School counselor takes preemptive strike vs. disease

BY ALLISON EVANS
PRESS ASST. EDITOR

Stefanie Hardin is suiting up this week to tackle a disease that has long affected friends, family and even herself.

An extensive family history of breast cancer influenced Hardin, the Crittenden County High School guidance counselor, to have an elective double mastectomy at age 35. The procedure reduced her chance of getting the disease by 95 percent.

Her maternal grandmother and aunt both died from the disease at ages 39 and 27, respectively. Her first cousin was diagnosed with breast cancer when she was 33.

Cancer was never far from the minds of Hardin, her mother, Phillis, and sisters, Vicki and Kayla. Her mother had a double mastectomy, too, when she was diagnosed with breast cancer a couple of years before Stefanie went on the offensive herself.

In January 2009, Stefanie underwent an elective skin-saving mastectomy and reconstructive surgery. It was a huge decision, but right for her.

Because of the family history of breast cancer, Hardin and her sisters began having annual mammograms when they were 26. None of Hardin's tests were abnormal. However, she elected to undergo the procedure to greatly reduce her risks of getting the disease later in life. Both of her sisters plan to do the same.

A member of the Power Tuff team sponsored by Full Body Fitness Studio, Hardin said this week's tournament is important to bring awareness to the disease.

"Cancer touches every family in some form in this county, so it has personal meaning to a lot of people," she said. "Our county always does such a good job on support and raising money for good causes."

"We're blessed we live in such a great county that takes a stand for causes like this."

Girl Iron Glory, flag football games featuring local women, started Tuesday and concludes with the semifinals and championship game Thursday night at Rocket Stadium.

Buijk's gourds among unique Christmas gems

BY JERRITT HOVEY-BROWN
PRESS REPORTER

One look at Pamela Buijk's house and it's immediately obvious she likes what she does. As a stay-at-home artist and special event florist, her artwork is obvious in every corner of the house. If it's not hanging, it's sitting on something, be it the floor, coffee table or couch. Flowers crowd her cabin's corners while her favorite artwork – painted gourds – sit in the floor, basking in the sunlight.

Buijk, who has drawn artistically since she was a child, didn't start painting gourds until a year and a half ago.

"I started looking up painted gourds online and saw the typical, run of the mill gourds," she said. "I wanted to do something similar but different and still keep the natural beauty of the gourd intact."

Her innovative creations not only boast a paint job but a spice of personality as Buijk builds and carves the gourds until forms take shape, literally and figuratively.

"I have this process where I buy already dried gourds and then let them tell me what they are," Buijk said. "I usually don't have preconceived ideas because I want to see what the gourd looks like and work from there."

Buijk will be among the more than two dozen vendors at Saturday's Christmas in Marion Arts and Crafts Show at Fohs Hall.

Some of Buijk's creations include a McCaw parrot, a family of chickens, a

WANTED

This is a gray Ford Focus, similar to the one believed to have caused an accident Oct. 1 on U.S. 60 that killed a Marion man. The driver left the scene and is wanted by police.

Police seek driver

STAFF REPORT

Local authorities continue this week searching for a man who was driving a gray Ford Focus that allegedly caused an automobile accident on U.S. 60 East two weeks ago that injured a Marion man, Willard L. Oliver.

Oliver, 78, died four days later at an Indiana hospital.

Crittenden County Sheriff Wayne Agent says investigators want to talk with the man driving the Ford. There is a good chance that the driver will face some type of charges for leaving the scene, and depending on the investigation, charges could be severe.

Oliver suffered head and neck injuries. He died Tuesday, Oct. 5 at Evansville's Deaconess Hospital. An autopsy was ordered by investigators, but the results have not been released.

Sheriff Agent said investigators continue to look for the driver of the Ford Focus. He was a middle aged man, witnesses told authorities. After allegedly causing the wreck, the driver of the Ford stopped briefly, but then left the scene heading toward Sturgis.

The accident happened at 5:26 p.m., 11 miles east of Marion near the intersection of Blackford Church Road. Witnesses told investigators the Ford was passing two other vehicles on a straight stretch of the highway when it allegedly forced off the road a 1997 Ford Ranger driven by Oliver.

Oliver was driving toward Marion and had to take the ditch to avoid a collision, investigators said.

Anyone with information can call Tipline and remain anonymous. There is a possible $500 reward. Call Tipline at 965-3000 or dial directly to the emergency dispatching center at 965-3500.

Do you know who is leading our educational system?

One wiser than I said many years ago: "So goes the schools, so goes the nation." Truer words were never spoken. Many people in the know have been crying foul for years about the abject failure of most of the government schools in the country. They are failing to truly educate our children in the most basic curricula of reading, writing, math, science, history (world and American), and grammar.

We are to thank God and many well-placed influential, concerned and knowledgeable people of all races – are on to this crime against our children. Many are rising up and doing something about it. These people are at last all over the national news. It is too late for millions of American children and the terrible influence it has not only on their lives but the future of out nation.

As you read parts of the agenda of the most powerful educational union in America, the National Education Association (NEA) – which is alive and well in much of American school curriculum today – you'll understand why.

As far as I know, none of our local teachers belong to this union, but that does not exempt our teachers, school board, administrators and parents from keeping a strong and watchful, wise, educated vigilance on the books and instructional materials they are constantly asked to push.

As you read this column and my next one regarding the NEA's agenda with disgust and shocking awe, you will ask, "What in the world has all of this to do with our children's education?"

On Oct. 1, it was posted by the NEA on its Web site calendar as part of its Diversity Event to celebrate the anniversary of the communist takeover of China by Mao Zedong, who is credited with being the biggest butcher in the 20th Century, killing 60-70 million of his own innocent people. When this was reported on World-NetDaily it disappeared (without comment) from the NEA's website.

As I watched a speech by Anita Dunn, when she was Obama's Communications Czar (and now has Obama's assignment to convince us that we really like Obamacare after all), she said Mao Zedong was one of her two "favorite political philosophers."

The following are some of Mao's statements listed on the Web:

"Every communist must grasp the truth, political power grows out of the barrel of a gun."

"Nanjing is a big city of 500,000... The number of people executed in Nanjing is too low. More people should be killed in Nanjing."

"Serious research must be done, carefully plan to kill in a big way, then we can solve some initial problems. Nianjing is planning to kill 1,500 people within this year, kill 500 first before April, once this plan is accomplished, we have the upper hand. I hope Shanghai, Nanjing, Tsengdao, Kwangzhou, Wuhan plus other large and middle cities do have solid plans to kill some large groups of people in a big way." (Mao Zedong Works Volume 2).

"If the U.S. monopoly capitalist groups persist in pushing their policies of aggression and war, the day is bound to come when they will be hanged by the people of the whole world. The same fate awaits the accomplices of the United States."

"People who want to commit suicide don't attempt to save them. China is such a populous nation it is not as if we cannot do without a few people." (Mao's Little Red Book. 2006).

This all begs the question: What does Anita Dunn and her ilk have in store for America? It is a proven fact the NEA and one of Obama's czars are not the only ones in this country who love the communist ways more than the American way. They embrace a way which has men and women dying every day to give them the freedom and opportunity to have expensive educations, homes, affluent lives and great jobs, (many paid for by we taxpayers). These enemies of America work faithfully to fundamentally transform America. Sound familiar?

More next time on the NEA's agenda and other organizations that are working day and night to turn America into a place far afield from the country we all grew up in, love and thousands have died for.

Americans turning back to God is our only hope for His help. Without it, we will face His judgment in a way none of us want.

Letters to the Editor

Thoughts about race for Kentucky House District 4

To the Editor:

I have thought a lot about a speech our incumbent Fourth District representative gave in Mattoon on Sept. 21. Mr. Mike Cherry proclaimed to be a conservative and tried to distance himself from President Obama, Speaker Pelosi and Senate Leader Harry Reid. He said he had never even talked with any of them and I believe him, but that really doesn't separate him from them. Later he described himself saying, "I am a Christian first and a citizen of this world second." So, how is he different from those who share the One World viewpoint?

I certainly understand God first, but I keep asking myself who in the Fourth District of Kentucky wants their representative to consider himself a citizen of the world before his district, his state or his country? I, for one, do not and please don't believe that local politics have no impact on state and national policy because they most certainly do. It is precisely in times like these that we need someone representing us who believes in American exceptionalism first and foremost. Mr. Lynn Bechler, Cherry's opponent, put it very clearly when he said, "I am one of you, I am a Kentuckian."

To me, the statement "citizen of the world" insinuates other places ahead of Kentucky and the United States. It means redistribution of wealth, banning deep water drilling for America while giving billions of your tax dollars to Mexico and Brazil to do just that. It means support for cap and trade which will devastate the coal industry and let us not forget that Mr. Obama, himself, said "you know, when asked earlier about the issue of coal, uh, you know, under my plan of a cap and trade system, electricity rates would necessarily skyrocket." It means that, "I" know best and I am not listening to you "the American people."

America has made the world a better place; we have liberated millions from the bonds of tyranny; fought to free people from nazism, fascism, communism, hunger and sickness. We are the most generous people on earth; we pay most of the bill in dollars and lives for NATO and the United Nations. Our foreign aid (your tax dollars) to almost every country on earth is amazing, yet somehow we are a colonial nation, nonsense! Other countries have become what they have become not because of American greatness, but because of their failure to provide true freedom for their people. Mr. Lynn Bechler has my vote because I know he will represent the Fourth District and Kentucky's best interests not some other entity.

Johnson's approach to law is fair to everyone in county

To the Editor:

Supporting Rebecca Johnson for Crittenden County Attorney is an easy task when she has outperformed her duties in every capacity. Rebecca Johnson is hardworking, dedicated, professional and knowledgeable of the law. She works tirelessly in and out of court. She attends family court every Tuesday and District court every Wednesday of each week. I have personally witnessed her to go out of her way to help people. She is always accessible to anyone who stops at her office or calls her on the telephone. Her accomplishments as county attorney have been recognized by the state and she has received many awards for her hard work.

I am presently her assistant county attorney. I have always considered Crittenden County my home. I graduated from CCHS in 1991, as did my dad in 1961 and my sister in 1996. I practice law in this county and support businesses here. Assistants are not elected positions. They are appointed by the county attorney. It is not uncommon for assistant county attorneys to reside out of the county in rural communities. In fact, Webster, Livingston and Caldwell counties all have assistants who reside in neighboring counties.

I am not paid with Crittenden County tax dollars. The position is paid by the Commonwealth of Kentucky. There is no budget for my salary or any other expense associated with me coming from Crittenden County tax dollars.

While I am currently the assistant, Rebecca has not promised me employment in the future because KRS 119.205 prohibits any candidate from offering or promising employment to an individual in exchange for their vote. A violation of this election law would constitute a Class D felony.

With Rebecca Johnson as county attorney, I believe all individuals who walk in the courtroom are treated equally and fairly. Rebecca spends an enormous amount of time on the cases prior to even stepping into the courtroom from speaking with witnesses, victims and officers to gathering evidence for the case. She is always prepared and ready for the case each week. I believe her philosophy of treating each individual equally and fairly is well-grounded in the U.S. Constitution. Individuals should not be given different plea offers and results based on their ability to pay or who they know. This concern of mine is evident in the ankle bracelet monitoring. Ankle bracelet monitoring costs would be paid by the defendant. That individual would be required to pay the fee in lieu of serving the jail sentence. I believe that this option gives preferential treatment to individuals who can afford it. Based on my experience in the courtroom, a vast majority of the defendants cannot even pay for court costs, let alone the costs associated with ankle bracelet monitoring. As a result, wealthier people would have the option of sitting at home and enjoying all of the amenities of their home. Those unable to pay would be required to sit in jail and serve their sentence. To me, this brand of justice seems unfair. Rebecca Johnson does an excellent job in facilitating equal treatment and justice for all individuals who appear in court.

I have high regard for her Christian attributes, her dedication to the job and her impeccable record and integrity. I ask for your support in re-electing Rebecca Johnson as your county attorney.

Writer says record sheds more light on issue of money

To the Editor:

One thing about public office, the Open Records Law lets you see how your money is spent. Kentucky is in tough economic times. Taxpayers are getting prepared for higher taxes, which are sure to come, our school board has increased property tax for the past five years in a row. In last week's Press, a letter from the Child Support office coordinator stated that County Attorney Rebecca Johnson has saved the county $38,000 since the money to pay the retirement of Child Support office employees comes from the state. I always thought Crittenden County was part of the State of Kentucky and we are the taxpayers.

The state also pays $850 a month and the county pays $300 a month office rent to Ms. Johnson for use of her office. Child support work is very important but let's not over reward someone for something that is part of her job. Elect a county attorney who will protect the community's welfare and pocketbook at the same time. Elect Bart Frazer.

We should be more careful this election

To the Editor:

Would you have resisted Democrats in 2008 if Obama, Pelosi and Reid had run on the platform they now have? We are going to pass a $787 billion spending bill that no one in congress has time to read. We borrow money from communist China and Saudi Arabia to explode the deficit to unsustainable levels. They seized control of private car companies, pushed for a massive energy tax, cap and trade, a socialized healthcare system, signed enormous numbers of ear-marks, negotiated in secret with senators and unions who they will bribe to vote for a healthcare bill that most citizens opposed; and they will give the EPA massive bureaucratic power to intimidate while dictating pay and bonuses for dozens of companies. We're not going to prosecute Black Panthers in Philadelphia for intimidating white voters, yet we're going to sue Arizona if the state tries to protect their citizens from illegal aliens and druglords invading their cities, homes and farms. One of these days soon, we will give illegals blanket amnesty and we can use their votes for re-election in 2012. They protect unions who throw plenty of taxpayer money their way; they skim off the top of their union dues for Democrat election funds. How American is that?

For the rest of the people, don't worry about job creation. I have everything under control, they told us. We will make sure there are plenty of food stamps and unemployment benefits for everyone. They said the number one campaign promise was hope and change and redistributing the wealth of hard-working, successful Americans. Jack Conway and Mike Cherry sound like a rubber stamp for Obama, Pelosi and Reed. They all have the same ending behind their names, Democrat.

America, please, let's be more careful who we vote for this time. Our children and grandchildren deserve better than this.

May God bless America and keep it the greatest nation in the world.

REVOLUTIONARY SALUTE

Ceremony draws more than 200 to Fredonia graves

A line of flags waved as the Pledge of Allegiance was recited over the marked graves of Robert Leeper Jr. and his wife, Jane, at a pioneer cemetery near Fredonia. Daughters and Sons of the American Revolution along with local historians and interested groups held a service Oct. 2 marking the graves of four Revolutionary War soldiers at two cemeteries near Fredonia. Don Boone, who owns property where the graves are located, said about 230 visitors from the region and states as far away as Texas and Washington attended.

Local resident Gerald Elder, a descendant of Patriot John Wheeler, presented the history of John Wheeler during the grave-marking ceremony. Elder and his brother Rick have in their family the original loom of the Wheeler family, which is shown in the picture. The group standing behind the Elder stones are the John Elder descendants who were in attendance for the ceremony. Pictured are (front from left) Pearl Bearden, Wander Elder Eli (back) J. T. Skipping breakfast is no way to lose weight

Breakfast is the most important meal of the day. Mothers have used that statement to coax children into eating breakfast for years. As it turns out, Mom was right, and according to TOPS Club, Inc. (Take Off Pounds Sensibly), the non-profit weight-loss support organization, there's research to back her up. Getting a good mix of protein, whole grains, fiber and fruit every morning can help boost metabolism, increase energy for both the body and the brain, and help curb cravings for sweets and other foods high in fat. Research has shown that skipping meals, and especially skipping breakfast, also can make individuals more likely to eat more at the next meal or to eat high-calorie snacks before the next meal. "Breakfast gets your metabolism going in the morning so you actually burn more calories during the day," says Joan Pleuss, R.D., C.D.E., M.S., C.D., Senior Research Dietitian in the General Clinical Research Center at the Medical College of Wisconsin and nutritional expert for TOPS. "However, that doesn't mean that you should use that as an excuse to overeat later in the day. Actually, the reverse may happen, as eating breakfast can decrease the likelihood that you will be as hungry later on." The National Weight Control Registry (NWCR) was founded more than 20 years ago to document the habits of people who were age 18 and older and who had lost at least 30 pounds of excess weight that they had kept off for at least a year. One habit the researchers found was that 78 percent of the people in the Registry ate breakfast

Marion agents provide tips on dealing with accidents

FROM STAFF & STATE POINT

Almost everyone has been involved in a auto accident whether by fault of their own or someone else. What happens after an auto accident can help you get back on the road faster if proper steps are taken. Terry Ford, owner and Independent Agent of Terry L. Ford Insurance, and Joe Yarbrough, owner and independent agent at Yarbrough Insurance Agency, have offered several useful tips that you should remember if you are in an auto accident. Staying safe after an accident is always the most important concern and you want to make sure your car and any other vehicles are as far off the roadway as possible. Be sure to warn oncoming traffic by activating your hazard warning lights. Both Ford and Yarbrough agree that calling the police is always a must even if a fender bender occurs with little to no damage so they can document who was involved. The police will decide whether an accident report is necessary. However, once the police arrive at the scene of an accident there is another very important tip that all auto drivers should be aware of and carry with them. Ford explains that having your insurance I.D. card is vital. "All drivers need to make sure they keep a current and up-to-date insurance registration card," Ford said. The card also has helpful information on it that can speed the process of reporting a claim. Contact numbers for the insured driver's coverage company and policy number are located on the card. The next step is making sure to share information after the accident occurs. Yarbrough agrees that carrying your insurance card is important and says that the exchange of information once an accident happens is an integral step. "Once you have filed the report with the police, make sure to exchange information with the other driver, getting the address, phone number, license number, and name of insurer and policy number," he said. A new state law prohibits the use of some cell phone features such as texting while driving; however, utilizing cell phones properly after an accident occurs can help in determining who is at fault and the extent of the damage to the vehicle. "Taking photos of the damage with your cell phone is very helpful," Ford explains. "By not using the cell phones while driving to text or talk it will help with better driving and prevent accidents." Sticking to the facts is very important as well. Insurance agencies advise that you should only discuss the accident with police and your insurance company. By being honest and factual, you can avoid guessing or speculating on times, distances or speeds that might not correspond with the evidence. Yarbrough says that once you have taken all the above steps and obtained the other driver's information you want to make sure and report the accident as soon as possible to your insurance company. Most insurers provide a 24-hour, toll-free number to report the claim and a place to file a claim online if the accident occurs after your local agency office has closed. Consider all your repair options, with some companies you can choose the most convenient way to have your claim handled. With some insurers, for instance, you can use a shop in the company's network, go to a shop of your choice, accept a settlement check and not make repairs at all, or use one of their service centers. Last but not least, Ford explains how to prevent most accidents. "The key thing is driver attention," Ford says. He advises everyone to never get behind the wheel after consuming alcoholic beverages or other substances that impair your ability to drive.

I WILL FIGHT FOR KENTUCKY CONSERVATIVE VALUES

 Let's Get BACK TO BASICS

IF YOU BELIEVE LIKE I DO

- In low taxes and less spending which allows the private sector to create jobs
- That Kentucky should stand up and fight Obamacare
- That a State Representative should vote for what he believes and not how his leadership says he should
- That twelve years in office is long enough
- In Citizen Representation and not career politicians

THEN VOTE FOR ME

In the coming weeks, thousands of dollars will be spent on political advertising. Regardless of how much money is spent, LET'S NOT FORGET, it's the Peoples Seat and YOU CHOOSE who sits in it.

VOTE C. LYNN BECHLER, STATE REPRESENTATIVE, ON NOVEMBER 2ND

Local law firm is named Chamber's Business of Month

Frazer, Rogers and Peek's law office located at 200 South Main Street, has been named as the Crittenden County Chamber of Commerce Business of the Month for October.

With two area offices – one being in Marion and the other in Smithland – Frazer, Rogers and Peek is a private law firm that offers services in real estate, state work, collections, personal injury and family law. Senior partner Bart Frazer is the City of Marion attorney and partner Brandi Rogers is the Crittenden County Board of Education attorney. That, they say, keeps the law firm actively involved with many local events and clubs.

"We try to participate in all of the Chamber of events," Rogers said. "We have an employee, Vanda Jones, on the Chamber executive committee, and we try to do as much as we can for the Pumpkin Festival, Relay for Life and the health fair. We're a small office that tries to do a lot of community stuff."

The building that houses the law office also holds some history, as it is over 100 years old and at one time was a department store.

"We put a lot of time into renovating this building so it's always nice to have people come here," Rogers said.

Other attorneys associated with the firm are Roy Massey and Richard Peek and Bill Greenwell, of counsel.

Frazer, Rogers and Peek can be reached at their Marion office at 965-2261 or their Smithland office at 928-4523.

Roberts studies at Japanese college

Russell Roberts, son of Brent Roberts and Barbara Allen (formerly of Marion) recently returned home after spending a semester in Japan attending college at the Japan Center for Michigan University in Hikone. While there, he lived with the Mabuchi family in Nagahama where he was treated as a part of their family and immersed in the Japanese culture.

Roberts visited shrines, castles, festivals, a ninja village and experienced firsthand the country and its people.

Roberts is majoring in Japanese at Oakland University in Rochester, Mich. He and his wife, Ann, have one daughter, Yukari, and live in New Baltimore, Mich.

Justice Cunningham is keynote speaker

Kentucky Supreme Court Justice Bill Cunningham was the general session keynote speaker last week at the 2010 Indiana Correctional Association Conference in Indianapolis.

The theme of this year's conference was "2010 – A Corrections Odyssey: A Galaxy of Possibilities," with an emphasis on the importance of corrections as a community that includes multiple agencies.

Justice Cunningham spoke about the four things it takes to succeed in corrections – respect, pride, commitment and a positive attitude. Justice Cunningham has devoted his entire career to the field of criminal justice and has always held correctional employees in the highest regard. As a young boy, he grew up in Old Eddyville near the Kentucky State Penitentiary. He is the author of "Castle: The Story of a Kentucky Prison."

In 2008, the Kentucky Department of Corrections honored Justice Cunningham with the agency's top award, the Lucille Hurt Robuck "Commitment to Corrections" award.

State food stamp program honored

Federal officials last week announced that Kentucky's Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program (SNAP), formerly known as food stamps, has won $1.5 million in federal bonus funds for its exemplary service delivery to service applicants.

Kentucky received the award from the United States Department of Agriculture's (USDA) Food and Nutrition Service for "best application processing timeliness" for SNAP. The Kentucky Cabinet for Health and Family Services (CHFS) Department for Community Based Services administers SNAP at its local offices in every county.

CHFS Secretary Janie Miller said she is proud of the staff working to enroll Kentuckians in SNAP.

"Our staff has demonstrated a true commitment to delivering the nutrition services provided by the federal government," Miller said. "Without food assistance, many of our clients would have trouble providing healthy meals for their families."

Kentucky was among the top six states with the highest percentage of time processed SNAP applications during fiscal year 2009 with an application timeliness rate of 96.14 percent.

The other five states sharing $6 million in bonus funds are the District of Columbia, West Virginia, Massachusetts, South Dakota and Louisiana.

The USDA administers SNAP nationally and sets a 30-day standard for state agencies to process applications.

Kentucky has exceeded a federal standard for target participation rates in the program every year since the guidelines were implemented.

October is Breast Cancer
Awareness Month

Mammography is an x-ray picture of the breasts. It is the single most effective method to detect breast changes that may be cancer, long before physical symptoms can be seen or felt. Because risk factors vary in everyone, each woman and her doctor should discuss the plan that's right for her. The American Cancer Society recommends that women 40 and over have a mammogram every year. Mammograms save lives. Make an appointment today.

Provide rest for sleepy children of all ages

Experts all agree that fall is a perfect time to start an exercise program. Waiting until the middle of winter to start a program presents many problems. Enjoy the fall season by starting now. Here are some tips to get you going:

1. Take advantage of the weather! The leaves are changing, the air is crisp, and there is apple cider waiting for you when you are finished exercising. The cooler temperatures make it a great time to be outdoors whether you are walking, running, or biking. If you have not walked at the Marion/Crittenden County park, now would be a great time to explore with the leaves crunching under your feet!

2. Be an active TV watcher. The new fall shows are all starting to appear on TV. Although you may not want to miss the next episode, there are things you can do to make sure you are still getting some activity. During commercials you can stand up and walk in place, do lunges, do crunches, or lift weights. If you are really motivated you might want to exercise during the show and rest only during the commercials!

3. Integrate exercise into your daily routine. Do you park as close as possible to the building you are going to? Why not spend a little less time looking for a parking spot and walk!

4. Remember the 30 day rule! It takes about 30 days for any new habit to form and this includes activity. Our body can make great changes in 30 days, but you have to stick to it and that is not always easy.

5. Pay attention to the 3 C's. Commitment, Convenience, and Consistency. It takes a great deal of commitment to start and keep up with a new routine. We all have very busy lives; it must mean enough for you to have the commitment to do it. Choose an activity that is convenient. Select activities you love or that you already have the equipment for. You should not have to go out of your way to reach a place that will help you achieve your goal. The less convenient it is for you to do the new routine, the less likely it will be that you will stick with it. Consistency – It is better to walk everyday for 10 minutes than to wait for a month and walk 2 hours. Maintaining your routine will help you!

6. Know when it is safe and when it is not. The days are certainly getting shorter and being safe it very important. If you are going out in the early morning or late at night, make sure you are wearing reflective clothing such as a vest. Carry or wear a flashlight so that you can see where you are going and others can see you. Always remember to walk on the left side of the road facing traffic so you will know when a vehicle is approaching. If using headphones be checking your surroundings so you will notice if a person or vehicle is approaching you. Carrying a cell phone is another smart thing in case you need to call for help.

Get a good start with an exercise program in the fall and establish good habits as the winter approaches.

Early Headstart to receive eight new spots

STAFF REPORT

After establishing the Improving Head Start for School Readiness Act in 2007 and receiving funds in 2009, the Office of Head Start (OHS) named exceptional local head start programs as "Centers of Excellence." Only 10 Centers of Excellence were designated, and Audubon Area Community Services in Owensboro is one.

The early education program received a $1 million federal grant for its excellence and the 10 centers will be designated for up to a five-year project period. Bonus grant awards of $200,000 per year will be made to the Early Head Start and Head Start grantees.

With its designation,

Nasser

Audubon will establish a Center of Excellence for Collaborative Practices that will focus on exemplary practices with 13 local school districts, Crittenden County being one of those districts.

In the implementation phase of the project, services will be targeted to the expansion of the teen parent program in Crittenden County. Currently, Crittenden's early head start, located at 120 Autumn Lane, has eight slots available, which are full with a waiting list. With the expansion project, eight more slots will be available for children ages birth to three years old.

"It's a great thing for us to be able to add eight more slots," Karen Nasser, associate principal and director of special education and preschool coordinator said. "We wanted this to happen so that we could expand and now we'll be able to extend the care to parents who need it in addition to teen parents. It's just a wonderful thing."

With the grant, certain guidelines will be applied such as new furnishings. Nasser said that the new program is looking to start in January.

"Because of the guidelines that come with the grant, we're going to have a lot of things to do in order to be operational," Nasser said "New furnishings and stuff of that sort will have to be done before we can officially start. We're hoping to be ready by January."

The project expects to impact over 100,000 individuals through its activities over the five-year grant period.

Feeling the music with Zumba

With loud beats and fast rhythms, Zumba has quickly danced its way into Crittenden County. A dance fitness program that combines Latin and modern music, the program uses dancing in an effort to make exercising more fun. Under the direction of Laura Wood, Mary Jo Mills, Stefanie Hardin, Lila Edmonson and Gaye Porter, the cardio dancing has not only sparked the interest of numerous residents but also inspired each other to get out, get fit and be comfortable in their skin, all while shedding pounds. Introduced last month, the Zumba class had a turnout of 135 participants for its kickoff and has averaged 60-80 participants during the week. The next class will be at 5:30 p.m., tonight (Thursday) at the Crittenden County Middle School.

Kindergartners to design stamp art

The Marion Post Office has teamed up with several businesses in town to sponsor artwork designed by the kindergarten classes at CCES. After a tour of the Marion Post Office on Sept. 17, the classes were given a picture of a blank stamp to design however they choose. The artwork will be displayed by class at the Marion Post Office through Oct. 23.

Postmaster Barry Chandler is asking the public to judge the artwork. There will be four classes with a ballot box for each class. Please choose one student from each class. The students were asked not to put their names on the artwork. Instead, each student will be assigned a number for the judging. After all judging is complete, the four winners will be awarded an array of prizes donated by the following businesses: Dairy Queen, Farmer's Bank, Fifth Third Bank, Hickory Heaven, Just A Burg'r, Pamida, The People's Bank, Pizza Hut, Subway, and Superior Trophies.

We, the family of Rose Wells, would like to express our heartfelt gratitude to the staffs of Myers Funeral Homes, Crittenden EMS and Crittenden Health Systems. Thank you to Bro. Kenny Downs, the members of Ambassadors for Christ Church, Miracle Word Church, Jeanette Phillips, Sharon Fralix and the staff of Tiny Tot Day Care. We would also like to thank our friends and family for the prayers, flowers and food.

*Sincerely,
Rosie's Family*

MSU radio station moves closer to goal

Murray, KY. – Listeners supporting Murray State University's National Public Radio member station, 91.3 FM, WKMS, have brought its autumn fundraiser to within 12 percent of goal. The station has suspended on-air fundraising and is encouraging listeners who have yet to contribute to finish the fundraiser by giving online or by mail.

"Reaching goal is a listener tradition for WKMS. We're also hearing from new members who are supporting the station because of our wider coverage area, and more news, more music, more interesting programming," Station Manager Kate Lochte said.

Reaching goal ensures the station continues to refresh its mission to inform, enrich and entertain as it observes its 40th Anniversary year. WKMS now provides two of NPR's most-listened-to-nationally programs for the Four Rivers Region – The Diane Rehm Show and Fresh Air with Terry Gross. It offers its 24 hour classical HD-2 music service on translators 92.5 Paducah and 105.1 Madisonville, as well as its online stream available to all at www.wkms.org.

This fall WKMS has premiered a new block of classical music Sundays 7 to 11 p.m. including Dr. John Dressler's Classical Encore Sundays at 9 p.m. At 7 p.m. Sundays, the WKMS production On Stage (formerly known as Friday Night Live) features concerts of the Paducah Symphony Orchestra and performances from concert halls at Murray State University.

Fall 2010 has also brought a brand new original series to air, Diggin' Duke, created by Todd Hill. It complements Hill's Murray State University course about the music of Duke Ellington and is broadcast Sundays at 3 p.m. and Tuesdays at 9 p.m. as the first hour of Hill's Café Jazz.

This year WKMS News earned nearly twenty awards of excellence from the Kentucky Associated Press.

To make a tax-deductible contribution to the station use its secure pledge site at www.wkms.org, or mail checks made payable to WKMS/MSU Foundation to WKMS, 2018 University Station, Murray, KY 42071.

Taking a look back at the original Marion Airport

With the recent excitement of Marion's new airport facility and its growing place in the community, it brought back memories of another airport from many years ago. This airport was located about three miles south of Marion on U.S. 641. Mr. and Mrs. Sid Johnson were owners of the airport.

The Johnsons moved to Marion in 1940. Sid first built an auto and truck repair garage and service station where he serviced and repaired cars and trucks. During this time he took flying lessons and became an excellent pilot. When World War II was over he built a small airport and taught G. I.s to fly through the G.I. bill. From the archives of The Crittenden Press we learn the news from the airport, from the men who were learning to fly and other activities taking place at the airport.

Feb. 28, 1947 – Marion Jaycee Airport Has 7 Solo Students. The Marion Jaycee Flying Service now has seven pilots who fly alone: Keith Norman, Donald Clark, Barrett Little, William LaRue, Paul Belt, Leslie Freeman and Louis Myers. Other G. I. trainees who have enrolled are Thomas Hughes, Blake Douglas Fritts, Lonnie C. Hodge, Guthrie Tharp and Roger Linzy. The latter group will soon be pilots.

Two students at the Marion Jaycee Flying Service have finished their G. I. flight course and now hold a private pilot's license which enables them to pilot a plane and take friends for a flight. They are Donald Clark of Marion, and Barrett Little of Salem. James Holsapple, night patrolman of Marion, made his first solo hop Monday and Sheriff John A. Hunt will be ready to solo in two or three more hours instruction. Willie LaRue has soloed after his flight instruction.

Ted Boston flew his Er-coup plane from Paducah Sunday and flew some off the Jaycee Airport. He has been keeping his plane in Paducah, but is planning to keep it here at the local airport during the summer.

June 20, 1947 – Activities at the Marion Jaycee Flying Service Airport have picked up within the past few days, and owner Sid Johnson stated that in the first 15 days of this month, 105 flying hours were listed. This is an average of seven hours each day during the 15 days.

Another new Aeronca plane has been added to the flight training program. Johnson flew to Middletown Ohio, last week to bring the new plane to Marion. James Holsapple went with Johnson to the factory and flew home in the Tayllorcraft plane for his cross country flight training.

Eight new G. I. students have been enrolled in flight training at the airport and 19 students are now in training for private or commercial license. Five private licenses have been granted at the school.

Aug. 1, 1947 – The Flying Breakfast Club, composed of flyers from western Kentucky and southern Illinois, held one of their weekly meetings in Marion at the Marion Jaycee Airport last Sunday morning. The flyers began gathering early Sunday morning and at eight o'clock went to the Top Deck Café for their breakfast. There were 26 planes on the field and 40 flyers here for the occasion. Other airport news finds that Mr. Pierson Carnahan and his son flew from Mt. Vernon, Ill., in an Aeronca and visited S. L. Carnahan.

Two more students received their private pilot license Sunday from

The Marion Airport in 1947, with one of Johnson's planes.

Inspector Gillette, of Louisville. The students were Leonard Campbell and Robert Stallion. Both of these students came down from the check ride saying, "It sure was hot in the plane with the inspector as a passenger." Everyone at the field agreed with them after seeing how they were perspiring.

Sid Johnson, owner of the field, stated that there were now 30 G. I. students in training under the G. I. Flight program at the airport. Albert Shemwell, linotype operator of The Press, took his first plane ride a few days ago and remarked, "That he did not know he lived in such a pretty place."

Sept. 5, 1947 – The Marion Jaycee Airport will be the scene of an Air Show on Sunday, September 21, with a bigger and better show than ever, ready to give spectators thrills through the afternoon. The show will feature parachute jumps, wing walking, stunt flying, and contests of spot landing bombing, and many other exciting events, according to Sid Johnson, owner of the airport.

John Alvis, Swine; Larry Woodall, Electricity; Brenda White, Frozen Foods.

The airport continued to operate until 1949. When the government stopped the G.I. bill for flying instructions, Mr. Johnson closed the airport. In its location, Johnson became a Packard Auto Dealer and when the Packard Company went broke he then started the John Deere Implement Dealership. The John Deere Dealership was in business 27 years in this same location on U.S. 641.

The building and part of the hangar are still in sight today. Steve Jones is the present day owner of these buildings.

Relay for Life kicks off with Tuesday event at church

The American Cancer Society invites the community to honor cancer survivors and caregivers to the Relay for Life Kickoff at 6 p.m., Tuesday at Marion Baptist Church Family Life Center.

The Relay Kickoff is an opportunity for families, friends, caregivers, cancer survivors, schools, companies, etc., to come together to kick off the Relay For Life season and the local event.

Anyone interested in forming a Relay For Life team is invited to attend this year's kickoff rally. A team consists of at least eight people. There is a $10 per person registration fee. A team can be a business, organization, church or a family or friends group. Anyone in the county may start a Relay For Life team. Students may register for $5 per person.

Last year's Relay For Life of Crittenden County raised over $31,000 for the American Cancer Society, surpassing its 2009 goal.

Relay For Life, the Society's signature event, is a life-changing experience that helps us celebrate the lives of those who have battled cancer, remember loved ones lost and to fight back against a disease that takes too many. The event raises awareness and funds to save lives, help those touched by cancer, and empower people to fight back against this disease.

For more information about Relay For Life of Crittenden County, contact Sue Padgett at 704-1558, Frank Blackburn at 704-1419 or Natalie Parish at 871-1383.

Relay Kick-off is 6 p.m., Tuesday at Marion Baptist church Family Life Center.

Firemen rush to get equipment into the field to help fight a large wildfire near Mott City Friday afternoon.

Tuesday's rain welcomed; countywide burn ban lifted

STAFF REPORT

Extraordinarily dry conditions had firemen on edge until Tuesday night's shower eased concerns a bit. Until almost an inch of rain fell in some parts of the county early this week, the area had received less than two inches in the previous two months.

"It was dangerously dry," said Greg Tabor, fire chief for the Caldwell Springs Volunteer Fire Department.

Volunteer firemen from several departments had their hands full Friday afternoon fighting a large wildfire in a cornfield off Sulphur Springs Road in the southern part of the county.

Mack Peebles, a Florida man who owns the property, said he was pushing down cornstalks with his four-wheeler when the fire started, apparently from the heat off the exhaust or engine. The fire destroyed the ATV and about eight acres of standing corn.

Tabor said firemen were on the scene about two hours. Despite the terribly dry conditions, there have been few serious wildfires in the county this fall.

"I don't know how we've missed them,"

Tabor said. "We've been lucky so far."

Crittenden County Judge-Executive Fred Brown lifted a countywide burn ban that had been in effect virtually nonstop since earlier this summer. Since July 1, Crittenden County had received fewer than eight inches of rain prior to Tuesday's shower.

Brown reminds residents that although the outdoor burn ban is lifted, there is still a statewide prohibition on daytime burning within 150 feet of a woodlot or grassland. It is illegal to start a fire near such areas between 6 a.m., and 6 p.m., during the wildfire season, which runs through Dec. 15.

Lasher was eastbound in a Hyundai SUV when her vehicle ran off the right shoulder of the roadway. Lasher's vehicle traveled approximately 485 feet down the shoulder of the roadway before hitting a tree. She was transported to the Western Baptist Hospital by ambulance.

The accident was investigated by Trooper Donald Crawford. He was assisted at the scene by the Livingston County EMS.

Groups host local candidate forums

Crittenden County Economic Development Corporation and Crittenden County Chamber of Commerce will host two public forums for residents to meet local and regional candidates. The first event starts at 6 p.m., Tuesday, Oct. 26. Candidates for countywide office will speak on the first night. The second event will be at 6 p.m., Oct. 28 with district judicial candidates, magistrates, school board and city council candidates featured.

Each candidate will be allocated five minutes to present his or her thoughts. There will be no questions from the floor, but written questions will be accepted. Those questions will be reviewed by moderator Chris Evans, editor of The Crittenden Press. Questions with merit will be presented to the candidates during the public forum.

Candidates will be available for a brief period at the conclusion of the program to meet with individuals.

Rep. Whitfield is honored by NAM

U.S. Representative Ed Whitfield (R-Hopkinsville) was recognized last week for his support of American manufacturers, receiving the National Association of Manufacturers (NAM) Award for Manufacturing Legislative Excellence.

"During these tough economic times, American manufacturers are more important than ever," Whitfield said. "Many plants and businesses in Kentucky not only provide hundreds of jobs, but serve as the lifeblood of the local community. I am pleased to do all that I can to support American manufacturers and the thousands of jobs they create."

The NAM award is presented to members of congress who consistently support legislation which will spur economic growth and job creation. NAM scores legislators based on a number of key votes including the healthcare reform and climate change bills, both of which Congressman Whitfield opposed.

Whitfield says that he has been a staunch supporter of American manufacturers throughout his tenure in Congress.

Deer collisions are up early this year

The Kentucky Transportation Cabinet is issuing a warning to motorists that vehicle-deer collisions have taken an upturn about two weeks earlier than normal this year. Dry weather prompted farmers to start the fall harvest earlier than normal. That, in turn, has helped put deer on the move earlier than usual.

District 2 Chief Engineer Kevin McClearn said police crash reports indicate about half of all deer-vehicle collisions occur in October, November and December each year.

In 2009, there were 3,031 collisions with deer reported in Kentucky, resulting in one fatality and 142 injury crashes. Those wrecks resulted in 172 injuries. That compares with 2008, when there were 2,926 deer-related crashes reported in Kentucky, resulting in two fatalities and 178 injuries. Many deer-vehicle collisions go unreported to police.

"According to the National Highway Traffic Safety Association, about 150 people are killed across the nation each year in motor vehicle accidents involving deer," said Kentucky Highway Safety Director Chuck Geveden. "While collisions involving deer occur year-round, about half are reported during October, November and December when deer are most active."

Criminal activity slows in September inside City of Marion

Marion Police Chief Ray O'Neal says criminal activity in the city was at a three-year low in the month of September.

The department has released its activity report for last month, which includes just five criminal arrests.

In September, Marion's officers patrolled 3,109 miles, wrote seven domestic violence reports, made no felony arrests and just nine misdemeanor arrests. They made one non-criminal arrest. Three drivers were cited for DUI and

Eagles keep property in return for guilty plea

The Fraternal Order of Eagles Inc., Club 3591 in Marion will keep its real estate on Old Piney Road, but has forfeited a variety of personal property, more than $2,000 in cash and closed its bank account as a result of a plea agreement reached last week.

The club was charged in February with third-offense illegal sale of alcohol in a dry county and first-degree promoting gambling. An undercover officer entered the facility, purchased an alcoholic beverage and won money on an electronic video game, according to court records.

Police raided the club, seizing a large quantity of alcohol and gaming devices.

Attorney Stephen Arnett represented the Eagles last week in Crittenden Circuit Court before Judge Rene Williams.

Commonwealth Attorney Zac Greenwell said that in return for a guilty plea, the Eagles will get to keep its clubhouse and land. However, it has forfeited an undisclosed amount of cash in its bank account, $1,969.50 seized on the night of the raid, a cash register and other items confiscated by state police.

The club was fined $2,000, which was probated upon the condition of no further offenses for five years. It could have been fined up to $40,000.

Kentucky State Police say two people were hurt in a two-vehicle accident Saturday afternoon on Ky. 120 just outside the city limits of Marion.

Police said Skinner was attempting to turn into a driveway. Both vehicles were badly damaged.

Hardin and his passenger, Evonnia Hardin, were transported by Crittenden County EMS to Crittenden Hospital. Hardin received a severe laceration to his right hand and his wife received a broken left foot and possible injury to her neck and back, according to a state police news release.

Grand jury indicts 8 on felony charges

STAFF REPORT

A Crittenden County Grand Jury returned a variety of indictments against eight individuals last week.

Those indicted were:

•Keith Belt, 42, for second-degree burglary. Belt is currently held in the Roeder Correctional Complex in LaGrange on an unrelated conviction. He is charged by state police with burglarizing a home on Ky. 139 on July 18, taking numerous items, including antiques.

•Abby J. Crabtree, 30, of Marion was indicted on charges of receiving stolen property (under $10,000) by complicity and two counts of receiving stolen property (under $500) by complicity. She is accused, along with her husband (see below) of being in possession of a stolen vehicle, stolen license plate and a stolen license plate decal.

According to police reports, Marion Officer Bobby West was investigating a separate case Aug. 19 on South Main Street in Marion when he discovered a vehicle bearing an alleged stolen license plate. The subsequent investigation discovered that the plate was reported stolen from Madisonville, as was the decal on the plate, and that the vehicle had been reported stolen from Ohio. The Crabtrees maintained that they purchased the vehicle with the plate on it.

•Rick W. Crabtree, 32, of Marion was indicted on charges of receiving stolen property (under $10,000) by complicity and two counts of receiving stolen property (under $500) by complicity. See description of case in above indictment.

A grand jury does not determine guilt or innocence. It decides whether enough evidence exists to continue a case in the court system. An indictment means a case moves to Circuit Court.

•Lawrence Davidson, 33, of Bells, Tenn., was indicted on charges of second-degree escape and for being a second-degree persistent felony offender. Court records say that Davidson failed to report to the Crittenden County Detention Center on April 18 to serve weekend incarceration for a previous conviction. He had two weeks remaining to serve, according to documents. Records also indicate that Davidson has prior convictions in Crittenden, Union, Livingston, McCracken and Hardin counties for a variety of crimes.

•Linda A. Hubbard, 29, of Marion was indicted for second-degree trafficking in a controlled substance. Court records say that Hubbard traded two hydrocodone tablets for 14 CDs. Since 1999, court records indicated that Hubbard has had prior convictions on a variety of charges in Crittenden, Caldwell and Livingston counties.

•Alonzo Jackson, 45, of Manchester, Ky., was indicted on charges of second-degree escape; theft by unlawful taking (auto); and for being a first-degree persistent felony offender. Jackson is alleged to have escaped June 30 while on work release from the Crittenden County Detention Center, along with Chase Bingham. The two allegedly stole a private vehicle parked at the Kentucky Department of Highways garage on Old Salem Road. Jackson was captured a few weeks later in eastern Kentucky near his home. Bingham was also captured.

•Freddie G. Jackson, 39, of Marion was indicted on charges of third-degree unlawful transaction with a minor; permitting an unlicensed operator to drive a vehicle; first-degree possession of a controlled substance; and for having a controlled substance prescription medication not its original container. Officer West arrested Jackson on July 17 after receiving a complaint that he was allowing an unlicensed driver to operate a vehicle. The car was stopped on Brookcliffe Street. Jackson was alleged to have had in his pocket Oxycodone and Xanax.

•Troy Howard Martin, 47, of Marion was indicted on charges of failure to wear a seat belt; failure of owner to maintain required vehicle insurance; driving on a DUI suspended license and fourth-offense DUI.

According to police reports, Martin was observed driving his vehicle in Marion by Officer West. After stopping Martin's vehicle, the officer suspected the use of alcohol. Martin failed field sobriety tests and was taken into custody. Martin's license had been suspended for a DUI in Illinois. Court records indicate that the current DUI charge is his seventh overall and fourth within five years.

Helathcare officials say get flu shot

STAFF & STATE POINT

It's cold and flu season again, so it's time for a re-fresher course on what you can do to keep your family healthy. If you'd like to avoid using up those sick days, here are some pointers to help you avoid colds and flu.

You don't have to become a full-blown Germ-a-phobe; however, a little public hy-giene and common sense can go a long way in avoid-ing contracting the flu or a nasty cold.

"Wash your hands often and stay away from public places as much as possible," said Stephanie Mundy, an ARNP at Tri-Rivers Healthcare. "Also disinfecting door-knobs and countertops as well as using (alcohol-based sanitizing) wipes on shop-ping carts at local stores."

Eating properly and man-aging stress can help you maintain a healthy immune system.

"Start taking multi-vita-mins and extra vitamin C," the nurse practioneer says. "Keeping your stress down by exercising also helps keep the flu away."

Most people know colds are less severe than in-fluenza, but they're often un-sure about specific symptoms. The flu is typi-cally accompanied by a high fever between 101 and 104 degrees. Flu like symp-toms also cause ex-treme ex-haustion that can last up to three weeks. In contrast, a cold usually lasts only a few days.

Mundy

If you notice these symp-toms occurring to you or one of your family members, going to your local doctor for treatment will help to lesson the affects of the flu. Also stay home and get plenty of rest and fluids which will help your recovery more than work and stress. This also prevents you from spreading the illness to oth-ers.

For the first time ever, the Centers for Disease Control & Prevention is recommend-ing everyone ages six months and older get the flu shot. You can get a flu shot from 8:30 a.m., to 4 p.m., Tues-day at Marion Ed-Tech Cen-ter. Cost is $25.

"You need to get the flu shots yearly," Mundy said. "Flu strains are constantly changing."

This year's flu vaccination is now designed to protect against the three main flu strains that will cause the most illness during the flu season: H3N2 virus, an influenza B virus and the H1N1 virus. Getting the vac-cination early is recom-mended as it can take a few weeks for the full affect of it's flu-fighting benefits to kick in and protect you for the en-tire flu season.

While the CDC admits it is not possible to predict with certainty which flu viruses will predominate during the season, clinical trials have shown that vac-cine effectiveness is between 70 and 90 percent among healthy adults.

Rockets hammer Fulton County 61-6

HICKMAN, Ky. – The Rockets returned the opening kickoff for a touchdown and never looked back en route to an easy 61-6 victory at Fulton County Friday night.

Brian Berry went 75 yards on the game's first kick and the Rockets blocked Fulton County's first punt and scored on their first play from scrimmage, a 14-yard pass from Berry to Tanner Nix. Andrew Freeman blocked the punt, and Bryce Willis scooped it up to set up Crittenden's second TD and a 14-0 lead a minute and a half into the game.

The Rockets made it 20-0 less than halfway through the first period when Fulton County brought a heavy rush toward Berry at QB, but he hit Dustin Hernandez for a 43-yard scoring pass.

Rocket defensive back Robert Cudnik intercepted a pass to set up the next touchdown, which he scored on the first place after his pick, a 34-yard pass from Berry for a 27-0 edge.

Andrew Freeman broke a 57-yard touchdown run on the Rockets' first play on the next series – to give Crittenden a 34-0 lead. Freshman Brenden Phillips gave his team a 40-0 first-quarter lead on a four-yard run late in the opening period and Freeman scored again in the second period for a 47-0 margin less than halfway through the second period.

Crittenden put the exclamation point on its first-half scoring when Berry went across the line in the final minute of the half for a 54-0 lead, probably its biggest first-half margin ever.

Backup Josh Gaston intercepted a pass in the second half and returned it for a touchdown to close out the Rockets' scoring.

"We had to establish ourselves early and put some points on the board," said Rocket coach Al Starnes. "We took care of business and did what we had to do, got our old kids out in the second half and the younger guys did a good job."

Rocket football coach Al Starnes goes over strategy with his offense during a timeout. The Rockets posted 61 points on Fulton County last week.

The series: Crittenden County actually trails in this series 18-20; however, the Rockets have dominated the matchup 12-1 since 1994. Coach Starnes is 12-2 against the Bulldogs. Crittenden beat Fulton 57-0 last season.

Game Notes: Fulton City has lost its last 9 games dating back to last year. The Bulldogs are 3-22 in the past 25 games. Crittenden County has won 13 of its last 14 home games. If the Rockets win this game, it will be the first time that Crittenden has won at least 7 times in three consecutive seasons.

Scouting Report: The Pilots are much like their neighboring school Fulton County. Neither team has won this season. The Bulldogs are a bit more structured than the Rockets' opponent last week. Fulton City runs mostly out of the I-formation, but will also spread the field with multiple receivers. The Bulldogs have scored just 33 points all season while giving up 328. The Dogs have used two QBs. David Kirby has completed just two passes while Mason Garland has 14 completions. Together they have thrown for 201 yards. The best RB is senior Rondell Bransford, who has rushed for 640 yards on 108 carries.

What's at Stake: The Rockets need to win this game to ensure a district championship showdown next week at Mayfield.

Trailing 5-0 entering the second half, Crittenden (0-16) surrendered three more scores through the opening 11:13.

Then they reverted back to the first 24:00 of the contest, playing hard and battling tough. The Lady Tigers did not score again until :58 ticks remained.

Crittenden coach Ken Geary commended his team's effort for 54:00 of the game. Unfortunately, Caldwell had their way in those other 26:00 and separated themselves from the upset minded Lady Rockets.

"Tonight's game for long periods was awesome," said the Crittenden coach.

But the athletic and quick Lady Tigers did plenty during the rest of the contest to take any suspense out of the postseason affair.

"We have to narrow lulls like that if we want to become a winning program," Geary said.

Caldwell outshot the Lady Rockets 30-4 which eventually helped them begin pulling away.

Lady Rocket junior goalie Emily Owen racked up 19 saves in a valiant effort to try and keep her team in contention.

The quartet of Anna Schnittker, Jenna Odom, Ellen Merrick and Casey Stallion recorded their team's shots on goal.

In 15 of 16 games this season, Crittenden allowed at least six goals, while tallying just four.

Trigg sweeps Crittenden in fifth district tournament

Unfortunately for the Lady Rockets, the third time proved to be a charm for Trigg County Tuesday night in Marion as they bounced the host team from the Fifth District Tournament in two sets 25-20, 25-13.

While Crittenden (13-10) had swept the Lady Wildcats during the regular season, the biggest margin in any of the six sets was only three.

Crittenden coach Larry Duvall knew the Lady Wildcats would be very eager to atone for those narrow setbacks and Tuesday night proved to be that reckoning.

"We did not come to play," he said.

Although school is not in session this week due to fall break, Duvall refused to use that as an excuse for the defeat.

"There were just a lot of people not playing very well," he said.

He hopes the disappointing ending in the district tourney will serve as strong motivation for the returning players during the off-season.

Casey Knox and Taylor Keitster were named to the All-Fifth District Tournament Team.

Lady Rockets resume winning streak at UHA

The Lady Rockets ended the regular season on a winning note last Thursday on Senior Night by upending visiting Todd County Central in three sets 13-25, 25-13, 25-20.

It marked the sixth time in 13 wins that Crittenden has dropped the opening set only to come back and capture the following two sets and claim the victory.

Despite not always having an answer for his squad's sluggish starts, Lady Rocket coach Larry Duvall is glad they have found a way to fight back and still win games like that.

Crittenden defeats Lady Blazers after rocky start

Despite not coming as easy as it did in their first matchup, the Lady Rockets still found a way to win at University Heights last week in three sets 23-25, 25-17, 25-18.

In the first matchup with the Lady Blazers two weeks before, Crittenden had an easy time winning in straight sets 25-5, 25-19.

Nonetheless, with last week's triumph, Crittenden finished the season with an impressive 8-3 road record.

Fire station debate continues as council weighs in on design

BY CHRIS EVANS
PRESS EDITOR

As the City of Marion inches closer toward building a new fire station, there are still many questions about precisely where it should go, what it should look like and how much the city should spend to build it. Although bids have already been received on the architectural design, some city council members are not pleased with the plans and others are not convinced fire trucks will be able to get out easily. Even Fire Chief Red Howton is wanting the station set back farther from the street to make more turning room for the long fire trucks that will be pulling out of the station.

Several months ago, the city identified and purchased for $130,000 two lots on the corner of Main and Bellville streets for the new station. It has cleared those lots at a cost of $32,000 and has spent about $50,000 for engineering and architectural fees. Construction bids for the new station came in higher than expected, most around $1 million.

Before the council will approve building the station, firemen and city leaders will first have to agree on exactly where to put it.

Mayor Mickey Alexander says there is no reason to set the fire station back off the street 15 or 20 feet. Besides it wouldn't look right, he said. Originally, the mayor wanted the fire station to be flush along the sidewalk, even with other business fronts.

Now, engineers have modified the original plans, backing the building up a little more than six feet from the sidewalk, said City Administrator Mark Bryant.

But, firemen say that's not enough.

"For it to be safer and for us to get out quicker, it needs to be scooted back about 15 feet," said the fire chief.

City Councilman Darrin Tabor thinks the fire station should be cocked at a 45-degree angle to West Bellville street, allowing fire trucks to pull straight out of the new building into the middle of the intersection with all lights red and traffic stopped. That, he says, would eliminate the concern for turning room.

City Councilman Donnie Arflack, himself a fireman, doesn't like the contractor that offered the lowest bid, B.H. Green. It's the same company that built the Crittenden County Detention Center and the Crittenden County Senior Center's addition.

"Honestly, I'm not interested in the jail contractor," Arflack said during a special city council meeting last week to discuss the matter. "They've had all kinds of problems with the jail. The generator didn't work during the ice storm and they've had electrical problems and doors that don't work."

Crittenden County Judge-Executive Fred Brown said there have been no major issues with the jail's construction. He did say the generator was a problem, but that's now been rectified.

Mayor Alexander said he believes Green is a reputable company.

The city received five bids for the project. Green's was at $942,00 and two others were under $1 million. Two were over $1 million.

The city administrator wanted to reject the highest bids and negotiate with Green to lower its price by eliminating some amenities, but council members balked at that idea. They instead decided to reject the two bids over $1 million and to further review the three lowest bids, which include prices from Midstates Construction and Pinnacle Inc., of Benton. Pinnacle has renovated and built several high-profile buildings in the region, including Mayfield Elementary School, Kentucky Dam Village Conference Center and Marshall County Hospital Medical Office Building. Likewise, Midstates has done some well known renovations including additions at Murray-Calloway County Hospital, the Colonial condominiums, Anderson Court Duplex and Arcade Theater in downtown Paducah.

The council meets again Monday at 6 p.m.

Crittenden County School District held a Council of Councils meeting at Rocket Arena last week. The regular meetings improve communication between councils, groups and organizations within the school district. Not one to putty or ruin the natural texture of the gourd, Buijk's pieces are all natural right down to the fins and wings of her animals. The only thing that isn't a gourd on her art pieces are the bamboo items that stand in as legs or beaks.

Buijk has sparked many interests with her creations, having entered three art shows. Not only a decorative piece, her gourds are truly works of art that even the Janet Mason Art Museum in Cadiz wants to exhibit. Buijk will be entering her fourth art show on Oct. 16 when she sets up a booth at the annual Christmas in Marion arts and craft show at Fohs

At the very least, multiple accounts usually mean multiple fees.

To learn why consolidating your retirement accounts to Edward Jones makes sense, call today.
