pandemic and we’re asking for that same dedication to safety on our roadways,” said Gov. Andy Beshear. “We must have the public’s help to spread this life-saving message: Commit to safe driving behaviors when behind the wheel, and everyone – both drivers and passengers – should pledge to buckle up.”

According to the final statistics for 2020, of the 780 roadway fatalities last year in Kentucky, 592 were occupants of motor vehicles. Of those killed in motor vehicle crashes, 338 were not protected by a seat belt, car seat or booster seat. Six of the 338 were children age nine and under, four of which were improperly restrained.

According to NHTSA, a majority of unrestrained deaths occur during nighttime hours defined as 6 p.m. – 5:59 a.m. In Kentucky last year, 261 roadway deaths occurred at night. Of those, 162 people who were killed were not wearing seat belts.

“Kentucky State Police will partner with local law enforcement departments across the state to provide a high visibility enforcement effort,” said KSP Commissioner Phillip Burnett, Jr. “Our focus is about saving lives and ensuring everyone makes it home safely.”

To reinforce this message, more than 80 law enforcement agencies throughout Kentucky have participated in the KOHS Click It or Ticket “Local Heroes” initiative. Localized public service announcements (PSAs) feature actual officers, deputies and Troopers in counties with low seat belt usage rates and/or a high number of unrestrained motorist-involved crashes. The PSAs will air during the Click It or Ticket campaign beginning Memorial Day weekend. In areas without a county-specific PSA, a statewide version will air featuring Kentucky State Police.

According to NHTSA, when worn correctly, seat belts reduce the risk of death by 45 percent for front-seat vehicle occupants and by 60 percent for pickup truck, SUV and minivan occupants. Properly fastened seat belts contact the strongest parts of the body, such as the chest, hips and shoulders. A seat belt spreads the force of a crash over a wide area of the body, putting less stress on any one part, and allows the body to slow down with the crash, extending the time when the crash forces are felt by the occupant.

The graphic displays a virtual cemetery with rows of gravestones. Each stone is topped with a circular portrait of a soldier. Below the portrait, the stone is inscribed with the soldier's name, rank, service number, branch, and dates of birth and death. The stones are arranged in rows, with some labeled 'WORLD WAR I', 'WORLD WAR II', 'KOREAN WAR', and 'VIETNAM WAR'. The bottom right corner features a promotional banner for 'HENRY & HENRY MONUMENTS'.
