MARTIN APPOINTED COUNTY TREASURER

Yvette Martin has been appointed county treasurer by Crittenden Fiscal Court. Martin replaces Sue Padgett, who will be retiring effective Nov. 30. Padgett, 71, had served as treasurer for the last decade, but a health scare this summer has kept her away from work for several weeks. A long-admired courthouse employee, she has since decided to retire.

Martin had served as county finance officer alongside Padgett since October 2017. Two months ago, she was appointed interim treasurer in Padgett's stead.

Martin, 36, is married to Heath Martin, a patrolman with Marion Police Department and pastor of Cave Springs General Baptist Church. The couple have two children.

PUBLIC MEETINGS

Several special meeting dates have been set by public agencies for the month:

- Crittenden Fiscal Court will meet at 8:30 a.m. Tuesday, Nov. 20 instead of the usual third Thursday. This will serve as the November meeting.

GOP holds balloting power

By DARYL K. TABOR
PRESS EDITOR

A Republican President with a falling approval rating a week out from an important mid-term election may have some in the party worried, but voter registration in Kentucky continues to swing red.

The final pre-election voter registration statistics from the Kentucky Secretary of State's office show the GOP steadily closing the gap on Democrats statewide and extending their majority in Crittenden County. That may seem to bode well for the Party of Lincoln on Election Day, but President Donald Trump's approval dip to 40 percent earlier this week and a Republican Kentucky governor who remains unpopular with many over his criticisms of teachers could indicate a slowdown in the political momentum.

Trends aside, a record number of registered Kentucky voters will have the final say in the commonwealth's political future next week when they decide races from city hall to Capitol Hill.

"This midterm election year in Kentucky is important," said Secretary of State Alison Lundergan Grimes, the state's chief election official. "On the ballot, Kentuckians will have the opportunity to choose candidates for local offices all the way up to Congress. I join all

U.S. 641 opening expected by end of month

STAFF REPORT

A spokesman for the Kentucky Transportation Cabinet says the new U.S. 641 that will connect Marion with Fredonia could be open by the end of this month, possibly even before the holiday season arrives.

"We're thinking around Thanksgiving," Keith Todd said Monday. "We had a crew in last week doing cement subsurface treatment on the connections. I think they completed their work. This will allow things to move ahead."

When the 2018 construction season started, Nov. 15 was the target date for opening. Weather and other various delays have pushed that project back a couple of weeks.

Paving at the north end of the new Super 2 highway just south of Marion has taken place in the last few days, showing visible progress toward completion of the tie-in with the current highway. Work is Riley Tool and Machine has made a contribution to the Crittenden County Sheriff's Department's continued focus on community safety.

Dale Willingham, a special tactics and certified active shooter training instructor, conducted a recent training for local law enforcement. Following the course, Willingham recommended that the sheriff's deputies and Marion policemen have ready access to breaching equipment. He said these tools can be deployed at crime scenes, rescues, school emergencies and traffic accidents. He said they're normally several hundred dollars if purchased through normal vendors.

Todd Riley made the devices at his fabrication shop in Marion and donated them to the sheriff's department. Willingham, who has

Leaf collection in Marion slated to start Monday

STAFF REPORT

Leaf collection inside the City of Marion begins Monday and continues through Dec. 21. Pick-up will be conducted Monday through Thursday of each week, except for Thanksgiving Day. A general, citywide collection is slated for Dec. 19-21 to wrap up the service for the year.

A collection schedule that appeared in last week's edition of The Crittenden Press and this week's issue of The Early Bird had multiple dates listed incorrectly. We regret any confusion this may have caused.

This year, the city is divided in quadrants with Bellville Street serving as a dividing line between north and south and Main Street and Fords Ferry Road acting as the divider of east

11 county roads in line for new asphalt

STAFF REPORT

Eleven county roads will be getting about an inch and a half of new asphalt on trouble areas. In fact, some of the roads were paved earlier this week.

At last month's regular Crittenden Fiscal Court meeting, magistrates approved spending about $250,000 in allotted Rural Secondary Program funds from the Kentucky Transportation Cabinet (KyTC) and another $30,000 in county road funds to repair a collective 5 miles of road segments across the county. The list approved includes:

- Aunt Jane Tabernacle

- Road: half-mile starting near the intersection with Ky. 91 North and running south.
- Quail Hill Road: 0.414 miles beginning at the intersection with Ky. 297.
- Lilly Dale Road: 0.8 miles beginning at the intersection with U.S. 641.
- Old Morganfield Road: 0.653 miles beginning at the intersection with U.S. 60 East.
- Fords Ferry Road: half-mile from Pickering Hill Road intersection.
- Wigginton Road: 0.4 miles from intersection with Ky. 1077.
- Old Jim Mines Road: 0.385 miles from intersection with Ky. 297 to the - end of county maintenance.

- Yandell Mines Road: 0.3 miles from intersection with Ky. 70.
- Guess Road: 0.584 miles covers the entire length from Yandell Mines Road to Brown Mines Road.
- Quail Lane: 0.3 miles from Baker Hollow Road to the end of county maintenance.
- Higgins Road: 0.198 miles covers the entire length from Coleman Road to the end of county maintenance.

Judge-Executive Perry Newcom said paving started Monday on Old Morganfield, Lilly Dale and Wigginton roads, but this week's midweek rains will slow progress.

The state money comes through its "flex fund" for counties, with amounts determined on the condition of state roads in each county. According to the KyTC website, the better condition state highways are in, the more flex funding the county receives.

The county gets to decide how to use allocated flex funds, either on county roads or state-maintained highways. KyTC then reimburses the county for the paving costs. Rogers Group will complete the paving.

‘Marsy’s Law’ ultimately in Supreme Court’s hands, not Kentucky voters

THE MESSENGER-INQUIRER

The language of "Marsy's Law," a proposed constitutional amendment that would give crime victims certain enforceable rights in court, will be on the November ballot, and the votes will be counted.

But because of a ruling by a Franklin Circuit judge, the results of the "Marsy's Law" question will not be certified. Last week, an attorney representing "Marsy's Law" advocates said supporters are petitioning the state Supreme Court to take up the dispute.

"Marsy's Law," which was passed in this year's legislative session, would give crime victims certain rights, such as the right of victims to be notified of hearings, the right to be heard in hearings and the right of victims to be notified if a defendant in their case escapes or is released on bond. Those rights would be enforceable, meaning a crime victim could petition the court to make sure they were heard by the judge.

While crime victims are often consulted by prosecutors as a case progresses, the only times a crime victim is heard in court is at the defendant's trial and the defendant's sentencing hearing.

Because the law requires a constitutional amendment, it must be voted on by the public. The ballot language approved by legislators reads: "Are you in favor of providing constitutional rights to the victims of crime, including the right to be treated fairly, with dignity and respect, and the right to be informed and have a voice in the judicial process?"

The Association for Criminal Defense Lawyers filed suit in August, claiming the ballot question is vague and doesn't fully explain how the law would affect the criminal justice system and other parts of the constitution. At the time the lawsuit was filed, the deadline to print the ballots was at hand, and the "Marsy's Law" question was included on ballots.

In early October, Franklin Circuit Judge Thomas Wingate ruled results of the "Marsy's Law" vote would not be certified. Wingate ruled the ballot language did not adequately explain to voters what rights they would be granting crime victims if the ballot measure was approved.

Sheryl Snyder, a Louisville attorney who is representing "Marsy's Law," said last Thursday he was filing a request for the Supreme Court to take up the case directly from the Circuit Court, bypassing the Court of Appeals. If the Supreme Court takes the case, he will file briefs in support of supporters' arguments, he said.

"We will not be heard before election day," Snyder said.

Wingate's ruling "allows the ballots to be cast and counted," but not certified.

"Everyone will know on election night and the next morning what the results were," Snyder said. "If the amendment passes and the Supreme Court rules for us, the results would be certified at the time the Supreme Court rules."

While Wingate agreed with some of the arguments of "Marsy's Law" supporters, "he did not feel the ballot (language) was sufficiently descriptive ... and we disagree with that," Snyder said.

Snyder said ideally, Supreme Court justices will agree the language on the ballot was sufficient.

"The legislature wrote the ballot question itself, and felt it (represented) the substance of the amendment," he said. "We feel the court should defer to the legislature."

Jobless rate up for 2nd straight month

Unemployment rates fell in 23 Kentucky counties between September 2017 and September 2018, including a slight uptick in Crittenden County, according to the Kentucky Center for Statistics. The jobless rate in Crittenden County for last month was 4.5 percent, up a 10th of a point from the previous month, and up 0.2 points from September 2017. Last month was the second consecutive reporting period that saw the jobless rate rise.

Meantime, Woodford County recorded the lowest jobless rate in the Commonwealth at 3 percent. Magoffin County recorded the state's highest unemployment rate at 11.7 percent.

Below are the jobless rates for select counties from the state's low in June to the highest, with rates for Crittenden and surrounding counties included between. Because of their relatively low sample size, county unemployment rates are not seasonally adjusted like monthly state and national rates.

Satan is called the god of ‘this’ world

BY FELTY YODER

We read about the days of Noah, and the days of Lot. They ate and drank, bought and sold, planted and built, married and gave in marriage. There is no harm in this, it is a part of life. The problem was that the love of God was not found. They are carnally minded. This world had swallowed them up. Satan’s goal is to separate us from God. He does this by getting us to love the things of the world. He is called the god of this world. He blinds the minds of unbelievers with the world “lest the light of the gospel of the glory of Christ should shine on them.” (2 Cor. 4:4).

Care for this world can even take on a pious appearance and be explained with reasonable thoughts. Satan is quite an expert at explaining how necessary this and that is, and how much one absolutely needs. In this way one’s mind and item are occupied, and God becomes more and more distant. This is how many of those who once served God have fallen away. “Do not love the world or the things in the world. If anyone loves the world, the love of the Father is not in him.” (1 John 2:15).

This makes us realize that the love of the world is a spirit power that lays hold of people. It is a satanic spirit that drive people away from God in a “nice” way. We must be aware of, and fight against this spirit power, lest we slack off and fall away from pursuing the true riches. Those who are bound by this spirit power may very well had not intended to forsake God and come dull and lukewarm, but care and interest for this world has brought them to this point. Perhaps they had intended to earn more money, and so have more to give to God’s cause, but then there is less time for prayer, and less time to seek the Kingdom of God. This is how the god of this world seeks to deceive man and separate him from God. We cannot serve God and mammon. We cannot unite these two things. The one will over rule the other. The way of apostasy is when you begin to seek both parts. The god of this world exercises authority over those who have their mind set on the things of this world, because they have only the form of godliness, but deny its power. The power of godliness is revealed by having “the god of this world” under our feet and by having the mind of Christ. This makes us realize that it concerns our life. The fact that we can justify our self before the people is not sufficient, because everyone knows in his own heart whether he loves this world and the things of the word, or has his mind set on the Kingdom of God, and the righteousness of Jesus. It is important that we prove ourselves before God’s face so we are not ensnared by the spirit of this world, because our citizenship is in heaven from which we also eagerly wait for the Savior, Jesus Christ.

We are justified by the work Christ has done for us, but we are sanctified by the work He does in us.

THANK YOU

The family of Steven Wayne Orenduff expresses a heartfelt thank you to family, friends, work families and acquaintances for the love and compassion shown to our family during our time of great loss. We never realized the number of lives that Steve touched or impacted in his short lifetime until all of you shared with us the stories of how you knew and loved him.

We are so grateful for those of you who stayed at night so we could go home and get rest. We want to thank those who just shared a kind word or remembered us in your prayers and those of you who sent flowers, stepping stones and to those who shared pictures that we needed for Steve’s memorial.

Last, but not least, thank you for the purchase of a plane ticket for our oldest daughter so she could come home to say goodbye to her uncle. You know who you are, we do not need to name names. Your kindness knows no bounds and you are forever in our hearts and prayers. May God bless you.

Local rock stars

This large rock (center) from Crittenden County is displayed in front of ECSI (Engineers, Consultants, Scientists International) corporate office on South Broadway in downtown Lexington. The boulder came from near the abandoned Columbia Mine off of Crittenden Springs Road. The Columbia Mine is the oldest mine in Crittenden County, having been started in 1835 and partially owned by President Andrew Jackson. Pictured are Steve Gardner (left), president and CEO of ECSI, Walt Gaylord (center) and Bill Frazer. The plaque reads: "The Monument to Kentucky Fluorspar. Courtesy of the Ben E. Clement Mineral Museum, Marion, Crittenden County, Kentucky. World famous fluorspar deposits found in Crittenden County, Kentucky, were mined along with lead and zinc beginning in 1835. This boulder was obtained from near the abandoned Columbia Mine, which was partially owned by President Andrew Jackson. The boulder is composed mostly of quartz rich sandstone (light gray to tan), and includes small veins of fluorspar (purple) and calcite (white). Fluorspar is used to manufacture air conditioning and refrigeration compounds, plus many other common products used in everyday life."

School board buys 13th propane bus

STAFF REPORT

For the past decade, there has been a nationwide shift by school districts to replace diesel buses with propane-fueled rigs in order to counteract strained budgets and promote clean air.

Crittenden County was the first district in Kentucky to purchase propane school buses back in 2013, and to this day maintains the largest fleet of propane buses in the state, though other Kentucky school systems are quickly increasing their numbers.

Last week, Crittenden County Board of Education approved the purchase of another propane school bus in resolution with the Kentucky Inter-local School Transportation Association, or KISTA, for the amount of $102,313.

This brings to 13 the number of propane buses the local district's 34-bus fleet.

Propane runs cleaner than diesel, so the conversion is helping with the environment. But the biggest benefit is the bottom line for propane buses.

Crittenden County's buses run 19 routes, so the cost per bus to service the routes is of great importance. The process of transitioning to an all-propane bus fleet has helped dramatically, said Wayne Winters, transportation director for the school district. Diesel buses would have cost the school $80,000 more just in fuel costs alone. In addition, while it costs propane buses $38 for oil changes, it is $170 for diesel.

Savings through switching to propane buses will allow schools to afford more supplies or free up money for funding extracurricular activities – good news at a time when budget cuts continue in order to make ends meet. The district continues to influence other surrounding schools to do the same due to cost effectiveness, and the environmental benefits of a propane bus fleet.

Enrollment for health insurance begins today

Open Enrollment for 2019 Marketplace health insurance plans at Health-care.gov starts today (Thursday). The Kentucky Health Benefit Exchange (KHBE), within the Cabinet for Health and Family Services (CHFS) is working to ensure Kentuckians are prepared, informed and have the resources they need to choose a 2019 health plan.

This year's open enrollment runs through Dec. 15 for coverage beginning Jan. 1, 2019. Many Kentuckians who do not want to make changes to their plans will be automatically re-enrolled, but everyone is encouraged to check the status of their enrollment and selected coverage options. In many cases, policyholders will have the same plan for 2019 or their coverage will move from their current plan to an available 2019 option that most closely matches their current coverage.

CHFS is using a comprehensive campaign to reach current policyholders and potential new enrollees. These targeted efforts include direct mail, text messages, phone calls and email. Additionally, KHBE is coordinating with community assisters who service every county in the Commonwealth. Assisters and KHBE staff will be at community outreach events across the state. To find an event in your area or to locate an assistor near you, who can answer your questions and guide you through the application process, simply log on to HealthBenefitExchange.ky.gov.

International lesson

Kanley Hadfield (standing) presented a program to the Woman's Club of Marion on mission activities of Life in Christ Church. Hadfield explained the church's involvement locally, in Paducah, Nashville and internationally. In November they will be returning for the fourth time to Haiti in an area with limited electricity where rain is their only source of water. Their goal is to help individuals to become self-sufficient while learning about their religion. They have assisted with building a church, a house, a soccer field, and a road in Haiti. Their last visit received regional publicity because the riots in Haiti broke out on the day they were to depart. The next Woman's Club of Marion meeting is 5 p.m., Nov. 13. Amanda Irvin, CCHS principal will be the guest speaker.

Burna Legion plans November events

American Legion Post 217 in Burna has a flurry of activities planned this month to honor the county's veterans.

Flag service/Slum Supper

The annual Slum Supper Nov. 9 will also feature an official flag retirement service. The public is welcome to bring worn and tattered American flags for proper disposal. The service will begin around 3 p.m., Nov. 9. Following the service, the post will host its annual Slum Supper at 6 p.m. There is no charge for this event.

Local veterans and their families are invited to the Slum Supper, which features Slum Gullion, a soup based on the old stone soup story. The National American Legion began this project in 1919 to pick up the morale of people all across the country during World War I. Folks combined the extra food items in their cellars or pantries to prepare a soup to share with neighbors. Not only was food shared but also stories about family members in the military as well. The moral support was good for everyone.

Post 217 has carried on this event since 1939 when the post was chartered. The meal consists of soup, sandwiches, pie and drink. You are always welcome.

Thanksgiving meal

Unit 217 served its first community Thanksgiving dinner in November 1958. The proceeds the first year were $100.17. The proceeds helped provide items needed for veteran patients at Outwood TB Hospital, as well as local needs. The members of the auxiliary purchased and donated all materials needed even though it was hard times for most in this rural community.

Nov. 11 is the 60th anniversary of the Thanksgiving dinner at Post 217. The Unit is able to provide more services to needy veterans and their families as well as veterans at West Kentucky Veterans Center at Hanson, the veterans Homeless Shelter at Hopkinsville, children and youth programs through our local school system, support of Livingston County Helping Hands Food Pantry, care packages to overseas active troops and other programs with the help from community members and local businesses as well as guests for the annual Thanksgiving Dinner. Serving begins at 11:30 a.m., and continues until 1:30 p.m.

The traditional turkey meal including drink and dessert is served by post members. The meal can be eaten in the facility, out at the pavilion, or carried out. The legion building has new flooring, plaques and improvements that veterans might be seeing for the first time this year.

Boy Scouts collect food for local families

Local Boy Scouts will be leaving notices on doors in and around Marion Nov 10, notifying residents of their annual food drive of non-parishables. Scouts will return a week later, Nov. 17, to collect donations. Donations are requested to be left outside by 8:30 a.m.

Scouting for Food is an annual program that collects food to re-distribute locally through the food bank at Marion United Methodist Church.

Scoutmaster Sandy Urbanowski says anyone who wants to donate after Nov. 17 can take donations to Marion United Methodist Church. Pick ups can also be arranged by calling the church at (270) 965-4580. No glass items, please.

Aging Coordinator Jenny Sosh is director of the center.

The center is a service of Pennyriple Allied Community Services.

Every day, the center at 210 N. Walker St. in Marion offers billiards, card games, Wii games and the use of exercise equipment. Call (270) 965-5229 for more information.

Commercial, Kiwanis among early Marion clubs

In years past we find that the citizens of Marion were civic minded and were always looking for new ways and means to make Marion and Crittenden County a better place to live, whether it be through new business opportunities or the organization of social and intercultural clubs and societies. From the archives of The Crittenden Press come interesting articles about some of Marion's past civic organizations.

Nov. 25, 1904, Marion's Opportunity – Our New Commercial Club

A few of the citizens of this city met Saturday night to organize a Commercial Club, the purpose of which should be to advance the welfare of this city and county by fostering enterprises and improvements. Marion's own Senator William J. DeBoe was the speaker of the evening.

At the meeting Saturday night the president, two vice-presidents, secretary and treasurer of the club were chosen. At that meeting it was ordered that a committee, appointed for the purposes of arranging articles of incorporation and by-laws, should meet and be ready to report Tuesday night, which was another special meeting to further organize. The interest in the contemplated club grew rapidly and Tuesday night there was a splendid and enthusiastic gathering of some of the best businessmen of the city ready to assist in the Club movement and its further organization. The motto for the new organization was to be "Marion is Symbol For All That is Good and True."

At this meeting directors were chosen, who by virtue of their office should serve as the heads of the various committees. The report of the special committee on articles of incorporation and by-laws was adopted.

Another special meeting will be held next Tuesday evening when the members of the various committees will be announced. The following letters will further explain what is being done.

The city and county are now facing an opportunity which has come to but a very few among the multitudes of counties in the various states and territories comprising the United States, as we have within our borders mineral deposits vast in nature and rich in possibilities – so it is claimed by all of the mining experts who have visited this district and those mineral deposits undoubtedly offer extraordinary inducement of profitable investment for the purpose of their development.

But few conditions are lacking to make this district an ideal one for mining operations on an extensive scale, but that these conditions hamper, if they do not all together block progress in the development of Crittenden County's mineral resources, can not be denied by anyone who is fully conversant with the facts. Our most urgent requirements are good roads, then railroads, for the development of the county, and waterworks, then fire protection, for the city. Other improvements and advantages will quickly follow.

To offset or minimize these handicaps to our progress, and then to produce a remedial effect, a Commercial Club has been organized by Marion's progressive citizens; its officers and its precepts have been wisely and indiscriminately chosen; its purposes should now be set forth and so clearly defined to the people that all who desire to aid and participate in the progress of the community many readily see that it will be decidedly to their interest and mutual benefit to either identify themselves directly with the movement or to cooperate with the club in their endeavor to accomplish the several important purposes for which they have organized.

As one of the purposes of the organization, as previously mentioned is worthy of the best efforts of a Business Men's Club, and should enlist the services of the public spirited residents of the city and county. Therefore, there need be little wonder at the enthusiasm which the movement has caused or the zeal of its large and rapidly increasing membership, when there are so many good objects for accomplishment.

To make an extended review of the constitution and bylaws adopted by the club is beyond the scope of this article, but the officers and directors chosen, as well as the committee and assignments are as follows:

Thomas H. Cochran, president; T. Atchison Frazer, first vice-president; Robert I. Nunn, second vice-president; James F. Crittenden, secretary; George M. Crider, treasurer. Directors C. E. Weldon, foreman of finance and membership committee; H. H. Sayre, chairman entertainment, arrangement and building committee; J. M. Freeman, chairman city development committee; C. S.

Nunn, chairman county development committee, C. H. Whitehouse, chairman Press Publicity and promotion committee; Charles Evans, chairman public policy committee.

It should be understood from the start that the club has been organized as much for the benefit of Crittenden County as for Marion, and that it desires to secure among the membership as many as possible of the representative men located throughout the county. As soon as they can be interested sufficiently to work in harmony with the club and endorse and strengthen its efforts, then one feature of its work – good roads – will be easy of accomplishment. To secure good rock-ballasted roadbeds throughout the county would doubtless benefit a greater number of people both in the county and city, than any other one movement which the club has endorsed and set about to accomplish.

November 1905, The Musical Club

The ladies of the town created a Music Club. The object of the club was to create a greater interest in music, to study the music and the lives of the old masters and the history of music.

I think also to give the ladies a reason to meet, have delightful refreshments and just enjoy the fellowship of one's home.

They would meet once a month and have a program that would be centered on the music world. It even included music performances by some of the ladies. Mrs. S. M. Jenkins gave a piano solo, "The Palms," while a vocal solo was given by Miss Kittie Gray. Their program was the life and music of Bach and a paper on the History of Music. Some of the women that were members of the club were Mrs. Thomas Cochran, Mrs. S. M. Jenkins, Miss Kittie Moore, Miss Kittie Gray, Lilly Doss and Mrs. Fannie Walker to name a few.

May 4, 1923 – Marion Kiwanis Club

The Marion Kiwanis Club met on Friday evening of last week for its "Charter Party" and a splendid program had been arranged for the occasion. The meeting was also turned into ladies' night. The district governor made the presentation at the banquet.

The Marion Orchestra furnished music for the occasion. The Kiwanis Club Quartet sang several selections and Misses Guess and Mrs. Newton Moore entertained with some musical numbers.

During the course of the dinner there was prize drawing for the ladies. Each Kiwanian gave some prize for the occasion. At the plates for souvenirs were memo books with the Kiwanis emblem for the ladies and match boxes with the emblem for the men.

Clem S. Nunn presided at the meeting and as soon as the banquet had been served, introduced Hon. Charles T. Gilbert of Nashville, District Governor of the Kiwanis International.

Mr. Gilbert gave a splendid address, explaining Kiwanis and its work and how the club became organized and received its name, and at the conclusion of the address presented President L. E. Crider with the charter.

This was followed by a speech by Mr. Crider accepting the charter, and outlining the work that the local club will undertake and has undertaken to accomplish. Our motto is "We Build" and our principle endeavor is to build our community to its highest level.

The hall was decorated in the Kiwanis colors and Kiwanian hats and been passed around in the beginning of the party so everyone present could not help but have the Kiwanis spirit.

These are just a few of the past organizations and the people that had an interest in the community and wanted to make it a better place to live and grow.

A flurry of write-in filings last week turned previously uncontested races in next week’s election into an election choice for voters. It was necessary in some cases, however, to edit for clarity and brevity. Incumbents are clearly indicated. Responses to all other contested races appeared in last week’s issue of The Crittenden Press. Unopposed candidates were not surveyed.

To help those who struggle to adequately heat their home, applications will be taken Monday through Dec. 14 for those who qualify for the subsidy phase of LIHEAP assistance. LIHEAP, or Low Income Home Energy Assistance Program, offers federally funded assistance in managing costs associated with home energy bills, energy crises, weatherization and energy-related minor home repairs.

- F: Nov. 14
- G: Nov. 15

In the last two years, according to local PACS

Director Kathey Belt, more than $125,000 in LIHEAP money has come to the county to help almost 600 applicants and their families stay warm in winter months.

As part of the application process, individuals must bring the following information on their designated appointment date to the PACS office:

- Their most recent heating bill or verification from their landlord that the heating expenses are included in their rent. Those heating with natural gas must also bring their most recent electric bill.
- Proof of Social Security number for each member of the household.

To be eligible for the subsidy program, a one-person household must be at or below a gross monthly income of $1,316. Add $468 for each additional family member. Other eligibility requirements state individuals must be responsible for home heating costs or pay heating costs as an undesignated portion of rent.

Bevin asks USDA for Ky. farmer help

Gov. Matt Bevin on Monday submitted an emergency disaster designation and declaration request in support of Kentucky's farmers to the USDA. The request follows months of heavy rains and severe weather in the commonwealth, resulting in flooding and wind damage in many counties. These events adversely impacted the yield and quality of crops for farmers across the state and resulted in damage to buildings, fences, equipment and farming infrastructure.

In the request to Secretary Perdue, Gov. Bevin urged that assistance be made available to Kentucky farmers to mitigate the significant harvest losses and discounted market prices resulting from poor weather condi-also ramping up at the southern connector just outside of Fredonia.

Once the tie-ins are completed, the diversion road built this summer just outside of Marion will be removed. The current U.S. 641 will revert back to its Ky. 91 designation and the new 5.2-mile highway with 10-foot wide shoulder will officially become U.S. 641.

Plans are for access to Coleman Road from U.S. 641 to be shifted directly across from the U.S. 641-Ky. 91 tie-in just south of the bridge over Crooked Creek where Coleman Road once met the highway.

Rogers Group Inc. is the prime contractor on a $14.2 million project to pave both lanes of the new highway and finish out permanent connecting points to the existing highway. Much of the paving along the new alignment was completed earlier this year.

It has been 2,450 days since a ceremonial groundbreaking for construction of the new roadway on Feb. 17, 2012.

Cowboy Church’s Clarke speaks at university

CAMPBELLVILLE UNIVERSITY

"Who is a missionary? I am, and so are you," Chris Clarke, founder of Happy Trails Ministry and pastor of Lake Cowboy Church, said as he opened a recent chapel message at Campbellsville University.

He told the audience, "We are who God made us to be. No matter where you go, be real. God will use you when you are being you." He also said, "The best place to be is in the center of God's will."

Clarke, who is from Livingston County and is a former music minister at Marion Baptist Church, primarily talked on the five basic building blocks of faith, which are: believe, faith, trust, obedience and surrender.

Clarke said, "We are all missionaries, because God tells us to be missionaries." This is what led

Acts 1:8 says, "But ye

Not at her best, but Keller qualifies for state

STAFF REPORT

Crittenden County sophomore Kate Keller wasn't at her best on Saturday at the First Region Class A cross country meet at Owensboro. However, she gutted through the onset of a mid-race illness – nearly collapsed at the end – and finished sixth, still qualifying for this weekend's state championship meet at Lexington's Kentucky Horse Park.

Her time of 22:32.83 was much worse than normal and about a minute and half slower than her personal best of 20:50 this season. In fact, there were times when Keller, the No. 1 ranked Class A female in the race, didn't think she could complete the 3.1 mile (5K) course.

About one mile into the race Keller was leading the pack with a 6:20 split, then her body started giving in.

"People started passing me. I didn't know what was wrong, but I knew I couldn't keep up the pace," she said. "My goal at that point was to just finish."

Paramedics at the race checked her out at the finish line and found some abnormal vital signs. Keller followed up with a doctor visit Monday and was tested for mononucleosis among other things. Results were not immediately available.

"I think I will be ready by Saturday," she said pointing to the state meet where the two-time qualifier's goal is a Top 15 finish.

She was the only Crittenden athlete to qualify for state. Livingston Central's Carson Kitchens made the cut and will be running at Lexington.

Rockets finish 9-1, tie school record for wins

STAFF REPORT

On senior night it was clearly a showcase for the elder statesmen in the Rocket lineup, particularly Mr. Six Devon Nesbitt who shattered more scoring records and quarterback Hunter Boone who got his groove back and threw for 217 yards en route to a 61-6 drumming of Hopkins Central.

Nesbitt, who has almost rewritten the entire record book with his gaudy touchdown totals, was just as showy in his final regular-season game at Rocket Stadium. The senior all-purpose back rushed for 142 yards and caught three passes for 34 yards. Amid the glitzy figures were six touchdowns, all in the first half, which is a new school record. He also became the only Rocket in history to score at least six times in a single game twice. He scored seven times a few weeks ago against Ballard Memorial.

"We have a great offensive line. I wouldn't want to play with anyone else," Nesbitt said.

The running back said that he expected the Rockets to throw more in the game, but a third straight Friday with rainy conditions put the ball on the ground, especially early, where he piled up four rushing TDs. Then, just before the half, he caught two Boone passes for scoring strikes within a 41-second time frame.

Pressing to make something happen late in the half, Hopkins Central tried to convert twice on fourth downs in their own territory. The strategy failed miserably against an inspired Crittenden defense and Boone worked those final two scoring passes to Nesbitt just before the break.

"This senior class has been a great one for me starting out my career," said first-year head coach Sean Thompson, whose team tied the school record with nine regular-season wins.

Thompson creatively showed his respect for the senior group by sending all 14 of them onto the field to run a play in the second half once the outcome was not in jeopardy. Of course, the officials charged the Rockets five yards for illegal participation, but the gesture was well received by the hometown fans.

The Rockets have won nine games in a regular season five times now. They did it in 1996, 1998, 1999 and 1985 during the Class A state championship run. The team also moved up to No. 6 in the Associated Press Class A rankings.

"For me it's a blessing to come into a situation like this as a new coach," Thompson said, adding that the team's goal was to be 10-0 heading into the playoffs, but this is undeniably acceptable.

"Our goal is to be 1-0 each week, and that means we did it nine times," Thompson said.

Clearly, the Rockets want a greater prize. The same one harvested in 1985. The post-season begins this week with Caverna coming to Crittenden County – coincidentally, a team the Rockets beat on their way to that state crown 33 years ago.

Rockets sweep DH; Jamboree upcoming

Crittenden County’s third- and fourth-grade Rockets completed their second straight season of undefeated football in Junior Pro action Saturday at Webster County. The youngest Rockets shutout Webster County and will be the No. 1 seed in this weekend’s West Kentucky Junior Pro Jamboree at Trigg County. The fifth- and sixth graders also bested Webster and have wrapped up the No. 2 seed for their post-season play, also this weekend at Trigg.

Third- and fourth-graders beat Webster County 39-0 and the defense never allowed a first down. It was a dominating performance for the boys, who are now 14-0 over the past two seasons and looking to claim another jamboree trophy on Sunday. They will need two more wins to get that done.

At Webster, running back Isaac James rushed for two touchdowns and quarterback Avery Thompson rushed for one and threw for one. Jaxton Duncan caught the 40-yard TD pass. Thompson also scored on defense, returning one of the Rockets’ six fumble recoveries for a TD.

Crittenden had three takeaways in the contest. McLean had a fumble recovery in the opening half, and in the second half Braydon Brandsasse and Belcher each intercepted passes.

Football ‘Cats host Georgia for East showdown

There was a time many Kentucky basketball fans – and maybe even coach John Calipari – thought Zion Williamson would be playing for UK against Duke Nov. 6 in Indianapolis.

Instead, Williamson surprised many by picking Duke over UK and will be starting for the Blue Devils against UK.

Duke freshman point guard Tre Jones helped pulled off the recruiting bonanza for Duke. He was already committed to UK when Duke coach Mike Krzyzewski let him know Williamson was a player he wanted.

“The coaches told me who they wanted. I was able to talk to the guys and build a bond off the court first. Then we realized we could play together and be pretty good. We all bought into it,” Jones said when talking about the freshmen group of Williamson, Cam Reddish, R.J. Barrett and him.

“All four of us were in a group chat and we talked about it every single day. Getting recruited by coach K, it’s hard to say no to him. He has been able to coach some of the best players ever to play and make them play together. We all think he has a plan for us as well and we can’t wait to get started.”

Count Jones was one who is happy Kentucky and Duke are playing to start the season.

“Those are two of the colleges that you hear about every year. I am obviously part of it now. I just think it is cool that those two colleges are always in the forefront with the talk and now the year starts with us playing,” Jones said.

Kentucky has won five SEC football games for the first time since 1977 when it went 10-1 and at 7-1 with four games left has a chance to win 10 games for the first time since 1977 as well.

Even better, Kentucky has a chance to win the SEC East for the first time if it can beat Georgia Saturday. The game is so big that it starts at 3:30 p.m. on CBS-TV and SEC Nation will be in Kentucky Saturday doing its show from 10 a.m. until noon.

“We are playing for the East. One step at a time. Got to go hard and come back stronger than we ever have against that monster (Georgia),” UK sophomore receiver Lynn Bowden said after the miraculous 15-14 win he helped manufacture at Georgia.

He told coach Mark Stoops to let him return a late punt rather than regular returner David Bouvier. Bowden responded with a 67-yard touchdown return. He also had 13 catches for 166 yards.

“I felt at half my team was down,” Bowden said after the game. “I had to put it on my back. I am a positive person. I always think there is room to win.”

Coach Mark Stoops said Bowden was so “amazing” that he did something he doesn’t do often – he gave him a game ball.

“He just said give me the rock and put the game on my shoulders. He just played unbelievable,” Stoops said. “He is a competitor. He made huge plays. Just an amazing effort. Really proud of him.”

The coach said UK’s lack of a productive passing game led to some frustration with Bowden earlier in the year but that all changed in the 14-7 win over Vanderbilt when Bowden “embraced” the running game and let teammates know to do the same.

“He was saying, ‘If we have to block, let’s do it.’ Then you get moments like this (against Missouri). You have to step up and do it. There’s sometimes there’s just a sheer desire in that guy’s eyes that he’s going to do it. That’s what he had. No environment is too big for him. He’s not afraid of anything. He’s not perfect but he’s going to go play. What he did was special.”

So special that a Kentucky team that has been an underdog in five of its six SEC games is now playing for the SEC East title.

Wandale Robinson, the state’s leading high school football scorer, will make his college choice Thursday and will pick either Ohio State, Nebraska, Alabama, Purdue, Michigan or Kentucky.

Each school has told the Western Hills stand-out how he could benefit by picking them.

“We look at the offense at each school and what the school has coming in and look at how previous players have done in the offense,” Dale Robinson, Wandale’s father, said.

DINNER BELL

Sherer arrows big 11-pointer in nick of time

STAFF REPORT

Pouring concrete in the rain isn't the best idea, so Barrett Sherer took advantage of a day off last Friday to bag the biggest buck of his storied hunting career.

Sherer, 30, is widely considered one of the most skilled outdoorsmen in the county. He has now taken a half dozen bucks just below or right above the threshold for the Boone and Crockett record book.

A wide 11-pointer that showed up on his trail camera a week ago Saturday, gave rise to his senses.

"I don't bow hunt too awful much. It takes a big deer to really get me drove up," Sherer said.

And when this one showed up on the edge of one the farms he hunts, the Tolu resident doubled down in a race against time.

"He was bedding in about a 100-yard area where four farms come together. So, he wasn't going to last long when rifle season opens," Sherer said. "I knew I had to get him before that."

Sherer was hunting morning and evening trying to get a shot at the deer. His trail camera was catching the buck at midday and early afternoon. His work schedule was in the way, and his responsibilities as a little league football coach saved the buck one day last week.

Barrett Sherer has taken a half dozen bucks around the 160 class over the past 15 or years.

"I had to leave the stand at 5 p.m., to go to practice and he came in right after that. I have a picture of him at 5:45," Sherer said.

After just missing a chance at the big buck four of the previous five days, rain set in late in the week and his crew at T&T Concrete took the day off.

"He'd come in three days in a row at dinner time, I had him pinned down," Sherer said, he just needed a little rain to make it happen.

The wind was out of the northwest so the hunter changed his stand location just a bit from the earlier days. When Sherer got into his climbing stand, he waited in the rain until shortly after 1 p.m., when the buck appeared from a thicket. Within minutes, he was in the bag. A 20-yard shot from his Switchback XT bow provided a clean kill and Sherer measured the 6x5 at 164 inches of antler, more than enough for a Pope and Young record book entry.

"He'd blown up 35 inches since last year," said Sherer, who knew the buck's dimensions from last season because he'd found the sheds over the winter.

He said the buck was four years old. Other nearby hunters had him on trail cameras, too. They'd named him the G4 Buck because of the odd sticker on his right G4, which is about the only asymmetrical feature of the typical rack.

Big changes in deer hunting regs

As deer hunters ready for their annual on-slaughter for rifle season, it's important that they understand some new regulations. The changes are detailed in the updated version of the Kentucky Hunting and Trapping Guide, on the Kentucky Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources website at fw.ky.gov.

"What I've been telling people is, if you're a deer hunter in this state, read the hunting guide because something that affects you has changed," said Gabe Jenkins, the state deer program coordinator.

Major differences

from last season are as follows:

- The statewide and youth deer permits allow for the harvest of up to 4 deer, either 1 antlered and 3 antlerless or 4 antlerless.
- The modern gun deer season is 16 days statewide.
- A total of 32 counties have been moved up into a different zone.
- Hunters can take as many deer as allowed for each zone. In order to take more than four deer statewide, an additional deer permit must be purchased.
- Hunters in Zones 2 and 3 can harvest no more than four deer. In Zone 3, only one antlerless deer can be taken with a firearm.

- Hunters are still allowed only one antlered deer statewide regardless of zone, method or season. In Zone 1, hunters can still harvest an unlimited number of antlerless deer with the statewide deer permit and additional deer permit.

Changes encourage greater harvest of does and increased harvest in areas where a reduction in numbers is sought. At the same time, they are designed to foster a bounce back in east Kentucky hit hardest by an EHD outbreak.

7th Grade Girls Basketball

8th Grade Boys Basketball
