8 seek half dozen council seats McConnell making call before election

U.S. Sen. Mitch McConnell, seeking a fifth term to office, will be in Marion at 10:45 a.m., today (Thursday) at the Ed-Tech Center on Industrial Drive. The visit is a whistle stop as the Senate minority leader wraps up his campaign against Democratic challenger Bruce Lunsford. Crittenden County Judge-Executive Fred Brown said the senator will be here around 30 to 45 minutes. The public is invited.

Former President Bill Clinton will be in Paducah Friday campaigning for Lunsford.

Free dumping of large items nears

Free dumping of large items will be allowed Friday and Saturday at the county's convenience center on U.S. 60 east of Marion. Large items such as furniture, televisions and appliances will be accepted at no charge, though refrigerants should be removed from air-conditioners, freezers and refrigerators.

Household trash and small items will not be accepted without charge and contractors will not be allowed to dump for free. Also, no tires will be accepted.

The center is open from 8 a.m., to 4:30 p.m., Friday and 8 a.m., to noon Saturday.

Crittenden County Economic Development Corp., has scheduled a forum for next week to help those recently unemployed learn of educational opportunities in the county to better their chances at a new job.

MANAGING EDITOR The new government elected next month to lead the City of Marion over the coming two years will likely face some important decisions regarding the town's crumbling infrastructure. And it could be forced to implement unpopular rate increases in order to address those concerns amid a struggling economv.

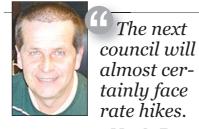

Eight candidates are on the Nov. 4 ballot seeking election to Marion City Council, but only six will be elected in the non-partisan race to join longtime Mayor Mickey Alexander as the city begins its 158th year of incorporation. Five incumbents will join three challengers for the six seats, ensuring at least half of the current council will return for another two-year term in January

City Administrator Mark Bryant said the new council will likely face major decisions regarding needed upgrades to the city's water and sewer systems that could create a need for additional revenue

"The next council will almost certainly face rate hikes," Bryant said, referring to the two utilities.

This is the first year since 2003 that water and sewer rates have not increased. For five years beginning in fiscal year 2003-04, said Bryant, annual rate increases of five percent on both water and sewer were levied.

All eight candidates, in responding to a questionnaire sent them by The Crittenden Press (see Pages 4-5), listed im-

"I've had a few people having trouble with their water having a terrible odor and having a dingy color," responded Janet Pierce, a three-term incumbent seeking re-election and the only female candidate.

'Our water and sewer plants are going to be our biggest financial challenges in the near future," agreed Don Arflack, another incumbent.

Bryant said within the coming year the city should be handed a new comprehensive plan for approval by the Marion Planning Commission. The current plan for the city's future growth and services is outdated, he said.

While not addressed by the planning commission document, several candidates voiced displeasure with the enforcement of codes, particularly

Rudd-Hart sewer project next in line

STAFF REPORT

City employees should be free as early as week to begin wrappiing up installation of long-awaited city sewer services to a cluster of homes in the southwestern portion of Marion.

Brian Thomas, utilities director for the City of Marion, told city council members Monday night that an asphalt base to be put down the following day along Fords Ferry Road signals the end is approaching on that project, one that supplied city sewer to 14 homes and widened the road inside the city.

"We should be finished by the end of this week then be able to focus on Rudd-Hart," Thomas said of the project that will make the sewer utility available to 18 homes along Rudd and Hart streets and Country Club and Oak Hill drives.

Commonly known as the Rudd-Hart project, individual lift stations, or grinder pumps, will be installed at each existing home not currently serviced by city sewer. Those pumps will grind and send waste

Flu vaccine clinics open to walk-ins

For those yet to get a flu shot, several low- or no-cost options remain in the next two weeks. In Crittenden and Caldwell counties, Pennyrile District Health Departments will offer walk-in influenza immunizations Tuesday. In Livingston County, shots will be given Oct. 30. All clinics will be held at respective departments from 8: 30 a.m., to 4:30 p.m. Immunizations will be $20 this year and Medicaid and Medicare Part B can be billed. There is no shortage of the vaccine this year, and people of all ages can get a flu shot at each of the walk-in clinics

And next month, Western Baptist Hospital will host a free community flu shot clinic on Nov. 5, from 8 a.m., until noon in the atrium of Doctors Office Building 2. Shots will not be given to children under 18 or pregnant women

Jail taking over trash convenience center

STAFF REPORT

The jail will now be in charge of trash.

That was the mandate handed down by Crittenden Fiscal Court Tuesday. Starting Nov. 3, Crittenden County Detention Center will take over operation of the county convenience center on U.S. 60 East, which has been managed by Freedom Waste.

The convenience center took the place of the county dump when it closed many years ago. The company with the franchise agreement to collect the county's residential and commercial garbage has always been responsible for running the site.

Over the years, there have been various complaints, county officials have said, mostly about the inconsistent prices charged for loads of garbage.

"That will be one of the main things they will be focusing on," Judge-Executive Fred Brown said, pointing to the new operators. "We will have some type of consistent rate structure.

Brown also said the convenience center will eventually have longer hours. For now, it will be open as normal, from 8 a.m., until 4:30 p.m., weekdays, except Thursday, and from 8:30 until noon on Saturday. Brown said at some point, plans are to open the facility on Thursdays, too.

A deputy jailer will be on duty at the center at all times and inmates will be there to help sort trash and otherwise manage the garbage.

In return, the Crittenden County Detention Center will be paid $1,500 per month by Freedom Waste. Additionally, the jail will get any other proceeds derived from selling recyclable materials.

Judge Brown told them that Freedom Waste has a contract to collect all of the residential and commercial garbage in the county. He said only two small, local providers - James Dempsey and James Todd - have exclusions to the solid waste contract. Those two were "grandfathered" in, Brown said, because they have been hauling trash here for many years.

All other trash collectors were advised by letter recently to cease operations in the county due to the contract Crittenden County has with Louisvillebased Freedom Waste.

Relay kickoff meeting set for tonight

Relay for Life, the American Cancer Society's national signature activity, is on the move again in the area.

A meeting to acquaint potential participants with the overnight, late-spring event has been scheduled for 6 p.m., today (Thursday) at Marion Baptist Church Family Life Center. The kickoff is open to the entire community.

"We encourage anyone interested in Relay for Life or just learning more about the American Cancer Society to attend," said Stephanie Elder, community representative for the American Cancer Society office in Paducah each team is on the track during the event. Entertainment is provided by local musical groups.

The purpose of the Relay is to seek funds to help fight cancer and to bring about greater awareness of the disease. Money is raised through pledges and luminaries sold in honor of a cancer victim or survivor. Last year saw a record 285 luminaries sold for $5 each.

However, this year, the luminaries will cost more. Elder said because of the rising cost of supplies that make the luraising events prior to the minaries - sand, bags and candles - as well as the increased costs associated with cancer research, more and more money is needed to battle cancer.

That's why prepping for next year's event this October is so important in order to rekindle the interested that at times has raised more than $60,000 locally. Relay for Life teams,

How much is freedom worth?

The freedoms we enjoy in this country costs Jesus His life, and thousands upon thousands of our own countrymen since the Pilgrims landed on the shores of Massachusetts, proclaiming the Gospel of Jesus to be their law to live by. That state has now gone as far from God as one can get by legalizing God-cursed samesex marriages.

How ironic! The first State that the Gospel was preached and practiced in is the first State to be so abominable that it legalized the God-cursed sin of same-sex marriage

This is how far this nation has gone from its inception of being a nation that honored and venerated God, making this the greatest and most free nation in history, and the most blessed in every way. Little wonder our wealth is disappearing. God gives and God takes away.

America has been called a Christian nation for many years, because Christianity is the major faith, and our laws were based on the Bible. Not because all Americans are Christians.

Yet I heard the top presidential contender say at a Progressive (very liberal) Religious Leaders Conference in 2006, "Whatever we might have been, we are not a Christian nation. There are Jews, Buddhists, Muslims, Hindus and non-believers. Which passages of Scripture should guide our public policy? Should we go with Leviticus, which suggests slavery is okay, or Deuteronomy, which suggests stoning your child if he strays from the faith, or should we just stick with the Sermon on The Mount, a passage that is so radical that I doubt our own Defense Department would survive its application. People aren't reading their Bible." Shameful! A classic example of taking scripture out of context to avoid its truths and belittle its value, yet he says he is a Christian.

Statistics show that 76 percent of Americans call themselves Christian, and only two percent are Hindu, Buddhist and Muslim.

When we let our country get into the hands of people who pass these ungodly laws, make fun of the Bible, give as much credence to pagan religions and atheists, beliefs as to Christ and His words, we are promised by the God of the Bible that we too will lose our freedom just like all other nations whose god is not the God of the Bible.

Which Buddhist, Hindu, or Muslim country has freedom? When we cave in to the religions and laws of those that come here from other countries. can't we see we will end up turning into what they came here to escape?

All the blood, lives and limbs our men and women have given for our freedom will be lost, their horrible price for nothing.

What other nation on earth would you like America to be like? Yet so many of the liberals in Washington and the aforementioned contender wants us to pattern our laws, monetary system, and morals after Europe that our forefathers risked their lives to escape in 1620 to establish America, and millions from countries all over the world are still doing everything they can to escape to our country even today.

Do we really appreciate what our forefathers and men and women of our armed forces through the years have suffered so we doms, opportunities and affluence any nation has ever known?

We all know spoiled brats are never appreciative of anything that is done for them. Does our beloved country deserve that title? Have we been reduced to a bunch of spoiled brats?

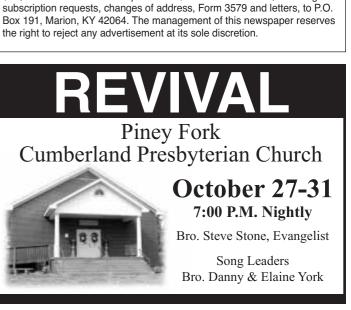

Jesus said: "If the Son therefore shall make you free, you shall be free indeed." John 8:36

Wake up America! We are the only nation on earth that has ever been called a Christian nation from its founding, and the only nation that was founded on the Bible and Gospel of Jesus Christ. No wonder we are free.

Just how much is your freedom worth? Remember when you leave God out of your life and actions, including who and what you support, you are trading off your freedom and everyone else's including your children's and grandchildren's, and trampling under foot the price Jesus and thousands of Americans have paid and are paying for it.

"For the nation and kingdom that will not serve thee shall perish; yea, those nations shall be utterly wasted. Isa. 60:12.

Jailer resting after open-heart surgery

One of the county's top elected officials is recovering in a Paducah hospital after heart surgery.

Crittenden County Jailer Rick Riley underwent openheart surgery Tuesday at Lourdes Hospital to remove blockage in the arteries carrying blood from his heart. Riley was said to be resting well Tuesday afternoon after a multiple bypass surgery.

While Riley is recovering, Melissa Agent and Tammy Robertson, two majors serving under the jailer, will run the detention center.

Sheriff Wayne Agent, who employed Riley as a deputy in his department before the election that put Riley in charge of the jail, said the blockage was discovered when the 61-year-old was being checked out for a diabetes-related problem.

"That is the biggest, most stressful job in the county," Judge-executive Fred Brown said of the rigors placed on any jailer overseeing the new 133-bed facility.

But Brown said Riley hopes to be back to work by the end of the month.

Meantime, District Judge Tommy Simpson is undergoing chemotherapy, according to Brown, for treatment of lung cancer.

Simpson is the district judge for Crittenden, Webster and Union counties.

Low-income aid for heat bills available

Kentucky will receive more than $75 million in federal funds to keep warm this winter and cool next summer, according to U.S. Department of Health and Human Services Secretary Mike Leavitt. They will be available to assist eligible low-income households in meeting their heating and/or cooling needs in the coming year.

"The release of these funds will help low-income families in Kentucky stay warm this winter," Leavitt said in a news release. "These funds will also help reduce the risk of health and safety problems exacerbated by exposure to extreme temperatures."

The money is administered through the Low Income Home Energy Assistance Program (LIHEAP).

States will receive their entire fiscal year 2009 block grant allocations before the close of next week. In Kenings to area churches for the feature film on marriage, "Fireproof," kept the theater in the black. And Crittenden County played a big part, wit several churches having booked showings of film.

Cherry, who has sold majority ownership to longtime manager Heidi Boyd, said the upcoming "High School Musical 3" is expected to draw large crowds.

"If the critics are right, it'll be huge," he said.

He added the slow economy could play to the theater's advantage.

"Historically, when the economy tanks, movies usually do well," Cherry said. "It's a low-cost way to get out and do something."

Safe Routes project awaiting approval

A project utilizing more than $100,000 in federal money to provide students in Crittenden County better access to schools could be six months away before the first work begins.

The Safe Routes to Schools project for which the city received $122,000 in August to improve pedestrian access to Crittenden County Middle and High schools, is currently under review by federal officials. Marion City Administrator Mark Bryant said it could be the middle of next year before the project is started.

"It is my understanding that this could take at least three months to complete, if not longer," Bryant said of the approval process.

The funding will enable the city to construct 2,350 feet of sidewalk along the north side of West Elm Street, stretching from Main Street to the school campus. The city also plans to replace a bridge across Rocket Creek with a new, four-footwide pedestrian bridge.

City tax bills due to avoid penalty

City taxpayers will have until Halloween to avoid having a penalty added to their property tax bills.

Tax bills issued by the City of Marion are normally due Nov. 1, but because that day is on a Saturday when City Hall is closed, all bills must be paid by Oct. 31 to avoid a 25percent penalty. County tax payments can be mailed or made in person at the Crittenden County Sheriff's Department, while city tax bills can be paid only at Marion City Hall.

WKU admissions counseler to visit

Hao Yuan, an admissions counselor at Western Kentucky University, will be visiting area high schools to discuss with prospective students the opportunities offered at WKU.

Yuan will visit Crittenden County High School on Oct. 29 from 11:55 a.m., to 12:25 p.m., one day after visiting Livingston Central High School from 11:30 a.m., to 1 p.m. In Caldwell County, Yuan will visit the high school on Oct. 29 from 1 p.m., to 1:30 p.m.

For more information, contact the WKU admissions office via e-mail at admission@wku.edu or by phone at 745-2551.

Club hosts annual Election Day lunch

Election Day is almost here and once again the Woman's Club of Marion is serving lunch to voters.

The lunch will be served from 11 a.m., to 2 p.m., on Nov. 4 at the club building on East Carlisle Street. This tradition is a favorite with local voters but is open to anyone who wants a good lunch. Eat in or carry out.

Tickets are $6.50 for chili, sandwich, dessert and drink. Contact any club member for your tickets or see Cindy Moore or Judy Winn for tickets or more information.

All club members are to have their food item at the club by 10 a.m., on Election Day.

Downtown tricks, treats next week

Ghouls and ghosts will be strolling the streets of Marion before dark this Halloween.

The sixth annual Trick or Treat on Main Street in Marion will be from 3:30 to 5 p.m., Oct. 31. Crittenden Health Systems and Marion Main Street Inc., are once again the co-sponsors. Children under the age of 12 may visit participating downtown businesses for free safety-tip treat bags and candy, according to Main Street director Rose Crider.

At the conclusion of trick or treating, CHS will host a costume contest. Judging will begin at 5 p.m.

Red will signify drug abuse battle

Some Crittenden County High School and Middle School students want to paint the town red in order to raise awareness of drug abuse.

The Crittenden County Chamber of Commerce, in conjunction with the schools, is planning to hang red balloons throughout town Monday. Michelle Fowler, executive secretary of the Chamber, says townspeople and merchants are encouraged to wear red on that day, too.

Have you been elected to or run for office before?	Ran unsuccessfully for city council several years ago.	Two-term city council member.	Four-term city council member.	Never been elected but ran for school board around 1970.
Why are you interested in seek- ing this position?	I want to see Marion grow and prosper. I want to see the city take a fresh look at some of the same old problems.	To continue to try to make Marion a better place and see that money is spent wisely to benefit everyone.	I would like to continue working for progress we are making in the city.	I want to give back to the city that has be- stowed on me so many blessings. I can only do that by offering my life's experi- ences to you so that I may try to make Mar- ion an even greater city.
What do you feel most qualifies you for this elected position?	Owner and manager of my own business, past management experience and leader- ship in the Chamber.	One previous term as councilman and will- ingness to speak up; open to new ideas and directions.	With eight years' experience on the city council, I think I understand what problems the city may face in the future.	I have worked for farmers, mining engi- neers, geologists, metallurgists, hydrolo- gists and myself over the last 45-plus years. Persistence and determination alone are my qualifications.
What would you most like to see addressed by city council if you are elected?	Completion of water and sewer projects to all Marion residents.	I would like to see us continue the projects in progress now and continue to work on the water and sewer plant upgrade solu- tions.	Following through on a new fire station; working with tourism to develop our natural resources and recreation opportunities.	First, we need a better source of drinking water. Second, the city must also fix the leaky water distribution lines. Lastly, we need to replace our porous sewer system along with the collection system.
In your opinion, what is the biggest issue facing our city?	Water and sewer treatment and economic growth.	Our water and sewer plants are going to be our largest financial challenges in the near future.	Working with CCEDC to help create new jobs or expand existing businesses and planning for a new sewer plant or updating the old one.	I want to help the city find a better source of raw water. The water we now have smells like pond water when heated or tastes like Clorox when you drink it. We have good water plant employees but they can only do so much with the supply of water they have to work with.
What are the biggest weak- nesses and strengths of our city?	Weakness: Aging infrastructure and many run-down buildings; Strengths: Knowledge- able, active community with potential for growth.	Weakness: Our availability of good jobs; Strength: Small-town friendliness that visi- tors like.	Weakness: Lack of good transportation abil- ities (four-lane access to interstate); Strength: People willing to work together helping each other (i.e., recent ice and wind storms).	Weakness: Our water and sewer systems. Strength: The financial soundness of our city.
What is your overall level of satisfaction with the current council?	Somewhat satisfied. The current council is a good group of people with a lot of good ideas, but I feel they have focused too hard on some issues that have no growth value for our city.	Very satisfied . We have a good, diverse group.	Somewhat satisfied. I think a lot of improve- ments have been made, such as road im- provements and a new skate park. We have been able to lower taxes and start working toward a new fire station. But I would like to see us work toward more hotel space and maybe an arena to host events such as rodeos, concerts and motorcycle races. These are long-term goals.	Somewhat dissatisfied Or I wouldn't be running. New blood, new ideas and more passion about issues is what will make Marion a better place to live.
The issue of allowing golf carts as an alter- native form of transportation on city streets remains unresolved. Do you favor or oppose a law that would allow golf carts on streets?	Somewhat oppose . I do not feel that allow- ing golf carts on city streets will increase the city's prosperity. There are too many other issues this brings up: tax and license on carts, insurance, what about ATVs? Po- lice have enough to do without chasing golf carts and enforcing this ordinance.	Somewhat oppose . Safety issues are No. 1 concern.	Somewhat oppose . As I understand the intent of the law, I would have no problem with residents living next to a golf course driving to and from the course, but would oppose more liberal driving distances. This would cause traffic and safety issues, plus require more law enforcement.	Strongly favor . If the carts have every safety requirement on them that is required on a car. I would also say that one could only cross Main Street, not drive up and down it. Why not if it will save people their hard earned money?
The City of Marion and Crittenden Fiscal Court have approved a committee to begin preliminary study of a joint city-county gov- ernment. Do you favor or oppose a joint government?	Somewhat oppose . Where do you draw the line with taxes and services? County residents will not favor any tax increase and city residents will resent their taxes being used to fund projects or services outside the city limits.	Somewhat oppose . Not really in favor, but open to study being done.	Somewhat oppose . From what small amount of information I have on this issue, it appears there may not be a lot of cost savings for small cities. But that's why a committee is looking into this issue.	No opinion . I do favor and strongly recom- mend that it be looked at in a very busi- ness-like manner in order to make sure it is good for all citizens.
What is your level of satisfac- tion with the City of Marion's efforts to enforce nuisance ordi- nances and other codes?	Somewhat dissatisfied . It is not the police department's job to enforce codes dealing with construction, overgrown lots, building conditions and disrepair. Yes, nuisances such as noises and vehicles should be addressed by police, but the city should have a code enforcement officer.	No opinion . I think some need to be revis- ited and changed. I personally don't agree with some of the codes/ordinances.	Somewhat satisfied.	Somewhat satisfied.
What could the City of Marion do to make the city a better place for its residents and visi- tors?	Improve services to residents and rid the city of dilapidated, run-down structures and buildings.	To continue to improve the looks of Main Street and downtown Marion. Do what is necessary to bring new industry to town and new jobs.	Continue to seek grants to improve side- walks and more recreation for our children.	Continue to work together for the betterment of all and to encourage people to get more involved. We need to always be looking for our weaknesses and work to fix them in a timely manner.
What could the residents of Marion do to make the city a better place?	Participate in the governing process by voicing opinions; talk to officials – let their ideas and concerns be heard.	More citizens need to get involved in the community organizations.	Most residents do a good job of helping Marion look nice and be a place people want to live and visit.	Get involved with some organization! Don't be a wallflower or a complainer unless you are willing to work to change what you are complaining about.
What makes you proud to call Marion home?	Friendly hometown atmosphere, relatively low crime and ease of accessibility to lead- ers.	It has a lot of good people and is a good place to live.	People being friendly – welcoming strangers to town in restaurants or just meeting them on the streets.	The people – both past and present – who have worked and succeeded to make our little city what it is today.

Jewell adds to record enrollment

A Crittenden County resident is among the record number of students enrolled at Transylvania University in Kentucky.

Junior Amanda Jewell, a drama and art history double major, is the daughter of Eddie and Ydonna Jewell of Marion. She is part of a record enrollment at the private school of 1,158, five more than the previous record set last year.

The record enrollment is attributed to an excellent retention rate of returning students combined with a full class of new students and 12 transfer students.

Transylvania, founded in 1780, is the nation's 16th oldest institution of higher learning and is consistently ranked in national publications as one of the top liberal arts colleges in the country.

An academically challenging program, CHA also offers opportunities for social and personal growth in a college setting. Students who complete the program receive six hours of university credit, have the opportunity to take six hours of tuition-free university courses at MSU during their senior year in high school, and will be awarded a housing/leadership scholarship to attend Murray State University.

Former city council member for 15 years, ran unsuccessfully for mayor in 2006.	Two-term Marion City Council member.	First-term Marion City Council member.	Three-term Marion City Council member.	Have you been elected to or run for office before?
To help provide the citizens of Marion the best life has to offer.	Because there are several things still to be done and I believe I can be a big help in doing them.	This is my home and I would like to ensure all our children have the opportunity to live and raise their families here.	I like being a part of a decision-making council that cares about the city and the residents. The goal of the council is to make our city a better place to live and work.	Why are you interested in seek- ing this position?
I've lived here all my life, and I see what needs to be done.	I have served on the council four years, also was a policeman 14 years, and I understand the problems (residents) face each day.	I have three years' experience on city coun- cil.	I'm a good listener and I believe that the citi- zens feel comfortable coming to me with any concerns or problems that they may be facing, knowing that I am fair and will give every issue serious consideration.	What do you feel most qualifies you for this elected position?
New fire station, water improvement.	No. 1, water and sewers. Also streets and industry. We need jobs.	Water quality and supply; sewer plant up- grades for compliance.	Making sure all residents in the city are given the opportunity to receive city sewer if they want, and making sure all projects started are finished in a reasonable time. Fi- nally, building a new fire station.	What would you most like to see addressed by city council if you are elected?
Jobs, better water.	Water and sewer lines are the biggest thing facing our city. We cannot have clean water until we have clean water lines.	Needed upgrades for our sewer plant to meet increasingly stringent codes mandated by the state.	The sewer system, and I've had a few peo- ple having trouble with their water, such as the water having a terrible odor and having a dingy color. I would like to see those issues checked into.	In your opinion, what is the biggest issue facing our city?
Weakness: Lack of jobs; Strength: Work- force	Weakness: Our code enforcement; Strength: Our police department.	Weakness: Our roads leading into and out of town for future manufacturing develop- ment. Strength: City employees.	Weakness: I can't say that I see any real weaknesses. Strength: We have a mayor, city administrator and council who works well together and are willing to bring all concerns to the table.	What are the biggest weak- nesses and strengths of our city?
Somewhat satisfied.	Very satisfied.	Very satisfied.	Very satisfied.	What is your overall level of satisfaction with the current council?
Somewhat favor.	Strongly oppose.	Strongly oppose.	Somewhat oppose. I see more disadvan- tages than advantages, but I do believe it would possibly cause more problems than we need. We would need a lot more regula- tion than I think we are aware of, but it wouldn't hurt to look at it more closely just to give it a fair shot.	The issue of allowing golf carts as an alter- native form of transportation on city streets remains unresolved. Do you favor or oppose a law that would allow golf carts on streets?
Somewhat favor.	Strongly oppose.	No opinion.	Somewhat opposed . I'm really not in favor of a joint government but I'm not opposed to selecting a committee to study the pros and cons.	The City of Marion and Crittenden Fiscal Court have approved a committee to begin preliminary study of a joint city-county gov- ernment. Do you favor or oppose a joint government?
Somewhat satisfied.	Very dissatisfied.	Somewhat satisfied.	Very satisfied.	What is your level of satisfac- tion with the City of Marion's efforts to enforce nuisance ordi- nances and other codes?

Create more jobs.	Keep doing just what they are doing. In the last five years, we have come a long way.	Improve traffic flow on Main Street.	Listen and be willing to work on all issues.	What could the City of Marion do to make the city a better place for its residents and visi- tors?
Get involved more.	The residents as a whole are keeping their properties looking nice; just keep up the good work.	Re-elect me to the city council. I think we are doing a great job.	Provide the city with more input on all is- sues and concerns.	What could the residents of Marion do to make the city a better place?
Quality of life here and its people.	Friendly people, convenient, near doctors and hospital and a wonderful small town at- mosphere.	The people you meet on the streets are the nicest people anywhere.	To see all the organizations working to- gether to keep the history of the city going and always looking ahead to how we can make our city better.	What makes you proud to call Marion home?

CCHS teens 'Drive to Stay Alive'

STAFF REPOR

Two Crittenden County High School students were among 27 throughout the commonwealth selected by Kentucky State Police to participate in last month's "Drive to Stay Alive" program. Kara Berry, a CCHS junior, and Cody McDonald, a senior, were local representatives in the program, which was held at the KSP program uses KSP instruc-McDonald tors to teach

students safe driving techniques with hands-on road driving and classroom exercises.

McDonald is the son of Tony and Penny McDonald of Marion. Berry, the daughter of Jack and Michelle Berry of Marion, is excited to bring the message that she learned from KSP back to Crittenden County.

"It was a great experience," she said. "I wish every teen could go through the 'Drive To Stay Alive' program."

Tim Lucas, Commander for the KSP Highway Safety Branch, explained that the program is designed not only to decrease teen crashes but also to provide students with the tools to be advocates in their own communities. According to Lucas, the real potential of the "Drive To Stay Alive" program begins after the students return to their schools.

"The students are teamed with an experienced state trooper to spread the message to the student body in each school and to their community as well," he says. "The effectiveness of the program is based on the concept that a message conveyed by a fellow student carries more weight with other students and is therefore more memorable.

The students will be evaluated and scored on the safe driving programs they present to their respective schools and communities. The students with the most effective programs are eligible for scholarship funds. Their schools will be rewarded as well.

Last year in Kentucky, teen drivers accounted for 23,113 collisions. Of that figure, there were 112 fatalities. Even more alarming, are the 2007 Driving Under the Influence (DUI) charges for drivers between the ages of 16-19. There were 3,108 first offense DUI charges and 177 second offense charges filed in Kentucky district court last year.

"The goal of this program is to decrease teen fatalities on Kentucky roadways," says Kentucky State Police Commissioner Rodney Brewer. "Nationally, motor vehicle crashes are the leading cause of death among teenagers."

Commissioner Brewer believes the "Drive to Stay Alive" program will have a lasting effect on teens like Berry and McDonald.

"These students have a unique opportunity to make a real difference," says Brewer.

Have you been elected to or run for office before?	Not elected to public office, but to CCES and CCMS SBDMs.	First-term board of education member for Dis- trict 4, Crittenden magistrate in early 1980s.	First-term board of education member for District 3.	Two-term board of education member for District 1.
Why are you interested in seek- ing this position?	We have a responsibility as parents and members of a community to be involved and stay involved. My husband received a great education in Crittenden County. I want to help offer the same opportunity to my chil- dren and all children who attend school here now and in the future.	I hold the office now and think our school system is on the verge of becoming one of the top districts in the state. I would like to stay on to continue helping do what we're doing to get there.	I am excited about the positive direction that our schools are headed and want to con- tinue to encourage and support the momen- tum. Students will be the beneficiaries of the improvements that are occurring. Serving students and schools is a perfect way to ex- press my passion for lifelong learning.	To help ensure that my child and all stu- dents receive the best education possible and are prepared for the future.
What do you feel most qualifies you for this elected position?	I value my own education. I worked my way through college. That may not be the quick- est way, but working for something gives you great appreciation of it. Also, my time on the SBDM Councils taught me a lot about our schools and how they function.	Have been on the board for four years, have got 160 hours of Kentucky School Board Association training and I don't have a problem making a difficult decision for the benefit of the students in school system.	The fact that education has been and contin- ues to be at the heart of my life is the foun- dation of my qualifications to serve as a school board member. Education is at my core; it is my life.	Past experience in this position and the true love and concern as a parent for all stu- dents in the district.
What would you most like to see addressed by the board of edu- cation if you are elected?	Continue to expect excellence in the board- room, meeting room and classroom.	Would like for us to keep on the track we're on now with the new superintendent. She is energetic and ready to make us one of the top districts in the state.	Our primary focus should always be provid- ing the leadership and resources to ensure that our students graduate prepared for life.	As a board, we have currently addressed driving instruction and academic proficiency by 2014 to make Crittenden County schools the top school in our state. I think that needs to continue to be our focus.
In your opinion, what is the biggest issue facing the board of education?	Budget. I am dealing with it as a coach. I am dealing with it at SBDM meetings. We are in tough times. But, just like in our homes, if we work hard, plan well, and stay commit- ted to the things that really matter we will win.	Constantly increasing prices and declining revenue.	Ensuring teachers have the time to teach stu- dents the knowledge and skills to succeed in life. Our state should focus less on preparing for state specific tests such as the Kentucky Core Content Test and focus more on prepar- ing for tests that matter to our students' fu- tures like the ACT and/or the WorkKeys exam.	Our budget, unfunded mandates from the state and uncertain fuel and energy costs. You can help by contacting our local legisla- tors and telling them to stop or fully fund state-mandated raises.
What are the biggest weak- nesses and strengths of the school district?	Weakness: Not enough positive parental in- volvement. This resource costs schools no money, but has potential to impact students in a great way. Strength: Teachers, adminis- trators, staff who are passionate about jobs.	Weakness: Not enough revenue to provide the academic and cultural enrichment pro- grams our students need. Strength : Stu- dents and staff from the janitors all the way to the superintendent.	Weakness: Too many of our graduates are not prepared for college level coursework, employment or military service. Strength: Students and our staff. We are blessed with good students and dedicated staff.	Weakness : Reading and math at secondary level and drop-out rate. Strength : Strong col- laborative focus throughout district to target these content areas and encouraging parental support in drop-out and attendance.
What is your overall level of satisfaction with the current board of education?	Very satisfied. I am excited about the days ahead for our schools and I hope to have the opportunity to be a part of them.	Very satisfied . We work together as a team and everybody is able to voice their opin- ion. When ideas are shared, you might come up with something better than you started with.	Very satisfied . Your board of education is a team that enjoys working together with one common goal – what is best for the students of Crittenden County schools.	Somewhat satisfied . I feel we are moving in the right direction and show a strong team effort.
Do you favor or oppose a four- day school week as a way to re- duce expenses?	Somewhat favor. I can see both positive and negative. As a stay-at-home mom, our home would not be as impacted as one where both parents work and childcare would be an issue.	Somewhat oppose . The only way I would be in favor of a four-day school week is if there were substantial savings (well over $100,000) without interrupting the educa- tion of the children.	Somewhat favor. I am open to exploring any option that reduces our expenses and does not negatively impact student learn- ing.	Somewhat favor . As a board member, all options are open and in tough economic times, we will have to find ways to think outside of the box. Some form of a modified calendar could have possible benefits.
Distractions in the classroom can often be brought on by problems with discipline. Do you favor or oppose stronger discipline or dress codes for students, particularly at the middle and high schools?	Strongly favor. I believe that our dress codes and discipline are paramount in importance.	Somewhat favor . I think the board has the procedures in place if they are followed. This is more of a site-based question. Between the SBDMs, they need to sit down with the board and come up with a universal dress code and enforce it fairly.	Somewhat favor . Appropriate levels of discipline and appropriate dress of students and staff provide the setting for meaningful learning to occur. Consistency of discipline and dress codes across all schools is critical and development should involve the SBDM from all schools and the board.	Somewhat oppose . The board and SBDM of each school have set policies dealing with these issues. If consistently enforced, I see no need for new policies.
Do you believe Crittenden County graduates are prepared for college or a career?	Somewhat agree. There's still work to be done. I have heard more than once, "These kids graduate and they can't even count change!" I know our schools are working on this and many other life skills that are necessary.	Somewhat agree. I feel like the ones that want to be prepared for college and a ca- reer can be. Also, I think the WorkKeys testing is going to make a big difference.It will give students a chance to know what they're ready for in the working world.	Somewhat agree . College statistics and employer and armed services recruiter feedback support the fact that too many of our graduates are not prepared for college, a career or the armed services.	Somewhat agree . However, I believe there is always room for improvement with technology constantly changing.
What could the board of educa- tion do to make the district bet- ter for its students and teachers?	Stay committed. Stay focused. Communi- cate. Care. If we do these things, we will succeed.	Right now, it would be to continue with the things we have started. I think in the next two to three years you are going to see a significant improvement in test scores.	The board can improve the district by work- ing with students, parents, teachers, staff, employers, the community and legislators to ensure that our energy and resources are fo- cused on preparing our students for life.	The Board is reaching out to students, teachers and staff for comments and suggestions on how to improve all areas of our district. The Board has developed goals and commitments to improve quality in education.
What could parents and stu- dents do to make the district better?	Parents, be involved. Stay involved. Nothing is a better investment than time invested into a young person's life. Students, take pride in school and community. Work hard.	Parents could become more involved with the school system. Students could become more involved in education process by making suggestions to board and teachers.	Parents and students must make education a lifelong priority. If parents and students value education, our district and community will experience unprecedented improvement.	Parents have the greatest influence on their children and need to reinforce daily the impor- tance of education. As for students, they need to realize the sky is the limit for potential.
What makes you proud to send your students to Crittenden County schools?	This district has the same potential as the school district I grew up in that was in the top 10 percent of Texas. My dream is that ours is a district that other districts visit and say, "How did you do this?" I believe we are positioned to do great things.	I believe Crittenden County is the best school district there is around here. We've always got kids from surrounding counties wanting to come to school here. It's getting better everyday.	Our history of achievement and our future of unlimited possibilities (which are quite prob- able) make now the best time ever for a stu- dent to be enrolled in Crittenden County schools.	I feel Crittenden County has the most dedi- cated and caring faculty and staff in our area. You can see the high level of commit- ment throughout our district with the focus being on continued improvement in educa- tion.

We were surprised to read in the newspaper last week that attendance was down at Dycusburg Day. Minor maintenance prolongs deck

A wooden deck can be an attractive addition to a home offering additional entertaining space during the year's warmer months. Decks can also be a major investment that with a little care can remain looking good for years.

It doesn't take much work to keep your wooden deck looking good according to Linda Adler, UK extension specialist for home furnishings. She recommends to regularly remove dirt, mildew, and tannin (plant) stains to help wood last and look better longer.

Keep debris from collecting in the gaps and joints. This allows the wood to stay dry by exposing it to the sun and air. Otherwise, pressure-treated wood may darken and mildew while other woods may rot and eventually require replacement.

Occasionally sweep or hose foliage and other large debris off your deck. Remember, the longer sticks and decaying leaves sit on the surface, the more chance they have to stain and rot the wood.

Twice a year, lightly scrub your deck using a solution of warm water and a few squirts of liquid dishwashing detergent and a stiff-bristle brush. Check with a home improvement store for a deck brush with a broom handle so you don't have to do this on your hands and knees. Every two years or so, give your deck a more thorough cleaning. You can use a two-step scrubbing method as outlined in the UK publication, Hit the Deck! Care and Maintenance of Outside Decks, or, if you're handy with tools, you can power spray

Decks take a great deal of abuse from rain, snow, wind and sun. Although you can't change the weather, you can prolong the life of your deck by applying a finish. Ideally, wooden decks should be refinished in the fall, if needed, and kept clear of snow and ice during the winter.

Before applying a finish, clean the deck's surface. If the deck has previously been finished with a sealer, you will need to sand off any glossiness using a stiff fiber brush and a mild an airless sprayer. However, detergent. Otherwise, the wood won't absorb the finish. Rinse well and allow time to dry.

Time your work to avoid direct sunlight when applying the finish. Don't apply a finish if rain is expected within 24 hours. Allow enough time to complete the job, based upon your basic mechanical skills and speed. For an 8-foot by 10foot deck, time estimates range from four hours for an experienced person to eight hours for a beginner.

You have two choices for penetrating materials for finishes - sealers and stains. Sealers are transparent unless you buy a pigmented sealer. They prevent wood from absorbing water and delay the effects of weathering. Select one with a mildewcide to prevent mildew and rot. Stains both color and seal the wood. They're useful for covering up the green tinge of pressure-treated lumber. Semi-transparent stains tint the wood but allow the wood grain to show. Solidcolor stains can be as opaque as paint.

You have options for applying the finish. A paint brush will take longer than either a standard roller or a brush is easier for some people. Many professionals use an airless sprayer. Although it's fast and easy to use, be sure to protect the siding of the house and the ground underneath in case of overspray. Also, choose a day with little or no breeze. It's wise to start by spraying the understructure of the deck first. This gives you a chance to learn the technique before doing the more conspicuous upper side.

Try Green Tomato Pie

Since it's about time for the last of the tomato crop, I thought you would enjoy this pie recipe. It was sent to me by Evelyn Hamilton who received it at a Homemaker club meeting in the 1950's.

I took the liberty of adding a few steps, the time for baking and temperature to assist new pie makers.

Green Tomato Pie

2 cups sliced green tomatoes (sliced thin) 2 tablespoons lemon juice 1 teaspoon grated lemon

1/2 teaspoon salt 1/4 teaspoon cinnamon

2 tablespoons cornstarch 3/4 cup sugar – or more 2 tablespoons butter Pastry for 9-inch 2-crust

pie Extra butter and sugar for topping

Wash and thinly slice tomatoes. No need to peel. In a saucepan, combine tomatoes with lemon juice, lemon rind, salt and cinnamon. Cook tomato mixture over low heat, stirring frequently. Combine sugar and cornstarch; stir into tomato mixture. Cook mixture until clear, stirring constantly. Add butter, remove from heat, and let stand until slightly cooled. Line a 9-inch pie plate with pastry; pour in tomato mixture. Top with second crust, or cut strips of unbaked crust and make a lattice top. Seal edges, crimp, and cut several small slits in crust to allow steam to escape. Dot with butter, sprinkle with sugar and bake at 425° for 35-45 minutes and bake until the crust is done and evenly browned. Serve warm or cooled.

Tip: If your pies tend to over-brown, cover the entire crust with foil for 20-30 minutes. Remove foil for the final minutes of baking.

Wreck of the Golconda killed Tolu farmer

In The Crittenden Press, Aug. 22, 1901 are the headlines and story of the disaster of the steamer boat City of Golconda that was on its way to Paducah.

What connects this story to Crittenden County is that two of its passengers were from here, and most likely they were picked up at the Tolu dock, near their home in the small river town.

One perished by drowning and one lived to tell the story. Here is that story.

Many Perished in River Disaster

Tuesday morning Mr. R.C. Walker, editor of The Crittenden Press, received a telegram from Mr. J.M. Worten of Paducah, stating that the steamer Golconda had sunk. Later dispatches brought the following details of the awful accident.

The steamer City of Golconda sank four miles above Paducah Monday night and 16 or 17 lives were lost. The boat was caught in a storm which came up suddenly and there was scarcely a moment's warning. The disaster occurred between six and seven o'clock. Most of the passengers were at supper. The boat was turned completely over by the force of the wind, the stacks and pilothouse resting on the bottom of the river. There were about 30 people aboard.

The little craft was en route to Paducah from Golconda and was due here at seven o'clock. Shortly after six a heavy gale having the proportions of a hurricane, swept down on the boat as she reached the bar and set her to rocking. Capt. A.A. Peck, who was at the wheel in the pilothouse, rang the signal to stop.

When he rang the bell to go ahead there was no response. The maddening winds and threatening tongues of fire being belched out in quick succession from the clouds above them put the passengers in a panic.

Capt. Peck rang again, but received no response and he and Charley Courant, a passenger from Smithland, in the pilothouse with him made for the hurricane roof. They met the engineer, his wife and little boy coming onto the roof. They had hardly reached it before a powerful wave of wind capsized the boat and completely turned her upside down, the smoke stacks, pilothouse and a portion of the hurricane roof resting on the bottom of the Ohio.

Large groups of people are at the scene of the wreck, where three divers are at work. This afternoon five of the bodies, all recovered thus far, arrived on the steamer Mary N. They were Mrs. Dave Adams and her niece, Miss Lacey Barnett, Miss Tricie Grimes, Miss Lizzie Graham and Mrs. W.A. Hogan. The two former will be taken to Birdsville this afternoon on the yacht Brookhill for burial

Further particulars of the disaster

Sixteen lives were lost in the terrible river disaster of last week. Nearly all the bodies have been recovered by the divers. The disaster was certainly one of the worst that ever occurred on the Ohio River.

The U.S. snagboat E.A. Woodruff had received permission from headquarters to go the wreck and raise it. The big steamer, with all the modern facilities to do such work, succeeded in turning the Golconda partly over and lifting her close to shore.

The steamer did not capsize, as reported, but careened, resting at an angle of 40 degrees. Her hull projected three feet out of the water. When the boat went over the cabin floated on the surface, but early Tuesday morning the boat settled down. The stacks were buried in the mud, and made an anchorage for the wreck.

The hull of the Golconda was only three feet deep. About one year ago she was condemned, but the owner made certain repairs, and she was permitted by the inspectors to resume business; however, the Golconda has always been regarded as unsafe by river people.

conda was available and none may exist.

The Paducah Democrat newspaper says: "Local river men unite in saying that the City of Golconda should never have been used as a passenger packet, being too narrow of beam for her upper works." This, so they say, made her top-heavy, unwieldy in a wind and dangerous except when carefully loaded and in smooth water.

The work of recovering bodies began Tuesday morning. The body of Miss Barnett was rescued from the same vicinity of the stateroom as that of the first body rescued. Miss Barnett was an 18-year-old orphan girl, who was adopted by her uncle Mr. David Adams, whose wife also met death in the disaster. Miss Barnett was the only daughter of Col. Thomas Barnett, deceased, who left his daughter property valued at $50,000. (Col. Thomas Barnett's family owned property is in the western tip of Crittenden County, just outside of Tolu and close to the Livingston line). She and Mrs. Adams were en route to Paducah to prepare her clothing and books for a term at the Hopkinsville College. Mrs. David Adams was a daughter of the late J.L. Hibbs, and a sister of Mrs. James Fleming of this place.

From the time of rescuing Miss Barnett's body it was exactly an hour and 32 minutes before the body of Mrs. David Adams was brought to the surface and laid beside that of her niece. She was dressed in conventional black, while her kid gloves were still covering her hands.

It is said that Mrs. Adams told her husband before leaving home that she had a presentiment that something terrible would happen during the trip. The remains of Mrs. Adams and her niece were taken to Birdsville for burial.

The body of Mr. Watts Davis of Lola was found in a standing position, with one arm holding to a hog chain. When the boat was going over Mr. Davis no doubt expected the boat to right itself and clung to the chain, but the boat sunk instead. A watch taken from the deceased had stopped at 6:17.

The body of Wallace Bennett, the prominent young farmer of Tolu, was recovered Thursday. His father, A.J. Bennett of Tolu, was at the wreck when the body was recovered near where the steamer went down. It showed evidence that young Mr. Bennett had been trapped under the steamer.

Mr. Bennett, 25 years old, was on his way to Paducah to buy household goods when he lost his life. A young wife, Azelie, and 16month-old baby daughter mourn the sad and untimely death of husband and father. He was a prosperous young farmer, popular with all who knew him.

His body was returned to his home and burial was in the Bennett family plot at the new cemetery in Marion.

Lived to tell the story

Crittenden Another Countian was also on the illfated City of Golconda but he lived to tell the story. He was Mr. Eugene Guess of Tolu, and the grandfather of our own Gordon Guess.

Mr. Eugene Guess related his experience to The Press as follows:

Most of the passengers were sitting out on the guards and when it began to rain, we went in.

I walked inside, and was standing at the side door,

Wallace Bennett, a successful young farmer from the Tolu area, drowned in the Golconda boat disaster.

Wallace Bennett was behind me, I said to him, I believed the captain was trying to outrun the storm. Yes, he said, but it looks like it will catch us. He then turned and walked away, and that was the last I ever saw of him.

In the meantime the engine stopped and the boat began to turn over. I rushed for the front door and was climbing and swimming to keep on the upper side. Before I could reach the upper side, a man ran over me and knocked me to the lower side again, and I had all my work to do over again, but I worked, swimming and climbing furiously, my way to that part of the boat that was on top.

When I got there I found myself with others on the bottom of the boat, as the craft had turned completely over. We found a yawl hanging to the stage, baled the water out, and about 30 people went to shore in that yawl, making three or four trips.

It was a most horrifying experience and I am thankful to be alive.

Roland Easley, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ercile Easley, had completed 16 weeks of Marine recruit training at Paris Island, S.C. and Camp Lejeune, N.C. and were on a 15-day

Harvesting remains behind schedule in KY

The state's corn harvest continues this week with 85 percent of the corn crop combined as of Sunday. Harvesting progress was still behind last year's 97 percent, and 88 percent for the five-year average. Lodging of the corn crop has continued to slow the harvest. As of Sunday, 48 percent of soybeans were harvested, compared to 63 percent last year and 47 percent for the five-year average. Ninety-seven percent of soybeans have dropped leaves, compared to 99 percent last year and the five-year average of 98 percent. Soybeans reaching the mature stage were 81 percent, compared to last year's 93 percent, and the five-year average of 91 percent. Soybean condition was rated 4 percent very poor, 19 percent poor, 31 percent fair, 30 percent good, and 16 percent excellent. Wheat seeding was 36 percent complete as of Sunday. That's behind last year's 49 percent and 43 percent for the fiveyear average. The winter wheat crop condition was rated 11 percent poor, 38 percent fair, 46 percent good, and 5 percent excellent. Pastures were rated 42 percent very poor, 35 percent poor, 19 percent fair, and 4 percent good. Fifty-eight percent of producers reported that they will have an adequate supply of hay for this winter's feeding.

Crittenden bus drivers are honored this week

Bus drivers and monitors are being recognized this week for their dedication to Crittenden County the School District in honor of National School Bus Safety Week.

Crittenden County has 19 school bus drivers and about a dozen monitors who are required on buses carrying preschoolers.

Every school day, Crittenden buses travel 1,404 miles throughout the county.

"They have an excellent safety record," said Sharon Murray, assistant director of transportation.

Murray, a self-described 'Jill' of all trades and longestserving classified employee in the school district.

Every year, more than 180,000 school buses transport 26 million students to and from school nationwide.

This week, the American School Bus Council celebrates its 42nd annual National School Bus Safety Week

This year's theme is "Stop on Red, Kids Ahead." It's designed to get drivers to remember the importance of stopping when a bus is flashing red lights.

Though she has worked in the transportation office for 20 years, don't be surprised to see Murray behind the wheel of a big yellow bus.

"I still drive when I'm short a driver or a monitor," says

According to the American School Bus Council, you'd need 36 cars to transport the children who ride one school bus. Take that number nationwide, and you'd need more than 17,333,333 cars.

Muzzleloaders slow go

Early deer harvest figures continue at a slow pace. Last weekend's muzzleloader hunt produced just 134 deer in Crittenden County and 77 in Livingston County. That well off the normal pace for both counties. Crittenden generally produces 150 or more deer in the two-day blackpowder hunt while Livingston is usually around 100 or more for its whitetail harvest.

Turkey shotgunners

The first segment of the fall shotgun turkey season opens Saturday across the state. Hunters will have seven days to get their bird of either sex.

Webster County Ducks Unlimited will host its annual banquet, auction and raffle Saturday at the Carhartt building located on highway 41-A just north of Providence. Doors open at 5:30 p.m., with dinner served at 7. The auction will follow. For more info or to make your early bird reservations, call 667-9535 or 667-2984.

Crittenden's Brian Berry (3) piles on top of Union's Brian Bickett after a reception for a short gain during Friday's Rocket victory. It was Crittenden's fourth win in the last seven games against the Braves.

Rockets topple Union

Robertson rushes for 160, Union gets just 58 on ground

The mark of a good football team is one that can find ways to win when it's not at its best.

Crittenden County was not perfectly crisp, but was rugged enough to beat a physical Class 3A Union County team 25-16 Friday at Rocket Stadium.

Penalties, a couple of fumbles and a sporadic offense muffled the Rockets (6-2) at times, but their defense knocked Union (3-4) off balance and kept the door open. Defense has become a staple in Crittenden's six wins and Union's generally potent running game was idled by the Rocket clutches. Devin Foster, the Braves' highly touted sophomore running back, was held to 60 yards on 22 carries as Union managed to net just 58 on the ground.

"Our offense wasn't at its best," Rocket coach Al Starnes. "We didn't do a very good job of pass blocking. Although Starnes admits that his offense was not hitting on all cylinders, he said the defense was clicking. "Defensive coordinator Vince Clark has done a tremendous job getting our defense ready to play and the kids are executing," he said. "They say defense wins cham-enough to post touchdowns on its first possession of each half. Rodney Robertson rushed for all three Crittenden TDs and J.R. Adams kicked a 30-yard field goal in the third period.

Robertson ran for 160 yards, bolstered by a late 50-yard touchdown run to drop the hatchet on the visiting Braves. Robertson's second touchdown of the game to start the third period was set up by a 46yard pass reception by tight end Gaige Courtney.

Despite a broken hand that kept him sidelined for half of the season, Robertson has amassed 621 yards in four and a half games.

Courtney played a big role on defense, too. It was his pressure on Robison midway through the fourth period that forced an errant throw as Union gave up the ball on downs in Rocket territory. It was a critical defensive stand for the Rockets after they had just taken an 18-8 lead on Adams' second field goal of the season, making it a two-possession ballgame with five minutes to play.

Gray stayed on his feet on the next series to move the chains on a crucial fourth-down run that helped milk the clock. Still, Union got the ball back and scored with 2:13 to play, but Robertson took all the fun out the final two minutes for Union when he carried the first handoff of the next series from midfield to the end zone, outrunning the entire Braves' secondary.

The non-district victory gives Crittenden a 4-3 edge in the most recent years of the series against Union County. The Braves and Rockets have played some exciting games over the past eight seasons. but they will not meet in 2009 or 2010 due to a scheduling conflict. Rocket coach Al Starnes has said he would like to renew the border battle in 2011. Union is the Class 3A First District champion this season. The Rockets, winners of the Class A First District crown, have now defeated two teams in that 3A district, including Webster County. Crittenden will have a long road trip for next week's district finale at Fulton County. The Pilots are winless in district play and the outcome of the game will have no bearing on the Rockets' winning the title. A Crittenden loss at Fulton County would, however, give Mayfield a share of the championship. but the Rockets would win the postseason's No. 1 seed based on headto-head competition.

RUNNING Yehling gualifies

Crittenden County resident Bob Yehling qualified for his fourth Boston Marathon Saturday, clocking a lifetime-best 3:19.31 in the Indianapolis Marathon.

Yehling, 49, the assistant track coach at Crittenden County High, fought off a case of the flu to knock more than two minutes off his previous best, established in 2006. He finished 13th in the 45-49 age group, and 116th overall out of 1,135 finishers.

In April, Yehling will return to the Boston Marathon, where he ran in 2005 and 2007. He also qualified for the 2008 Boston, but did not compete.

Another county resident, CCES third-grader Destiny Nolan of the Mexico community, ran a lifetimebest 7:58 in the Kids' Mile at Indianapolis. She finished 20th out of more than 100 competitors in her age group.

Rocket girls edged from playoff action

BY CHRIS HARDESTY PRESS SPORTS WRITER

Despite a valiant effort, the Lady Rockets (19-7) saw their season come to an end Monday night in Princeton as Henderson County (20-18) eliminated the Crittenden County girls from the Second Region Tournament, 21-25, 22-25.

Crittenden got perhaps the toughest draw of in the tournament. Henderson was the only district champion that did not receive a firstround bye.

After the Lady Colonels jumped out to a 7-2 lead in the opening set, Crittenden ran off five of the next six points to trim the lead to 8-7.

Though the deficit was no larger than five the remainder of the set, the Lady Rockets could not get over the hump and steal the all-important first match against the defending regional runnerup.

However, the Lady Rockets were not discouraged and continued to battle. They took a 7-6 lead in the second set, but the Lady Colonels promptly answered, going on a 9-4 run to take 15-11 lead.

The game of runs and spurts continued as the upset-minded Lady Rockets went on an 11-7 binge, knotting the contest at 22-all.

Unfortunately, a couple of bad serves followed and Henderson survived the upset bid.

"The girls played really well. It was a nip-and-tuck game," Lady Rocket coach Larry Duvall said after the setback.

Senior Meredith Lanham, playing in the final game, was a perfect 7-for-7 on serves. Erica Leet was also perfect, going 5-for-5.

Olivia Adams pitched in with an 11-for-12 showing and Taylor Keister finished 8-for-10 at the service line.

District runnerup

The dreaded Caldwell jinx continued last Thursday at Smithland as the Lady Rockets dropped the Seventh District title game in three sets, 25-21, 14-25, 17-25.

After a promising first set, it seemed like the hungry Lady Rockets might be en route to the program's second district crown in three vears.

"I thought we had swung the pendulum," Duvall said, describing the encouraging opening match.

However, the Lady Tiger duo of Emily Meeks and Casey Stone collected 15 kills apiece in the contest to help spur the comeback.

The Lady Tigers captured 11 consecutive points in the second set to make sure that a third set would be necessary on their way to the championship.

While Crittenden played somewhat better in the deciding set, it was not enough to overcome the Lady Tigers. Four of Crittenden's losses this season came at the expense of Caldwell County.

"Its just been fun to work with the girls all year long," said the Lady Rocket skipper.

Former Rockets shine at college

Thompson enjoys best season at CU; Guess claims 3 picks

BY CHRIS HARDESTY PRESS SPORTS WRITER

Former Rocket football players Sean Thompson and T.K. Guess are racking up some impressive statistics this fall at NAIA Campbellsville University.

Under the direction of first-year coach Perrv Thomas, the former high school coach at Paducah the Tilghman. Tigers switched to a spread offense that has allowed Thompson to haul in 30 catches for 369 yards and two touchdowns at wide receiver.

After a miserable 13-game losing streak dating back to the 2006 season, Thompson helped his team break the streak with a 21-yard touchdown catch during the first quarter Sept. 27 against the West Virginia Institute of Technology. The Tigers went on to win an offensive shootout 57-47.

"It was a really nice circus catch that bounced off of someone's helmet. I definitely haven't scored as much as I did in high school," Thompson said with a chuckle.

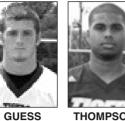

Thompson, who passed for 1,741 yards during his high school career at Crittenden County, praised Thomas' coaching style and believes he will get the struggling program turned around.

"It is easy to believe what he is preaching," he said.

The Tigers (2-5) cracked the win column again last Saturday with a 35-33 triumph over Bellhaven College. Once again, the senior found his way to the end zone, scoring on a 62-yard touchdown pass to put the Tigers up 21-14 in the third quarter.

Thompson, who caught three passes in the win, pointed to another catch that was just as important as his score. Trailing 14-0 late in the first half, he hauled in a key third-down reception that kept the drive alive. It helped lead to a score with 30 ticks left and Thompson believes that was a key to the comeback.

'The momentum from that score carried over into the second half," he said former Rocket.

Guess cited the speed of the game, having to learn a lot more plays and not being able to rely solely on one's athletic ability as the biggest differences between college and high school football.

Following up an impressive work ethic during preseason practice, Guess earned a spot as a starting cornerback.

It did not take long to make an impact either as Guess recorded seven tackles in his first collegiate game, a 48-38 loss to Cumberland.

Guess, who is the career interception leader at Crittenden County High School with 21, began to show that ability at the next level, too. He got off to a good start in the defensive backfield against Ohio Dominican. Although the 51-10 setback was not what he would have liked, the freshman came up with the first of his three college interceptions.

After the second game, he breakups and a sack.

Middle school soccer boys split games

The Crittenden County Soccer Association's middle school team split two games in play last week. Crittenden dropped a hard fought contest 1-0 to Dixon Friday. The teams went back and forth with some offensive opportunities in the first half, but good defensive play kept the score knotted at zero at halftime. The scoring drought ended late in the second half when Dixon punched in the game-winner.

Daniel Patton had several saves and also stopped a penalty shot for Crittenden. Despite the loss, the Rocket coaching staff reported that the team played as well as it had all year.

On Saturday, Crittenden regrouped and won 4-2 over the Union County YMCA team. Micah Hollamon scored three goals with assists from Hayden McConnell and Hunter Stone. Dustin Roberts also

Baby's death investigated

STAFF REPORT

The Crittenden County Coroner's office and the Marion Police Department have opened an investigation regarding the death of a two-month-old infant in Marion Sunday morning.

Coroner Joe Myers said Olivia Leann Curnell was pronounced dead Sunday at a home at 423 W. Elm St. (See obituary on Page 7.) Based on interviews with the parents and other evidence, Myers ordered an autopsy which was performed in Madisonville at the Kentucky Medical Examiner's office by Dr. Deirdre Schluckebier

The coroner and city policeman Jerry Parker attended the autopsy.

Parents of the child are Jennifer Mas-samore and Richard Curnell of Hopkins County. The parents and their three children were living with friends in Marion.

According to the coroner's report, the parents said the girl was crying before she fell asleep Saturday night. An ambulance was called to the residence the next morning about 8:30 a.m. The coroner was called shortly afterwards and he pronounced the young girl deceased at 10:10 a.m., although his report indicates that she had actually died several hours earlier

Police were summoned to the residence and later the Kentucky Cabinet for Health and Family Services was contacted.

Marion Police Chief Ray O'Neal said there is no evidence to indicate that anything criminal has taken place. The death investigation is normal procedure in such cases, he said, when an infant dies for no apparent reason.

According to Myers, the coroner, the autopsy found neither traumatic injuries nor diseases that might have led to the girl's death. However, the case remains open and under investigation by the coroner and police.

Myers said the father indicated that he had two other young children die in the past nine years, both in Hopkins County. A daughter was 16 days old when she died in 1999 of natural causes and a nearly two-month-old boy died in 2002 which death records indicate was accidental, the coroner said.

Tuesday last day to seek absentee ballot ing relative may call the office.

If the early numbers are any indication, this year's presidential election is shaping up to be one of the biggest ever.

As of Sunday, almost 12,000 Kentuckians had already cast ballots in the presidential race, an additional 44,382 had requested mail-in absentee ballots and registration numbers have hit an all-time high in the state

The race between Republican John McCain and Democrat Barack Obama, coupled with a U.S. Senate contest between GOP incumbent Mitch McConnell and Democratic challenger Bruce Lunsford. has generated intense interest among voters.

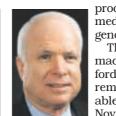

Nearly 3 million Kentuckians are registered to vote in the general election. Of those, 1.7 million are signed up as Democrats and just more than 1 million as Republicans. Since 2004, the GOP has added 57,000 registrants. The state Democratic party added 47,000 over the same period.

In Crittenden County, 6,314 are registered to vote next month with Democrats accounting for 3,310 compared to 2,694 for the GOP. Tuesday will be the last day a mail-in absentee ballot for the Nov. 4 election can be requested at the county clerk's office.

"Unless it is a medical emergency," said Crittenden County Clerk Carolyn Byford, "a voter or nearest liv-and we will inform them of the procedure for a medical emergency ballot." The absentee machine in Byford's office will remain availthrough able Nov. 3 to voters who will be out of the county on McCain election day. Polls will be open on election day from 6 a.m., to 6 p.m., at all 12 precinct polls.

Marion precinct poll relocated to church STAFF REPORT

Regular voters in Crittenden County will notice only one change in casting a ballot in next month's election

Voters in Precinct 2 who formerly voted at the Carson Davidson National Guard Armory on Rochester Street will have to travel across town to Greenwood Heights to cast a ballot. The new polling location for the Marion precinct will be Emmanuel Baptist Church. The same location was used during the May primary.

Crittenden County Clerk Carolyn Byford said the change was one of logistics for election workers. At times, it was difficult for workers to get set up by 6 a.m., when polls open because rules did not allow for the key to the building to be turned over to the clerk's office. Election workers were dependent upon the key holder to open the building in time to set up the voting machines

And those voting machines at 12 voting precincts in Crittenden County will be unchanged from elections past. The large pushbutton machines with voting screens behind curtains and the smaller e-Scan touch-screen ballots will once again be used. "The voter can use the one they are most comfortable in using," Byford said.

nuisance ordinances.

Jim Brown, another incumbent and former police officer for the City of Marion, listed code enforcement as the biggest weakness of the city. Brown, the eldest of the eight candidates at 78, said he remains "very dissatisfied" with efforts to back up nuisance ordinances

Currently, the city does not employ a code enforcement officer. Former Marion Police Chief Kenneth Winn, who died earlier this month, was the last to hold that position. Winn had worked for only a short period last year in a part-time capacity as code enforcement officer before resigning to become county trial commissioner. George Foster, now a Kentucky State Trooper, was the last to fill the code enforcement position in a fulltime manner.

Scott Tabor, one of the three challengers for a council seat and youngest on the ballot at 38, proposes the city once again staff someone to address codes and not leave enforcement regarding unkempt properties up to the police department.

streets in the questionnaire, though some pointed out a need for better corridors to and from the city, like the proposed four-lane U.S. 641 from Marion to Eddyville.

Incumbent Darrin Tabor, is one of those candidates. He said, "Our roads leading in and out of town for future manufacturing development" are the city's biggest weakness.

Former councilman Mike Byford, who seeks a return to the board after a two-year hiatus, listed addressing economic development and adding new jobs as his top priorities.

Only Bill Frazer, a challenger and father of City Attorney Bart Frazer, expressed any type of disaffection with the current six-member council.

"Somewhat dissatisfied," he responded to the question of satisfaction level. "Or I wouldn't be running. New blood, new ideas and more passion about issues is what will make Marion a better place to live.'

> When asked about specific issues such as a proposal to allow golf carts on city streets or the prospect of a joint citycounty government, most of the candidates were in agreement with one another.

However, only Byford and Frazer favor approving a new law that would allow golf carts on city streets with numerous restrictions. The current council took up that topic last summer, but delayed a decision until further information could be obtained.

Meantime, Byford is the sole candidate to express any favor for combining city and county governments for efficiency. The others either opposed or expressed no opinion on the matter

City appoints 3 to merger committee; county holds off

STAFF REPORT

The City of Marion appointed three members to an exploratory committee charged with looking into the merger of city and county government, but magistrates did not act on the matter at their regular fiscal court meeting.

Cletus Hunt, Andy Hunt and Jason Hatfield were chosen Monday by council members as the city's sentatives on the ad hoc committee. All live in or own homes inside the city; two have political experience. Cletus Hunt ran for judge-executive six years ago and Hatfield will end his term on city council in January.

Though only two names were initially brought forward by Mayor Mickey Alexander at Monday's meeting, the body agreed upon three names with the belief that Crittenden Fiscal Court would provide as many as six appointees at Tuesday's monthly meeting. However, the matter was not even discussed at fiscal court. Judge-executive Fred Brown said the people he has in mind have yet to be contacted, so he did not want bring out their names until they agree to the appointment.

Kentucky Revised Statutes allow for combining legislative bodies, but the matter of a merged city-county government has been somewhat controversial locally, prompting at least one opponent to speak out on the matter. Magistrate Glen Underdown, a resident of Marion, was at city council last month to vocally oppose exploration of a joint government when the matter was first brought before the two legislative bodies.

The research committee will have no decision-making power nor a budget to work with. The group is merely being formed by a joint agreement between the city and county to look at the advantages and disadvantages of a joint-government. Their findings, when complete, will then be presented to both bodies of government before any decision on moving ahead with the idea is made.

"Nuisances such as noises and vehicles should be addressed by the police, but the city should have a code enforcement officer," he said.

Roads are another aspect that Bryant admits need attention. While none are impassable, many streets are beginning to show signs of neglect. Mayor Alexander agrees that streets will likely need addressing in the next two years. None of that candidates ad-

City hands over land for health department

STAFF REPORT

A housekeeping measure Monday at Marion City Council helped clear a hurdle to getting a new county health department built.

Approval was given to transfer a piece of city-owned property needed to complete legal requirements before the new 9,000-square-foot health facility can be built. Surveying found that 0.3 acres of cityowned property adjacent to the Ed-Tech Center needed to be transferred from the city to continue with the grant-funded project.

The sliver of land was deeded to West Kentucky Industrial Foundation, which in turn will transfer the land to the county in order to allow construction to start. Building should begin by the end of the year on the million-dollar health facility on Industrial Drive.

The parking lots of the Ed-Tech Center and health department will actually be connected when construction ends next year.
