Fire department hosts open house

Crittenden County Volunteer Fire Department will be hosting an open house Saturday at the fire station on Industrial Drive in Marion.

From 1 to 4 p.m. the fire-house will be open for visitors to tour the station and view the fire trucks and equipment. There will also be demonstrations by the fire department, Air Evac, Crittenden EMS and the rescue squad. Visitors will be invited to try their hand at spraying fire hoses. Children can enjoy a bounce house on site. The American Red Cross will sign up homeowners to receive a free smoke detector. There will be hot dogs, hamburgers and door prizes.

Election, holiday closings slated

Some government offices will be closed Tuesday, as Election Day is observed as a state holiday. At the courthouse, the sheriff, circuit clerk and PVA offices will be closed, but the county clerk and judge-executive's office will be open.

Marion City Hall and the Extension office will also be closed, but the library and senior center will be open.

Also closing next week in observance of Veterans Day on Nov. 11 will be all courthouse, city and federal offices, including the postal service. The library and senior center will be closed. All courthouse offices will also be closed Saturday, Nov. 12. The Extension office will be open on Veterans Day.

Expired license a costly mistake

Crittenden Circuit Clerk Melissa Guill reminds drivers that Frankfort no longer mails license renewal reminder cards, saving the state about $250,000 annually. But operating on an expired license can be costly for Kentucky's 3.6 million drivers. The fine is $250, plus $143 for court costs.

Road closed at Caney Fork Creek

Nunn-Switch Road is now open at the Hoods Creek crossing. The road had been closed in that area for reconstruction of approaches to a bridge over the creek. However, the approaches to the bridge that spans Caney Fork Creek are now being reconstructed, keeping the road closed there approximately three weeks, depending on the weather. That closure is near the Caney Fork Road junction.

Each HS, MS student may get laptop

STAFF REPORT

The center of learning is no longer a classroom blackboard.

It's now the laptop. Crittenden County education leaders are convinced that every student should be armed with a school-assigned personal computer. To that end, Superintendent Vince Clark says administrators will be "doing a lot of number crunching during November."

Plans focus on cloud-based computing devices known as "thin clients" because they use web-based applications and programs and have very limited ability to download or store data. The units cost about $160 each and are very durable, easy to repair and can be insured rather inexpensively, explains Ben Grainger, the school district's technology coordinator.

The district currently has about 100 of the devices and would need approximately 550 more to give every student in high school and middle school one. Charging stations would also be necessary. Everything would cost about $100,000. While that's a whole lot of money, it's just over half of what would likely cost to replace all the aging computers in the schools' technology labs, which are grossly overcrowded.

At last week's regular monthly meeting of the board of education, Tonya Driver, supervisor of instruction, led a presentation about the research being put into purchasing Chromebooks for every student in the top six grades. She and several other teachers and administrators have visited other schools such as Trigg and McCracken counties where each student has his own device. Almost every line of school work can be done on these devices.

The district likes the Chromebook best. It uses

Students tour historic Marion sites

STAFF REPORT

It was 90 years ago last week that Fohs Hall was dedicated and donated to the City of Marion.

Over the years, it has been a school and community center. More than 100 fifth-grade students got a first-hand account of the formal dedication ceremony last week from soon-to-be 99-year-old Ethel Tucker, often referred to as the matriarch of Marion.

Tucker said her mother took her to the dedication ceremony which was attended by benefactor and renowned geologist Julius Fohs.

"I didn't really want to go, but mother made me. She said it was history being made," Tucker told the students from Crittenden County Elementary School just completing a morning-long tour of downtown's historic homes and buildings.

The downtown tour is an annual event that culminates quite often with a history lesson from Tucker inside the historic Fohs

Forgotten casualty of Korean War to get tribute

STAFF REPORT

A forgotten man in a forgotten war, Junior Raymond "J.R." McDowell is finally being recognized for making the ultimate sacrifice for his country during the Korean War.

McDowell, a Crittenden County native, was killed early in the war that started when communist forces from North Korea invaded South Korea in the summer of 1950. Until just weeks ago, his name had not been among those engraved on granite crosses at the Mapleview Cemetery war memorial in Marion.

At a public ceremony scheduled for 2 p.m. Sunday, Nov. 13, McDowell's cross will be dedicated, joining the ranks of those for fellow Korean War casualties Gerald W. Henry, James R. Bissell and Ollie J. Belt and dozens of other men killed during World War II and the Vietnam War. Al-

Clerk expects long Election Day, about 50 percent turnout Tuesday

STAFF REPORT

The sunrise next Wednesday should bring a measure of relief to election workers and Americans weary from two years of bitter campaigning for the White House and Congress.

That's because Tuesday is Election Day from sea to shining sea in the United States. It's not just any Election Day, it's a Presidential election, one that has seen candidates slur and insult one another in one of the nastiest election cycles in recent memory.

Crittenden County Clerk Carolyn Byford is expecting a long night after the polls close at 6 p.m.

After election workers from the county's 12 voting precincts bring to the courthouse their tallies on races from city council to President, the vote totals from 24 machines must be carefully checked and recorded alongside absentee totals. Not only are there several races on the ballot, but the number of write-in candidates and the votes they are expected to receive will force Byford and the local board of elections to verify and tabulate each written vote. There is no electronic counting of write-in votes.

"There are 23 write-ins," said Byford.

And that's just for President. There are also write-ins for Congress and the statehouse.

While voter turnout is

Ledford to be new city administrator

STAFF REPORT

Adam Ledford has officially accepted the position of Marion City Administrator after being approved by the city council last week. He will start next month.

Ledford, 39, is the current city administrator in Sac City, Iowa, a small town of about 2,200. He will take over from Gary Barber, who has been filling the position in Marion on a part-time basis since former city administrator Mark Bryant was fired after having been arrested in July on drug trafficking and other charges.

"I plan on being in the office down there on Dec. 19," said Ledford.

The native of Eldorado, Ill., and his wife Brandie have an 8-year-old son.

America at crossroads: Don't get fooled again

We are quickly approaching one of the greatest moments of truth this nation has ever faced as we make some serious choices on Tuesday. The mood I've sensed about this seems to be largely one of depression and disappointment at the choice of candidates offered. There seems to be a certain fatalism and pessimism in the air.

I have heard it said that we get the candidates we deserve. Scary thought! Our politics have been corrupted for so long that we have very low expectations. Attack ads are the rule rather than the exception.

It wasn't always so. Many decades ago when Peter Marshall served as U.S. Senate Chaplain, he held a greater vision for us, exemplified in a poem written by Josiah Gilbert Holland:

"God give us men! A time like this demands

Mark GIRTEN
Guest columnist
Pastor's Pen

"Strong minds, great hearts, true faith and ready hands;
"Men whom the lust of office does not kill;
"Men who possess opinions and a will;
"Men who have honor; men who will not lie;
"Men who can stand before a demagogue and damn
"His treacherous flatteries without winking!
"Tall men, sun-crowned, who live above the fog

"In public duty and in private thinking."
Did you get that last part that says, "who live above the fog in public duty and private thinking?"

We live in an age where duty has been replaced with selfish opportunism. Too many public officials have sold us out for personal gain. I hear people approve a candidate for being so smart, yet that person has no integrity. Hitler was smart, but I wouldn't want him for a public official. Yet we are seeing just that in many instances: deceit and evil hiding behind charisma. When will we learn and stop falling for it?

How did we come to this sorry state of affairs? We came to it by being uninformed, undiscerning, uncaring, uninvolved and unaccountable. Instead, we've been depressed, distressed, demoralized and disengaged. We've traded courage of our convictions and civility for cynicism, complaint and criticism.

Remember that part of the poem already quoted that says, "...who live above the fog in public duty and private thinking." Is our private thinking that of the flower children of the 60s? They promoted love and peace, but the so-called free love came at the cost of venereal disease and broken relationships and homes. The peace was a naive idea that neglected evil and man's sinful nature.

Or is our private thinking like radical groups of the 60s like the Black Panthers who believed violence and force was the answer? We have today's version of that in the Black Lives Matter movement. Criminal behavior is being given a free pass by our current President, his corrupt attorney general and a current presidential candidate. This sort of thinking fosters lawlessness and anarchy, and it leads to destruction. Is this the sort of thinking we support either actively or passively as we fail to take a stand against such evil?

We've been down this road before. One of the definitions of insanity is doing the same thing over and over and expecting a different outcome. Let's stop the insanity when we go to the voting booth. Let's stop the insanity by refusing to fall for lies marketed in a pretty package. Let's stop the insanity of blind party loyalty. Loyalty to God should and must come first if we have any hope of survival as a nation.

We live in the Bible Belt, yet you'd never know it by the way some who are called by His name vote. J.I. Packer, an English pastor and author, said of the Bible Belt in America that it's "a thousand miles wide and one inch deep." We have failed to a large extent to allow God's Word to guide our thinking. Biblical illiteracy too often is a problem even in the church. How sad and tragic! If this trend isn't reversed, it will be the death of us. The U.S. will join that long list of nations and empires that died because of godlessness and moral decline. Are we so arrogant that we think it can't happen to us?

A lot depends on how we think. Proverbs 23:7, speaking of how a person thinks says, "as he thinks within himself, so he is." Our thinking leads to our character, and our character leads to our actions.

Will we aspire to that which is godly and honorable or that which supports evil and deceit? How you will vote says a lot about the kind of person you are and the kind of America you want.

"God give us men! A time like this demands Strong minds, great hearts, true faith and ready hands; Men whom the lust of office does not kill; Men whom the spoils of office cannot buy.; Men who possess opinions and a will; Men who have honor; Men who will not lie...." Does this express your desire? Is this your fervent prayer?

God has placed us here for such a time as this. Will duty and right thinking under God and His Word prevail in this election? Let us do our part to see that it does! Don't be fooled about a candidate's true character, but choose that candidate closest to God's standard.

What do Donald Trump and Sarah Palin have in common?

Both declared to run on a Republican ticket.

Sarah Palin is a born-again Christian and the left-leaning media worked with the Democratic Party to destroy her and her children when she got into politics.

Donald Trump, whom I have never heard say is a born-again Christian, has had the same people trying to destroy him and his family. Yet his dirty mouth never killed an ambassador to Syria, or let our highly-classified secrets get to the Russians.

What poetic justice. Now those same Russians are giving us Hillary's highly-classified secrets.

In the list of the 46 Declared Goals of the Communist Party to take over America, number 15 says this: "Capture one or both of the political parties in the United States."

Google has the entire list if you care enough to look.

Rev. Lucy TEDRICK
Guest columnist
Religious & Political Views

Every one of the 46 have been accomplished, and 98 percent of the American media is in the tank for the Democrat Party. Both are against everyone and everything that this country was founded on.

Some years back I wrote a column asking "Where did my Grandmother's Democrat Party go?" and a defensive feed-back came, but no real answers.

How grievous it is to see the majority of the God-blessed American voters want leaders who want babies slaughtered as they struggle to get out of their mother's womb, same-sex marriages, men using little girls' restrooms and thieving and lying politicians to rule over the best nation on earth. It breaks my heart.

The Communist Party U.S.A. backed Obama, Socialist Bernie Sanders,

Hillary and it is salivating over progressive Tim Kaine, Hillary's runningmate. The Party said, "He's a great choice," and just made the following statement in one of their recent editorials:

"With Sen. Bernie Sanders endorsing Secretary of State Hillary Clinton, the message was loud and clear: We're stronger together. That is what it will take to win in November. Winning in a landslide is needed now more than ever, and that landslide for Clinton could swing control of the Senate to Democrats, and other potential positive effects could be felt on the down ballot congressional and state races."

Please read all of that again!

If this does not scare honest Americans who hate the word communist and all of its atheistic, murderous, brutal slaughter of millions of people in Russia, China, North Korea, Cuba and everywhere it has ever held sway, then I am scared of honest Americans.

Please remember God has given America the right to choose her leaders, which most of the world does not have.

If we do not care enough to elect people who will fight against the Communist and Muslim takeover of America, then the devil will get his people to elect his minions. You too will suffer along with all of us who do care enough to get informed and go vote. We must vote for the one that will come against this awful evil the Communist cartel has used for 30 years.

As I stated before, God has used unsavory men to stop the takeover of His people in many cases in history. Read the Bible.

While doing it, hear Daniel in one of those cases: "That the living may know that the most High rules in the kingdom of men, and gives it to whomsoever He wills, and sets up over it the basest of men." 4:17.

The pagan kings of Babylon: Nebuchadnezzar, Darius the Mede and Cyrus the Persian were all used by God in rebuilding Jerusalem. God's House and the city walls, for His people.

In 70 A.D., He used the Roman pagan Vespasian's son, Titus, to demolish that same city, city walls and the House of God because His people had turned their backs on Him and patterned their lives after their pagan, Godless neighbors.

What people does all that bring to your mind?

He had warned them over and over, "The wicked shall be turned into hell, and all the nations that forget God." Ps. 9:17

He has warned America by the same words.

If Hillary gets in, she will finish bringing down God's judgment on this nation with her godless appointments to the Supreme Court who will rule out God's Word for us to preach and obey.

"For the nation and kingdom that will not serve thee shall perish; yes, those nations shall be utterly wasted." Isaiah 60:12.

To not vote or to vote for a write-in, or one of the two minor parties, gives Hillary two votes.

Livingston Hospital Foundation awards $40,000 grant to LHHS

STAFF REPORT

Livingston Hospital Foundation has made its first-ever grant to Livingston Hospital. The Foundation granted $40,000 to LHHS to help purchase 26 new, state-of-the-art IV pumps.

The Alaris system is a smart pump that contains advanced technology and software to notify clinicians when an infusion is outside of normal range, which helps avoid confusion of medication errors.

"The nursing staff and patients at LHHH will benefit greatly from this new technology," said Chief Nursing Officer JoAnna Stone, "not only do these pumps increase patient safety, they will also help increase nursing efficiency and improve the overall care we provide to our patients." Throughout the past year, Livingston Hospital Foundation has conducted fundraisers and also received many individual gifts that helped make this grant possible. "We are so grateful to our community for their support of the Foundation," said Crissy Carter, Executive Director. "This is a great example of what is possible through the power of philanthropy."

Livingston Hospital Foundation is a non-profit organization, founded in 2015 to raise funds to support programs, services, technology and patient services at Livingston Hospital & Healthcare Services.

Bowtanicals tapped Chamber's Business of Month for October

STAFF REPORT

The staff and management at Bowtanicals in Marion are finding fewer and fewer days to catch their breath.

"Used to be that summer was our slower time, but that's tourist season and we're staying pretty busy all year round," said Elliot West, one of the owners.

Crittenden County Chamber of Commerce named Bowtanicals its Business of the Month for October.

West said the fall holiday season, including Christmas, are big boosts for the flower and gift business. The shop has novelties of all sorts and sees a huge uptick in sales around Valentine's Day and Mother's Day.

Located on one of the most visible corners in Marion, on Main Street sandwiched between two banks, Bowtanicals has been under the current management for eight years. West and her husband Bobby, a local po-

2 injured in 3-car crash on U.S. 60

STAFF REPORT

Two people were injured in a three-vehicle collision around 6:20 p.m. Sunday on U.S. 60 west of Marion at Moore Hill.

According to Kentucky State Police, Clifton Arflack, 83, of Salem was operating a 2004 Volkswagen Beetle westbound on the highway when it struck a 2011 Honda CRV that was stopped on the roadway waiting for oncoming traffic to pass in order to make a left-hand turn. The CRV was being operated by Cynthia Pendley, 65, of Marion. During the collision, the CRV was pushed into oncoming traffic, striking an eastbound 2007 Lincoln Navigator operated by Chenoa Smith, 38, of Marion.

Arflack and Pendley were transported by ambulance to Livingston Hospital & Healthcare Services due to injuries sustained in the collision. Smith had two other passengers, and all three were uninjured.

All those involved in the collision were wearing their seat belts.

Kentucky State Police is investigating the collision. Crittenden EMS, a Crittenden County constable and the state highway department assisted at the scene.

Hall.

Students Mason Crider and Turner Sharp agreed that Fohs Hall was the most interesting place they visited despite seeing the home of a former U.S. senator and an early community hospital. "I learned that there used to be a basketball court in here," Sharp said standing the Fohs Hall auditorium. Tucker had explained how backboards were placed across the large center windows in the auditorium and she showed students where the cheerleaders stood and were fans sat. Crider said he learned that Fohs Hall cost $73,500 to build in 1926. "And the man that built it was born in 1884 in New York," Crider said. Students were given the entire history of Fohs and his reasons for building and giving the building to the community. Tucker said Fohs' speech at the dedication was largely to applaud the City of Marion for making great improvements since the time of boyhood when he moved to the city in 1890. "He said that the streets were mud, but now they're paved and he was escorted to the dedication in a motor car," Tucker said. She said Fohs was so proud that Marion had installed water and sewer lines and had developed a fire-fighting system in town. The student tour is sponsored by Marion Main Street Inc. Tour guides were Frank Pierce, Sarah Ford, Rita Travis and Brenda Underdown. The students also received a coloring book that was designed and illustrated by local artist Kathleen Guess with text written by Underdown, who is also a history columnist for The Crittenden Press.

Google servers to drive programs and store work. Assignments are turned in to teachers with one click and instructors, from their own computer, can monitor in real time students' efforts, such as when they are writing papers or working problems. "A teacher can follow along and provide immediate feedback," Clark said. "This is the 21st century classroom." The superintendent said the Chromebook can, in some circumstances, be taken home by the student.

Homework can be completed online or offline, he explained. The devices would be especially handy during snow days or for alternative school students. Driver said if a student is home sick, but feels like keeping up with classwork, it's made easier with this type of technology. "We had been looking at an August rollout of this," Clark said, but he indicated that the timetable is being moved up because local educators think these laptops are essential to improve learning opportunities in Crittenden County. Driver said she hopes students have them by January.

Police asking parents to record serial numbers of kids' bicycles

STAFF REPORT
Marion Police Department is asking residents to catalog their child's bicycle to make sure they can identify it in the event of theft. Officer Sean Young said the department has about 30 bikes stashed that have been recovered as stolen property, but they have no way of verifying who the owners are. Bicycles are a relatively common item stolen in the city, but without positive identification, once in the hands of police, they cannot be returned without some type of proof they belong to the person claiming them. "Without identification, we cannot return it to the right people," the officer said. In fact, the city is auctioning off several unclaimed bikes at 10 a.m. Saturday, Nov. 12 at city hall. That's why MPD is asking parents to write down the serial number from each child's bike, allowing them to easily reunite the property with its rightful owners. The serial number is generally located under the bottom bracket where the two pedal cranks meet. You can simply turn the bike upside down and record the number. If there is no serial number there, check places like the headset at the front of the bike or the rear stays. If all else fails, Young suggests parents carve or engrave some type of wording or series of numbers on the metal frame.

10,000-plus free meals served during first 2 months of school

STAFF REPORT
Crittenden County School District's free breakfast and lunch programs have been a huge hit so far this school year. Superintendent Vince Clark reported last week during the regular monthly board of education meeting that more than 10,000 free meals were served during two months of school. "The kids are participating," he said. "And I have to give kudos to the food service employees who making good meals that the kids want to eat. We're making sure that when they get to the classroom they are focused on learning and not worrying about being hungry."

The school district received a federal grant this year to make meals free to all students. In years prior, free and reduced lunches were available only to those who applied and qualified. In other school board business last week: - Ben Grainger, district technology coordinator, said a new fiber internet line to CCES should go online this week. The project was necessitated because the elementary school's wireless connection from the main campus about a half mile away had been faltering, largely because of heavy foliage between the campuses. Now, the elementary school will be connected to the high school and middle school via fiber connection that was buried along Country Club Drive. Grainger said the elementary school's download speed will go from 1 GB to 10 GB when the upgrade is online. - The board of education approved criteria for the school district's West Ken-

Facilities planning continues tonight

Crittenden County Schools Local Planning Committee will conduct a public hearing at 5:35 p.m. today (Thursday) in the high school library to be immediately followed by a committee meeting. The meeting is an informal gathering to encourage local participation through community suggestions relative to future utilization of existing facilities and construction of new buildings. tucky Work Ethic Seal that can be added to diplomas. "Not every student will qualify," Clark said. "This seal means something." Clark said educators and students refer to the seal as documentation that students have "skills to the bills." It is defined by what employers call soft skills, largely defined as social skills, communication skills and positive character traits. "This is a big deal," the superintendent added. "It adds a layer of value for students." Students need to get good grades, have good attendance, participate in school activities and have a good behavior record in order to qualify. The district thinks students who earn a seal will make good hires for local companies seeking quality employees. - Attendance for September was good throughout the district, Clark reported. Overall the attendance rate was 95.74 percent. The middle school was highest among the district's three schools with a 96.24 rate. The high school was at 94.05 and the elementary school at 95.97. - The school district is in need of substitute teachers and bus drivers. The bus driver matter is at a critical stage, as previously reported in The Crittenden Press. Clark also said it is becoming difficult to find substitutes who qualify under the normal state-mandated rules. "So we have received an emergency non-certification program," Clark said. Normally, substitute teachers needed at least 60 college credit hours to be hired. Now, the school district can train virtually anyone to be a substitute teacher through the emergency program. - There will be an active shooter training for local law enforcement this weekend on campus.

anyone’s guess, Byford is estimating about 52 percent of Crittenden County’s 6,665 registered voters will cast a ballot. As of midday Tuesday, about 140 people had already voted absentee, which continues through the close of business Monday.

Byford’s prediction is a bit lower than actual turnout for presidential elections in the county since 2000 – 60, 62, 64 and 60 percent, respectively – but rain showers predicted at press time for Tuesday could keep many voters at home. She also said she has heard many voters disgusted with the choice of candidates at the top of the ballot which may make them decide to sit out this election.

Fifty-two percent would be a vast improvement over the last general election, when only a third of Crittenden County voters polled in the gubernatorial election. Nationwide, turnout for presidential elections has been below 60 percent in every race since 1968, dipping as low as 49 percent in 1996.

Polls are open Tuesday from 6 a.m. to 6 p.m.

Statehouse write-in Crittenden County’s Lynn Bechler, R-Marion, may appear to be unopposed on Tuesday’s ballot for Kentucky’s House District 4, but a write-in filed last week will officially make his bid for a third term contested.

Don Ellis, 51, of Grand Rivers, became Bechler’s sole opponent as of last week. As a child, he went to school in Frances.

Bechler, who faced a Democratic opponent in his first two successful campaigns, was unopposed in May’s primary and has no competition from a Democrat. Ellis is running on the Green Party’s platform.

“The Democrats decided not to even run a candidate this fall, and I thought it was absolutely unimaginable that the people of the 4th District wouldn’t have a choice as to who represents them in Frankfort,” Ellis said last week in a news release. “As a father and grandfather, I feel that the Green Party’s platform makes the most sense when I look to the future of the world we are leaving to our youth.”

Ellis wants to raise the state’s minimum wage, legalize recreational marijuana and eliminate state income tax on those earning $20,000 or less.

Congressional write-ins

A write-in who filed Friday brings the total choices for U.S. Senate to four. Besides incumbent Republican Sen. Rand Paul and Democratic challenger Jim Gray, Angel Doss of Louisville and Billy Ray Wilson of London are official write-in candidates.

Joining Republican James Comer and Democrat Sam Gaskins as candidates in the general election only for the U.S. House in Kentucky’s 1st Congressional District is write-in Terry McIntosh of Paducah.

Comer and Gaskins appear on the ballot twice, once for the general election but also for a special election to fill former Congressman Ed Whitfield’s unexpired term. The winner of that race will take office Nov. 14. The winner of the general election contest will officially take the seat on Jan. 3, when the nation’s 115th Congress convenes.

together, there are 56 crosses.

Following World War II, a memorial was established at the cemetery by families of local men lost in the war and crosses engraved for each one. In the early 1990s, 10 crosses were added by American Legion Post 111 and its auxiliary to honor those who died in Korea and Vietnam. One cross was left blank and remained so until a few weeks ago, when Henry & Henry Monuments donated the engraving after a collaborative effort between the Legion and Crittenden County Historical Society to see McDowell’s sacrifice is recognized.

History has often forgotten the war that raged on the Korean peninsula from June 25, 1950, to July 27, 1953. In fact, wedged between World War II and Vietnam, it is often referred to as the Forgotten War. McDowell was one of the 33,739 Americans killed on the battlefield in Korea, and time had almost forgotten him until recent historical society research uncovered the inadvertent oversight.

According to his nephew, Derald McDowell of Princeton, J.R. was killed only three days after arriving in Korea. He said the family was told his uncle was killed by enemy artillery.

“All of a sudden, he didn’t write or anything,” said Derald, 86, and himself a veteran of Korea. “They didn’t tell us anything other than he got killed by an artillery round.”

J.R.’s short journey through life began Nov. 18, 1926, in Crittenden County. He grew up in the eastern portion of the county near the Caldwell County line. In fact, according to Derald, he went to high school across the border in Farmersville.

Following school, he was drafted into the Army during

Ceremony slated for Veterans Day

Crittenden County School District will host a Veterans Day ceremony on Friday, Nov. 11 at Rocket Arena. Veterans and the public are invited to attend.

World War II. At that time, he lived in Caldwell County. He entered service on Aug. 2, 1944, according to military records, and was sent to the Pacific Theater. There, he served as a combat infantry squad leader. He was honorably discharged in June 1946, but wasn’t finished with the military and re-enlisted with the Army.

“He wound up in Japan after the war,” said Derald. “He liked it so much, he decided to make a career of it.”

When the Cold War turned hot in the Far East, J.R. was a recruiting officer in New York State. After South Korean and American troops were overrun by the North, the U.S. military scrambled to send trained reinforcements to Korea.

As an infantryman, McDowell served among the best the Army had to offer. With Co. E, 2nd Battalion of the 25th Infantry Division’s fabled 27th Infantry Regiment, Sgt. 1st Class McDowell was likely among the first of the fresh American forces arriving in Korea to face the enemy in combat.

“They were one of the most storied regiments of the Pacific Theater in WWII and in the Korean War,” said Brig. Gen. Scott Campbell, a Crittenden County native serving as the assistant adjutant general with the Kentucky Army National Guard. “They saw some very heavy combat in Korea.”

Campbell is slated to be the keynote speaker at the Nov. 13 ceremony.

Though military records list McDowell’s date of death as Nov. 6, 1950, an article in The Crittenden Press from the summer of 1950 tells he was first reported missing in action on July 25. Campbell said the November date could have simply been when the death was confirmed after enemy-held territory was retaken.

A funeral for McDowell was not held locally until five years later. According to The Press at the time, his body was finally returned home for a Dec. 11, 1955, funeral at Sugar Grove Church.

“I just got back from Korea when they had his funeral,” Derald McDowell said. “I think all it was was set a dog tags.”

He was survived by his mother, two sisters, a brother and two half-brothers. Derald said his uncle’s grave is in the rear corner of Sugar Grove Cemetery.

Technically, the Korean War never ended. Tensions remain high on the peninsula and hostilities quieted only after the 1953-cease fire. Still, Campbell said 90 or so Americans have been killed along the demilitarized zone since that time.

“After the war was over, you were liable to get shot anytime,” Derald said.

Local Korean War veterans are invited to be honored at the Nov. 13 ceremony. Contact Daryl Tabor at (270) 704-6402 in order to be recognized at the event.

He must hold firm to the trustworthy word as taught...

Titus 1:9

Pastor
Chris
McDonald

Local conference aims to show men God’s tools

STAFF REPORT
The Bible is very clear, says Pastor Chris McDonald, men are to understand their role in the home and in the community and to accept it.
The non-dinominational Life in Christ Church where McDonald has been pastor for eight years is hosting a two-day men’s conference starting Friday night.
The Book of Titus, chapter 1 verse 9, says this about a man: “He must hold firm to the trustworthy word as taught, so that he may be able to give instruction in sound doctrine and also to rebuke those who contradict it.”
McDonald said the conference will provide men of all stripes the tools they need to be strong followers of Christ and it will empower them to be leaders within the family, community and beyond.

“God’s plan is for men to lead,” McDonald said. “Things are messed up in our society.”
More than 80 have already pre-registered for the event, but walk-ins are accepted either day. Cost is $15.
The conference starts at 6:30 p.m., Friday with a session and dinner. It will resume at 9 a.m., Saturday with doughnuts and coffee before two morning sessions of about 40 minutes each. Afterwards, there will be a question and answer session. McDonald and Pastor Brian Gibson of River City

Church in Owensboro will be the featured speakers. Gibson is a graduate of Oral Roberts University and founded the church in Owensboro that now has about 1,000 members.
The primary object, McDonald said, is for this conference to give men what they need to be successful in God’s mission.
“There will be men here who are living it out and there will be men who maybe are going to church but still need the tools to do the job. People can succeed if they have the right tools,” McDonald said.
For more information about the event, call the church at (270) 965-9200.

STEPPING STONES

Weekly Devotion

By JOEY DURHAM
GUEST COLUMNIST
My devotion is “Putting Away Bitterness” and my text is Ephesians 4:31, where we read, “Let all bitterness, and wrath, and anger, and clamour, and evil speaking, be put away from you, with all malice:” (KJV) A sad reality of life in this fallen world is that people will hurt us. Sometimes it is unintentional, such as the person who has forgotten a promise or a commitment that was made to you. However, other times people wound us with malice and spitefulness, even among those who testify that they are saved by God’s grace. In a fallen world, cruel, selfish and thoughtless people are all around us. It is a fact of life. Therefore, all of us need to be reminded of the command in our text to get rid of bitterness.

Bitterness is a sin that can destroy your life. If not dealt with according to God’s Word, it can be a devastating tool used by Satan to cause countless problems, emotional, spiritual, and even physical. It can have a profoundly detrimental impact upon your life. Bitterness will stunt your spiritual growth as a Christian and will literally destroy your testimony for Christ to the point that you will be useless as a witness of the Gospel and thereby, be the “excuse” many of the unsaved will use to reject Christ as their Savior. What a tragedy that would be! Perhaps bitterness is something with which you are struggling. Maybe you know a close brother or sister in Christ who is struggling in this area. Consider the exhortation in our text today, “let all bitterness...be put away from you” in its entirety.

(Editor’s note: Joey Durham, pastor of Sturgis Baptist Church, shares his views periodically in this newspaper. His opinions are his own and are not necessarily those of this

Crews peel back layers toward Jesus’ tomb

A restoration team is peeling away marble and other layers for the first time in centuries, revealing Jesus’ tomb in Jerusalem at the Church of the Holy Sepulchre.
Crews have reached the innermost chamber of the tomb and will keep going, looking for what they believe is the original rock surface where Jesus’ body was laid. Many historians have long believed that the original cave, identified a few centuries after Jesus’ death as his tomb, was obliterated ages ago. But an archaeologist accompanying the restoration team said ground penetrating radar tests determined that cave walls are in fact standing behind the marbled panels that have been removed.

National Geographic, including archaeologist Fredrik Hiebert and Greek teams are leading the work, which is part of a historic renovation project to reinforce and preserve the Edicule, the chamber housing the cave where Jesus is said to have been entombed and resurrected.

Oratorical contest offers scholarship money

Area students 20 and under who attend high schools or are home-schooled in the 1st District of the Kentucky American Legion are invited to participate in the 2017 American Legion Oratorical Scholarship Contest with an opportunity to win up to $18,000 in unfettered scholarships.

The 1st District consists of schools and students from Crittenden, Livingston, Lyon, Caldwell and several other western Kentucky counties.

The contest will be conducted Sunday, Jan. 22, 2017 at the Murray/Calloway County Senior Citizens Center at 2 p.m. The center is located at 607 Poplar St. in Murray.

Contestants will be required to present a prepared oration 8-10 minutes in duration on some aspect of the Constitution of the United States with an emphasis on the duties and obligations of citizens to our government.

Contestants will also be required to speak for 3-5 minutes about an assigned topic that will be drawn from these four Amendments: 7, 10, 16 and 17.

Students interested in competing can obtain complete rules by going to AmericanLegion.org and clicking on "Oratorical Contest."

All students need to either contact their local American Legion Post or email District Coordinator Mark Kennedy at usmc1965@bellsouth.net. Those without email can call Kennedy at (270) 752-3333 to receive a pamphlet by mail.

Veterans aid offered in western KY

A benefits representative for Crittenden County with the Kentucky Department of Veterans Affairs has revised his monthly schedule for meeting with clients.

Johnny Allen will be at the Morganfield Senior Citizens Center the first Tuesday of each month and at the Henderson OET office the second Tuesday to go over VA benefits with veterans.

Both dates are by appointment only. Appointments are also available each Thursday at the Hanson Veterans Center, every Wednesday at the Owensboro VA Clinic and the fourth Tuesday at the Hartford Kentucky Career Center.

Walk-ins only are encouraged to meet with Allen every Monday at the Hanson Veteran Center or Owensboro VA Clinic on the third Tuesday of each month.

To make an appointment or for more information, contact Allen at (270) 399-1618 or email Johnny.Allen@ky.gov.

Storybook champs

Votes were tallied last Wednesday from 100 student entries and 10 teacher submissions for the first Storybook Pumpkin contest conducted by Crittenden County Elementary librarian Mary Ann Winders. First-place recognition was given in five age divisions, with each winner receiving a $20 gift certificate to the upcoming book fair. Preschool winner was Brier Brown (inst) for his Chip and Dale entry. Other winners are (from left) Brodi Rich, K-1 for "Minnie Blooming Bows"; Morgan Piper, grades 2-3 with "Fancy Nancy"; Allyson Bradham, grades 4-5 with "If You Give a Mouse a Cookie," Drake and Jamie Young in the family category for "The Very Hungry Caterpillar"; and teacher Mandy Perez for her "Frozen: A Tale of Two Sisters" entry.

Heritage Society previews veterans stories

Fredonia Valley Heritage Society will meet at 6 p.m. today (Thursday) the Fredonia Lions Club Building for its annual Thanksgiving potluck meal.

Following the supper, the program for the evening will be a presentation by Robert Ward of the Col. Stephen Trigg Camp of the Sons of the American Revolution to honor our members who are veterans. In addition, Pam Faughn will share a few unique stories that have been presented for the new veterans book in the process of being compiled. Also on the agenda will be a business meeting.

The veterans book will be the society's third publication, and will feature veterans from the Fredonia Valley. Although the compilation is already in progress, it is still not too late to be included.

"If you or a member of your family served in any branch of the military at any time in history and is connected to the Fredonia Valley, we want to include them in our book," said Faughn. "All you have to do is to provide a picture and a biography of the veteran within the next couple of weeks."

Photographs and biographies may be emailed to pamfaughn@att.net.

The Fredonia Valley Heritage Society is for anyone interested in learning more about the heritage and history of the Fredonia Valley and for those who want to see the history of our community preserved for future generations.

Night at the zoo

Participants in the Bridgeway Academy at Crittenden County Middle School recently went on a night safari at the Louisville Zoo. The students had the opportunity to spend the night in the zoo and have hands-on time with some of the animals. Under the supervision of Bridgeway Academy director Melissa Shewcraft, the students also took a brief tour around the University of Louisville campus.

Scouts host Food Drive

Boy Scouts in Marion and Crittenden County will be collecting non-perishable food items Nov. 19. All food collected will be given to local food pantries, which serve the local community.

Troop 3030 will be hanging flyers on doors Saturday, Nov. 12, notifying residents that they will return between 9 a.m.-noon, Nov. 19 to collect canned goods and other non-parishable food items. You may place your food donation on your front porch before 9 a.m., Nov. 19.

Anyone who would like to deliver items may take them to the Marion United Methodist Church, located at the corner of College and Carlisle streets across from the Marion Post Office.

Scouts ask that parishable foods and no glass items be submitted.

Minding their beeswax

Dozens of people from all over western Kentucky, Tennessee and Illinois participated Saturday in bee school at the Marion Ed-Tech Center. Above, Annie Broyles conducts one of the day's lessons, "Value Added Products from the Hive." Dee Brasher, Crittenden County Cooperative Extension Agent for Agriculture and Natural Resources, said about 70 participants were on hand to hear speakers on beekeeping discuss topics like disease, winterizing the hive, Farm Service Agency programs for pollinators and forages for bees. Plans are already being made for next year's school, Brasher said.

Farmers eligible to win $2,500 for charity

STAFF REPORT

Rural communities are the backbone of America, and through the end of the month, eligible farmers in Crittenden County will have the opportunity to win a $2,500 donation to direct to a local eligible nonprofit organization. As part of the America's Farmers Grow Communities program, sponsored by the Monsanto Fund, more than $3 million of financial support will be provided to nonprofits across rural America in 2017.

Since the program began in 2010, the America's Farmers Grow Communities program has awarded more than $22 million in donations to a broad cross-section of organizations that reflect the makeup and character of rural America, including emergency response organizations, schools, youth agriculture programs and many others. More than 8,000 organizations have received monetary donations.

To show the true impact of a $2,500 donation, local farmers Kyle Newcom and Natalie Parish directed donations to Crittenden County 4-H and Crittenden County FFA, respectively, the last two years.

Crittenden County farmers can enroll in the America's Farmers Community Outreach program through Nov. 30. Online enrollment, as well as a complete list of program rules and eligibility information, can be found at GrowCommunities.com or by calling (877) 267-3332.

PUBLIC INFORMATION MEETING

Livingston County
ITEM # 1-1142

US 60 Cumberland River
"Smithland" Bridge Replacement
TUESDAY, November 15, 2016
5 p.m. to 7 p.m., Local Time
KYTC Smithland Section Office
811 US 60 East • Smithland, KY 42081

The Kentucky Transportation Cabinet and the Federal Highway Administration have scheduled a public meeting to discuss the replacement of the US 60 Cumberland River Bridge in Smithland, KY.

The meeting will be an informal format with opportunities to view displays and ask questions. Transportation employees and their consultants will have exhibits at the meeting and will share information with the public concerning the Project Design and future Right of Way acquisition impact. Anyone interested in this project is urged to attend.

Written statements will be accepted at the meeting. A comment sheet will be distributed to make it more convenient to provide written comments. Comments also may be submitted by mail before November 22, 2016, to Chris Kuntz, Branch Manager Project Development, KYTC District 1 Office, 5501 Kentucky Dam Rd., Paducah, KY 42003.

Displays and other materials presented at the meeting will be made available for review at the District 1 Office in Paducah during the same time period. Office hours are Monday-Friday, 7:00 a.m. to 3:30 p.m., local time. Comments may also be provided at this time.

All written comments become part of the official meeting record. Once compiled, the meeting record and supporting documentation will be made available for review and copying only after an Open Records Request has been received and approved. All Open Record Requests must be submitted to the Transportation Cabinet, Office of Legal Affairs, Transportation Office Bld., 200 Mero St., Frankfort, KY 40622.

In accordance with the Americans with Disabilities Act, if you have a disability for which the Transportation Cabinet needs to provide accommodations, please notify us of your requirements by November 10, 2016. This request does not have to be in writing. Please contact Chris Kuntz at the Kentucky Transportation Cabinet, District 1 address above or call (270)898-2431 for information.

Food bank gift

YTG Insurance contributed $120 to Crittenden County Food Bank last quarter as part of its referrals program. Pictured are YTG's Tanner Tabor and food bank volunteer Minnie Lou Brown. The local insurance company offers $10 for each referral. It makes contributions to a different charity each quarter. The chosen charity for the final quarter of this year is the Crittenden County Coalition for a Drug-Free Community.

Dry conditions persist

STAFF REPORT
Dry conditions persist across Kentucky, including Crittenden County, where just more than a half-inch of rain fell in October.
The drought is increasingly damaging pastures across the commonwealth, where 33 percent of grazing land is rated poor to very poor, according to the USDA National Agricultural Statistics Service's weekly report released Monday. That's up 12 points from last week.
But livestock appear to be surviving well and are in good shape, with 80 percent rated good to excellent and another 16 percent rated fair.
With 97 percent of corn crops harvested in the commonwealth and three-quarters of soybeans collected, Kentucky's largest grain crops have escaped harm from the dry conditions. Winter wheat, 75 percent of which is seeded, appears to be faring well, with only 7 percent of the crops rated as poor to very poor.

In Crittenden County, according to the Kentucky Mesonet weather and climate data monitoring station, only 0.62 inches of rain fell in October. That makes the month the driest October since the station began recording data in 2009. Only 6.41 inches have fallen since Aug. 1.
Last month was also the warmest October recorded at the station with an average daily high of 75.4 degrees.

USDA simplifying guaranteed loans for small-scale farmers

STAFF REPORT
Last week, the USDA announced the availability of a streamlined version of its guaranteed loans, which are tailored for smaller scale farms and urban producers. The program, called EZ Guarantee Loans, uses a simplified application process to help beginning, small, underserved and family farmers and ranchers apply for loans of up to $100,000 from USDA-approved lenders to purchase farmland or finance agricultural operations.
"Over the past seven years, we have been transforming our loan programs at USDA so that they can be attainable and useful to all kinds and sizes of producers," said Agriculture Secretary Tom Vilsack. "These EZ Guarantee Loans will help beginning and underserved farmers obtain the capital they need to get their operations off the ground, and they can also be helpful to those who have been farming for some time but need extra help to expand or modernize their operations."

USDA also unveiled a new category of lenders that join traditional lenders in offering USDA EZ Guarantee Loans. Microlenders, which include Community Development Financial Institutions and Rural Rehabilitation Corporations, will be able to offer their customers up to $50,000 of EZ Guaranteed Loans, helping to reach urban areas and underserved producers. Banks, credit unions and other traditional USDA-approved lenders, can offer customers up to $100,000 to help with agricultural operation costs.

BASEBALL

HS umpires sought

The Second Region Pennyrile Umpires Association is looking for umpires for the 2017 baseball season. The Second Region is made up of the 5th, 6th, 7th and 8th districts that range from Henderson to Fort Campbell and Livingston to Madisonville. Any interested persons should contact regional assigning secretary Matt Bell at matt.bell@webster.kyschools.us or by phone at (270) 871-6956 for more information. Association meetings will begin in January. Umpire training is available and all umpires must be certified by KHSAA.

RECREATION

Park pavilion reservations

The Marion-Crittenden County Park has two pavilions available for residents planning special events. Each pavilion has water available nearby. With special arrangements, electricity can be made available, too. For more information or to reserve a pavilion, contact the Tourism Department at (270) 965-5015. For those who have reservations, the park encourages you to post a sign at the pavilion the morning of your event.

Fort Knox makes first ever visit to Rocket Stadium

STAFF REPORT

For the first time ever, Fort Knox and Crittenden County will meet Friday on the football field. They will open the Class A playoffs at 7 p.m., at Rocket Stadium.

The Eagles (2-8) are the Second District third-seed and visit Marion for the first time led by a 30-year military veteran, Sgt. Maj. Samuel Wilson, who describes his team as athletic but young and inexperienced.

Rocket coach Al Starnes agrees. "They scare me to death," Starnes said. "Fort Knox used to be a powerhouse and they're trying to get their identity back. If they can find a way to get some momentum, we will have trouble with them."

Crittenden County finished the regular season the second seed in the Class A First District with a 2-1 league mark – its only loss was to second-ranked Russellville – and 4-6 overall.

Fort Knox was a major force in Class 2A for several seasons in 1980s and 1990s winning three state championships and finishing runnerup twice. However, over the past decade or so, military draw downs have adversely affected the football program because the school enrollment has dropped to around 300 students in the top four grades.

Coach Wilson says student-athletes tend to play for only a couple of years at Knox before their military families are transferred to another base.

"A lot of our guys are first-year football players," he said.

Wilson has been on the coaching staff there for six years, and head coach the last two. He is also the high school baseball coach and teaches ROTC. His team deploys what he calls "a hybrid single-wing offense with some Wing-T philosophies." The Eagles will also spread the field at times although they have been desperately inefficient in the passing game. Fort Knox has completed fewer than 20 passes this season and seven times their quarterbacks have been intercepted.

"We run the ball 90 percent of the time," the coach said.

Neither Fort Knox nor Crittenden has a whole lot to brag about with regard to their respective seasons. Although the Rockets have won four games, those defeated opponents have a combined 3-35 record. The Eagles have won two games against teams that haven't won at all this year – Caverna and Shawnee. Two of the teams Crittenden beat – Todd Central and Fulton County – were winless, too.

Fort Knox has a couple of good running backs the faster of which is Kaylor Luster, who has rushed for almost 1,000 yards. Fullback Cole Wilson runs strong between the tackles. Defenders Myles Gore and Cameron Gore do much of the team's tackling, but Luster and Wilson are also strong

- Eagles are 2-8 this season
- Both teams they beat are winless this year
- Coached by Sgt. Maj. Wilson

Public meeting next step to replace Smithland Bridge

STAFF REPORT

The next step toward a new bridge over the Cumberland River at Smithland will take place later this month.

The Kentucky Transportation Cabinet and the Federal Highway Administration have scheduled a public meeting to discuss the replacement of the U.S. 60 Cumberland River Bridge in Smithland.

KyTC District 1 Chief Engineer Mike McGregor urges anyone having an interest in the project to attend.

"We'll have displays available to illustrate the design for reconstruction of the Smithland Bridge available for public review and comment," McGregor said. "This meeting will offer the public an opportunity to discuss the project with our engineering and design staff, as well as with consulting engineers from Stantec."

The meeting is not for just Livingston County residents, but anyone who may travel across the bridge, which includes many Crittenden Countians on a regular basis for school, work, shopping and doctor visits. It will run from 5 to 7 p.m. Tuesday, Nov. 15 at the KyTC Smithland Section Office at 811 U.S. 60 East. The section office is along U.S. 60 just east of the bridge and east of the Livingston County Fairgrounds entrance.

The Kentucky Legislature

included $870,000 in its Road Plan for utilities and right-of-way acquisition. Another $15 million was penciled in for construction in Fiscal Year 2018.

Regardless, a new bridge is still a few years away.

"The main thing is that this will allow us to move ahead with right of way acquisition, which is about a year-long process," said KyTC spokesman Keith Todd. "That would set things up to move ahead once full funding for construction becomes available."

McGregor said participants can provide both written and oral comments at the meeting. Comment sheets will be distributed, and a court stenographer will be available for those who desire to make a written or oral statement.

While McGregor encourages attendance at the meeting, citizens who are unable to attend may submit comments in writing before Nov. 30. Comments may be addressed to Chris Kuntz, Project Development Branch Manager, Department of Highways District 1 Office, 5501 Kentucky Dam Road, Paducah, KY 42003.

The meeting will be an informal format with opportunities to view displays and ask questions. Transportation employees and their consultants will have exhibits at the meeting and will share information with the public concerning the project design and future right-of-way acquisition impact.

Materials presented at the public meeting will be available for review at the KyTC District 1 office in Paducah until Nov. 30. Office hours for the District 1 office are 7 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. Monday through Friday. Comments may also be provided at the time of the visit.

The existing U.S. 60 Cumberland River Bridge at Smithland is also known as the Lucy Jefferson Lewis Memorial Bridge and the Smithland Bridge. The 1,817-foot through-truss structure was opened to traffic in 1931. About 5,100 vehicles cross the bridge in an average day.

Per executive order, KyTC is seeking to engage low-income and minority populations that may be present in the project area. This engagement would facilitate the identification of all potential impacts to underserved populations and the development of a range of minimization and mitigation measures that would serve to offset potential effects.

Anyone with a disability for which KyTC needs to provide accommodations at the public meeting should provide notification of requirements by next Thursday. This request does not have to be in writing. Contact Kuntz at the aforementioned District 1 address or call (270) 898-2431 for further information.

State highway workers to get raise

STAFF REPORT

More than 2,600 Kentucky Transportation Cabinet employees will be getting a raise.

The new salary adjustment, announced Monday by Gov. Matt Bevin, will affect specialized maintenance job classifications, including highway equipment operators, laborers, mechanics, machinists and welders, as well as engineering technologists. Employees, depending on their classification, could see a salary increase of up to $3.20 per hour by January 2017.

Over the last few years, the Cabinet has witnessed a reoccurring 13 percent turnover rate in maintenance staff, resulting in an alarming workforce shortfall. In fact, salary adjustments for maintenance staff have not occurred since 2006.

The salary adjustments will cost the Cabinet over $31 million annually. However, several cost-saving ef-orts including cross-training of existing workforce, improved efficiencies of snow and ice operations and decreases in miscellaneous expenditures will offset the difference of the adjustment.

"This salary adjustment is long-overdue, and I hope will show at least a small measure of the gratitude we feel for the hard-working Transportation Cabinet employees who risk their own safety on our behalf throughout the year."
